Farm Production To Be Up During 1944

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Glancing anxiously at the barometer and hoping for rain here and sunshine there, agriculture department authorities today permitted the forecast that over-all Canadian production in 1944 would be greater than in 1943.

In brief, the west generally needs rain and the east, warm, dry weather to permit seeding to proceed without delay.

The weather apart, officials pointed to these 1944 achievements and factors:

1. Combined slaughterings of all meat animals were the highest ever recorded in the first quarter of 1944, due principally to an increase of 75 per cent or 1,200,000 head over 1943 in hogs. Slaughterings of beef cattle were up 39 per cent; sheep and lambs 40 per cent and veal calves six per cent.

2. Poultry production has shown a "phenomenal increase." Deliveries of eggs to the special products board for export were more than 25,000,000 dozen to the end of March against less than 10,000,000 dozen in the same period in 1943.

3. The output of creamery butter is down, but production of cheese is up.

4. The acreage planted to field crops will be at least as large as in 1943 if farmers' plans are carried through.

5. Larger production quotas for farm machinery are in effect, although the lag between increase in quotas and increased output has resulted in some delays in filling approved applications for rationed machinery.

Expect Demand

6. An anticipated strong demand for fresh fruits and vegetables is encouraging growers to plan maximum output.

7. The maximum output of food products from Canadian arms will be assured of a ready outlet to meet the continuing needs of Allied Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Authority or other relief agencies.

8. A policy of negotiating longer-term export contracts and instituting price floors for agricultural products has helped allay farmers' fears of markets slumping when the war ends.

Even with luck, authorities said they did not think it probable that Canada would have another bumper harvest of field crops such as that garnered in 1942. But, on the other hand, they were hopeful the disastrous crop season experienced in eastern Canada last year would not be repeated.

Prairie wheat and coarse grains prospects have been affected by the limited moisture reserves in the soil and poor precipitation in many areas this spring. But the outlook still may be improved by good rains.

Compliments Cadet Corps Capt. T. Holmes

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 (ENS)—How the training of High School cadets fits into the military training picture was well demonstrated at the local school Wednesday morning as upwards of 150 cadets passed in review and showed the various aspects of their training throughout the school year. The inspection was conducted by Captain T. C. Holmes of Kingston, who was accompanied by Captain H. A. Craig of Peterborough.

In contrast to pre-war cadet inspections there was little time given to squad and platoon drill. The emphasis is now being placed on such practical lessons as morse signalling, rope tieing, first aid, gas warfare, and weapon training. It was on these phases of their year's training, conducted jointly by Principal E. H. Greig and Earl Stephens and Ellis Darling, each of whom had specialized in one particular field, that Captain Holmes devoted his attention to.

The weather was ideal, but as usual, few citizens took the trouble to attend the inspection and see for themselves the important work that is being done by this branch of the present educational program. Cadet Captain Jack Connor lined up the entire regiment including both boys and girls, for the march past and general salute, and following this came the more detailed inspection.

Use New Rifle

Most recent acquisition to the cadet training program is the Swift Training rifle, only a few weeks ago placed in service as a part of the Army's basic training program. This rifle, which was developed in England, is unique in that though it does not require ammunition of any kind, the student who uses it develops all of the essentials of marksmanship. By its use he develops the proper breathing, grasping, aiming and trigger pulling technique, and when these things are completely mastered, he is then ready to proceed to the use of a gun requiring live ammunition.

The Swift Training rifle not only eliminates any waste of ammunition but removes a dangerous weapon from the hands of the inexperienced.

The rifle and target are all in one unit, so designed that when held at the proper level the muzzle of the gun is hardly an inch away from the target which is drawn to appropriate scale representing a full sized target or image at varying distances. The mechanism of the rifle corresponds in every detail to the regulation service weapon and is so designed that the recruit must hold it firmly against his shoulder before the trigger mechanism will function. Its only ammunition is a small bayonet which is ejected from the muzzle into the paper target when the trigger is pulled. According to Captain Holmes all cadet corps will eventually be supplied with this new equipment, expected to speed up the training program.

Gas Training

Another feature of the inspection, apart from Morse signalling and rope tieing, was a demonstration given by a squad proficient in the use of gas masks. At a signal from the instructor the cadets put the masks on in record time and were quite at home in this equipment, which is much more difficult to use than it appears to be. Lieut. Colletta O'Keefe conducted the girls' P.T. exercises and Lieut. R. Adamson was in charge of the boys.

Captain Craig presented seventeen signalling certificates in Cadet Morse to cadets who had passed the test under the District Signalling Officer by their ability to send six words per minute. To make this phase of signalling even more attractive is a gratuity of $5 that goes to each cadet who can send ten words a minute.

He told the assembly the Cadet Camp (at Connaught) would this year be even bigger than last with more sports and range work, including weapons training with the 3-inch mortar, tommy gun and grenade. Captain Holmes in congratulating the cadets on their fine inspection, "an improvement over last year," drew attention to the importance of steadiness which he described as "one of the most valuable lessons you have to learn."

Legion Wants To Buy Lot For Legion Hall

COBOURG, May 11—(ENS)—Cobourg Legion informed the Cobourg Parks Board at their meeting Tuesday night of their desire to purchase the lot just east of the old gas plant, near the park, as the site for the Legion Hall which they are going to build. The Legion was invited by the Board to make an offer for the land but nothing definite was done.

Cobourg Kiwanis Club are looking after the tennis courts in Victoria Park this year, having received permission from the Parks Board to fix up the courts at their own expense. The courts are to be open to the public up to five p.m. and after that hour playing will be subject to the approval of the Kiwanis Club.

The Board decided to take down the bath houses at the beach and replace them with small, individual dressing cubicles. A locker service will be provided by the pavilion management. It was decided to keep the wood which was collected after some trees had been cut down and it will be used next winter, if necessary.

Other plans of the Board include sheeting of the interiors of the tourist cabins, setting out of shrubs which Judge J. C. M. German had obtained, and a survey of the park by a landscape gardener. Due to the lack of labour it was decided to postpone the moving of the swings to another location.

Ten Lodges Present At Special Meeting

NORWOOD, May 11 — (ENS) — Norwood Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 223 entertained R.W. Bro. W. Campbell of Peterborough in the absence of R.W. D D. Brown, D.D G.M., because of illness. Ten visiting lodges were represented — Hastings, Havelock, Keene, Peterborough, Toronto, Gananoque, Minden, Madoc, Napanee and Victoria. W.M. J. J. Stewart and his officers were highly complimented on the efficiency with which the E.A. Degree was exemplified. A banquet was served, the toast to the visitors being given by W.B. Dr. A. R. Atkinson, and as responded to by several visiting brethren; to the Grand Lodge by W.B. G. R. Gardner, responded to by R.W. Bro. W. Campbell.

707 Prisoners Liberated At Hollandia

BY MURLIN SPENCER
Advanced Allied Headquarters

NEW GUINEA, May 11 — (AP) — Japanese atrocities, including nailing Chinese to palm trees by driving iron spikes though their foreheads, were made public today simultaneously with the release of a Headquarters report that American invaders on Hollandia and Aitape freed 707 Allied prisoners.

Communique said 462 of the 707 were Sikhs.

At the same time, the Australian Department of Information announced that the liberated Sikhs strongly indicated Japanese treatment of them.

Some of the Sikhs were quoted by the Department as saying:

"On an 18-day march from Singaport to Kuala Lumpur (in Malaya) we were herded along a road like cattle. At one place we saw a number of Chinese who had been nailed to palm trees with iron spikes driven through their foreheads.

"Fifteen Sikhs who had become ill were put to death at Rabaul.

"On a ship which took us to the Admiralty Islands, we were herded below decks like cattle 2,000 of us.

"The men were frequently beaten with sticks and rifle butts.

"At Manus to had to dig slit trenches for the Japanese, but were left entirely unprotected ourselves."

I witnessed the liberation of a number of Sikhs at Hollandia as the 24th Division moved across the mountains to drive on the Hollandia Airfield.

The Sikhs I saw appeared to be in fair physical condition, better than the condition of the American, Australian, German and Netherlands missionaries who were liberated later.

A Sikh by the name of Jemadar Shingara Singh told of seeing the Chinese nailed to the palm trees.

"We were told by our guards," he said, "that they had been suspected of helping guerrillas, mostly Australians, who still were fighting determinedly in inland areas of Malaya.

"The Japanese tried to make us shave off our beards and we did get meat it was always unclean. On the way to Manus Island, 35 Sikhs died and were thrown overboard. We kept under the hatches and were allowed two cups of water drinking."

Cornwall Strike Is Arbitrated

CORNWALL, Ont., May 11 (CP)—A dispute which resulted in a 40-hour strike of 1,500 Canadian Cottons Limited Employees here Monday has been settled by arbitration, it was announced last night by Percy Laurin, president of Local 2 of the United Textile Workers of Canada (A.F.L.)

The dispute arose in the napping room where, it was reported, employees objected to the attitude of a section hand.

Mr. Laurin said the arbitrator's ruling required retention by the Company of the section hand but provided for his transfer to another department of the mill where he will have no authority over other employees.

J. P. Nichol of the Federal Department of Labor acted as lone arbitrator.

Workers returned to work today following a vote-decision at a mass meeting last night.

Surplus Materials Aids Industries

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP).—Canada has been following a policy of shifting surplus materials from war industries to civilian plants for manufacture of civilian goods for some time, although at the moment the situation is "tight," a Munitions Department spokesman said Wednesday.

He was commenting on a Washington report that the War Production Board will soon permit an increase in production of consumer goods in the United States by permitting small plants to use surplus material for certain goods.

"Canada has been doing just that wherever possible." the spokesman said.

"There are a number of governing factors, however. Sometimes, we have the surplus material but the plants haven't the equipment; other times the plants are ready but there is no surplus. Then again, here have been cases where a plant could turn to civilian production for a time but is hampered by a labor shortage."

Cobourg Council To Correct Roll

COBOURG, May 11 (ENS) — In order to clear up errors which are said to be present on the assessor's roll, the tax collector, assessor and members of the town council are to list any mistakes of which they are aware and have them ready for the next council meeting. The list will then be checked over and necessary corrections finally entered in the roll.

Some weeks ago Councillor Reuben Jackson told the council that the assessor's roll was not up to date and a conference of the assessor with the tax collector present in an advisory capacity, was held to clear matters up. The decision of the council to see about listing any errors, was the result.

A Year's Censorship

The annual report of Mr. O. J. Silverthorne, the Chairman of the Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch of the Ontario Treasury, makes interesting and informative reading. All forms of censorship are obnoxious, but the peculiar nature of the moving pictures and the large and usually uncritical audiences which they command make some sort of control necessary; it must be said that Mr. Silverthorne and his colleagues perform their duties ably and discreetly.

Some of the activities of the movie censors are, we think, little known to the public. Mr. Silverthorne reports that during the past year the shortage of new films led to a number of old films being re-distributed under new names. The Ontario Board will not countenance this, and insists that all such films be presented with their original titles. The Board also insists that all scenes which are shown in "trailers" which advertise films must also be included in the films themselves. Some years ago it was not uncommon for scenes to be used which worked upon the imagination of audiences in a most unfair way, only to disappoint them when they went to see the film so advertised. The Board also supervises all movie advertising, in order that scenes and illustrations from films, taken out of their context, may not be used to misrepresent the nature of the entertainment offered.

During the past year American producers sent 1,767 films to this country, and of these the Board altered 56 before they were released for presentation. Eighty films from Britain were shown in Canada, and of these 17 were altered before release. The higher percentage of alteration in British films was discussed once before in these columns. British producers make their films for a domestic market in which many movies are advertised as for exhibition to adults only; often these films deal with moral and psychological problems in a mature and frank way which our censors do not think suitable to audiences which may include children, and for this reason alteration is often required. Continental films also met with this criticism when they were available for distribution here.

The influence of the movies on juvenile delinquency is discussed by Mr. Silverthorne with great good sense. Supervision of a child's entertainment is not primarily the duty of the censors, he says, but of the parents or guardians. It is not possible or desirable to restrict the movie fare of the whole Province to whatever is suitable for exhibition to extremely young or impressionable people. It is the parents' job to decide what films they want their children to see, and they should take the trouble to consult the advertisements or the movie criticisms and allow their children to attend accordingly; the custom of going to the movies, whatever may be shown, on a certain afternoon or night in the week, is not one to be encouraged. Managers of movie houses try to be helpful by showing suitable pictures at week-ends and other times when children are free to attend, but they cannot always arrange their bookings with this in mind. The managers and the censors do their best for the public generally, but the protection of children is the duty of parents.

The Catch In Annuities

During the past year several journals have pointed out the injustice of taxing a man on the income received from a Government Annuity; recently a man who owned such an annuity made a protest to the Department of Finance at Ottawa, thus bringing the subject to the fore once again. It is interesting, and deserves the consideration of everyone who regards taxation as an equitable system of raising funds for the government, and not merely as a hit-or-miss way of skinning the public.

The argument of the man who holds the annuity is that the money which he receives from this investment annually is simply the money which he paid to buy it, with a small sum of interest added. He is willing to be taxed on the interest, which is clear gain, but he thinks it unjust to tax him on his capital. In its simplest form, an annuity is an annual payment made from a lump sum which the purchaser of the annuity hands over to the government for safekeeping. Why should he be taxed on these payments, any more than he would be taxed on a sum which he drew out of his savings account at a bank?

The government recognized this as a valid point before 1940, and before that date annuities were exempt from taxation up to the sum of $1,200 a year. But since 1940 the government has changed its tune. It now maintains that the money which the possessor of an annuity receives is not simply a portion of his original investment with an added sum of interest; it is now stated that a man pays a sum for an annuity which guarantees him an income for life. He may die young, in which case the government is the gainer. He may live far longer than the value of his annuity; in that case the government is the loser. The matter is represented as a gamble.

It is clear, however, that it is the buyer of the annuity, and not the government of Canada which is gambling. The man who buys an annuity takes that step in the hope that he will live long enough to get his money's worth, and perhaps long enough to get a little more. But the government, with its careful actuarial calculations, does not really gamble at all; it is not in the annuity business for benevolent reasons.

The government's change of tune in 1940 is not convincing. It looks very much as though the tax on annuity money is a tax on capital. And why should capital which is invested in annuity be taxed, when capital invested in something else is not? That is the question which has not been answered.

Eleven Years Of Lost Sleep

The people of Canada will join their cousins of the U.S. in rejoicing that President Roosevelt's holiday has restored him to complete health. He was absent from his post for a month, the longest holiday that he has had since taking office, and in his own words he was "making up for eleven years of lost sleep". He passed the time at Hobcaw, Bernard Baruch's country home in South Carolina.

The President has not been well since he returned from the Teheran and Cairo conferences, after which it will be remembered that Mr. Churchill also suffered a severe illness. The President came home with influenza, which left him with troublesome bronchitis. It must have been very draughty in Teheran.

Men who hold positions of great power and responsibility have to take the most tender care of their health. The strain under which they work cannot be imagined by people who bear ordinary burdens. If they let themselves become run-down or out of sorts they are more likely to become prey to serious illness. Anyone who looks at the pictures of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in the papers must see that both men have aged noticeably since the war began. That is to be expected and it is not a reason for serious worry, but it is a sign of strain, and men who work under strain must unbend the bow now and then, or it may snap.

The President returns to his desk at a time when we are expecting the decisive battle of the war to come at any moment. It is good to know that he is in the best possible health.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is said that eating carrots improves the vision. A variety of see-food, in fact.

Hitler is reported to have a new secret weapon which freezes everything within a radius of several hundred yards. Nothing on our own W.P.T.B., which freezes everything within mailing distance.

The press of Argentina has been forbidden to mention freedom, religion or the constitution. What are they going to write Letters To The Editor about down there?

When a Detroit war plant gave a dance for its employees the invitation suggested that the girls wear female attire. And very wise, too, for we never heard of romance blossoming while couples circled the floor in welder's attire.

A fourteen years old boy who has married a girl of twenty-one says that she is his "first and only love". Who says that the youth of today can't make up his mind? Perhaps he wants to ensure a period of married happiness before he is drafted.

The U-Boat In 1943

By A. J. McWHINNIE
(Naval Correspondent of the London "Daily Herald")

A POWERFUL combined Anglo-American naval force, agreed by experts to be the biggest Allied Fleet ever assembled in the Northern waters around the British Isles, has been sailing close to the Norwegian coast. It offered an open invitation to what remains of the German Fleet to come and fight it out.

That action typifies the challenge of Allied Naval strength as 1943 draws to its close. It is a challenge that the Germans do not feel strong enough, in either quality or quantity, to accept.

THIS war has now lasted longer than World War I. "In sea affairs" wrote Nelson, "nothing is impossible and nothing improbable." Britain, with her long and unequalled naval history achieved something in 1943 that was quite in keeping with that saying and tradition. The basic parts of that achievement were supplied through tenacity in holding on in the dark days when all seemed lost and while a great new Navy was being built.

Britain entered World War II with a much smaller Navy than she had in 1914, and her losses in ships have been greater than in World War I.

Because this has been a small ship conflict with but few clashes between battleships and cruisers, the losses have been highest in destroyers, escort vessels and minesweepers. This is the comparative table of losses during the same period of the two wars:

	1914-18	1939-43
Capital ships	10	5
Aircraft carriers	—	5
Cruisers	29	26
Monitors	2	1
Minelayers	—	4
Destroyers	69	110
Submarines	56	60
Escort vessels	39	54
Minesweepers	26	187

Comparative figures for naval construction in this war and the last are not yet available, but there is enough evidence of a most practical kind.

It will not be surprising to find therefore, when the story can at length be told, that Britain's output in new building and indeed also in repairs, has far exceeded anything in her history. Nor has there been any sacrifice of progress to mass production. New types of warships, new examples of scientific ingenuity and technical leadership are constantly coming into public notice.

IT was early in the year that a new conception of British tenacity started making itself felt out on the oceans. Ships were coming from the yards equipped with many new devices for the detection and destruction of enemy mines and submarines. There was a new British confidence—a confidence created out of new strength.

Great convoys became greater and more strongly protected. Statistics which were considered amazing in 1942 were surpassed by even greater developments in 1943.

Those 850 ships engaged in the North African landings in November 1942 were dwarfed in July 1943 by the 3,250 ships engaged in the Sicilian operation.

But, as British and Allied sea power increased and improved, Axis sea-power declined at an even greater rate. The Mediterranean passed into the complete control of the Allies. The Italian Fleet steamed into surrender. Heavy commitments from these waters were eased. Important new Allied naval dispositions were made. The Tirpitz was reached in her lair by British midget submarines. Allied freighter losses became only a fraction of new production. German U-boat losses exceeded production.

I ESTIMATE that during 1943 Hitler lost something like half the front-line U-boat fleet he had at the beginning of the year. If that estimate is correct it means that Hitler lost more U-boats in 1943 than the Kaiser lost during the whole of the last war.

That estimate is based on firm calculations. In November last Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt announced that more than 150 U-boats had been dstroyed during the months of May, June, July, August, September and October. That leaves January, February, March, April, November and December. I cannot doubt that at least 50 U-boats were destroyed during that remaining half year, bringing the total to at least 200. The number of U-boats sunk between 1914 and 1918 was calcuated at 178.

But even more significant than the fact that 200 U-boats have been destroyed in a single year is the number of U-boat officers, petty officers and men lost with them. I estimate U-boat casualties in 12 months to be in the region of 10,000 trained, experienced men.

AS Britain has achieved miracles in 1943 the question arises "Can Germany recover her balance?" If her production was not being smashed by bombing raids there might be possibilities. But as the air battle over Germany becomes greater, and the German war potential gets lower, it is difficult to see how Germany's position can be improved.

If the U-boats could have maintained their successes it all might have been different. But when a nation's submarines are costing 10,000 trained experienced men a year the cost is prohibitive.

That is the position in December. Yet on New Year's Day, 1943, Hitler's own newspaper—Voelkischer Beobachter—wrote this "message of cheer" to the German people: "Our U-boats and surface vessels are achieving destruction of enemy shipping—both naval and mercantile marine—which cannot be even approximately made good by new construction."

That New Year message deserved to go down in history alongside Goering's statement that Berlin would never be bombed and Hitler's declaration that no American soldiers woud be allowed to step on to the shores of Britain.

Unconsidered Trifles

Bobby and Billy Jones were being interviewed by their new headmaster, who, finding that they were born on the same day and in the same year, remarked smilingly:

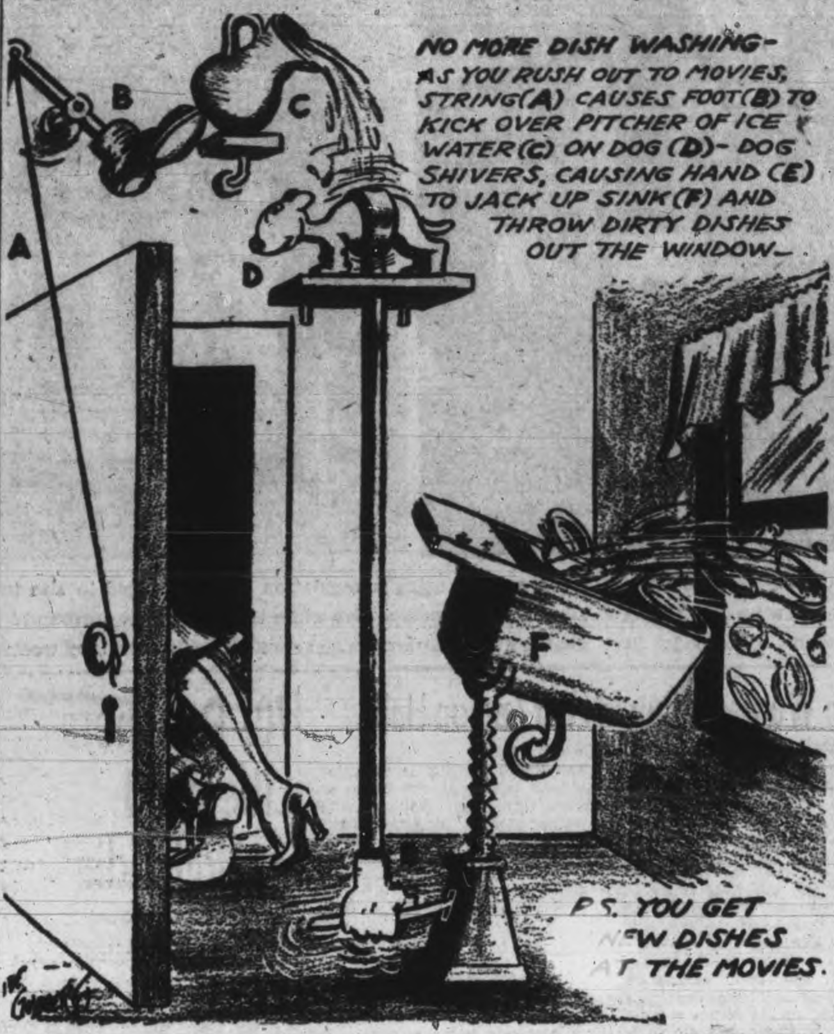
"Oh, so you are twins?"

"Oh, no, sir, we're not twins!" Bobby said firmly.

"But people born on the same day and in the same year are always called twins," the headmaster explained.

"But we are not twins," persisted Billy, "we're what's left of triplets."

POST-WAR WORLD No. 3 —By Rube Goldberg



Mr. Curtin And The Empire

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

PROPOSALS by Prime Minister Curtin of Australia for an Empire Secretariat are being described by some correspondents as something new and sensational. They are neither. All that Mr. Curtin asks, as we read him, is improvement in the existing technique of information and consultation among the various Commonwealth governments, a subject that has been discussed pro and con for a quarter of a century. Actually, Mr. Curtin is asking less than was proposed as long ago as 1923, when it was suggested there should be some sort of an Empire Secretariat with executive authority. Mr. Curtin proposes a body for information purposes only. In the circumstances, some of the statements and interpretations coming over the cables—one dispatch speaks of the "burning question" of whether the Commonwealth will "form a British square to the outside world"—look like uninformed rhetoric.

The principle underlying Mr. Curtin's proposal was accepted by the Commonwealth long ago; has been acted upon for years. The long question to be decided is whether the plan which he suggests for giving effect to the principle would be more effective than what exists now. In other words, whether a secretariat of representatives of the Dominions residing in London, and constantly in touch with the British Foreign Office and their own governments, would be a better system than information and consultation by cable and trans-Atlantic telephone, plus meetings between the Dominion High Commissioners and the Secretary for the Dominions.

This is not something about which any of us, at this time, need get greatly excited; nor will it be helpful if we start magnifying it into an issue of Empire solidarity, or of Empire unity. There are those, of course, who see in any suggestion concerning the Commonwealth a deep-laid plot by Imperialistic conspirators to rob the Dominions of their freedom; but with that sort of overheated thought we need not concern ourselves. There is no plot before us, no conspiracy; not so much as a scheme for an Empire "bloc", what some of our autonomists call the "Titan" theory. All we have to consider is a perfectly open and practical plan to do in a better way something we are doing already; to make co-operation that all of us support more effective; and we see no reason in the world why it can't be discussed and considered in a realistic way, without resort to those cliches and phrases which lost their validity years ago.

PRIME Minister King, speaking in Parliament some months ago, and also in a statement at the opening of this conference, stated that so far as the Government of Canada is concerned it was as anxious for Commonwealth co-operation as any other part of the Empire. If we accept that assurance—and we see no real reason for not accepting it—then it may well be that Mr. King will agree with Mr. Curtin, be prepared to take his plan. He would be going back on nothing that he has said or done in the way of Empire policy that we know of.

And, come to think of it, wouldn't a secretariat of permanent representatives of the Dominions in London be a more effective means of constant and intimate consultation with the British Foreign Office than the method of information and consultation by cable? Any business man who knows anything about conferences and co-operation in such a thing as industry knows the answer to that; knows that no amount of correspondence can ever take the place of personal, intimate contacts.

But, whether Mr. Curtin' suggestions are accepted or rejected, let none of us try to magnify the consequence into something vital to the Empire's life. Because the life of the British Commonwealth and Empire rests upon things and facts far stronger than any mere technique of formal communication between itss governments. It rests upon its past, upon its memories, upon its common ideals and institutions. These, not the theories and fine-strung philosophies of Imperialists or autonomist, are what count; and it would save us a lot of overheated and unrealistic controversy if that fact were better understood.

Spanish In Fifty Days

IN 1931, Institute affairs directed me to South America, and when my good friend, Dr. Leo Rowe, the Director of the Pan American Union, learned that I was going there, he arranged that I lecture on American Civilization at some of the universities of the West Coast. I afterward lectured at the universities on the East Coast also. When another friend, Edgar Ricard, one of Mr. Hoover's right-hand men in carrying on Belgian, German, and Russian relief during and after the first World War, learned of my intention, he suggested that as Mr. Hoover had gone around South America during the period between his election to the Presidency and his inauguration, he might be willing to make suggestions about my visit. I had met Mr. Hoover once and though I did not expect him to remember me, he received me at the White House at Mr. Ricard's suggestion.

In the midst of our discussion about aspects of my visit, Mr. Hoover asked, "in what language will you deliver your lectures?" I answered, "In English. I don't know Spanish." The President expressed his great regret at that fact and assured me that the value of my lectures would be reduced fifty per cent by my delivering them in English. He expatiated on this point to such an extent that finally I said, "All right, Mr. Hoover, I'll deliver the lectures in Spanish." "I thought," said the President, "that you said you didn't know Spanish." "That's true," I answered, "but I still have sixty days before I sail."

I return home to New York, consulted my friend, Professor Frederico de Onis of Columbia University, and secured the services of a young Spanish teacher to give me lessons. The teacher came to my house every morning at nine o'clock for 50 days and drilled me in the pronunciation of the Spanish language. He did more. He translated my five lectures into Spanish. After the first two weeks, each morning I read aloud to him one of the lectures and he corrected my mistakes. At the end of the fifty days he assured me that I read them very well and that I should be understood easily by any Spanish-speaking audience....

I felt fairly confident of success because I knew that the Latin American professors followed the practice of the professors in Continental Europe in reading their lectures to their classes instead of discussing the subject with them, as is customary with us. Everything went well. As my teacher had prophesied, the audiences evidently understood and appeared interested. Alas, at every university where I lectured, inconsiderate people came up to me after the lecture to discuss various points! However, I had learned the military principle of the strategic retreat and always had at my side a national who could speak English as well as Spanish.—From "A Professor at Large," by Stephen Duggan. (New York: Macmillan.)

Berlin On Perfidy

Turkey's abrupt suspension of shipments of chrome ore to the Reich seems to have come as a terrific shock to the trusting Nazis. What hurts, apparently, is not so much the loss of the ore, badly needed and already paid for, as the thought of betrayal by a trusted friend. Officially, up to a late hour yesterday, Berlin had not taken notice of the heartless act, but a military spokesman could not contain his feelings. "It was," he declared, "a breach of agreement!" One can almost hear the quaver of his voice and see the salt tears in his eyes. A nation break its solemn pledge to another nation? Unthinkable!

But will the world ever forget the record of Germany under Hitler in the matter of keeping her own promises? "Germany wants nothing that she is not ready to give to others. * * * War would be madness. Our one great task is to assure the peace of the world. * * * We have no thought of invading any country. * * * We do not wish to oppress or subjugate other people. * * * We are filled with the unconditional wish to make the greatest possible contribution to the preservaiton of peace in this world. * * * All we ask is the Sudetenland. * * * We neither intend nor wish to annex Austria. * * * The Germans and the Poles ought to live together in harmony. * * * We assure all our neighbours of the integrity of their territory. * * *"

Thus have the Germans given their word since 1933 — and now this unspeakable perfidy from that faithless double-crosser in the chrome belt! Ach! du lieber, what a cold and cruel and ungrateful world!—New York Times.

SHOCK FOR JAPS

By taking his fleet so close to Indonesian waters the commander in chief has challenged the Nipponese in a strategic theatre which they must hold at all costs. The surprise raid on Sumatra, which undoubtedly has come as a bad shock to them, will compel them to maintain strong naval and air defence in that zone, and this at a time when they are up to their necks in trouble in the Central and Southwest Pacific.

In short the Japanese would seem to be up against an Allied game of divide and conquer. The Mikado's men will find it a tough job to defend themselves on two fronts if Lord Louis pursues the Sumatra tactics.—Timmins Press.

THE HIGHEST AIM

All that the able-bodied citizen has a right to expect—and all he does expect—is an assured opportunity to make a living by honest work. That must be the main objective. Only if and when the system fails to provide employment should anyone capable of working expect to enjoy a livelihood for which he has not worked—and in this event maintenance becomes a matter of right.

Our highest aim must be freedom to work, not freedom from work.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

BEARDED SOLDIERS

When we have seen photographs of Canadian soldiers on service during the Fenian raids of nearly eight years ago, it was difficult to believe that such heavily bearded men were really as young as was claimed. These doubts of long standing have, however, been ended on receiving pictures of some of your youthful friends, with similar facial adornment, that have been taken on the Italian front. They look as if they came out of an old Ontario family album that was started about the middle of last century. — Edmonton Journal.

A Bible Message

And Abraham went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the south. And Abram was very rich in cattle, in silver, and in gold....

And Lot also, which went with Abram, had flocks, and herds, and tents. And the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, so that they could not dwell together.

And there was a strife between the herdmen of Abram's cattle and the herdmen of Lot's cattle: and the Canaanite and the Perizzite dwelled then in the land. And Abram said unto Lot, let there be no strife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdmen and thy herdmen; for we be brethren. (Gen. 13: 1, 2, 5-8.)

Let nothing be done through strife or vaingory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus....

Do all things without murmurings and disputings; that ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world. (Phil. 2: 3-5, 14, 15.)

Morale Booster?

A morale booster for draft board members has been discovered by the New York Herald Tribune. It hangs on the wall of Selective Service headquarters in New York for distracted officials to gaze upon when they feel the urge to read a simple regulation. It's the mobilization order issued by the Government of Ethiopia back in 1935 and this is how is reads: "When this order is received, all men and boys able to carry a spear will go to Addis Ababa. Every married man will bring his wife to cook and wash for him. Every unmarried man will bring any unmarried woman he can find to cook and wash for him. Women with babies, the blind and those too aged or infirm to carry a spear are excused. Anyone found at home after receiving this order will be hanged."—Council for Democracy's "Briefs for Broadcasters."

Extra Strain On Premier Churchill Cause Doctors To Watch Closely

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 11 — (CP). — Prime Minister Churchill's doctors are keeping a careful eye to see that his health does not suffer because of the extra strain imposed on him by the invasion preparations, but Mr. Churchill refuses to spare himself and he is working 18 hours a day.

The doctors don't like this, but there isn't much they can do about it. Besides his own work, the Prime Minister took on Mr. Eden's duties when the Foreign Secretary took a brief holiday recently. The doctors think Mr. Churchill is working too hard for a man of 70 who has had to fight off pneumonia twice within 10 months.

"Considering his age, his illnesses and the burdens that he has to carry, Mr. Churchill's health maintains a very high level," one of the Prime Ministers colleagues said recently. "There are times when we realize that he is doing too much, but he refuses to slacken off."

The Labor Party has caused some cynical eye-lifting by its decision to contest East Bristol against Sir Stafford Cripps at the next general election. Sir Stafford was disowned by Labor some years ago because he would not accept the whole of the party's program but he is essentially of labor.

The News Chronicle said this about Labor's action: "The policy that has dictated it is more than short-sighted, it is suicidal. It suggests that—as so often in the Labor Party's history—national considerations are to be subordinated to the narrow outlook of the party caucus."

But deciding to oppose Sir Stafford at this time is different from actually naming a man to try to beat him.

Lobby notes: Viscount Bennett, former Canadian Prime Minister, doesn't believe the British way of life can continue with 50 per cent. income tax...."It would make it impossible to compete in the world's export markets" he told a meeting here....Harry Beaumont, Labor M.P., advocated a fifth freedom for the post-war world—free movement of all peoples to wherever they wish to go...Denis Kendall, Independent, was so pleased over the government's increased pay for the forces he called Anthony Eden by phone the night it was announced to congratulate him....Kendall forced a division on the issue in Commons not long ago when the government was upheld by only 23 votes.

Detroit WCTU Work Discussed At Meeting

FAIRVIEW, May 11 — (ENS) — The May meeting of the Smith township and Lakefield W.C.T.U. was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Lewis with a splendid attendance of thirty women.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Gordon Mann, with Mrs. Clayotn Telford at the piano. The Scripture was given by Mrs. Milton Clarke and Mrs. Elmer Milburn, Mrs. Joseph Mann and Mrs. Gordon Mann led in prayer. Temperance readings were given by Mrs. W. Rosborough and Miss Olga Wilson. A solo, 'I Need Thee Every Hour,' was sung by Mrs. Clayton Telford. Little Doris Mann, of Detroit, also sang. Mrs. Earl Mann give a brief outline of the work of the W.C.T.U. in Detroit

At the election of officers all officers were re-elcted as follows: President. Mrs. Gordon Mann; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Bell; secretary, Mrs. Albert Armstrong.

Plans were also made for the annual convention which will be held on May 18. Mrs. Walter Heard extended an invitation for the July meeting to be held at her home.

Butter Production Lags Considerably

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — Production of butter in Ontario is lagging considerably behind last year's levels, the Ontario Department of Agriculture said to-day in a summary of the monthly report of the creamery inspectors of the Department for April. No figures were given.

The report said, however, that the usual seasonal increase is anticipated in May.

Difficulty in obtaining experienced labor is given as one reason for the lag this year while it was also reported that the spring reopening of cheese factories in Eastern Ontario is diverting creamery patrons back to the cheese factories.

Shortage of gasoline is also said to be affecting creameries that are trying to plan their pickup routes to meet the situation.

163 Credit Unions Operate In Ontario

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—There now are 163 Credit Unions operating in Ontario, it is stated in the report for 1943 by G. F. Perkin, inspector of credit unions, released today by Agriculture Minister Kennedy.

The Credit Unions now operating have 32,672 members and assets of $3,483,789.50. Loans were made to 12,707 persons in the year.

The report showed that Credit Unions have invested $528,050 in Victory Bonds since the start of the war, in addition to financing bond purchases by members.

Bad depts on last year's loan operations totalled only $92.67, 5-1000th of one per cent of the amount loaned.

Vancouver Man Leads Division

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, May 11 — (CP Cable) — Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, 36, of Vancouver, is commanding a division of the Canadian corps in Italy, it was disclosed officially today.

Gen. Hoffmeister, who previously headed a brigade, succeeded Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. (Tommy) Burns of Westmount, Que., when Gen. Burns became corps commander last March, succeeding Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar who went to Britain to head the 1st Canadian Army.

Announcemnt of Gen. Hoffmeister's appointment in this theatre was delayed for security reasons.

(Gen. Hoffmeister's promotion to the acting rank of major-general was announced March 20 by Defence Minister Ralston in Ottawa and, although the announcement did not say so, it was assumed then that he had succeeded Gen. Burns.)

Gen. Hoffmeister is the only Canadian general in this theatre who was not a member of the permanent force before the war. A captain five years ago, he rose to command the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, a Vancouver unit, through the Sicilian campaign and in Italy until the Canadians reached Potenza. Then he took over the brigade headed by the then Brig. Chris Vokes of Kingston, Ont., who now is a major-general commanding a division in Italy.

Gen. Hoffmeister is an able, popular leader and the D.S.O. he won in Sicily and the Bar to it gained in last December's bitter Moro Valley fighting in Italy provide a good indication of the way he operates.

CONGRATS ON FOUR-HIT GAME—Jack Kramer, Centre, St. Louis hurler, is shown being congratulated by First Baseman McQuinn as they walked to the dugout at Comiskey Park, Chicago. The victory, the third straight for Kramer, equalled the major league record for wins at the start of the season, set in 1918 by N.Y. Giants and tied by Brooklyn in 1940. The Browns broke the old American League record when they won their eighth straight contest. Catcher Hayworth is shown at Right.

Seagram Horses Move Into Woodbine Park

By APPAS TAPPAS.

TORONTO, May 11. — The Seagram Stable, a family word in Canadian racing, moved into "millionaire row" at Woodbine Park yesterday from the farm at Waterloo.

The stable, headed by the handicap performer Silvos, is in charge of Johnny Thorpe, probably the longest identified employee with one stable in Canadian racing history. Silvos, like all the rest of the stable, looks good. The horses have been working over the five-furlong track on the Waterloo farm of the owner, J. Frowde Seagram. Silvos was as playful as a kitten in his stall yesterday, and the Canadian-bred has proved himself one of the gamest runners in these parts, and, barring misfortune, should be seen hooking up with the best during the Ontario season.

The Seagram Stable at present plans to start Oblarto Gal in the Plate. This filly was foaled on the Parkwood Farm and bought at the yearling sale by Mr. Seagram. Oblarto Gal is by Artist's Prince out of Obituary. The dam was bred in England and shipped to Canada while in foal to Artist's Prince. The filly has grown, and in a mile trial over the Seagram farm showed Trainer Thorpe enough to warrant her being trained for the big race. Oblarto Gal is still a maiden. She started six times last year as a 2-year-old, and the best she got was third. Trainer Thorpe said the filly was not herself, and he expects much of her this season.

There are two home-bred 2-year-olds in the stable of the famous black with yellow sash stable. They are Pat Hand, a good looking bay colt by Stand Pat out of Toyful and Pat Fuller, chestnut colt by Stand Pat out of a King's Plate winner, Sally Fuller.

Kantoy Out of Plate.

Others in the stable are Heel Up, Daggers Drawn, Trevelyan and the 3-year-old filly Kantoy. This miss was named for the plate, but will not face the starter. Thorpe reports Sally Fuller has a bay filly foal by Sweepster.

An effort was made by the trained to purchase some new stock at New York. After spending several days shopping in search of stock, Thorpe gave up in disgust and returned to the farm to ship the horses here.

Haggarty, owned by Fred Perkins, was sent a mile by Trainer Dr. R. K. Hodgson yesterday morning in 1:49 4-5 over the heavy racing strip. Haggarty got his earlier prepping for the Plate over Dufferin Park, and Doc Hodgson is well satisfied with the way in which the Son of Sweepster is going along. The colt worked with Plucky Ray and Mrs. I. Webster's grey plater Bold Pat. Norman Foden was on Bold Pat, and when the other two horses took the first turn well out from the rail Foden was almost forced over the outer fence.

Heulwen, favorite for the Plate, galloped a mile, along with Malishah, in 1:56. The other McLaughlin Plater, Heysiris, worked with Spudroon, galoping a mile and a quarter in 2:26.

The sprinter Anytime, by Reigh Count and Dinner Time, has been sold by Mrs. M. Fishman to W. A. Armstrong. M. Fishman will continue to train the son of the Kentucky Derby winner.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The City Softball League is due to open a week from tonight with the hockey squad this year playing under the former name of the Plazas clashing with Manager Murph Chambers' Switchgear team which has absorbed many of the members of last season's Genelecs. The Plazas won the championship two seasons ago and last year playing as the 4th Battery repeated the feat. With many of the same players still in line the Starr-Ellis combination hope to make it three in a row this season while of course all the other clubs in the loop are hoping just as fervently to be able to knock the Plazas off. With the opening of the league just a week away it is to be hoped the parks committee will see fit to have the grounds groomed and the inner fences and grandstands made ready for the season. There is considerable preparatory work necessary and it should be put in hand at once. Softball will be the major sport of the summer and the city's available grounds should be readied for the opening of the various leagues. The game provides entertainment for hundreds of citizens and healthful recreation for many scores of players and should have the sincere co-operation of the civic authorities.

The Aircraft team of the Ladies' Softball League which gave the Westclox such a keen battle for the city championship last season is rounding together a strong aggregation under new management this season. Manager D. Sproule and Coach Dave Wilson have been gathering in a number of new players to fill up gaps in the ranks and they expect to field a club that will be in the running all the way. The Aircraft have their pitching ace Norma Strickland on hand again this year and while Bea McDowell and Marilyn Low will not be available Pat Wilson who pitched good ball for the none-too-strong Generals last season has been signed by the Aircrafters. The team has had several practices and is calling another one tonight at 6.30 o'clock. The lineup has not been settled and all candidates for the team will be welcomed.

Cooper Comes Through

Features of the daylight games played in the big league games Wednesday included the important development from a Cardinal standpoint that Mort Cooper, big right-handed ace of last year's champs, has finally found his winning combination. Up to yesterday Mort had started three games and failed to record a win. As a matter of fact all he got out of his three starts was a record of two defeats. Yesterday however he took the mound against the Brooklyn Dodgers and picked up his first triumph of the season with a 4 to 2 decision. Cooper gave ten hits at that but kept them well scattered. Whit Wyatt was the losing Brooklyn pitcher and the chief factor in his downfall was a circuit clout by Danny Litwhiler with a teammate on the sacks. In the other afternoon game in the National loop those amazing Philadelphia Blue Jays made a successful invasion of the west by tossing the Chicago Cubs for a 7 to 1 loss. It was the thirteenth defeat in a row for the Cubs who are not doing any better under Grimm than they were doing for Jimmy Wilson.

One of the interesting highlights in the afternoon program of the American League yesterday was the brilliant pitching effort delivered by the veteran Luke Hamlin, last year with the Toronto Leafs. The 38-year-old Hamlin held the Chicago White Sox to five blows and shut them out while the A's were making free with the delivery of Orval Grove, one of the better right-handers of last season. The final count was 9 to 0. The Detroit Tigers found the New York Yanks softer picking than the western clubs have been and turned back the 1943 champs 4 to 2. Dizzy Trout held the Yanks to seven hits while the Tigers were teeing off at the expense of big Ernie Bonham. The defeat brought the Yanks winning streak to a close after it had gone for six straight games. Although Mel Harder had to have some help to stop a Boston uprising in the late stages the Cleveland curve-baller garnered his third win of the season as against no defeats when the Indians turned back the Boston Red Sox 5 to 4. Woods was chalked up with the loss.

Oshawa Curlers Are Planning

Oshawa curlers are planning big things for next season according to Scribe George Campbell who remarks in his sport column: "Oshawa Curling Club members can anticipate a banner season in 1944-45. Already the club officers and directors are making elaborate plans. They've put a new roof on the east and west sides of the curling rink, to remedy the leaks and also to provide insulation. The new roofs have been placed so that they run off from the centre-peak in a gradual slope to the outside edge, thus doing away with the 4-foot drop on each side but creating air space in between the old and new roofs. In addition they are going to insulate the inside of the rink also and then do an all-round paint job, which will greatly add to the appearance of the place while the insulation will be a much-needed improvement. Other minor improvements and decoration work will be carried out in the club rooms and locker rooms also. They have "matched" all their stones, too. Arranged them in pairs, based on weight, shape, color, etc., and they have all been clearly marked. Next season there will be 8 pairs of matched stones for each rink and every curler will have a fair chance to develop his own technique. On top of that, the curlers plan to arrange a monster 5-day bonspiel for Oshawa, with a special trophy, etc., to be run off early in the season, it is likely."

"About the best line on the hitting ability of Ted Williams was given by Manager Joe Cronin in a recent interview the Red Sox chieftain had with Shirley Povich of the Washington Post," says Bill Gagnon in the Niagara Falls Review. "It came about when the Bosox manager claimed that such great lefthand hitters as Earl Averill and Hal Trosky were very much annoyed at having to bat in Fenway Park where the right field wall is 330 feet from home plate. Joe said this complaint was quite general with port side hitters, but in the case of Williams, he declared the rangy kid, who is now in Uncle Sam's flying forces, was cocky enough to think he could hit the ball out of any park. Cronin claimed anytime an outfielder went back to pull down one of Ted's long drives, the talkative athlete condemned himself for not pounding it harder. Another generally unknown point was revealed when the Boston pilot stated that Williams did not always go in for distance and when shaggers were hugging the fences, he took advantage of the loose spaces between the infield and outergarden and poked many in these safe spots. The only Williams' complex according to Joe was a fear that he would not hit four hundred. A truly great hitter this boy, and if war duties do not detain him too long, greater willow feats may be displayed upon his return to bigtime play."

The 54th running of the Preakness at Pimlico Saturday is reportedly shaping up a duel between Pensive, Calumet Farm's winner of the 70th Kentucky Derby, and George D. Widener's Platter to give the contest something of a championship tinge. Platter has his supporters for the mile-and-three-sixteenth feature because he has established himself as a distance horse after winning both the Pimlico Futurity and the Walden on the Baltimore course. These victories boosted Platter's earnings as a juvenile to $50,930. As a two-year-old, Pensive had only two wins in five starts for total earnings of $5,460, then came through, this year, with his Derby triumph.

Leo Dandurand, former owner of Montreal Canadiens in the N.H.L., said in an interview at Winnipeg last night that people, by their attendace at games, were showing they not only wanted but needed the relaxation in wartime that sport afforded.

Former second-base star of the New York Yankees, Joe Gordon, of Eugene, Ore., was inducted into the U.S. army at San Francisco, it was announced yesterday at his home town.

The sixth Stake victory of the season for Warren Wright, owner of Pensive, and Trainer Ben Jones, was registered at Pimlico yesterday when Twilight Tear, daughter of Bull Lea, trotted to an easy win in TORONTO, May 11 — (CP). — The International League's new anti-stalling rule had its first test in Montreal the other day, and left Montreal Royals and Newark Bears wondering just where they fit in the baseball standings. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning with Royals ahead, but the final decision won't be made until that extra inning is played next time Newark comes around the Mountain.

However, Royals have been given credit in the standings for the win and eBars marked with a loss in the meanwhile, but a few quick runs could reverse that when the teams tangle again.

League President Frank Shaughnessy thinks the new rule will prevent the puayers, especially the leading team, from loafing on the job and should mean faster, better games.

The teams must resume the game where they left off, with as few changes in the line-up as possible. Replacements will be allowed if any players have been sold or traded before the ninth inning is played, but no player who had been removed from the game in the first run-off may be fielded again, Shaughnessy has ruled.

Bargain basement trouble:

A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy, owner of the famous 37-cent filly, Omar's Gift, bemoans the scarcity of race-horse trainers. Scotty became an owner in the spring of 1942 while watching an early-morning work-out of two-year-olds at Jim Speers' Whittier Park Stock Farm near Winnipeg. Kennedy admired the horses and Speers offered him his pick of the bunch for what change he had in his pocket, 37 cents as it happened. He chose Omar's Gift, which promptly won the $2,000 added Winnipeg Futurity that year. Scotty's a Canadian Army private in training at Woodstock, Ont, now and can't find anyone to train his mare, so the Gift won't be racing this season. She's being bred at Winnipeg.

King Edward Wins Over Queen Mary

Getting fine pitching from Byers the King Edward team defeated Queen Mary Wednesday in a school softball league game 11 to 5. Byers blanked the losers for the first four innings and it was not until his team had set up a commanding lead that the Queen Mary batters were able to break through his delivery.

Nicholls was the pitcher for Queen Mary with Bradley doing the catching and the lineups were:

King Edward—Lawson lf, Evans rf, Murray c, Floyd 3b, Byers p, Riches 1b, Lane cf, Eakins 2b, Bannon ss, Downer sub.

Queen Mary — Gray, Bradley, Smith, Nicholls, Murray, Russell, Butcher, Long, Saunders Murphy.

Bill Emmerich Top Pitcher

By The Associated Press

Young Bill Emmerich of Rochester, whose good piching at Allentown last year was obscured by the fact that he was a member of the Interstate League's worst club, to-day is the leading pitcher of the International League. He took over that spot yesterday when he pitched the Red Wings to a 2-1 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Emmerich gave up only four hits to hang up his third victory without a setback. He was allowed only four runs in 26 innings.

John Gabbard of Montreal joined Emmerich and Syracuse's Jim Konstanty as the only three-game winners by defeating Jersey City 7-6. Gabbard and Konstanty have been beaten, however. The little Giants rallied for four runs in the ninth to knock Gabbard from the hill, but fell one run short as Wayne Collins came in to stop the Jerseys. A home run by Morris Aderbolt in the eighth inning proved the margin of victory.

The Buffalo Bison snapped Frank Hiller's scoreless string of 20 innings by scoring three runs in the sixth and another in the seventh to beat Newark 4-0. Young Walter Wilson allowed only six hits to hang up his second victory.

Syracuse and Toronto divided their night double header, Syracuse winning the first game, 3-2 and Toronto the second 8-0. Hod Lisenbee 42-year-old veteran allowed the Maple Leafs only five hits to outpitch Luther Knerr in the opener, while Al Jarlett yielded seven safeties to even matter for Toronto in the nightcap. Jose Rodriguez of Syracuse took hitting honors with four hits, two in each game.

Night Crowds Satisfy Baseball Teams

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer.

Night baseball's first 1944 turnouts totalling 58,078 for three games were taken to-day as proof that the game is strictly an after-dark and Sunday business in wartime.

Pittsburg's crowd of 23,011 last night more than doubled the largest previous throng on opening day and Washington attracted 19,756 customers with 15,311 present at Cincinnati.

The five day games featuring similar openings of inter-sectional series drew only 19,414 or a per-game average of 3,883 as compared to 19,359 under the arcs.

Although the night games had the advantage of being the first of the year and attendance is expected to shrink under a steady diet, club owners to-day were seriously considering the possibility of the majors following Washington's example with a Monday-through-Saturday "owl" schedule in future years.

Actual night results were overshadowed by the encouraging crowds, but all the home teams won to make it perfect for the moguls.

Bucky Walters made sure his 200th start for Cincinnati would be on the right side of the book by driving in Eddie Miller to break a 2-2 tie in the ninth. In five starts Walters has pitched five complete games, won four including two shutouts, yielded six runs and 27 hits in 40 innings. Bill Voiselle of New York was a tough luck loser.

Jim Russell's double scoring Johnny Barrett and Frank Zak was the big blow in Pittsburg's three-run spurt in the eighth for a 4-2 nod over Joston.

Johnny Niggeling's knuckler was too tough for St. Louis as Washington triumphed 5-1 and moved within a game of the second-place Yankees and 2½ games of the leading Brownies. The Senators lost Catcher Rick Ferrell who split his thumb in the second.

In the afternoon, the Yankees' six-game winning streak was snapped by Detroit, 4-2 as Paul (Dizzy) Trout scattered seven safeties and weighed in with three singles in the Tigers' total of 13 off Ernie Bonham.

Luke Hamlin broke into the victory column with a neat five-hit shutout job against Chicago as the A's hammered out 16 blows for a 9-0 verdict.

Mel Harder hit the 200-victory mark of his major league career, although Speck Kieman had to relieve in the eighth of a 5-4 triumph for Cleveland over Boston Red Sox.

Morton Cooper found his stuff again and pitched the Cardinals to a 4-2 edge over Brooklyn's Whit Wyatt and the Phils helped Chicago drop their 13th straight as Al Gerhauser southpawed a seven-hitter.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP). — Ken Sells, boss of the All-American Girls' Professional Ball League, has appointed a "personality counsel" for the league who will give the girls of course covering "the important points in personal grooming, appearance and social behaviour" during the training season....And don't think that plenty of masculine big leaguers couldn't use a little similar tutoring....Twilight Tear, winner of the Pimlico Oaks yesterday, is said to be the best three-year-old in Ben Jones' barn—and that goes for Pensive.

A Rookie a Day.

Gilberto Torres, Senators' third baseman: A sample of the confusion resulting form Clark Griffith's hiring Latin-Americans. Gilberto was born in Cuba, but Scout Joe Cambria insists that his brother, Epitacio Torres, is a Mexican-Indian.... The roster lists Gilberto as a pitcher and he was, winning 19 games and losing 11 for Chattanooga-Montgomery last season....A hurt arm chased him into the outfield and he wound up with a .321 batting average....This spring when Hillis Layne and Luis Suarez were battling for Washington's third-base job, G. Torres stepped in and took it from both. With his current batting mark well over .300, Gilberto isn't likely to be ousted.

Miners Rescue Two Men After Cave-in

STELLARTON, N.S., May 11. — (CP).—Toiling against time, sweating coal miners tunnelled their way through a barrier of fallen stone early to-day and brought to safety two men who had been trapped more than 13 hours in the black depths of the Allan shaft here.

Squirming through a narrow apperture in the rock, John Millie, 70, and Charles Fraser, 37, emerged from their entombment at 2.30 a.m., E.D.T., none the worse from their long confinement in an old section of the mine that once claimed 88 lives in an explosion.

Since early yesterday afternoon fellow workers had been digging frantically into the 20-foot-long pile of stone choking the mine tunnel, spurred by faint shouts from beyond the rock that told them the two trapped men were still awaiting rescue.

Experts at stone-handling, they laboriously clawed a way through the heavy mass, one man crawling in at a time and passing stone back along the line. Millie and Fraser helped by working at the barrier from their end.

The pair were "brushing"—enlarging the height of working places—on the 1,200-foot level of the Acadia Coal Company pit when the fall isolated them. Neither was hurt, though the stone dropped near where they were engaged.

They attracted attention to their plight by banging with a maul on the rails of the pit's narrow-gauge line.

Millie, who looks 15 years younger than his 70 years, had pitched in heartily at cutting down the stone blockade, and, when it was over, he walked off spryly to catch a riding rake for the surface.

The section where the pair were trapped is part of the Allan shaft's old Ford workings, where 88 men were killed by an explosion in 1918. In the same mine a blast killed seven miners in 1935.

Council Checks Timber Purchase

MILLBROOK, May 11 (ENS) — Cavan Council had all members present for its May meeting, this week, Reeve John Smith presiding, and J. Fox addressing the gathering regarding purchase of timber from H. Syer, stating terms of purchase contract, and that a portion of said timber is presumed to be on the road allowance. Mr. Fox is starting a saw-mill in the village and has bought the timber from two hundred acres of land on the Syer farm.

Council appointed a committee of Reeve and Deputy-Reeve H. Cathcart to look into the matter. Robert McCamus, president of the Agricultural Society, addressed the Council on motion of Councillor R. Earle asking a grant for the Society, and and Deputy-Reeve Cathcart, a grant of $150 was made.

Deputy-Reeve Cathcart introduced a By-Law to enable the Federation of Agriculture to levy 1.5 of a mill on all taxable property of persons who are members of the federation.

On motion the Council will sit as a Court of Revision on June 7 at 10.30 a.m., a regular meeting to follow on the same date. The Reeve was authorized to sign cheques for the following orders on motion of the Deputy-Reeve and Councillor Thorine:

F. Elliott's S. S. 9 $200; M. V. Thexton S.S. 13, $150; Docon Telephone Co. $3.47; E. L. MacNachton, ac. Johnston $27.13; Dr. M. E. Hobbs medicine $12; G. H. Hootan, Ass't Road Sup't., P. R. and bills $1210.75; J. N. McGill, salary $45; A. V. Thorne, ass't clerk and treasurer $45; Council pay $20; Committee work: Reeve $9; Deputy-Reeve $9; Councillors Armstrong $9; Earle $6; Thorne $6 -$39.00; Agricultural Society grant $150.

OTTAWA, May 11 — (CP). — Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said yesterday before the Commons Radio Committee that the principal objection to a privately operated radio network in Canada "is that such a powerful instrument of communication and propaganda would inevitably come under control of very few individuals.

Obituaries

MRS. JAMES ROBERT COONEY.

Funeral service for the late Mrs. James A. Cooney was held recently from the family residence, lot 17, con. 10, Otonabee, with Rev. George Murray officiating.

Annie Maria Wilson, daughter of the late James Wilson and Annabelle Ford, was born in North Monaghan 85 years ago. She had been in failing health since fall, but prior to breaking her hip a month ago had been in fair condition. A resident of Otonabee for ten years, she had been a member of Zion United church. She was a loving and devoted mother. Her husband predeceased her 29 years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Miss Amelia Cooney, Mrs. Myrtle Alderson, one son Alfred, all at home; three sisters, Mrs. George Turner, Emerson, Man.; Mrs. Harry Bowman, Midland; Mrs. Amelia Rosevear, Wolsey, Sask.; one brother, William Eagleson, Toronto.

Pallbearers were William Drummond, Ralph Drummond, James Manley, John Manley, Harry Hatherly and Frank Graystock. Interment was made in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. JAME LEEKE

The funeral of Mrs. James Leeke, who died in Toronto last week, was held on Monday from the Thomas J. Lane Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father F. Marrocco, who also said the prayers at the graveside in St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. Leeke, formerly of this city, was born in Peterborough Winnifred Maye Flaherty, daughter of the late Edward Flaherty and Bridget Carew. She resided here until she went to Toronto to live.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband, James Leeke; a sister, Miss Minnie Flaherty, Toronto; and two brothers, Michael of Portland, Oregon, and Jerry of Chicago.

Pallbearers were James Conley, John Begley, Edward Foley, Thomas Twomey, Harold Flood and Martin Flaherty.

ROBERT WRIGHT

MARMORA, May 11 (ENS) — The death occurred at his home at Petherick's Corners recently of Robert Wright, former well-known resident of Marmora. He had been under medical treatment for the past five years but his end came very suddenly.

The late Mr. Wright was 74 years of age and was born in Rawdon township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright. In his early years he worked in lumber camps and was a river driver in Northern Ontario. He also operated an hotel in Springbrook for a time. Later he farmed in Rawdon and Marmora townships.

Mr. Wright was of a friendly and jovial nature and made many friends.

He was thrice married, his first wife being Eliza Neal, of which marriage two children survive, namely William of Marmora and Jack of Detroit. His second wife was Annie Kerr. His third wife who survives him was Kate Southworth before marriage.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday afternoon at his late residence, with Rev. J. R. Bick officiating. Interment took place in Mt. Nebo cemetery, Springbrook.

Marmora relatives who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Art Reynolds and daughter, Leona, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray, Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McGarvey, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cuddy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith and Mrs. T. Smith, and Mr. Tom Quackenbush. Joseph Wright of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was also among the mourners.

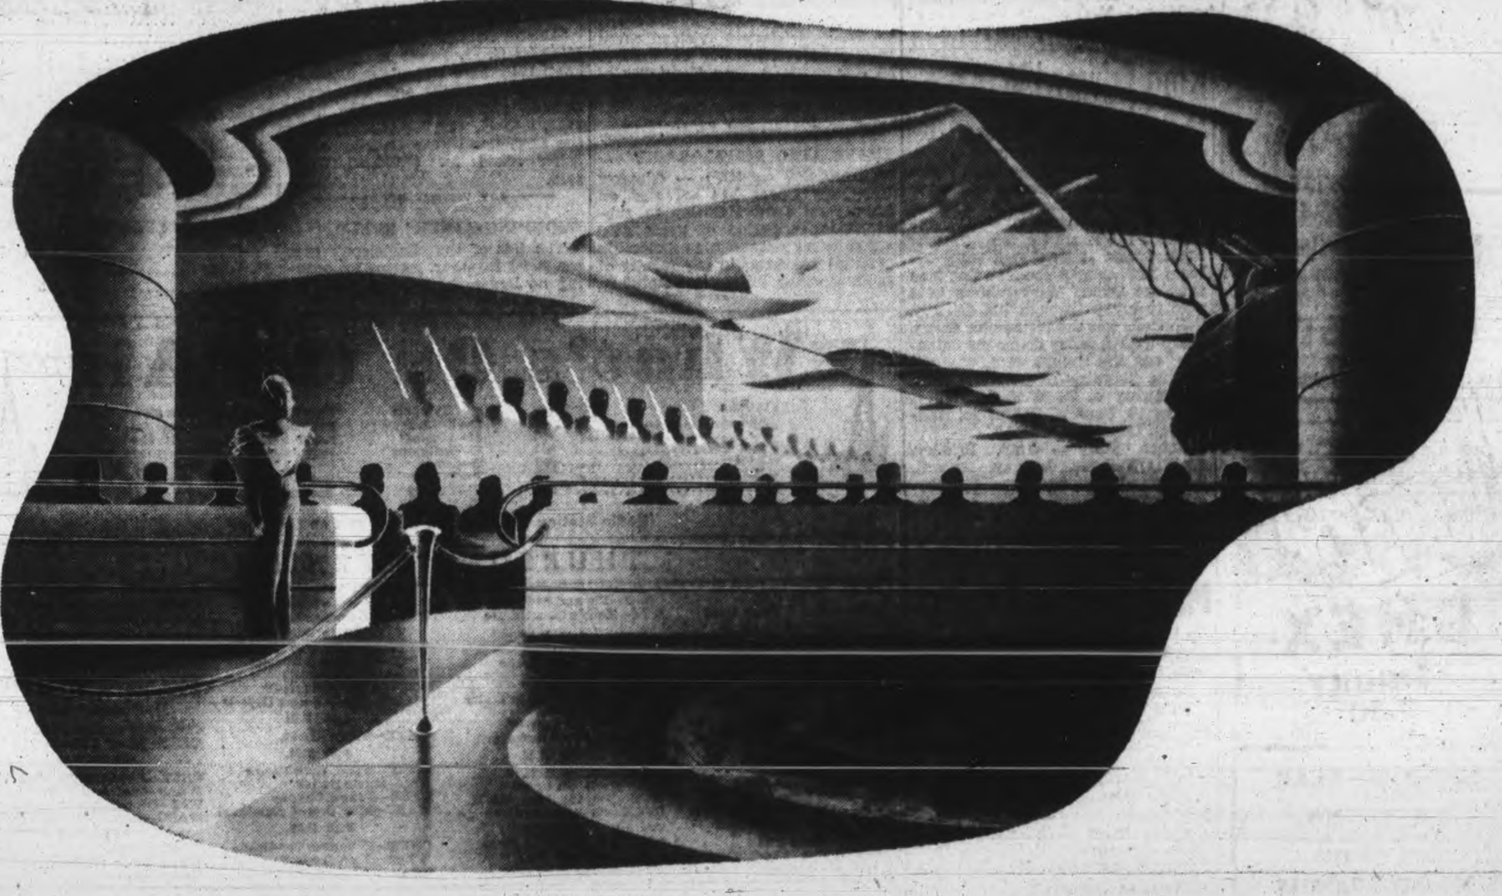
Next! MOVIES THAT "LIVE AND BREATHE" ...the work of men who think of tomorrow



3-DIMENSIONAL MOVIES, they're called — so realistic that the characters seem to step from the screen and pass beside you. Planes roar out of the sky and into the very theatre. Flowers in a garden seem to spill their petals right into your lap. Every screen play is a vast and enthralling spectacle, so true to life you feel you are one of the actors! That's the movie of the future, being perfected now by Men Who Think of Tomorrow!

No continent in the world is more fortunate in the tremendous improvements in everyday living which await it. That is because we are blessed with MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW!

• How important it is, therefore, that we make firmer our resolves and increase our daily efforts to bring that Tomorrow to pass. Remember, an enemy stands between us and Tomorrow. He is staking his all on keeping it from us. Can we do less than this to defeat his purpose?

• Let us create Victory! Let us wrest it from the very soil we till, the very tools we use in our factories, the very dollars we earn! Keep up production rates, yes, exceed them. Buy more and more Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. Do anything and everything to help win this war.

• Let's all be MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW!

Janitor Leaves School Position

HAVELOCK, May 11—(ENS)—The resignation of Douglas Young as caretaker was accepted by the School Board at its monthly meeting to take place at the end of August. Chairman B Smith presided, with Trustees Wilde, Sarginson, Matheson, and Southward present.

Principal Goheen reported that Agriculture Inspector Davies had visited the school on Monday and found everything satisfactory, but offered the suggestion that since a large grant is received for teaching of agriculture more stress be placed on it rather than the science side of the subject. The matter of the school garden came up for discussion, as to the best plans for cultivating it when practically all the High School pupils are away at other employment during the summer holidays and no caretaker is available. Finally it was decided that since the garden has already been ploughed, it be planted with garden seeds by the pupils and the disposal of same be left with the principal at the end of June.

Needs Help.

Mr. Goheen also reported that his duties in connection with the Air Cadet Squadron had become so heavy together with his school duties, that some change would have to be made before fall. All the teachers from Public and High Schools are required to go to Peterborough on Friday afternoon for a lung test and school pupils will have a half-holiday. The examinations in first-aid are being conducted by Dr. Holdcroft, and those in the home nursing class will be held on Friday by the instructress, Miss E. Rogers, Reg. N. Four of the girls from Upper School have already gone with the farm service force and a dozen more will be going soon. The electric meter had been checked by the Hydro Commission and was not defective, but teachers were asked to see that the lights were not left on unnecessarily.

Principal Jones reported an enrolment of 164 and an average attendance of 146. The supply teacher, Mrs. Petherick, is teaching during Miss L. Wing's absence. Caretaker Young reported that some plaster had fallen from the ceiling in Grade 13 room, and the rain had come in around the belfry during the last rain storm. In a communication from the Department of Education permission was granted for Miss G. McCorrie to teach physical education and for R. W. Goheen to teach agriculture. Instructions regarding summer courses for teachers at Geneva Park, Orillia, were referred to the principal. On motion by Trustees Southward and Sarginson a 50-ton carload of 4-inch lump coal will be ordered through Robert Buchanan, to be delivered during vacation.

Accounts — Teachers', secretary's and caretaker's salaries, $1,150.35; ploughing of school garden, $3 Canadian Fire Insurance Co., $9.50; Guardian Insurance Co., $15.12.

MORE ABOUT—
Premier King

er," he said.

An Imperial War Cabinet or an Imperial War Council had been suggested as a means of facilitating and strengthening joint action of commonwealth nations in the war, he continued. But there was a continuing conference of the cabinets of the commonwealth, which dealt from day to day, and, not infrequently, from hour to hour, with policies of common concern. When decisions were made they were those of all members of the cabinet of each country, with a full consciousness of their immediate resonsibility to their respective parliaments.

"I believe very strongly in close consultation, close cooperation and effective co-ordination of policies," said Mr. King.

"What more effective means of co-operation could have been found than those which, despite all the handicaps of war, have worked with such complete success; let us, by all means, seek to improve where we can.

Want Unlimited Freedom

"But in considering new methods or organization to bring the nations of the Commonwealth closer together, we cannot be too careful to see that to our own peoples, the new methods will not appear as an attempt to limit their freedom of decision or, to peoples outside Commonwealth, as an attempt to establish a separate bloc.

"Let us beware lest in changing the form, we lose the substance; or, for appearance's sake, sacrifice reality.

"I am told that, somewhere, over the grave of one who did not know when he was well off, there is the following epitaph: "I was well; I wanted to be better; and here I am."

Like the nations of which it was composed, the British Commonwealth had within itself a spirit which was not exclusive, but the opposite of exclusive, he said. And therein lay its strength. That spirit expressed itself in co-operation. Therein lay the secret of its unity.

"Co-operation is capable of infinite expansion," said Mr. King. "Therein lies the hope of the future."

It was of the utmost importance to the Commonwealth that there should continue to be the greatest possible co-operation among its members, he said. It was of the utmost importance to the future of mankind that, after the war, there should be the greatest possible co-operation among the nations of the world.

"The war-time co-operation of the Commonwealth is not the product of formal institutional unity; it is the result of agreement upon policies of benefit to all," said Mr. King.

"Moreover, they are policies that make an appeal 'to all sorts of men in all sorts of countries,' provided only they are men of goodwill."

Must Give Leadership

The Prime Minister said he believed that both the security of Commonwealth Nations, and, in large measure, the security and welfare of all peace-loving nations will depend on the capacity of the Commonwealth Nations to give leadership in the pursuit of policies which, in character, are not exclusive, but inclusive.

How far such policies could be pursued would, of course, depend on the extent to which other nations were prepared to pursue similar policies.

"But let us, at least, wherever that is possible, give the lead that is in the interests of the world as a whole," he said.

It would ever be a prime object of Canadian policy to work for the maintenance of a fraternal association of the British and American peoples. When peace came, it was the fondest hope of Canada that the peoples of the British Commonwealth and the United States "will continue to march at each other's side, united more closely than ever."

"But we equally hope that they will march in a larger company, in which all the nations united today in defence of freedom will remain united in the service of mankind."

The supreme crisis of the war in Europe was belong approached and the first obligation was to maintain single-handed concentration on the achievement of victory, said Mr. King. That was the first obligation to the humble people in all the Allied countries whose toil and endurance had made possible the United Nations' strength in war materials and supplies. It was the duty, above all, to the millions of fighting men who were facing death to defend freedom.

It was the greatest pride of Commonwealth nations that when the United Kingdom alone bore the brunt of the attack they stood with her in arms against Germany.

Lauds Churchill

It was a source of confidence throughout the free world that Prime Minister Churchill was continuing his leadership "with a vision and a courage which have already become a legend."

Mr. King said he did not agree with suggestions that the United Kingdom would be relatively poor or weak after the war. Much of the accumulated wealth would have been spent in waging war and there would have been a heavy cost in human lives.

"There is, however, something wholly indestructible which will survive all this," he continued.

"Britain has been an example to the world of the organization of a free people for a common task.

"When victory is won, you will still possess the same initiative, vigor and endurance; the same skills of hand and brain; the same qualities of mind and spirit. These have enabled the people of Britain to make a contribution to the winning of the war, which, man for man, no other nation has surpassed.

"In peace as in war, these qualities will remain. In the building of a better world after the war, Britain will be able, by the force of her example, to give the same leadership that she has given in the waging of war."

Canada's war effort was voluntary—"the free expression of a free people." Canada entered the war of its own free will, like other Commonwealth nations, not as the result of any formal obligation.

Inspired By Justice

"Ours was not primarily a response to a call of blood or race," he said. "It was the outcome of our deepest political instinct—a love of freedom and a sense of justice."

The Canadian Army awaits the word of command to join with its comrades in the liberation of Europe.

"The morrow will witness Canadian forces taking part in a final assault upon Japan, Canada's effort has truly become a world-wide effort," he said.

Canada sought to look beyond the war to make her effort a long range one. The Canadian people, no less than those of Britain, needed the promise of a brighter future.

"To sustain us in our endeavors, we all need the vision of a new world order," said Mr. King.

The widest measure of co-operation between nations was needed in the peace.

The Canadian war effort must be viewed as a national effort. The decision to enter the war in 1939 was more than the free choice of a free parliament, for it was "the solemn act of a free nation." The war effort appealed to the national pride and the effort had been to make it worthy of Canada.

A like spirit had animated other Commonwealth nations, and with due allowance for varying conditions the several aspects of the Canadian war effort had been parallelled in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

The war efforts of the Commonwealth Nations to owe their inspiration to a common source—the love of freedom and the sense of justice which had been cherished in Britain as nowhere else in the world.

New Strength Exists

As long as freedom remained, free men everywhere would owe a debt to the people of Britain they could never repay, he said. So long as Britain continued to maintain the spirit of freedom she need never doubt her pre-eminence throughout the world. The common effort, springing from a common source, had given a new strength and unity, a new meaning and significance to the British Commonwealth.

Mr. King quoted words used by Mr. Churchill in 1907 when he said those who looked forward to "larger brotherhoods" cherished the British Empire "because it represents, more than any other similar organization has ever represented, the peaceful co-operation of all sorts of men in all sorts of countries, and because we think it is, in that respect at least, a model of what we hope the whole world will some day become."

Mr. King said these words continued to bring fresh inspiration to all who owe allegiance to the crown and increasing hope to mankind.

Mr. Churchill had set forth also, in 1907, that his vision of peaceful co-operation should be realized through impressing on the Empire an inclusive and not an exclusive character.

tion if Canadian planes took part in the night attacks.

Coast Pounded.

It was the second straight night that the R.A.F. sent heavy bombers against mysterious emplacements the Germans have thrown up to attempt to block Allied invasion land forces.

The Air Ministry said the big night-flying bombers concentrated on one coastal objective this time, whereas on the previous night seven were hit by as many task forces, suggesting that whatever the objective might have been it was considered of prime importance to get such a sizeable dose of explosives.

More than 3,500 Allied warplanes from both British and Italian bases poured approximately 4,500 tons of bombs yesterday on targets in Hitler's Europe. The daylight assaults on Wiener Neustadt and Knin by American bombers were the heaviest batterings of the day as heavy bombers based in Britain stayed at home. It was the first time in 17 days that a full day has passed without Britain-based heavy bombers hitting some part of Hitler's domain.

However, British, American and Canadian medium, light and fighter-bombers gave the people of occupied territory no surcease from the aerial onslaught. The planes flying from their British bases spent the day methodically blasting at rail centres and airfields in France and Belgium as the massive aerial softening-up for the coming invasion progressed.

RUBBISH FIRE

Rubbish burning in front of 343 Stewart street, the home of Dr. C. M. Scott, brought out the fire truck at 9:01 a.m. today.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

A large flock of geese heading north to their summer grounds was seen to pass over the city at 6:30 a.m. today by Alpine MacNab, 494 Weller street.

TWO RECRUITS

Two Peterborough men have enlisted in the ranks of the 2nd (R) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers, this past week. They are John Oscar Davey, 586 Waterford street, and Garth Bernard Parnell, 224 Rubidge.

TAG DAY RESULTS

The final tabulation of receipts from the Humane Society's tag day show that, in spite of the inclement weather, approximately $530 was collected by the 116 taggers. The Society has expressed its gratitude to these helpers, who braved the wind and rain, and gave their time for this cause.

SPEAKER MISSING.

The casting exhibition scheduled for Wednesday night by the Fish and Game Association had to be called off when the exhibitor, George Baker of Apsley, failed to show up. He was to have been driven down to the city by the Game Overseer. At noon today association officials were still in the dark as to what happened and why Mr. Baker could not get here. Quite a few people had gathered at the designated spot for the expected casting demonstration.

DRAW WINNERS.

Five-dollar War Savings Certificates in aid of the school children's Bomber Fnud were drawn at the Canadian Legion bingo on Wednesday night for the following: Reg Dyer, 451 Stewart Street; Mrs. Helen Sloan, 462 Donegal Street; Charles B Francis, 581 Sherbrooke Street.

CARS RECOVERED

Two automobiles reported to the police department as having been stolen during the night were recovered this morning after having been abandoned by the thieves. A car belonging to Pete McGiflen, Carlisle avenue, and taken from in front of his home during the night was located in a ditch on the Keene Road. Another machine, owned by Zimel Levine, Victoria street, was found this morning on Grandview avenue.

DONORS EXCEED 100

There were 109 donors at the Clinic Wednesday, the first time in some weeks that the list has included more than 100 names. There were 25 from the C.G.E. and Genelco and employees also from the Outboard Marine, De Laval, B. F. Ackerman, Peterborugh Canoe, Quaker Oats, Peterborough Lock Co. Large groups of donors came from the country, 13 from Lakefield and 16 from Campbellford, with numerous others from Havelock, Trent River, Bonarlaw, Ida, Bewdley and Cordova Mines. Three 8th donations, from J. R. Stuart of the C.G.E., and Harold Collins and Wilfred Christmas of the Peterborough Lock Co., were contributed on Wednesday.

Money Was Threshed

CREEMORE, Ont., May 11 (CP). — During threshing operations last fall Garfield Thurston lost a wallet containing $32 in bills, his registration card and other papers. A nearby farmer has been finding money in his straw mow all winter, and this week recovered the last of the $32. The purse and its contents was found badly riddled after its trip through the threshing machine.

School Teachers To Be X-Rayed

The Mobile X-Ray Unit of the province of Ontario will be in the city all day Friday conducting a survey of school teachers. Already two or three technicians of the Department of Health have arrived here to unload the equipment of the travelling clinic and set it up for use tomorrow in the gymnasium of the Collegiate. An officer of the Department, in charge of the unit, gets to Peterborough in the morning.

Speedy examination characterizes the functioning of the X-Ray unit, and up to 350 persons can be handled in the course of an 8-hour day. The survey is designed to reveal any chest condition, including tuberculosis.

A survey of teachers is a new aspect of the Clinic's work, which has been going on for some time now. Previously surveys of industrial workers in different parts of the province have been undertaken in the past two or three years, and it is hoped to get this same mobile unit here at a later date for examination of employees of the local industries.

Bear Got Tired

DEAN LAKE, May 11 — (CP). — Lester Beharriel of this village about 75 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, found out just how fast he really could run. As he was walking into the village he heard a noise of an animal rummaging around. It was a bear. It soon gave up the chase.

Mrs. A. Wease Observes 93rd Birthday

After 92 years of hardship and toil Mrs. Annie Wease, Lasswade, has lost none of her enthusiasm for life, and today sees the culmination of plans she has been making for months with the zest of a 10-year-old to celebrate her 93rd birthday.

Five of her thirteen children arranged to spend the day with her and a large birthday cake, with 93 candles, is to be the final surprise of the day. Although she is not as acive as she would like. Mrs. Wease has never lost interest in people, and her favorite pasttime is visiting with callers.

Mrs. Wease has not always had an easy life She and her husband Austin Wease, who came to Lasswade more than 60 years ago, were among the early pioneers in the forest section. Living in a shanty, she made a home and brought up thirteen children, of whom seven predeceased her. Her memory remains vivid and she enjoys describing conditions as they existed "in the early days."

Full Of Courage

Her family speak high words of praise for her courage. Although she has never been sick, about a year ago she lost her sight and now can only distinguish light from dark. When her family commiserated with her about not being able to see the marks of spring again, she declared that she was delighted to be strong enough to be around.

The 93-year-old woman has always been interested in sewing and knitting and quilting was her hobby. Even a year-and-a-half ago, she made a beautiful quilt for her daughter, Mrs. D. Hendley of Long Lake, which maintained her usual standard of workmanship. Since she lost her sight, she has directed her energies into another channel, and in the past year has knit several pairs of socks.

The party today is being held at the homestead where she lives with her son George. Other children present are Charles of Peterborough; David of Glenalda, Arthur, Pte. William Wease of Kingston and Mrs. D. Hendley, Long Lake.

Savings Clubs Continue Aid For War Victims

In the midst of a Victory Loan campaign the all-important task of assisting in the war effort through the purchase of War Savings Certificates gets relegated a little to the background, from the very fact that one overshadows the other. So it comes as a refresher to learn that some keep this feature of the war effort in mind, and continue the good work.

As an example of this, the writer knows of one citizen of moderate circumstances who bought certificate of this kind on the very morning he purchased a bond in the present campaign. The citizen has resolved that all interest coupons on the few bonds he has bought in every campaign launched since the war began should be turned back to the Government to use again in this manner—something that might find a patriotic response in others for a similar purpose.

The War Savings Clubs centred around Bob Everitt have been keeping on a this assist to the war efford, which also gives a helping hand to those stricken through the enemy air raids over Britain through the local and district fund operating for that purpose, and today's list of receipts sees another $11 credited in their name, to make a total of $284.50 that has come to the fund in this manner, besides proclaiming the all-important fact that they have thus purchased a total value of $1,136 in War Savings Certificates, a really worthwhile achievement.

Of recent times the Kiwanis Club and the Stamp Out Hitler Club led by Nurse Yelland at the Canada Packers Ltd. plant have loomed large in the work, the latter having come in on the ground floor and never failing to hold at least one draw each week.

This particular report gives the Kiwanis Club winners as three Sea Cadets, the members of the club paying for their participation to give the prizes, one each to Harry Russell, Harry Botnick, and Harry Webster, while John Troke, a winner on two occasions, gave one of his prizes to Brigadier N. Buckley, a former member who was a guest on this occasion, and the sixth winner was Harold Rehill.

Club Helps Sick Member

A very fine sentiment is displayed by the club members at the Canada Packers Ltd. plant, for one of their number, Jimmy Edwards, has been on the sick list for a long time, during which they have kept him in the running by paying his share, and it is reported that he is paid up in this manner for a number of weeks ahead.

This time Russell Hill, Fred Storey, Adele Watson, and Elwood Trotter happen to be the winners in this group, and the story is rounded out by Selkirk's Men's Shop Club, who report Alan Bell of Bailieboro as their winner.

Most people know just how scarce onions were during the past winter, but this evidently did not seem to affect one local family, for on offering some of this commodity to a friend from a surplus that still remained from last season's growing, the fund was given a dollar, which, of course, adds to all the other benefits from the fruits of the soil of this land that has gone to benefit the people in the Motherland.

ALGONQUIN PARK, Ont., May 11—(AP).—James Taylor, acting superintendent of Algonquin Park, said that wolves are fewer in the park this year than in some years. A 25-mile patrol revealed evidence of only five wolves. However during the winter, Mr. Taylor said he had sighted 33 wolves in six days while carrying out forestry patrol duties from the air.

Holiday Closing Discouraged For Factories

The Department of Labor has made an appeal to all employers who may have under consideration any plan for a temporary shut-down of their plants this summer to discuss the matter with the local Employment and Selective Service office before reaching a final decision. The object of the Department is to curtail as much as possible the temporary closing down of plants engaged on war production during the approaching summer months.

While there is no desire on the part of the government to interfere with established and reasonable vacation practices, it is pointed out that Selective Service cannot undertake to guarantee the return of workers to plants following unwarranteed shut-down. Moreover, hardship for those who lose wages during these temporary layoffs is frequently involved.

Here in Peterborough the Canadian General Electric has already announced, for the first time, a vacation plan of this very type, with a week's shut-down beginning July 29, and employees who have more than one week's holidays coming to them required to take their extra days immediately before or immediately after the designated week in which the Peterborough works will be closed.

For another, the Westclox has consistently for some years set aside the first two weeks of July for a general vacation period involving a shutdown of their factory. And similar action on the part of other city industries has been proposed for this summer or rumored as a distinct possibility.

With labor shortages expected to be pronounced again this summer, the government expect firms will agree to examine their policy carefully before going ahead with any temporary plant shut-down. This will insure that Selective Service regulations will not be infringed and that labor shortages difficulties will not arise out of any action of this kind which might be proposed.

Youth Is Jailed For Theft Of Ring

One month in jail was the sentence imposed in police court this morning on Gerald McAdams, 16, Havelock, who had previously pleaded guilty to stealing a diamond ring from Gordon Tucker, with whom he shared a room in a local boarding-house.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared in behalf of the accused this morning and urged leniency, pointing out that the boy's parents were separated and the youth had not had a normal chance to go right. Mr. Gordon suggested that as McAdams had been in jail for two weeks the court should give him a two weeks' sentence and date it back that far.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. declined, however, to act upon the suggestion. He imposed a sentence of one month and date it back a week.

Purge Continues

BERNE, May 11 (AP)—The Journal de Geneve said today a German tribunal at Quimper, France, had condemned to death 23 Frenchmen and one Spaniard charged with membership in resistance groups. At Limoges, meanwhile, the paper said, a Nazi court sentenced five Frenchmen to death for sabotage.

Steady Buying By Employees Wins Loan Flag

Subscriptions by the employees of Western Clock Company to the successive Victory Loans have increased progressively, J. H. Vernor, general general manager, remarked in congratulating the staff on winning a Three-Star "V" flag which he received Wednesday afternoon from A. L. Stedham, representing the War Finance Committee.

The plant's objective was subscribed to the extent of 113.6 per cent. with 96.9 per cent. of the employees investing. Many of the departments reported 100 per cent. participation in the Loan, and the general results showed that Western Clock's total was attained by the cooperation of the staff in lending to the Government without any large amounts boosting the total.

Western Clock now has a collection of four Victory Loan flags.

The presentation ceremony Wednesday took place between 4.40 and 5 p.m., and everybody enjoyed the incidental program of music by the R.C.A.M.C. Band under the direction of WO-1 Albert Croasdale.

At Peterborough Lumber

Employees of Peterborough Lumber Company received their Three Star "V" flag Wednesday afternoon at the Monaghan Road factory. The presentation was made by W. A. Reid, representing the War Finance Committee, to Miss G. R. Corkery of the office, representing the entire staff. Fred J. Overend, secretary-treasurer of the company, supplemented Mr. Reid's congratulations with appreciation to the staff for their response to the Loan.

Training Centre 153 per cent.

With 866 subscribers, the officers and men of Peterborough Training Centre have secured 153 per cent. of their objective in the Victory Loan campaign.

The military establishment accepted a quota of $40,900 and their total reported at Victory Loan headquarters today was $62,450. It is understood that the canvass lists are remaining open to the end of the Loan drive.

Harold Mathison of Havelock brought the information that Canada Needle and Fishing Tackle Company have come through on their objective. Sixteen employees invested in the new Victory Bonds, and A. J. Crook, manager, is delighted with the response of his staff.

Of Local Interest

In today's Canadian press report from national headquarters two Peterborough companies are mentioned among the large subscribers, Quaker Oats Company of Canada for $750,000 and Canada Packers Limited of Toronto for $1,000,000.

Night Fighter Wounds Sgt. D. Newton

With the R. C. A. F. Bomber Group in Britain— His face lacerated by German cannon shell fragments, Sgt. Doug Newton, 503 Stewart street, Peterborough, handled like a veteran his first assignment as a wireless gunner of a Bluenose squadron "sprog" crew.

The 20-year-old fledging and his crewmates were coming home from a mine-laying mission when attacked by a German nightfighter, cannon shell and machine gun bullets tearing into the Halifax from underneath as Jerry slipped in unnoticed. Newton, the mid-upper gunner, and the bomb-aimer were wounded and fire broke out by the midupper turret.

While the midupper, Sgt. Joseph Petsche, 56 6th Ave., Villa La Salle, Quebec, fought the flames, Newton watched for the return of the German fighter, then grabbed a fire extinguisher to complete the task of putting out the fire, allowing Petsche to return to his guns.

"When we were first hit we thought it was fire from a German 'flak' ship," related Sgt. Newton, 'and the skipper made a diving turn to starboard. Then we saw the fighter and by that time flames and smoke were all over the place."

'The pilot was able to evade the remaining attacks of the fighter, landing at an emergency airfield in England, where Newton was taken to the hospital for treatment, subsequently returning to his home station.

Soldiers Battle Constable In Restaurant

As the result of a fight Wednesday night in the Mayfair Cafe in which Constable Andre Dalton sustained a fractured nose, two soldiers, Corps. Roderick McGinnis and Cecil Lafranier, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to assaulting the officer in the execution of his duty.

Magistrate Langley remanded the two until May 17 for sentence.

Constable Dalton in giving evidence stated that he had bee called to the Mayfair Cafe, and on arriving there found Corp. Lafranier stretched out on the floor under a table.

When the officer went to arrest Lafranier he said that he was grabbed by Corp. McGinnis who interfered with him by holding his arms. Afterwards, the officer swore, he was struck a number of times by Lafranier and his nose was broken.

Constable Dalton, who is a veteran of the present war with several years' service overseas, had abrasions on his right cheek.

When it was stated that the two men had a good military record Magistrate Langley said that he proposed to remand them until next week to give the police a chance to see if the soldiers had any criminal record as civilians.

The fight in the restaurant attracted a big crowd of spectators before the two soldiers were overpowered and taken into custody.

Four Juveniles Given Suspended Sentence

Four young Peterborough boys pleaded guilty in juvenile court on Wednesday afternoon to breaking and entering a number of cottages on the west side of Chemong Lake.

The offence took place on a Sunday in April when the four lads broke into six different summer places. Very little was stolen from the cottages but the intruders caused an amount of damage.

All four were allowed to go on suspended sentences and in three of the cases the accused was also assessed $5 to help pay the damages.

Provincial Constable Price Morris had laid the charges against the four youngsters.

Need 550 Men In Peterboro For Factories

National Selective Service is in need of some 550 men at the present time to fill employment requirements of essential industries in Peterborough, it was said to-day at the local Employment Office in the Barrie Building. The exodus of farmers, of whom at the peak several hundred were employed, from urban jobs chiefly in the Allied food industries, is to a large extent responsible for this increase in the labor shortage.

Not all farmers, however, have left the city yet to return to the land, though by far the greater part have gone. W. H. L. Mellis, manager of Selective Service, said this morning that 17 still remained scattered in twos and threes in the Raybestos, De Laval, Quaker Oats plants, and others. They are the agricultural workers whose farming operations are being held up, even at this late date, by lands that are still under water. Their farms are in North Monaghan, Otonabee and Douro. "They have been given permission to stay on for a time yet," Mr. Mellis said. "As long as they can do something for us here, there is no use having them kicking their heels at home."

That the easing of the labor employment situation prevailing in recent months cannot be expected to continue was the message forcibly conveyed in a letter received by Mr. Mellis from A. MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor and Director of National Selective Service. "We are moving into a year," Mr. MacNamara said, "which I am positive will develop into a period of acute labor shortages to a degree undreamed of before."

Small Surplus.

In writing Mr. Mellis, he makes mention of "a temporary lull enjoyed during the winter from the necessity of meeting acute emergency shortages. In fact, there has been too much talk of layoffs and unemployment. Actually there have been few areas with a surplus labor supply and in few cases has the surplus been large.

"Already the necessities of war require that large numbers of new men and women have to be sent back into plants where there was a layoff a few months ago. Ten thousand are needed immediately for heavy shell manufacture, the packing plants are desperate for help, railways are pressing for men for shop and track work, base metal mining is short 2,000 men. You know that foundries and agricultural implement plants are short. We must find a quarter of a million men for agriculture.

"These are other indications point to the most difficult year we have had to face in providing the manpower for industry," Mr. MacNamara states. "And over and above the problem of meeting the needs of industry we must find 98,000 men in top physical condition for the Armed Forces."

In meeting the situation, Mr. MacNamara continued, it would be necessary to comb all less essential industry and move people to essential jobs. Of the half-million men called up for examination and rejected by the Armed Forces, he felt sure all were not now engaged in essential jobs.

"You have authority," the Selective Service director told Mr. Mellis, "to transfer men employed in industries or establishments included in the Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders to industries where their services are vitally needed; and it will be necessary to use that authority vigorously if we are to meet existing shortages in the high labor priority establishments.'

Rich Doris Duke Hits Court Snag

ELIZABETH, N.J., May 11 (AP)—Advisory Master Dougal Herr in Chancery Court today found null and void the Reno divorce of Doris Duke Cromwell from her husband James H. R. Cromwell, former U.S. Minister to Canada, and ordered it set aside.

Herr held the decree "null, void and of no effect in New Jersey." In handing down the court's decision the advisory master challenged the 31-year-old tobacco heiress, competence as a married woman to select a residence outside the state so long as her husband stayed in New Jersey.

He held than an element of fraud was "conspicuous" in Mrs. Cromwell's claim that she was a Reno resident.

Cromwell's suit for a limited divorce under the laws of the state of New Jersey will be heard later before Herr.

Earlier today Cromwell's counsel told the court that Mrs. Cromwell's Nevada testimony had been sealed and was not available to her husband.

Cromwell told the court his wife, on her return from Honolulu in September, 1942, talked of wanting a divorce.

"She said that I had sufficient grounds," Cromwell testified. "I told her she knew gentlemen didn't divorce their wives."

"Did you mean gentlemen didn't divorce their wives for adultery," Meyer Ruback, Cromwell's counsel, queried.

"Yes," was the reply.

BONARLAW, May 11 — (ENS) — Rawdon township council met in the town hall on Monday afternoon with all members present, Reeve W. J. Tanner presiding. Correspondence with respect to municipal bridges constructed under the Highway Improvements Act was received and filed.

Reeve W. J. Tanner was appointed delegate to attend meeting in Toronto which is being held for the purpose of discussing procedure for co-ordinating and guiding the provincial program of planning and development. Expenses are to be paid. The deputy reeve was named as alternate delegate.

The following motions were adopted: That superintendent's road voucher No. 4 for $236.13 be paid; that Hydro Electric bill of $4.05 for town hall be paid; that insurance on hall be increased $500, making same $2,200, contents $100 and shed $200.

The council adjourned to meet Monday, May 29, at 10 a.m. for the purpose of attending court of revision.

Commission Puts $18,635 In Fund

LINDSAY, May 11.—(ENS-.— At the monthly meeting of the Lindsay Hydro-Electric Power Commission, W. E. Reesor, manager and secretary, announced that by reason of the 13th bill the local commission will be able to set apart for the stabilization post war fund the largest amount in the history of the local commission, namely, $18,635.90. "This bill is twice as large a bill as we have received in the past," stated Mr. Reesor.

The annual 13th bill accumulates because of the fact that at the outset of the Hydro year the Ontario Electric Commission sold power to the Lindsay commission, in 1943, at $33 per horse power per year. The estimate of power required was high, with the result that the Ontario Commission has announced a reduction on the year's operation of power costs of $3 per horse power, of $30 instead of $33.

For four years past the Lindsay Hydro Commission has been setting the total amount of the 13th bill into a stabilization fund for post war purposes. The Lindsay commissioners contemplate that following the war, should power costs for any reason advance perceptibly, that there will be no advance in Lindsay; or should there be any great break or damage to the system, there will be a fund on hand to take care of such an emergency; or should the town council insist on improved and more modern street lighting on Kent street after the war, there will be sufficient money reserves in the stabilization fund to take care of the expenditure.

In the meantime there will be a slight reduction in cost of power to consumers in Lindsay.

Farm Changes Subject Of Talk

NORWOOD, May 11 — (ENS) — The regular meeting of the Women's Institute took place recently at the home of Mrs. F. Parker. A talk was given by Miss Young of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, and a paper on Agriculture and Canadian Industries by Mrs. Charles Davey.

Miss Young spoke about the recruiting program for nurses and hoped Norwood would send more nurses, as those who have trained as nurses from this district have been very successful, especially Mrs. Irwin, nee Florence Scott, and Miss M. Burgess. Nurses are needed more than ever in wartime, and scholarships given now are a great help to nurses, she declared.

Mrs. Davey stated agriculture through all the years of history has been the back bone of every country and it has been the forgotten industry by everyone but the farmer.

"We have had government legislation for the benefit of manufacturing concerns, labor, but today agriculture in all its branches has come into its own. We have the Milk Producers' Association, the Cheesemakers' Association, the Hog Producers' Association, and others, until in all branches of agriculture we have organizations demanding the rights of agriculture, and in most cases they are successful."

Concerning the milk situation Mrs. Davey stated it is only about ten years ago the government began to test cattle for T.B. and blood test. In some cases the whole herd of cattle had to be destroyed and was disappointing to the farmers. No longer do they use diseased milk in butter, cheese and other foods made from milk, she declared.

Not many years ago eggs were sold that were not fit to be used, new egg grading has much improved those consumed in this country. Since hogs are graded a much better supply of meat is placed on the market, Mrs. Davey reported.

Farm workers who have been employed during the past winter under special permit in essential industries must now go back to the land. Last year 5,000,000 bushels of corn were used in the starch industry. Before the war most of this was imported from South America, but recently large quantities of Canadian-grown corn have been used satisfactorily.

Great Progress

In Peterborough County, agriculture producing milkweed to be processed into gum rubber, this alone proves the great advance agriculture is making. Nearly 71,000 pounds of milkweed were collected in 1943, the majority from rural schools. This was purchased by the Department of Agriculture and has been turned over to the research council where it is being processed.

Mrs. F. Stewart and Mrs. C. Davey were appointed delegates to attend the District Annual to be held in Peterborough, May 26. Prizes of $3 and $2 are to be given to the members bringing in the most articles for a sale after the summer holiday season. It was decided to send cigarettes to the local boys overseas, 82 in number, and another dance is to be held in the town hall May 26, to raise funds for war work.

Other items in the program were recitations by Mrs. F. Parker, "The Soldier's Prayer" and "The Drunkard," and a reading "Quiet Builders of Village Life" by Mrs. W. Golloher. It was decided to ask for a short course in remodelling in October.

A letter was read from Squadron Sergeant-Major Ross Clarke saying the parcel from the Women's Institute has arrived while he was in hospital with malaria. He stated he was quite well again and would return to his unit the next day, the letter was dated April 21.

A report of last year's work is as follows: A total of $131.39 was used for war work, the larger amounts given were $10 to the Red Cross for Prisoner of War parcels, $10 to I.O.D.E., $10 to B.W.V.F., $10 to the Central Fund of W.I. and $15 to Russian Relief. The Get Together Girls assisted and donated $20 to B.W.V.F., $10 to the Salvation Army, $10 to the I.O.D.E. for books and $2.50 to the Red Cross.

Two dances were held, a bingo and 5 euchre parties during the year, and draws were held on an apron and a pair of pillow cases. Eight large and 2 small quilts were finished and donated to the Red Cross and I.O.D.E. Four quilts were quilted for peopel to raise money and a parcel containing an afghan and children's clothing was given the Greek Relief and a coat made by one of the members was given the Salvation Army.

ANCIENT WONDER

The first great lighthouse, almost 400 feet high, stood on the island of Pharos, off the coast of Egypt, and was known as one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.

POLITICAL ENEMIES—One of the most unusual husband-and-wife stories yet, is the one concerning Robert Earl Peterson and his wife, Edna Peterson, shown in their Albuquerque, New Mexico, home doing the dishes. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson live happily and co-operatively together, as man and wife, but when it comes to politics, oh boy! Mr. Peterson is seeking the Republican nomination for governor of New Mexico, while his wife seeks the Democratic nomination for the same job!

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Variety In Their Meals Appreciated By Children

BY MARY MOORE

About one-third of the children I know don't like eggs and, believe me, I know crowds of little ones.

Eggs are beloved by mothers because they are so simple to prepare and require so little thought. But all children, whether they like eggs or not, appreciate variety in their meals and should have variety to train them to changing menu possibilities, I've made an elementary list of simple changes you could work out during the week. This prompted by the little one whose mother wrote me saying he wailed "What Mother, eggs again?"

I've chosen proteins and variations of them that are suitable for tots from two up.

Fish may be creamed or made into chowder or sandwiches.

Cheese may be made into Macaroni and cheese or into a creamy rarebit, or toasted sandwiches.

Bacon may be served sauteed or in sandwiches, or in a "pilaf" with rice and tomatoes.

Soup may be made from peas or beans or lentils, flavored with ham bone or chopped bacon.

Chopped Meat Cakes if broiled and very flat are great favorites with my young ones.

Peanut Butter is the all time hit number one for sandwiches or every child I ever heard of.

To include that one egg a day into your child's dietary it may be made into puddings where they don't suspect it.

MENU COMBINATIONS

(1) Supposing your menu were to include split pea soup with ground ham or bacon for flavoring you could serve carrot strips or grated carrot raw, of course, and a chocolate baked custard.

CHOCOLATE BAKED CUSTARD

(This amount will serve 6—and is a nice dessert for adults too. The chocolate may be omitted if you prefer plain custard.)

Two eggs, 1 square melted chocolate or 2 or 3 tablespoons good quality cocoa, 2 tablespoons sugar, few grains salt, 2 cups scalded milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, few grains nutmeg. Beat eggs, add sugar melted chocolate or cocoa and salt. Add scalded milk, vanilla and nutmeg. Mix well. Pour into custard cups. Set cups in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven of 300 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. When it is done custard will not stick to silver knife. A delicious top is a sprinkling of graham cracker crumbs, browned in a little butter and brown sugar.

(2) Fish Chowder (a favorite with adults too), toasted rye bread, finely shredded head lettuce and mayonnaise with very little mustard, canned pears, chopped.

FISH CHOWDER

Two tablespoons butter, 1 sliced onion, 6 cubed potatoes, 2 cups fresh fish, 1 quart milk, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Melt butter and saute onion to a light brown. Add potatoes and 1 pint boiling water and simmer 10 minutes. Add fish and simmer 20 minutes. Add milk, salt, and pepper (which is optional. Heat through). These amounts serve 6.

(3) Macaroni and cheese, celery hearts, baked apple.

(4) Bacon and Chopped watercress sandwiches on whole wheat bread, stewed or canned tomatoes, creamy rice pudding.

(5) Broiled chopped meat cakes, whole wheat bread and butter, raw apple.

(6) Cream of tomato Soup, peanut butter and lettuce sandwiches, chocolate blanc manage pudding.

With All The Above Menus Milk is to be included of course.

Additional protein may be added to a meal where there is soup by sprinkling it with grated cheese.

If you require further details on this, Mother-of-Two, please write again.

SMARTLY SMALL—Brilliant shades are usually eschewed by the demure half-pint size, who feels that such shades serve to make her look tinier. But pretty Beverly Clark, the well-known singer, does not subscribe to this theory. In fact, she violates every rule laid down for dressing the woman of short stature and nicely gets away with it. Sulphur yellow crepe is used for her striking frock made with a dolman sleeve with three shoulder stripes in dark brown. The hat is of dark brown felt and has matching yellow cords.—By Alice Alden.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: At our last club meeting our hostess served sandwiches which I liked very much. The filling consisted of hard-boiled eggs, cheese, butter, chopped green and red peppers and pimiento. Could you tell me how this is mixed? I would also like other suggestions for sandwiches as I have lunch boxes to pack every day and meat gets tiresome with my menfolk.

I also have trouble making nice tasty scalloped potatoes. Could you give me some potato recipes, especially scalloped. Would also like some recipes on meat loaves and meat balls. What is a recipe for good tomato sauce? Could tomato soup be used?

I would like some recipes for chicken dressing. Thank you. Mrs. Jean F.

ANSWER: Egg sandwiches are my favorites so I could go on at length.

Egg Sandwiches

(1) For 6 or 7 2-slice sandwiches you will need 4 hard-cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 tablespoons soft butter, 1 teaspoon each finely chopped green and red pepper and pimiento, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Cream the butter, add the cheese, chop the eggs finely with either chopping can (¼ lb. baking powder tin cut off at bottom to give sharp edge is ideal), add all remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread on unbuttered bread. No additional butter is needed. If these sandwiches are used for afternoon tea, cut off crusts after sandwiches are made.

(2) Chopped hard-cooked egg mixed, with 1 teaspoon grated raw onion, mayonnaise, salt, pepper, parsley.

(3) Grated cheese, chopped peanuts, mayonnaise and cress is a favorite with one lady I know.

(4) Chopped bacon, watercress, mayonnaise is an old standby with me.

Scalloped Potatoes

Slice potatoes thinly into buttered casserole and when you have a layer about ¾ inch thick, sprinkle it with salt and a little flour; make 3 layers like this in large casserole to serve 6 people. Pour in enough milk to cover top slices, sprinkle with a little additional salt and pepper, and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 2 hours, stirring once or twice during cooking,—a little additional salt and milk may be needed, when you sample them about 20 minutes before serving time.

Meat Loaf

Two lbs. chopped raw meat—beef or beef mixed with pork or veal or lamb are nice, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon each salt and pepper, 1 onion, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 1-3 cup catsup or chili sauce, 1 or 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Mix all ingredients thoroughly (onion should be grated), and shape into loaf. Place on greased pan and bake 50 minutes at 350 deg. F. Potatoes are nice baked around this loaf. Nice pan gravy can be made from juices in pan.

Meat Balls

Two cups chopped cold meat or raw meat, 1 teaspoon each chives or green onions chopped, thyme, chopped marjoram, parsley, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter. Mix thoroughly chopped meat and herbs. Form into balls and roll in flour which has been mixed with the salt and pepper. Brown in hot fat, then baked in tomato juice 20 minutes.

Tomato Sauce

(Tomato sauce from raw, canned or tomato juice is better than that made from soup.)

Boil 2 cups tomatoes with 1 slice onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 clove for 5 minutes, covered. Meanwhile melt 3 tablespoons butter, stir in 3½ tablespoons flour until blended, add 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. When tomatoes are cooked strain them into the butter-flour mixture stirring until thick. A nice addition is 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley.

Chicken Dressing (Stuffing)

One tablespoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon sage, 3 tablespoons butter or chicken fat, 4 cups soft bread crumbs, 1½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon poultry is optional. Saute onion in butter until delicate brown. Add to soft crumbs and remaining ingredients and mix well. Put in chicken loosely—do not pack. A nice addition to this stuffing is 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind — when it is nice for stuffed rolled lamb shoulder.

RED AND BLUE ENSEMBLE—Red wool for the coat, white crepe printed with a splashy navy and red floral motif for the summer dress beneath. Coat is lined with dress fabric. This bright red coat is cut like a coachman's, and although it is teamed up with a printed crepe frock of red and blue, on white, and lined with matching print, it is a fine all-purpose coat for the spring to fall wardrobe. Pocket flaps, collars and swashbuckling cuffs are detailed with a wing curve scallop.—By Prunella Wood.

Home Missions Discussed As W.M.S. Meets

"Home Missions" was the subject for the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United church, Tuesday afternoon in the Board room. Group "A" was in charge of the study period. Mrs. N. MacDonald, the leader, introducing the topic for the afternoon said, "When the world is at its worst, the Church will be at its best. Home Missions formerly meant work in remote places, but now it is work in every part of the country."

Mrs. George Baird speaking on the same topic, gave a review of the community work done in Peterborough among families of new war-workers, particularly in the Jackson Park area, where there are 225 homes. Most of these families are some distance from a church. A great many of these homes have been visited, and the ministers of the various churches have been notified. Attempts are being made to have the new-comers find a home in their churches.

Mrs. Baird explained that older children are going to Sunday Schools in the city. She said that there were various reasons why some families did not come to church, and that the Jackson Park Fellowship Group had been organized to help in this and other respects, and to work for the welfare of the people living in that district. She told of the Baby Band which had been formed, and of its success. The members meet twice weekly for study and discussion, a social time, and to sew. Two small inter-denominational Sunday School classes are being held in the homes.

Mrs. F. J. Donnelly, Mrs. R. G. Clifford and Mrs. H. Dulmage took up different phases of community work in Canada. Mrs. R. Parnall, reporting for the community friendship group, said that 12 homes and five persons in the hospital had been visited. The treasurer reported that the Easter thankoffering had amounted to $66.36. Mrs. J. H. Rowe, president, read the names of the missionaries chosen for prayer by the groups, and Mrs. A. E. Stinson led in prayer for all missionaries. Mrs. H. McHoull read the Bible lesson, and Mrs. N. MacDonald led in prayer.

Mrs. Rowe opened the meeting with a poem, "The Gospel According to Mother," Mrs. T. Curvin, accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Purdy, sang "The Holy Hour." While the members were gathering Mrs. Purdy player soft music.

HAT AND SUIT TO MATCH—Summer is cartwheel weather, and even the man hatter designers are willing to give us them, as witness the cloth hat above, made by a famous man hatter. For many a long year women have been able to get suits tailored from Palm Beach cloth, the same fabric which keeps the menfolks well and coolly dressed during the dog days. Such a suit is shown above but it's the hat shown with the suit which makes this fashion news. It, too, is made of this Palm Beach fabric, a large, circular model with low crown and slightly scooped brim, stitched smooth and bound with a ribbon band.—By Prunella Wood.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 12

A DAY FOR quick, decisive and clever action is indicated by the prevailing lunar transits. It is propitious for grasping new contracts, legal agreements and fresh ventures, with avidity and intelligence, although it may involve some sudden changes, revamping of plans, even new surroundings. But very practical and constructive work must be done in inaugurating these projects or programs of scope and promise. While haste is important it is well to refrain from over strenuous or enthusiastic action. In private contacts avoid turbulence or impetuous moves and all should be gratifying.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very active and lively year, with change, travel, new ventures, or fresh plans. It may take swift grasp of possibilities when appealing factors for progress and advancement are at hand, but these should be pursued with constructive skill or well-executed plans and programs, and not under forced issued or over excitement or optimism. The same measure of restraint and good judgment should be applied to social, domestic or emotional openings for happiness if ultimate satisfaction is expected.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented and versatile, backed up by practical creative ability, energy and ingenuity. It may have a progressive and exciting career, with travel and change.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

The coming of warmer weather presents just as many skin care problems as did the coming of the winter. Hot sun and dry winds can wreak havoc with sensitive skin and spoil its natural beauty. Many girls and women suffer from a slight red rash on their faces which they call "prickly heat," but in reality it is only skin irritation.

To ease this condition, a rich, soothing cream must be used every night, and a bit used under make-up during the day, to act as a lubricant, will keep the skin healthy and soft. Often, if it is possible, it is a good idea to use creams to cleanse the face for a few days. The pores have a chance to rest, and take on new life.

After cleansing the face with cream and a skin lotion or tonic, massage a generous amount of rich cream into the skin, with circular movements. Whenever possible, the cream should be left on over night. It can be removed with a skin tonic, but another thin film of cream must be applied to act as a foundation for make-up.

Another complexion tip to remember is that a dry scalp can cause a dry skin condition. When treating the face, don't forget the scalp, where a massage with a good tonic or ointment will help a great deal.

THE JUNE BRIDE

June is the month for brides, and a great many brides-to-be are wondering about the type of wedding they should have, since, in wartime, they don't want too much fuss. Still, the thought remains that it's a great step to take, and if the bride wants a big wedding with all the trimmings, she should certainly have it.

A well-known bride's counsellor has advised the war-bride, who often is married on short notice, to marry in all the traditional setting that is possible. If it is possible, she should be married in a long dress, because the grooms too, prefer it that way. One thing to remember, however, if the bride-elect has chosen to be married in a short dress, is to carry a small hand bouquet rather than a stiff corsage. After all, the bride can't throw her corsage, and girls always want to know whose going to be married next.

PARSLEY POINTERS

Parsley is always an added treat for any meal. And especially attractive with salads, or chopped up and added to soup, just before it is served. However, a sprig of parsley on the dinner plate gives an added summer touch, and provide iron, and vitmains A and C.

The "greens" have it, because the green leaves of lettuce are richer in vitamins than the bleached inner ones. A good way to use the large outer leaves is to shred them for salads or sandwiches, or fill them with salad, and arrange tomatoes, carrot strips, and other salad delicacies, around it.

FOOT FASHIONS

Sandals and toeless shoes are more popular now than ever. Sandals of patent leather, bright and cool, should be tops in fashions, especially if they are made with those smart new ankle straps. However, the little miss who is going to paint her legs for summer, and take advantage of the cool sandal styles, will have to give herself a pedicure.

The first step is to soak the feet in hot water for five or ten minutes. Work up a good lather with a complexion soap, and scrub vigorously with a soft brush around nails, on soles, and around the ankles. Rinse in warm water, then in cool. Trim the nails straight across the tops, and massage with a gentle cream or lotion. It's really surprising how rested tired hot feet feel after a beauty treatment.

Here's a tip to keep in mind when standing all day in the hot weather, or tramping city pavements on shopping tours—changing shoes during the day rests tired feet, and makes shoes wear longer. A little powdered borax or tannis, shaken into stockings is very soothing during hot weather.

CONSERVATION CLIPPINGS

To save the scrap of soap, it can be moistened and pressed into a new bar where it will stick and be used up. If it slides off once it can easily be pressed on again.

The easiest and best way to get rid of the grease that spatters on the stove during cooking, is to remove it immediately with a soft paper or cloth, while it is still warm. This prevents the danger of scratching the surface of the stove when removing the grease after it has set.

To protect painted or polished floors, home-made coasters can be made easily from pieces of felt from old hats, and fitted to the legs of furniture with glue.

A paper plate or a piece of cardboard glued to the bottom of a paint can will catch the drippings from the can, and will also serve as a rest for the brush.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I have had about 10 pounds of rice to use up and one of the best dishes I made with it is a cheese and rice souffle. The rice gives the souffle a body that eggs and cheese alone lack. If you don't think it is good enough for the cookery page you might try it yourself.

Rice-Cheese Souffle

(Contributed by Jane Lowe)

Two tablespoons butter or salad oil, 3 tablespoons flour, ¾ cup milk, ½ pound American cheese, shredded, 1 cup cooked rice, 4 eggs, salt and pepper. Make a sauce of the butter or oil, flour and milk. Add the grated cheese and stir until it is all melted. Add the rice and beaten yolks, with seasonings to suit your family, some paprika is nice. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour.

Your should be ready to serve this as soon as it is done. I like to have baked potatoes, and spinach with it. —Jane Lowe.

I like this dish too, and think it is quite indispensable for all the ingredients are on hand most of the time and can be whipped up into a main supper dish when you are surprised by guests or flat broke.

QUEEN ELIZABETH.

Mrs. E. Telford installed the officers for the coming year at the annual meeting and election of officers of Queen Elizabeth School Wednesday evening, when the entime slate was returned by acclamation. The executive is as follows: President, Mrs. C. C. Doughty; vice-president, Mrs. W. Frise; recording secretary, Mrs. Peter Jarvis; press and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alan Brown; treasurer, Mrs. B. Irwin; executive members, Mrs. P. R. Castle, Mrs. G. Simpson, Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. Percy Allison and Mrs. W. Grubb.

The principal, L. Bird, briefly addressed the meeting, and complimented the Association on its work, and its fine spirit of co-operation with the teachers. He outlined the achievements of the Association during the year, and expressed the hope that it would continue to flourish. Plans for a spring tea, to be held shortly were discussed.

ANGLO-AMERICAN WEDDING — Wedding bells have rung for Lord Hartington, heir of the Duke of Devonshire, and Miss Kathleen Kennedy, daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former American Ambassador to the Court of St. James' (Great Britain). She is in England with the Red Cross.

Bishop MacDonald Tells Auxiliary of Navy Growth

A fine tribute to the Canadian navy, and an outline of its expansion and achievements, was given to the Navy Auxiliary Wedesday evening by Bishop John R. MacDonald. He quoted statistics showing the tremendous rate of expansion, and told of the marvellous courage and fighting spirit of Canada's sailors who were ready to answer the call of duty when it came, and carried through magnificently.

Bishop MacDonald explained that he had written to Ottawa for accurate figures on Canada's navy. He said that in 1914, there were 336 men in the R. C. N. V. R., and during 1914 and 1915, the number grew to over 6,000. However, in 1922, it had dropped again to 366. After the outbreak of the second world war, interest grew in the navy, and 1,800 joined in the first year. The total number of men now exceeds 80,000.

In 1939, Bishop MacDonald continued, Canada had six combat ships, and seven auxiliary vessels. In 1944, the number had grown to 250 combat ships and 450 auxiliary vessels. The speaker added that it was interesting to note that over 34 per cent of the officers in the R. C. N. V. R. are from Ontario, and 40 pr cent of the ratings are also from Ontario. About 1,300 have lost their lives defending the rights of mankind, and striving for victory and human justice, the speaker went on.

Lives Of Service

"Their lives have been lives of service, and they have been models of gallantry and courage", he said. "All their exploits have not been told but sufficient has been released to make us proud of our boys in the Navy". He explained that at the outbreak of war, the Admiralty had cabled, "When will the R. C. N. V. R. be ready?" and the answer had been "Immediately." Six days after, the men were ready to go on duty wherever needed. A great tribute has been paid the Canadian navy in these words: 'We should probably have lost the war if the Canadian navy had not come through with such gallant effort".

Bishop MacDonald said that Peterborough citizens were proud to have a corvette named after their city, and the contribution of Peterborough men had been great, and must be matched by effort from the citizens. He asked members to remember that their work in the Auxiliary was a patriotic duty. His concluding thought was a plea to carry on with unflagging effort until victory is achieved, and the boys are welcomed home.

Mayor James Hamilton, in introducing Bishop MacDonald, expressed his thanks to the Auxiliary for the work they had done for Peterborough boys, and said that he knew that the boys' thoughts were always of home and loved ones.

Treasurer reported $327.66 on hand and a donation of $42.80 was received from the salvage committee, for the second salvage drive. The

Boy and Girl Win Medals For Speaking

Eleanor Logan and Donald Scriver were awarded medals as winners of the speaking contest, sponsored by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in Mark Street Sunday School Wednesday evening.

Eleven children from the Sunday School took part. They were: 9-year old class, Connie Hilderbrand, Carol Ferguson, Gweneth Pomeroy, Donald Scriver, and Gerald Stevenson; and in the 10 and 11 year old class, Eleanor White, Eleanor Logan, Peggy Noyes, Shirley Andrews, Margaret McNeeley and Berdine Atchison.

All contestants recited poetry from memory. Judges were Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Miss Helen Bannister, and Mrs. E. Wand. Mrs. Rehill spoke of the fine spirit of the contest, and the help the experience would be to the children.

A musical program was also presented, with John DeNure playing a violin solo, and Eleanor Logan, Willa Wright, Maralyn Pomeroy and Berdine Atchison playing piano solos. Rev. E. W. Roland congratulated these taking part in the contest, and also in the musical. The Band of Hope children gave the opening and concluding numbers, with Mrs. A. E. DeNure at the piano. Mrs. H. Alton, leader of the Band, closed the evening with prayer.

Post-war Job Discussed By Auxiliary

A discussion of the problems of re-habilitation of soldiers after the war was held at the regular meeting of the Active Army Auxiliary Wednesday afternoon, and a committee, composed of Mrs. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Mrs. William Ovens and Mrs. W. R. Philp was named to gather further information on the subject.

Mrs. F. Merrett, president of the Navy Auxiliary, was present, and invited the members of the Army Auxiliary to attend the christening of the corvette Peterborough. She also extended an invitation to attend the Navy Auxiliary meeting being held Wednesday evening, when Bishop John R. MacDonald and Lieut. Jack Raine would be guest speakers.

During the business period, Mrs. D. T. Diplock, the secretary, gave her report. The Auxiliary has agreed to work with the I.O.D.E. in packing this year's Christmas boxes. Mrs. J. Turnbull and members of the visiting committee told of visits made to families of soldiers recently wounded in action. Mrs. J. Duncan reported cigarettes sent to nine wounded soldiers, and four airgraphs written to wounded men. The total cost was $9.51.

Mrs. H. G. Mason asked the members to keep knitting during the summer months so that there would be a reserve on hand in the all, and it was decided to purchase $50 worth of wool if available. Mrs. J. A. Dewart, who presided, urged the members to attend the next meeting, and to bring a new member with them, if possible. Refreshents were served by the social committee.

C.Y.O. Entertains Soldier Group

The Catholic Youth Organization held its last meeting of the year Wednesday evening at the K. of C. Hall, when they entertained several soldiers from the local Training Centre. Mr. George Blais, president, was master of ceremonies. Novelty dances such as Paul Jones, Bingo Dance, Popularity Dance, and the Grand March, were very much enjoyed by all. Entertainment in the form of a few contests provided a great deal of fun for the crowd. Volunteers for the pie eating contest were Pte. B. Bourgeois (Shediac Bridge, N.B.), Pte. L. Fletcher (Fredericton), Pte. P. Coholan (St. John), L/Cpl. G. Povliot (Montreal), Pte. R. Lordon (Hamilton), Cpl. A. J. Tremblay (Cornwall). Prizes were awarded to the three winners. Two boys volunteered to eat soda crackers and then whistle Mairzy Doats, with Pte. R. Hart being the winner of the shaving set. A box of Laura Secords and a package of cigarettes were awarded to Miss Joan Hickey and Pte. P. Coholan as winners of the spot dance. Miss Pauline O'Donnell and Miss Elinor Sheehy, vice-president, were in charge of refreshments.

Season Ends With Party In Y.W.C.A. Gym

The Y Co-Eds brought their season to a close Wednesday evening, with a party held in the Y.W.C.A. gym and pool. The early part of the evening was spent in dancing in the gym, and the group adjourned to the pool where various contests were enjoyed. Refreshments were served after the swim.

Winners of the competition dances are as follows: statue dance, Anna Metheral and Bob Green; fox trot, Helen Duncan and Bruce Brown; magic spot, Gwen Labarge and Edward Lynch; waltz, Helen Duncan and James Collis. Winners in the pool contests were: longest jump from the diving board, Joan Mantell and Ken Doughty; endurance under-water swimming, Bob Carey; life saving, Joan Mantell and Mary Waterman; diving, Bruce Braund. Mrs. D. T. Diplock presented the prizes. Miss C. Littlefield was in charge and arranged the entire evening. Mrs. S. McBride played the piano for the dancing.

165 Girls Help At YWCA Dances

An excellent report from the hospitality committee was given by Miss Gertrude Cox, at the business meting of the Women's Voluntary Services, in the office Wednesday evening. Miss Cox said that 165 girls had attended the four dances held during April at the Y.W.C.A., and that 140 had been sent to a company dance at the Training Centre. Twenty-five attended a platoon dance. A total of 26 men were entertained at private parties, with 14 at one, and 12 at another. One hundred and eleven boys were entertained on Sunday by women.

Miss F. Bonnycastle reported that 75 girls had put in 394 hours at the Uptown Recreation Centre. Mrs. James Matthews said that 16 Miss Canada girls had spent 34 hours selling $113.75 in war savings stamps, and paid tribute to the work these girls are doing. The clerical committee put in 13 hours at the Armouries. Four new members were reported by the enrolment committee. Mrs. W. E. Fanning said that 207 women had helped in the distribution of the new ration books, and had put in a total of 2,005½ hours.

The account of the library committee stated that although the musicals at the camp had been well attended, they would be discontinued until fall.

The emergency committee has been asked to arrange to send women to do the mending at the Training Centre hospital, and Mrs. G. Langhorne was put in charge of this work. The chairman, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, said that members had arranged to help the Humane Society on their tag day.

A letter was read from Mrs. Nellie West, head of the Canadian W.V.S., regarding the conference being held in Winnipeg from May 15 to 18, but the members decided not to send a delegate.

WOMEN ARE HAPPIER MARRIED

Generally Speaking Single Ones on Outside; Poorest Mother Has Stake in Life.

TO marry, or not to marry? That problem didn't bother Grandma. In her day, when a marriage license was not only a meal ticket but a card of admission to society, a smart girl said yes and thanky, too, to practically the first man who popped the question to her. But now, when almost every young woman is self-supporting and husbands have become a luxury instead of a necessity, the question of whether she shall espouse a man or a career is one to which the modern girl does not know the answer.

Of course, if a girl is very much in love, the matter automatically settles itself. She grabs her man and lets the consequences be what they may. She knows that life with him may be full of hardships, but without him it will be cinders, ashes and dust. So for her it is marriage, or nothingness.

Girl Debates Marriage

But very often the girl is not the victim of the grand passion. She likes, admires and esteems some man who wants to marry her, but she is not in love with him. He isn't necessary to her happiness. She could take him, or leave him. Then she begins debating the question of single blessedness against taking a chance on double wretchedness.

Now nobody questions that the woman has been kissed by Lady Luck herself who gets a husband who is devoted, tender and kind also a good provider. But how about giving up a good job to marry a man who will never make enough money to more than keep the wolf a jump or two from the door, and who is one of the selfish, high-tempered, grumpy, fault-finding husbands who never say a pleasant word at home, and who keep their wives wondering why they did it?

A cynic once said that whether one married or not, one always regretted it. This is particularly true of women whose lives are so much more profoundly affected by marriage than men's are, and who are the matrimonially dissatisfied sex, if we are to judge by the fact that they are the petitioners in the great majority of divorce cases. Yet, illogical as it is, I think that women, on the whole, are happier married than single, even when their marriages are not very successful. They are better off, even though they are worse off, if you get what I mean.

Unmarried Woman An Outsider

Certainly the woman who never marries plays safe. She escapes many of the hardships, much of the suffering, most of the sacrifices that the wife and mother is called upon to make, but, even so, she realizes that she has also missed much happiness that the married woman has had. She has been on the outside of life, not at its center. She has only sipped at the froth on the cup. She has not drunk it to its dregs.

Moreover, the one thing that women salvage out of even unhappy marriages is their children. The interest in life that their husbands fail to supply their children give them. And the poorest mother has a stake in life, a zest, a hope, a reason for living that the richest old maid has not. It is because women have an eternal need for someone to love, someone to serve that makes women happier married than single.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Mostly every housewife likes new dessert recipes so I am going to give you some this evening. Do try them all for you will like each and every one. They are going to be all puddings, some plain and some combined with fruit. As well as being very likeable and tasty, they are very nourishing.

Prune Rice Pudding.

1 egg, ⅓ cupful of light brown sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter, ⅛ teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup unsweetened prune juice, 3 cups boiled rice.

Beat egg slightly, add sugar, salt vanilla, butter and prune juice. Pour this mixture over boiled rice which has been placed in a greased baking dish. Bake in a hot oven of 400 degrees for about 30 minutes. Chill and top with whipped cream and several whole prunes.

Steamed Fruit Dumplings.

2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup shortening, 8 teaspoons sugar, 8 tablespoons water, 2 cups fruit (berries, apples, cherries, canned fruit, drained).

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in the shortening. Add milk gradually to make dough as stiff as for baking powder biscuits. Divide fruit into 8 greased molds, and add 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon of water to each or omit sugar and use the juice of canned fruit. Place a piece of dough on top of the fruit. Steam 45 minutes. Serve with lemon sauce.

Deep Dish Apple Pie.

6 tart apples, grated rind of one lemon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 3 tablespoons butter, ½ cup of brown sugar, pastry for one crust pie.

Peel and core apples and cut them in eighths. Arrange in greased baking dish. Cover apples with a mixture of lemon rind, sugar and nutmeg. Dot with butter. Cover with pastry rolled thin in the shape of the baking dish and press it down well around the edges. Make three short slits in the centre of the pastry. Bake in hot oven of 450 degrees for 20 minutes.

Butterscotch Pie.

6 tablespoons butter, 2½ cups of scalded milk, 3 tablespoons corn starch, 1½ cups brown sugar, 2 eggs separated, ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Melt the butter and brown sugar together and cook until a rich brown. Then add the scalded milk and let heat until the sugar is dissolved. Beat the egg yolks slightly, add the cornstarch, and pour the milk mixture over it gradually, stirring constantly. Add vanilla, pour into the pastry lined pie plate, and bake in hot oven 450 degrees for ten minutes, then in a slow oven of 300 degrees for 30 minutes longer. Cover with a meringue using the whites of the eggs.

Meringue.

Beat chilled egg whites to a still, dry froth. Allow 2 tablespoons sugar for each egg. Add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating egg whites constantly until merginue is stiff but glossy and creamy in consistency. Flavor, allowing ¼ teaspoon of vanilla to 2 egg whites. Arrange on pie and put in oven until a golden brown.

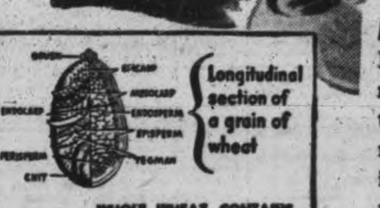
For get-up-n'-go you need food that's plumb packed with energy.

That's where wheat's top stuff. N' it's Canada's most important food crop, too. For whole wheat that rates top-flight with everyone, try a big breakfast bowlful of Kellogg's All-Wheat.

Yessum! For strengthy muscles kids ought to eat lots of protein-rich foods—like wheat f'r instance—which is one o' the very best! And yumity yum! It tastes so tasty when it's Kellogg's All-Wheat. 'Cause it's flaked, n' toasted, n' ready-to-eat. Y' ought really eat some each n' every day!



WHOLE WHEAT CONTAINS muscle building proteins, bone building phosphorus and iron, energy giving carbohydrates and other vital elements.

Lookin' thru the lookin' glass at wheat this's what you'd see! N' nutrition men say it's what's inside here that makes whole-wheat so strength-making.

More enjoyment in every spoonful! Kellogg's All-Wheat has a new, lusty he-man flavour . . . rich, full-bodied, appetizing! It's Canadian whole wheat in its most delicious form! Once you've served it—your family will want it often. Economical too! Get a couple of packages from your grocer next time you shop. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

date of the next meeting June 14, was set as the time when the film "Canning Step by Step" will be shown. It was announced that a garden party will be held on June 21 at the home of Mrs. R. M. Glover and the tea will feature a miscellaneous table, for which members were asked to send their donations to Mrs. Flowers. A letter was read regarding the appointment by the Citizens' Committee of Mrs. F. Merritt, president, to the Corvette Committee.

The matter of adopting a plan of hanging a banner in the windows of homes where there sons in the Navy was discussed, and members were told that they could be obtained by writing to the R. C. N. V.-R. Auxiliary, 1462 Yonge street, Toronto.

Appreciate Work

Lieut. Jack Raine, another guest of the evening, told the members how much their work was appreciated by the boys, and said that the Auxiliaries carried out the Naval Headquarters theme, "think first of the men". He also paid tribute to the wonderful job the Wrens were doing. Lieut. Raine explained that religion played a great part in the lives of the sailors, and that there were always church services on shipboard.

One Navy custom which is particularly appealing was described by the speaker, when he said that on Christmas day, the youngest sailor on board, takes over command. He said that the boys saved their Christmas boxes until Christmas day, and had a wonderful time opening them.

Mrs. J. Wilson moved the vote of thanks to Lieut. Raine, and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler moved the vote of thanks to Bishop MacDonald.

$262,450 Reaches Loan Office Gives Substantial Boost To Mark

In one of the most active and heartening days of this Sixth Victory Loan campaign, Peterborough laid on the counter Wednesday $262,450, flowing in from all sections in a volume of investment that added new kindling to the hope and impression of the city and county reaching their objective together once more.

The figures compiled and issued at headquarters tell the story of the fifteenth day plainly and briefly:

City Canvass	$ 92,650
County Canvass	61,100
Special Names	50,000
Payroll Savings	58,700
Total	$262,450

The payroll savings division includes the officers and men of the local Training Centre, and further mentions "civil servants, etc."

The grand total stood Wednesday at $3,964,350 or 88.09 per cent of the Peterborough objective of $4,500,000, and the required percentage for the fifteenth day of the campaign was 83.33, leaving 4.76 points in that column as a credit margin with which to begin the sixteenth day. For the remaining stage of the present drive the objective becomes $535,650 for these last three days.

A Big Rural Day

Rural Peterborough swung out in front of the city's general canvass Wednesday, claiming a sheaf of Victory Bonds amounting to $61,000, and in that splurge Smith and Havelock rolled over the 100% mark joining Dummer and North Monaghan who also advanced their totals, as Dummer clung to the top rung.

That $61,00 was made up as follows: Otonabee, $9,600; Havelock, $9,050; Norwood, $7,450; Smith, $6,100; Lakefield, $5,950; Asphodel, $5,250; Douro, $4,650; Belmont-Methuen, $4,600; the northern townships, Burleigh, Chandos Harvey and Anstruther, $4,000; North Monaghan, $3,750; Dummer, $700.

The day's rural progress in the percentage column was reflected as follows: Havelock 21.54%; Belmont-Methuen 18.4; Asphodel 13.81; Douro 13.29; Norwood 12.85; Lakefield 10.82; North Monaghan 9.38; the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther 8.89; Otonabee 7.38; Smith 6.77 and Dummer 2.33.

The standing of the municipalities in the general canvass division on the basis of accomplished objective at the close of the fifteenth day was: Dummer 112.5%; North Monaghan 111.75; Smith 109.94; Havelock 102.02; Norwood 84.14; Otonabee 83.38; Peterborough city 82.96; Belmont-Methuen 81.6; Douro 75.43; the northern group, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther 69; Ennismore 66.25; Asphodel 66.18; Lakefield 65.82.

Dummer retained the general canvass leadership Wednesday with a collective loan of $700, and not content to coast along with their previous 110.17 per cent, they held to first place while North Monaghan turned in $3,750 to strengthen their second position.

Intimations from Smith conveyed the news that they were ready to hop over the 100% line, but Havelock's performance, joining the select company of hundred percenters was unexpected from this distance. Last Saturday the railway village was down in ninth position, just over the 50% instead of being up at 66%. Havelock consistently manages to work its way up into the top company, and they have now made the grade in the Sixth Loan.

The General Canvass

At the outset of this campaign attention was directed especially to the general canvass and its progress for the reason that the other sections were rather confidently expected to fill their quotas.

The results for fifteen days show that the county is ahead of its advancing objective, the city is slightly under its obligation, but jointly they are in front by about three points in the percentage column.

The required percentage at the close of fifteen days was 83.33, and the city's general canvass had reached 82.96; the county's general canvass 86.88; and their combined total Wednesday was 83.99%, a substantial improvement since Saturday when the combined general canvass was 62.75% of the final objective and the requirement for twelve days was 66.66%.

Rural Peterborough seems to be headed, collectively, for a 100% performance; and the city general canvass is also within the potentials of the last three days of the campaign.

The rural objective is $600,000 and their subscriptions at Wednesday totalled $520,100, leaving $79,900 for the rest of the drive, or an average of $26,633.

If the county can dig up from its reserves another day's effort like that of Wednesday, their quota will be reached by Friday. All the townships and villages require is approximately $25,000 a day for three days.

Here's a glance at the city general canvass: final objective $1,550,000; investments already compiled through the canvassers, $1,285,850; leaving $265,150 for the remaining three days or an average of $88,380.

In the meantime, the special names committee have only $10,000 to get from some source or other and they will hit their objective of $1,400,000.

As a summary of observation the prospects for Peterborough landing in the 100% groups throughout the Dominion appear to be a great deal brighter than they were at the end of last week.

Financial Summary

The official summary for fifteen days follows:

	Objective	Secured To Date
City of Peterboro (general canvass	$1,550,000	$1,285,850

VARIATIONS ENDLESS

SO MANY different kinds of things can happen, on a single deal, that it is hard for a player in a duplicate game to understand some of the scores recorded. Trying to guess what somebody else did to obtain a certain result is often fruitless practice. Frequently questioning of the player concerned will disclose that what happened was entirely different from any guess, and yet not particularly freakish.

One declarer had just caused himself to be set in that contract. West had led the club J to the K. South ruffed one spade in dummy, came to his own hand with the club A, ruffed a second spade, then tried the heart finesse. West won with the K and led a trump back. That compelled South to lose another heart and a spade, so he was down.

"Guess I should have refused to finesse the heart," he said. "If I had taken the ace, I could have ruffed the last spade, and then could have lost only two heart tricks."

Then he looked at the score, and noted that somebody had made 6-Diamonds on the deal. Not only that, but had bid the small slam.

"West must have led a heart to him," he hazarded. "Then he could have ruffed out all three spades in the dummy, and would have lost only one trick, in hearts."

It was entirely different, however. West had led the club J. South decided it might be the bottom card of a doubleton, and played for that, whereas the other fellow's method might have seemed the sounder way to try for a small slam. This declarer took in his diamond A and K, giving up all chance to ruff out spade losers, then the second club honor. When it dropped the Q, he knew he was home. He led a diamond to the Q and cashed four clubs, discarding all three spades and the heart 9. Then he tried the finesse of the heart Q for an extra trick. It failed, but he had his six-odd in the bag.

Council Changes Fire Equipment

NORWOOD, May 11 — (ENS) — The Norwood Council which met recently with Reeve Rork Ferguson presiding, decided to make improvements in their present fire fighting equipment by purchasing anew truck chassis.

A letter of complaint was received from Mrs. F. Cameron in respect to drainage in front of her property. Moved by W. Bitten and B. Lochead that the street commissioner take up the problem with the county roads engineer.

The matter of purchasing anoher chassis for mounting the present fire fighting equipment was then discussed After consideration it was moved by W. Bitten and B. Lochead that a model A Ford truck be purchased from Arthur J. Davey at a price of $250. It was moved by B. Lochead and W. Bitten that the Fire Chief be engaged at a salary of $75 per year and that he be required to inspect the apparatus and equipment at least once a week and see that all parts are maintained in good working order at all times.

By-law No. 683 to appoint a rink commission as required by the provisions of the Ontario Statutes was passed. By-law No. 684 fixing the tax rate for 1944 at 12 mills for county purposes and 15.8 mills for general village purposes was passed and By-law No. 685 to fix the tax rates for school purposes for the year 1944 at 15.5 mils for Public School and 6.8 mills for High School purposes, was also passed.

Moved by W. Kavanagh and W. Bitten that the rink commission of the past season be re-appointed for a term of one year as from May 1, 1944, and that a by-law to confirm the same be passed in accordance with the terms of By-law No. 683. It was moved by B. Lochead and W. Kavanagh that the clerk be authorized to write the Railway Commission requesting that train Nos. 601 and 602 be carried through to the terminal at Havelock instead of being held at Peterborough as they are at present.

The following accounts were presented:

R. A. Dean, salary, $50; W. B. Parcels, salary $50, repair to car $48.55, $98.55; J. R. Thompson, fuel for relief $36, cutting wood Town Hall $15, $51; W. G. Barrie, 10 cords wood Town Hall, $110; J. Victory Loan Goes Over Top With Margin Of $45,400 In Payroll, General Canvass

Peterborough (city and county) shouldered past its $4,500,000 Sixth Victory Loan objective this morning with subscriptions amounting to $4,585,400, a surplus of $85,400 with two more days of investment to be counted in the final total. The objective was brushed aside by a volume of Victory Bond buying that was indicated and more or less confidently predicted upon the returns at the close of Thursday, which are reviewed in another column.

Payroll savings division, including the local Military Camp, civil servants, etc., as it has been designated in the daily reports from headquarters, cut a wide swath through the Peterborough quota for $1,075,050 as compared with its divisional assignment of $950,000, showing a present surplus of $125,050.

The General Canvass in the city and county amounted to $2,070,350, just $79,650 under their joint objective of $2,150,000. Investment throughout the city and county today was expected to swell the General Canvass beyond its obligation in the campaign. According to the rural returns up to late Thursday there seemed no longer any doubt about the country's going over the top by the end of the week, and possibly the city may be by the side of the farmers of Peterborough when the ultimate totals are compiled.

Premiers Talk Immigration

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 12 CP Cable) — With the object of obtaining a clearer mutual understanding but not anticipating early practical results, Commonwealth Prime Ministers today discussed immigration.

All the governments are agreed demobilization and re-establishment of members of their own forces is the first post-war task but after that some Dominions will welcome immigrants. Except in the demobilization period, however, it is doubtful if many will be available from Britain.

The Prime Ministers' discussion is expected to boil down to possible arrangements for reciprocity on social security for persons moving from one country to another on their own and apart from government schemes.

Owing to intermingling of the forces in wartime, marriages, speedier transport and other factors, it is expected there will be a greater movement from the Dominions to Britain and vice versa as well as between the Dominions than before. This can be facilitated if the people, on moving, can retain the rights built up in Social Insurance funds.

Apart from the larger questions of populating unsettled areas and relieving over-populated sections, which will be for future consideration, it is understood shifts of individuals and families according to personal inclination are considered desirable. These shifts are expected to make for better mutual understanding and some progress may be made in the approach to removal of handicaps.

The conference will adjourn until Monday after today's meeting and it may end about Wednesday.

NAPLES—Allied heavy bombers smashed Italian west coast harbors and rail centres today in support of the ground offensive.

LONDON—The sun blazed down from a cloudless sky over the Straits of Dover today after a calm night of brilliant moonlight. The barometer dropped a little during the night but there was no indication today of a break in the fine weather.

Truk Pounded With 40 Tons

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 12 — (AP). — Truk, Japan's key Central Pacific base only three months ago, has been given another pounding by heavy bombers coming in from the south-east and south-west on almost freight-train schedule.

Headquarters announced to-day that bombers struck Truk Wednesday in a devastating follow-up to a night attack made only a few hours before by Army Air Force planes from the Central Pacific theatre.

One heavy bomber was downed. The bombers dropped 40 tons of bombs on airstrips and defences, and possibly sank one ship near Moen Island.

Rabaul got it again, too. From last November 12 until May 6 Rabaul and its five airdromes sopped up 10,200 tons of bombs.

On the ground, Australians edged up 16 miles toward Hollandia from Alexishafen. With the Aussies almost to Cape Croisilles, only about 200 miles remained between them and the Americans at Aitape, invaded the same time as Hollandia.

Strike Talks In Camera

War Labor Board Works On Ford Issue

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP). — Representatives of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada and the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) to-day appeared before the National Wartime Labor Relations Board to outline their positions on proposals for the regulations covering the handling of employees' grievances in the company's Windsor, Ont., plant.

The appearances before the board to-day followed decision of the union on Wednesday night to end a work stoppage which had been in effect at the plant since April 20, with the exception of two days. The board had served notice on the union the previous day that it would not deal with clarification of the grievance procedure until work was resumed.

J. B. Aylesorth, company solicitor, and W. H. Clark, personnel manager, represented the company before the board to-day, and J. L. Cohen, union solicitor, with Roy England, president of Local 200, and Tom MacLean, assistant regional director, appeared for the union.

The representations were heard in camera and the parties then withdrew from the meeting to allow the board to consider the matter.

Mighty 8th Army Rolls Forward To Maintain Record

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, May 12—(CP Cable)—British and Indian troops of the 8th Army, advancing behind a barrage of many hundred guns, crossed the Rapido and Gari rivers early to-day and pressed on toward the first objectives in the Gustav Line.

The Gari is a small stream four to five miles south of Cassino, running between the Rapido and Liri Rivers.

Early reports from the new battlefield indicated operations were going according to plan and staffs at headquarters of a corps on the 8th Army's front appeared satisfied with the early stages. The troops established their positions on twin hills.

Guns, brought into position in recent weeks and silent until last night, opened fire on German artillery and mortar positions at 11 p.m. and for 40 minutes smothered the enemy with shells. Then for another hour the general barrage and counter-battery fire paved the way for the infantry assault.

Spectacular Battle

I watched the opening of the stern attempt to crack the Gustav line from a high vantage point a few miles southwest of Cassino.

It was a spectacular affair, although scarcely as spectacular as might be expected for a heavy mist deadened the roar of artillery and the flashes of the guns soon were obscured in a great pall of smoke.

In the early stages of the barrage the Rapido valley to the west was alive with dancing candles as gun after gun opened up. Then smoke and dust swirled up between the hills and the flashes became dim.

The larger guns belched forth great sheets of flame, lighting up towns several miles away. Red and green tracer bullets blazed away through the sky in great arcs resembling lights of a bridge.

Led by Leese

It goes forward into battle under Lt.-Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, able, unruffled successor to Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, now in Britain preparing to lead the British ground forces in the western European invasion.

"This battle differs from previous attacks of the 8th Army," Gen. Leese said in a prepared statement handed war correspondents at a lucid, pre-battle briefing Wednesday.

"Our task is to assault and break through in turn a series of natural defensive positions strongly held and long prepared, each of which the Germans will cling to until forced out.

"Our immediate objective is the Gustav line which has been fortified for many months past and includes modern concrete defence works in many places.

"Behind this lies the Adolf Hitler line, another strong natural defensive position which German military

Jap Forces Block Retreat For Chinese

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, May 12 (AP) — The Chinese high command said today that Japanese forces, slashing across the Yellow river southward, had cut the Lunghai railway about 40 miles west of Loyang in Honan province, barring the line of Chinese retreat.

Two Japanese columns of 5,000 men part of an invasion force that was using 600 light tanks and armored cars, were said to have forced the Yellow river from Shansi province.

The Japanese were attempting to push the Chinese into the hills from the great Honan Plains as a means of safeguarding their newly won hold on the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

The Japanese were using 1,000 trucks as well as tanks and armored cars, making the drive the heaviest mechanized offensive in China since the battle of Hankow in 1938.

The spokesman said planes of Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault's American and Chinese air wing, hammering communication lines and installations, destroyed about 30 tanks and 190 trucks.

Life's Tragedies

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP). — Awakened by a noise in his bedroom, Nicholas Salomone chased what he thought was a burglar, saw a man trip and fall from a second storey porch. Salomone ran downstairs and found a man lying dead on the pavement. He recognized him as George E. Bonezzi, old friend and neighbor who apparently had come to visit him. Shortly after, Bonezzi's mother, learning of her son's death, died of shock.

Germans Warn England To Be Invaded

LONDON, May 12 — (CP). — Nazi-controlled radios, apparently surprised by the Allied Italian offensive, declared to-day that the "D-Day" of the Allied invasion had come—and hinted strongly that a counter-invasion of Britain might be Field-Marshal Erwin Rommel's defence.

"The gong has already sounded for the curtain to rise—if in fact it has not already risen," Jean Paquis said over the German-controlled Paris radio as France waited tensely and her conquerors of four eyears ago braced for blows of the onslaught fom the outside and an uprising from within.

Axis press reports reaching Britain—where the jar of explosions from the French invasion coast last night was felt as far inland as London—said a picked German attack force spearheaded by paratroops would strike at England the moment the Allied invasion began.

These accounts insisted that Rommel, who was described in a Berlin dispatch to La Suisse at Geneva as "Hitler's commander-in-chief in Western Europe from the tulip fields of the low countries to the Mediterranean," could be counted on to defend by attacking.

Most London observers took this with a grain of salt—believing it more likely that the Nazi press was putting out dispatches of feigned confidence rather than risking disclosure of any real German plans for the defence of the Continent.

GERMANS WARN

Allies Issue Final Warning

WASHINGTON, May 12—(AP). —The United States, Britain, and Russia to-day issued a virtual ultimatum to the four Axis satellites declaring that they must decide now whether they intend to go down to utter defeat with Germany.

Addressed to Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland, the three-Power declaration stated "there is yet time for the people of these four satellites to contribute" to the inevitable Allied victory.

While it extended no promises of easy treatment to the satellites if they jump off the German wagon now, the declaration made clear that every day they remain at Germany's side brings "more disastrous ....consequences to them and more rigorous......terms which will be imposed upon them."

The four nations, the document said, still have it within their power —by throwing their whole weight against the Nazis—to shorten the war and contribute to the Allied victory.

"While these nations cannot escape their responsibility for having participated in the war at the side of Nazi Germany," the three Powers warned, "the longer they continue at war in collaboration with Germany the more disastrous will be the consequences to them and the more rigorous ill be the terms which will be imposed upon them."

4 Oil Plants Smashed Near Leipzig

35 Freight Yards Devastated In Latest Raids

BY GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 12 (AP)—American heavy bombers attacked four major synthetic oil plants in the Leipzig area of Germany and one at Brux inside old Czechoslovakia today in the mounting campaign to paralyze the German war machine ahead of the western invasion.

The attacks, by a great armada of nearly 2,000 heavy bombers, followed a heavy hammering of the French invasion coast last night by a fleet of up to 700 big R.A.F. and Canadian bombers.

According to running Berlin radio accounts, the daylight raiders, carrying out a stunning blow against the very heart of Hitler's mobile fighting force, battled the German air force all the way across Germany to reach their targets.

Oil plants attacked inside Germany included the big Leuna oil plant at Merseburg, 16 miles west of Leipzig, another at Lutzkendorf, 14 miles south of Halle, and one at Bohlen, just outside Leipzig and Zietz.

With American and R.A.F. light bombers, fighter bombers and fighters shuttling across the Channel all day in attacks on German airfields and defence installations in northern France, the 28th day of the unparalleled air offensive appeared to have produced one of the heaviest onslaughts of the war.

All Folkestone on the English side rocked to some of the heaviest explosions of the war touched off on the French coast.

Canadians Lose

And Boulogne, both strategic points on the "invasion coast" of France, received the major share of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.'s pre-dawn load of some 2,240 bombs, while other explosives were loosed on rail yards in the historic city of Louvain in Belgium.

Altogether, some 35 vital rail yards and at least that many other German defence targets have been bombed during the last 48 hours, during which probably 10,000 offensive sorties have been flown and between 15,000 and 20,000 tons of explosives dropped on Europe by sky armadas striking from both Italy and Britain.

The British-Canadian night attack may well have been the biggest in its new west wall campaign.

Canadians Out

As has been the practice previously, the R.A.F. picked out a number of vital targets for the night's work and then delegated one to the Canadian bomber group which formed part of an aerial force so great

Russia-Romania Discuss Peace Plan

LONDON, May 12 (CP)—The Algiers radio quoted neutral sources today as saying that peace negotiations were afloat between Russia and Romania "on the basis of the Molotov declaration."

Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov on April 2 announced that the Red Army invasion of Romania was not aimed at seizing "any part of Romanian territory."

According to the Algiers broadcast the Russians were demanding:

The Romanian Army capitulate and turn against the Germans.

Bessarabia and Bucovina be returned to Russia.

Romania pay the Soviet Union an undetermined indemnity.

In return the Russians were said to have promised that Transylvania, part of which was given to Hungary by Hitler, would be returned to the Romanians.

Helicopters Valuable

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP). —Fire fighting has been added to the versatility of helicopters, the coast guard reports. Helicopters previously had been used to rescue a boy stranded on a sand bar and to get blood plasma to a naval disaster.

Burma Air Raid Pulverizes Jap Fortress

KANDY, May 12 — (CP) — Operations to clear the Japanese from strong positions on the southern outskirts of Kohima have made initial progress, an Allied communique said today.

South of Kohima Allied patrols broke up a Japanese concentration. To the northeast Allied planes patrols are making contact with the Japanese.

Fighting in continuing at the village of Potsangbam, south of Bishenpur.

Thirteen out of 25 Japanese fighters have been shot down by American fighters in a concentrated sweep over Japanese-held airfields at Meiktila, Anisakan and Heho.

The largest force of R.A.F. and American bombers yet to operate over one target in Burma dropped nearly 200 tons of high explosives in an area of 1,200 square yards in the Japanese strong point of Ningthoughkohong in a two-day attack.

"Operations to clear the enemy from strong points in the hills in the southern outskirts of Kohima have made initial progress," the communique said, adding that effective use of tanks against the Japanese was limited by the terrain.

Arakan Quiet

Farther south in the Imphal region, fighting was reported on the Palel road around Tengoupal where British and Indian planes that appeared were destroyed, four others were damaged.

Quiet prevailed generally on the Arakan front between India and Akyab, the communique said. Artillery and bombing were applied to Japanese positions southeast of

8th Army Joins Allied 5th In Mammoth Attack To Clean Out Liri Valley

Canadians Believed Holding Line Along Adriatic Sea

8th Army Moved Secretly To New Front

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 12—(AP).—The Fifth and Eighth Armies have launched the greatest drive in Mediterranean warfare in the jump-off of Allied spring offensives, and have smashed wedges in the Gustav Line in Italy, advancing more than a mile at one point, front dispatches said at noon today. The big push along a 25-mile front from Cassino to the sea crunched forward at 11 p.m. last night under a record, shattering artillery barrage, and shock troops won initial objectives at a number of points. Hundreds of planes and big naval guns supported the offensive.

Elsewhere the Germans were resisting fiercely, still blocking the way.

At one unspecified point at least, the Allies had thrust ahead 2,000 yards in gaining their first goal.

Attacking on the Cassino sector, British 8th Army troops crossed the Rapido and Gari Rivers and pushed on, a dispatch said, and airmen reported the attack to the right of the Rapido appeared to be going ahead. The German's lossed flooding waters from the Rapido reservoir system.

The land gains were wedges driven into the German defences, but these were merely part of a general program of ripping away the lines of the powerful German mountain positions.

Allied air power in incessant pounding of Nazi communications has kept all north-south rail lines in Italy severed since March 24, and the land attack came as the world awaited a cross-Channel invasion.

French troops went into action first, making a surprise thrust 15 minutes before the artillery opened up all across the peninsula, and especially in the Garigliano and Cassino sectors where the 5th and 8th armies attacked.

The assault came with French and Italian troops fighting in the 5th Army and Poles in the British 8th Army.

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP) — Canada's Sixth Victory Loan sales reached $1,136,740,100, and with two days canvassing still remaining stood close to the $1,200,000,000 objective.

Today's total was about $8,000,000 above the total for the Fifth Loan on the corresponding day of the campaign but yesterday's sales of $63,571,150 were about $13,000,000 below the 16th day of the previous drive.

Individual Canadians made a good showing in yesterday's sales with purchases amounting to $34,234,200 making the second consecutive day in which the total of bonds purchased by individuals exceeded that of large coroporate buyers.

This morning National Loan headquarters announced the cumulative purchases by individuals amounted to $475,906,550—approximately $128,000,000 less than the final total purchases of Victory Bonds by the Railway, the subsidiary companies and personnel was $28,500,000. Polish Priest Dodges Questions Says Stalin Opposes Persecution

CHICAGO, May 12—(AP).—Marshal Joseph Stalin of Russia was quoted today by the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Springfield, Mass., Roman Catholic priest just returned from Russia, as declaring he is "an advocate of the freedom of conscience and that of worship."

The Soviet Marshal also was quoted as asserting he believed co-operation with Pope Pius XII was possible "in the matter of struggle against coercion and persecution of the Catholic Church."

Father Orlemanski in a statement given at a news conference said that in Moscow he had asked Marshal Stalin the following questions and had been given the following answers:

"Do you think it admissible for the Soviet Government to pursue a policy of persecution and coercion with regard to the Catholic Church? Answer: 'As an advocate of the freedom of conscience and that of worship I consider such a policy to be inadmissible and precluded.'

Co-operate With Pope?

"Do you think that the co-operation with the Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, in the matter of struggle against coercion and persecution of the Catholic Church is possible? Answer: 'I think it is possible.'"

The priest waved all questions aside with "No questions, no questions, please."

He said he obtained approval of the American State Department to make the trip to study the Polish question, and after asking Soviet approval through the Russian consulate in New York received an invitation direct from Marshal Stalin to go to Russia.

Father Orlemanski said he talked, through an interpreter, to Marshal Stalin for two hours and 15 minutes at the Kremlin in Moscow after an hour's conference with Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

The priest asserted he went to Moscow "as a private citizen" and not as a representative of the Catholic Church nor as an ambassador of the United States State Department.

"I am not a Communist," he said, adding that "I am an American" and that "I belong to no clique, no faction, no party."

He described his trip as "a mission to Moscow to help my church and Poland," and said "I have wonderful news on Poland, but this will come at a later date."

The priest said he had a second conference with Stalin, found him "very democratic, very open," and that "as an American citizen I stood up as man to man and talked to Stalin."

Russia Disagrees On Plan

Britain, U.S. Hopeful On Final Edict

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP) — While Britain and the United States have worked out a system for control of captured areas of Germany, they have thus far failed, it was learned today, to get together with Russia on a plan for joint occupation of the enemy country.

Some diplomatic authorities consider this one of the two most urgent issues now confronting the three Allied powers. The other is the formulation of a set of armistice terms to be imposed when Germany surrenders unconditionally.

To be effective the surrender will have to be accepted alike by Russia, Britain and the United States. Then there will have to be a statement of armistice rules and finally a military occupation.

Formulation of joint plan on these points is the job of the European Advisory Commission set up months ago in London. The Commission is understood to have functioned slowly and to have been handicapped by an inadequate conception of its assignment. Recently a London-Moscow-Washington effort was made to snap it into action and officials here are now more hopeful of results.

13 Teachers Are Appointed To City Staffs

At the Board of Education meeting Thursday night a new position at the Collegiate, recommended by the Committee on Appointments, came under fire of two members on the Board.

The committee suggested that H. Moebus of Lindsay be appointed Director of Career Planning and at the same time assist with the teaching of mathematics, at a salary of $2,600 a year plus the cost of living bonus.

D. V. Canning was not in favor of introducing the new position. He said that a short time ago, the Board was worrying about expenses being too great, and that while they were lower now, when the three teachers returned after the war, they would increase again. Mr. Canning added that he was prepared to vote against it because he thought the matter needed more thought.

"What happened to the group of business and professional men who were asked last year to talk to the school and advise any interested students?" Fred Reed queried.

No Boys Available

The Collegiate principal, C. S. Browne, explained the situation, pointing out that the war had imposed unusual conditions. He said that few boys had approached this group because as soon as they finished school nearly all volunteered for active service. The few not admitted, usually had already chosen a profession or went into war work.

"Another reason the group of Lay Councillors was not made more use of was because no one on the staff had the time to interview the students who want to interview us. F. E. Johnston and A. Shearer in the commercial and vocational departments, have done something in their own sections, but the academic has had no opportunity."

Mr. Browne said that four or five teachers were concerned once, in a while, but the main trouble with the set-up is that no person has been put in charge of career planning. Continuing, he declared there was no one on the staff at present who had time to advertise among the students, nor to allocate the time the various councillors could be seen. This will be part of Mr. Moebus' duties, it was explained.

"We also plan to have a course in occupations taught one period a week in Grade IX. Many want to leave school because they are blind to its benefits when compared with $15 or $20 a week now, in a factory. It is hoped that the new course will help direct Grade IX pupils to a broader viewpoint. There is no syllabus for this, and it will have to be arranged to fit local opportunities. This all takes time," Mr. Browne remarked.

Wrong People

"Why not see the business men. They are better qualified in the subject than any teacher will be," Mr. Canning declared.

"That is true. But we need someone to investigate the trends of industry and to make the students realize the importance of training," the Principal explained.

"I don't think the time is right to add an extra man to the staff," Mr. Canning disagreed.

Will Need Extra Help

"After the war, the school will be flooded with students and accommodation will be taxed to the utmost, as will the staff. Classes will be going night and day and we will still need extra help to take care of all the returned soldiers who have been guaranteed an 18 months course. The secondary schools will bear the brunt of this," Mr. Browne added.

A motion accepting this recommendation was made by Mr. Carley and Dr. C. M. Scott.

An amendment was moved by Mr. Canning and Mr. Reid that the remainder of the committee's report be accepted, leaving out this section. The amendment lost by a vote of 4-2. The original motion was passed.

Appoint Teachers

The Committee on Appointments also recommended several staff appointments which were accepted. For the public school staff, W. L. McNeil of Bethany, T. E. Hancock of Roblin and Hugh Currie of Courtice, were all appointed at a salary of $1,400 a year plus cost of living bonus. A fourth will be named later. Women public school teachers appointed were Miss Lena Dewart of Peterborough; Miss Muriel Ball of Millbrook; Miss Evelyn Partridge of Warkworth; and Miss Dorothy Mann of Markdale. All have more than 6 years' teaching experience and are to receive $1,150 year, plus bonus. Miss Muriel M. Arkles of Bethany; Miss Doris Charlton, Lakefield; and Miss Macklin, Port Hope; with less than six years' experience, will be given $1,050 a year, plus bonus.

On the Collegiate and Vocational School staff, C. B. Goulding of Bowmanville, has been appointed to succeed H. L. Bamforth as physical instructor of boys with salary according to schedule. H. A. Dalzell, of Fort William, was named to succeed L. J. Pettit as head of the history department with salary according to schedule. Miss Jean Lancaster of Napanee, was appointed to the Commercial staff at a salary of $2,200 plus bonus, with increases according to schedule.

It was moved that the resignation of A. Pammett of the caretaking staff be accepted and no action in advertising for someone to fill the vacancy at the Collegiate will be taken at the present time.

The Committee on Appointments further recommended that contracts of three married women on the staff be cancelled and new ones issued re-engaging them for the term of one year.

Teachers Train

A special summer course for teachers in cadet training work is being given at Lake Couchiching this summer. Four applications were received at the Collegiate, Mr. Browne reported and three have specified their willingness to go. Two women teachers, Miss Mildred Bailey and Miss Elizabeth Stuart, will attend from July 3 to 14. McNabb, who will be working with the cadets, will attend from June 19 to 30. When another man has been appointed to the staff, he will be given an opportunity to go. All expenses are paid by the Department of Education except a $10 registration fee which the Board of Education agreed to pay on a motion by Mr. Carley and Mrs. F. Harris.

A draft of the proposed agreement between the Peterborough Board of Education and North Monaghan township council was also reviewed with the Board's solicitor, Ford Strickland, K.C. It was felt that a minor change was necessary and when this is made, the document will be forwarded to Monaghan for signature.

Navy Auxiliary Holds Delightful Tea

Gracious hospitality, in a friendly pleasant atmosphere, was the keynote of the spring tea, sponsored by the Peterborough and District Women's Auxiliary to the Navy in the Green Room and library of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon. Guests were received by Mrs. Frank Merrett, president, and Mrs. Fred Craig, vice-president, and smiling hostesses, Mrs. J. G. M. Wilson and Mrs. B. Fowler, insured quick service by efficient helpers. Mrs. G. Groombridge was treasurer.

A unique and appropriate centrepiece graced the tea table. A model of an old Spanish galleon, with sails full, was set upon a mass of blue, representing the sea, and blue streamers followed through from the centrepiece to the ends of the table. Flanking the ship, were four tapers, —two red and two blue,—in blue-covered holders, with the bases of the candles tied with white sweet peas. Silver services were set at either end.

Features of the tea were the home cooking table, supervised by Mrs. J. Post, the tickets for the draw on the chesterfield set in charge of Mrs. W. J. Hawthorne and the tea cup readers. Mrs. W. Wheeler was general convener, with Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. G. H. Moore as members of he committee. Mrs. A. Marshall and Mrs. T. Littlefair supervised the kitchen. Pouring tea were Mrs. F. D. Kerr, Mrs. G. R. Scott, Mrs. W. E. Conway and Mrs. F. G. Mann.

Those serving were Mrs. R. Burns, Mrs. G. Fallen, Mrs. J. Merrett, Mrs. J. Devey, Mrs. F. Board, Mrs. J. White, Mrs. P. Hooper, Mrs. H. Staunton and Miss Helen Chartren.

Burma Air Raid

Maungdaw.

The communique said there was nothing to report from operations in northern Burma or on the central Burma front.

Ningthoughkohong, where the concentrated bombing attack was made May 8-9, is two miles south of Bishenpur in Manipur state.

The full force of the explosives smashed down on a fortified area of 1,200 square yards of embedded tanks, pillboxes and bunkers manned by thousands of troops.

After the concentrations were spotted by reconnaissance planes a personal survey of the area was conducted by Air Commodore F. W. J. Mellersh of the R.A.F. and Maj.-Gen. Howard Davidson, commander of the U.S. strategic air force in this area.

The attack against the Japanese forces was begun by R.A.F. medium bombers followed by heavy bombers in waves. During a rain squall the attack was turned temporarily on Moirang, a Japanese defence point a few miles to the south.

The Allied attack was aimed at annihilating the Japanese forces before they could get settled into position to wait out the impending Monsoons and continued for two days. Throughout the assault the bombers were protected by an umbrella of British and American fighter planes. The Japanese offered no aerial opposition and their anti-aircraft defences were silenced after the first saturation assault.

The importance of the operations was emphasized by some of the participants. Among them were Brig.-Gen. Moore, chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force in this theatre, who rode in a B-26, and Brig.-Gen. Gilbert Cheves of the U.S. Army, who flew with the R.A.F.

Press Of Canada Must Keep People Informed

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — The Press of Canada must "supply the information which is necessary if there is to be a well-informed Canadian public opinion upon domestic and external affairs, Premier Drew of Ontairo said Thurs. in an address at the 25th anniversary luncheon of the Periodical Press Association.

"The periodical, the daily and the weekly press will determine the future course of Canada by the extent to which they keep the people of Canada adequately informed." said the Premier, adding that in this the periodical press has the problem of meeting competition from United States publications with greater circulation and greater revenue.

The periodicals, with a combined circulation of 5,000,000, reach almost every home in Canada and have played an important part in the development of the nation.

The Premier referred to a report on a questionnaire which had been submitted to senior students of collegiate institutes in the province and said he was "quite prepared to admit the failure in the teaching of our own history in our schools," which answers to historical questions indicated "but in the field of information in which we look more particularly to the press, the answers are equally surprising."

In two examples of history questions, Mr. Drew said the average of correct answers to which provinces originally constituted the Dominion of Canada was only 22 per cent. while only four per cent. knew anything about Sir Arthur Currie.

Another question asked about public or private ownership of well-known Canadian enterprises and 48 per cent. of the pupils classed the Trans Canada Airlines as privately owned, 39 per cent. said the Canadian Pacific Railway was publicly owned. Only 18 per cent. identified the British North America Act as the Act which fixed the basis for representation in the Canadian House of Commons.

Germans Warn

Another report said Rommel had demanded the appointment of a German Gauleiter with extraordinary police powers to take charge of France on the grounds that Vichy may be unable to control the French population when the Allies invade.

This report came through European underground channels after French quarters in London announced the Germans had shifted Marshal Petain from Vichy to a chateau 40 miles from Paris.

The underground advices said Rommel's demand was being opposed by the German foreign office. The field marshal, who is in over-all command of anti-invasion forces, was said to have stated that the Vichy police would be useless to the Germans because many were "little better than gangsters."

On the Allied side, meanwhile, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of invasion forces, revealed that the civil affairs section of his command was set to march into Germany with the conquering troops and rule the Reich with a military iron hand as well as operate temporarily in the countries presently German-occupied.

More Blows Likely

From Ottawa came an official hint of further attacks in the Middle East, possibly in conjunction with the invasion, Trade Minister J. A. MacKinnon referring in a report on Dominion exports to "impending activity in the eastern Mediterranean."

And in Moscow Soviet Foreign Commissar Vycheslav Molotov declared the Germans soon would feel the "joint blows" of the Russians from the east and the Atlantic Allies from the west.

The top officer of the civil affairs section is Lt.-Gen. A. E. Grassett, Canadian-born member of the Royal Engineers, and the ranking American is Brig.-Gen. Aulius C. Holen who in peacetime was a diplomat and businessman.

In friendly countries, the administrative group will operate directly with the governments-in-exile or other recognized native governing body and will depart as soon as the civil machinery is functioning. In Germany it is expected the military government will remain until some sort of post-war commission takes over.

586 Children Get Dick Test

During the month of April 586 children were given the Dick test, according to Dr. Robert Nott in his monthly report to the Board of Education presented at the meeting last evening. Of this number 178 required the scarlet fever toxoid.

The nurses reported 260 classroom inspections, 91 exclusions for various causes; 78 minor accidents and dressings; 93 vision tests, and 280 home visits.

Dr. S. J. Graham, rental officer, reported completing the check-up at Queen Mary School with 521 pupils being examined; 70 treated at the school clinic; 121 by the family dentist. There were 239 pupils whose teeth were found to be O.K. and 84 are still requiring treatment. The operative work completed consisted of 190 amalgam fillings, 1 temporary filling, 20 treatments and 20 porcelain fillings. The extractions totalled 63 deciduous teeth and 12 permanent.

Attendance Officer Fred Revoy during the month granted four employment certificates from the Collegiate and Vocational School and three from the Public schools; 10 parents were cautioned on account of their children not attending school regularly; 34 children were found absent through illness, and 20 for home help.

Enrolment at the Collegiate has dropped to 870 with 581 in the academic department and 289 in the vocational. The average attendance was 831. In the Public schools Queen Alexandra with an attendance of 356 reported an average of 337 or 94.27 per cent.; Queen Mary with 461, a percentag eof 94.06; King Edward with 415, a percentage of 93.50; Park Hill with 68 and 93.13 per cent.; 444 at King George with 92.22 per cent.; 630 at Prince of Wales with 91.81 per cent., and 518 at Central with 90.79 per cent. Total Public shcool attendance is 2,892 with an average of 2,683 and a per cent. of 92.63.

War Savings Stamps to the value of $1,461.50 were sold during the month, Inspector K. S. Wightman reported.

Miss Margaret Westbye, secretary at the Collegiate, reported 12 days lost by teachers through illness in April, and Mr. Wightman 25 days in the Public schools.

Add together this morning's total for payroll savings, $1,070,350, and the General Canvass amount of $2,070,350, yields a grand total of $3,145,400, or $45,400 more than the objective of $3,100,000 for these several divisions.

The Special Names Committee, with $1,440,000, which is $40,000 more than their $1,400,000 quota, made up the rest of Peterborough's substantial margin of excess—to repeat it, $85,400, with two days to go.

County Features.

The buoyant news from headquarters this morning listed eight of Peterborough county's municipalities in the enviable company of 'hundred percenters.'

They are: Smith, Dummer, North Monaghan, Havelock, Ennismore, Belmont-Methuen, Lakefield and Asphodel.

To the people of the county and city it should be a great source of satisfaction to know that the name of Peterborough is close to the top in this morning's official provincial list of counties that have done more than the National Finance Committee requested.

Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Peterborough city and county committee, said this morning that after all the planning and organizing and hoping to get the job well done it was a grand thrill to know that the people of Peterborough had responded so splendidly.

"It is a privilege to be chairman of the city and county committee at this critical stage of the war and to know tha our people were so keenly interested in the success of the Loan," Mr. Matthews said.

14,863 Investors

"One of the brightest facts in a campaign that must warm every heart is the large increase in the number of citizens who have bought bonds," Mrs. Matthews added. "The total this morning was 14,863 as compared with 14,000 investors in the Fifth Victory Loan. And that 14,863 is going to be considerably higher by Saturday night. It means that we have had a large number of purchasers of bonds in the smaller amounts, and they are important in the final count."

Mr. Matthews' statement this morning was only an interim report to the citizens informing them of what they have already accomplished.

At headquarters it was confidently believed that every division of organization would leave the 100 per cent. line behind by Saturday night, and it was hoped that Peterborough would go on to accumulate the 10 per cent. surplus buying of Victory Bonds suggested by the Hon. Mr. Ilsley, Minister of Finance.

VEIN OF A CONTINENT

Put Victory First

It is in the bag.

With $289,250 reported on Thursday only $246,400 is left for the last two days of the week in the Sixth Victory Loan campaign in Peterborough.

Payroll savings came through nobly with $143,650 to have on deposit 96.1 per cent. of objective.

Special Names are over the top by $40,000 with a total of $1,440,000.

Ennismore climbed to the 90.42 per cent. on Thursday, and later reports said the township had gone over the top.

Belmont and Methuen standing at 97.8 per cent. also is believed to have reached their objective.

From the way the rural canvass looks with two days to go it is pretty sure that the farmers and villagers will reach their objective and go much higher.

General Canvass in Peterborough has passed the mark set in the Fifth Victory Loan when it failed to get its objective. There is every hope this time that the General Canvass will rank right up at the top along with the other divisions.

Vic Tully still leads the salesmen with $36,950. Jack Curtis is in second place with $34,900, but he is being pushed hard by R. Irwin with $34,700. Stan. Darling's drive in the past few days has put him up to $34,300, only $400 behind Irwin. A. J. McClellan is coming home strong and has a total of $32,150.

S. G. Cole, John Lee and W. P. Kinlin were the top team in Thursday's report with $6,200 on 18 applications; Rufus Payne, Lou Brooks and W. Roberts added $3,950 on 15 applications; R. Irwin, J. D. Anderson and Fred Revoy, $3,750 on 10 applications; W. E. Metheral, Jim Juby and Vic Tully added $2,700 on 13 applications; A. J. McClellan, A. E. Cauley and Stan. Darling, $3,400 on 17 applications; J. Mackness, George Heron and W. S. Rose added $2,100 on 11 applications; C. A. McFadgen, C. A. Gallagher and A. Smith, $2,050 on 12 applications; and Jack Curtis, Bruce Sargent and Jim Harkness, $1,150 on nine applications.

Top salesmen on the day were John Lee with $4,800; Rufus Payne, $3,150; R. Irwin, $2,200; Stan. Darling, $2,100; and Vic Tully, $2,050.

Victory Bonds Value Climbs

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP).—Finance Minister Ilsley said Thursday in the Commons that the Dominion government cannot give a guaranteed value to Victory bonds held by certain persons.

H. R. Jackman (P.C., Toronto-Rosedale) asked if Mr. Ilsley would accept Victory bonds in the sixth series at par value in payment of Dominion succession duties if the bonds were held by the deceased during his lifetime.

Mr. Ilsley said the bonds were not so accepted, although the question had not arisen because bonds had not gone down in value.

"If anything, they have gone up, and we hope and believe they will not go down," he continued.

But it had been felt that the Dominion could not give a guaranteed value to bonds held by certain persons whose estates would be subject to succession duties.

"Ontario did it," said Mr. Jackman.

Mr. Ilsley: "But we do not follow all the precedents set by the Province of Ontario.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, asked that if a policy of guarantees were considered whether it would be extended to all Canadians. Mr. Ilsley said the question was a "hypothetical" one.

terday of $20,543,000, including an amount in behalf of the Employee's Pension Fund. In addition, applications from employees of Trans Canada Air Lines and National Railways Munitions, Ltd., are expected to yield about $8,000,000. The total figure of $28,500,000 compares with $26,631,550 in the previous Victory Loan drive.

The Armed Services' combined figures show grand totals of 419,936 applications for $42,396,500, of which the Navy is responsible for 48,553 applications for $4,771,700, the Army 239,703 for $22,453,950, and the Air Force 131,680 for $15,169,850.

The Nova Scotia total has reached $32,610,000. The quota is $34,500,000. Prince Edward Island's total is $2,550,000, with the quota set at $3,000,000.

Camp Borden, Canada's largest military establishment, has oversubscribed its $750,000 objective by $25,250, and additional subscriptions are expected to push the total close to the $800,000 mark.

Sudbury reported that the Sudbury-Manitoulin district reached its $4,000,000 objective yesterday, becoming thereby the first canvassing unit in Ontario to achieve its quota in general canvass, payroll savings, and special names. ALGIERS—British and French fighter pilots knocked down five German planes and damaged others in a force attacking an Allied convoy in the Eastern Mediterranean, Coastal Air Force headquarters said today, without disclosing whether the convoy suffered damage.

Dr. Bruce Makes Answer To James Fulton

"When the Christian Science representative, James Fulton, came before the Social Security Committee of the House of Commons on May 2nd, he asked that public funds be available to Christian Science practitioners under the proposed Health Insurance scheme, and I objected to this on the ground that Christian Science "treatment" does not conform to the accepted canons of preventative or curative medicine," Dr. Hubert Bruce writes.

"Mr. Fulton claims that Christian Science practitioners are strictly law abiding in observing the regulations in regard to contagious diseases. How can they report a disease which they cannot diagnose? What would they do in a case of acute cerebro-spinal fever, which can only be diagnosed by examining the spinal fluid? Ninety-five per cent of these cases will recover if recognized early and given the specific treatment with a "sulpha" drug within the first 24 hours. But every hour's delay beyond this period means fewer recoveries until at the end of a few days all untreated cases will die. There is a further terrifying fact that even a few hours' delay in treating these cases, if they should recover, will result in permanent paralysis. The same danger in delay applies to most cases of diphtheria and many other diseases if unrecognized and untreated in the early stages."

Court Case Recalled

"Let me cite the case of Rex vs Lewis, tried before the Ontario Court of Appeal. Here, the defendant was a Christian Scientist. He was the father of a 6-year-old boy who was ill with diphtheria and subsequently died of the disease after treatments by a Christian Science "demonstrator." The father was indicted under the Criminal Code for failing to provide medical care, and convicted of manslaughter.

"The Criminal Code describes qualified medical care as a necessity and provides penalties for neglect by parents and guardians who fail to provide it.

"While the Christian Science healers are careful not to advise against calling a doctor, they act in such a way by so insisting in upon their ability to cure the patient that the doctor is not called. In other words, they do indirecly what the law would punish them for doing directly. But they have been carefully instructed to call a doctor when a patient nears death so that he may issue a death certificate and avoid reporting the death to the coroner. Thus they escape proceedings under the Criminal Code."

Treatment Outlined

"The treatment Mrs. Eddy instructed Christian Science healers to employ is laid down on page 464 of her manual and consists of the inaudible repetition of:

"There is no life, truth intelligence or substance in matter. All is infinite mind and its infinite manifestations for God is all in all. Spirit is mortal truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God and man is His image and likeness; hence man is spiritual and not material."

"I submit this is neither a prayer nor an invocation, but on incanation reminiscent of the days of witchcraft. If, as Mr. Fulton now asserts, the inaudible repetition of this formula is prayer, then why does he demand pay, when priests, clergymen and laymen or other denominations perform these services free?"

Campbellford Cheesemakers Recall Local Board Founding

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 (ENS) —Campbellford cheese men met here Thursday night on the eve of the 60th anniversary of the local Cheese Board. It was a combined regular and annual business meeting, and 10 factories offered a total of 379 boxes of white cheese. Eleven buyers divided the cheese at the ceiling price of 20 cents F.O.B. Campbellford.

J. A. Murray, who presided for the election of officers, preceding the sale of cheese, recalled the Board's founding on July 8, 1884, and told how at that time nine salesmen had offered some 966 boxes which brought them only 7¼ cents a lb. He referred to the Board's resolution then inviting buyers, but, he said, the early Boards were hardly as successful as those today, since regulations governing the sale of cheese were less stringent and many buyers were engaged in what would now be labelled "sharp practices."

Salesmen with little authentic information on the trend of the market had only the buyers' word for it and were called at all hours of the night to sell cheese "off the Board." In contrast to these early conditions, Campbellford Board now has the reputation of being perhaps more rigidly controlled by salesmen than any other board in the province of Ontario.

Officers for 1944 are: President, Col. Harold Sauva salesman of Cedar Creek Factory; vice-president, Fred Peake, Empire; 2nd vice-president, George McCubbin, Ideal; secretary-treasurer, S. A. Maguire, and an executive of Hugh Isaacs, G. S. Vanvolkenburg, and Roy Walker; auditors, G. G. Stephens, J. A. Murray.

Factories bidding were: Brae, 10 boxes; Crow Bay, 17; Cedar Creek, 45; Empire, 37; Hoards', 40; Menie, 50; Rylstone, 89; Trent Valley 30; Maple Leaf, 42; Pine Grove, 19.

The Board adjourned until May 18 to coincide with the meeting of the Belleville Board.

Dollard Saves Canada

... and Knitting Machines increase in number as this industry grows!

In all Canadian history there is no more heroic story than that of Adam Dollard, Sieur des Ormeaux, and his sixteen companions at the Long Sault Rapids. Here, in an abandoned log enclosure, these seventeen Frenchmen, with five Indian allies, held off seven hundred Iroquois warriors for a week, losing their lives but saving Canada.

Even at this early date there were many thousands of knitting machines in operation and these constantly increased. Invention after invention improved the original knitting frame and finally led to power machinery in 1857.

In 1868 Penmans Limited came into being in Canada, establishing a very high standard of quality in materials, tailoring, fit, comfort and health protection. This standard has been unfailingly maintained during the past 76 years and accounts for the outstanding popularity of Penmans Knitted Products today.

Banking Bill Receives Second Reading At Ottawa

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 12 —(CP)—The bulky government bank bill today had sailed around one bend in the winding river of debate with every promise of rough water ahead.

The bill received second reading last night after four days of debate in which four Liberal members, as well as several opposition speakers, said it should go further than it does.

Finance Minister Ilsley concluded debate on second reading by reviewing some of the complaints about the bill and answering them.

The House defeated by a vote of 112-15 a C.C.F. amendment to the motion for second reading which would have had the House consider nationalization of the banks.

Mr. Ilsley said he believed the bill, which amends the bank act, had provisions which suited existing conditions and were fitted to serve inthe 10 years which must elapse before the bank act again comes up for revision.

He said he anticipated "vigorous if not enlightening discussion" of the bill in the banking committee to which it now goes.

In the Bank Bill debate, J. M. Turner (L-Springfield) said he agreed with Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern), Arthur Slaght (L-Parry Sound) and G. G. McGeer (L-Vancouver Burrard), other government supporters who had spoken in favor of further use of the nation's credit and greater control over banks.

The present debt-creating system could not continue indefinitely and "we should therefore be prepared to try another kind, and force the big bankings houses to get out of government business entirely and operate in their own field, namely that of commerce and industry," said Mr. Turner.

"They are paying too much attention to government financing and nit enough to the commercial field."

Mr. McGeer and Mr. Slaght were not in the House when the vote on the C.C.F. amendment was called. Mr. Turner and Mr. Tucker voted against the amendment.

Mr. Ilsley said he had been accused of making a provocative speech because he had discussed C.C.F. and Social Credit proposals on nationalization of the banks and debt-free money when he introduced the bill. But he would have been derelict in his duty had he not met these issues "head-on."

The most important division of the bill providing a guarantee of loans to farmers and fishermen had not received the attention it deserved. Mr. Tucker had suggested that loans to farmers should be available at three, instead of five, per cent, but this could defeat the purpose of the Bill for loans might not be made at this rate.

An agricultural development bank was not proposed as it would mean an organization with perhaps 1,000 or 2,000 branches, and would mean duplicating banking facilities all over Canada. The government did not desire to go into a business which would be like commercial banking.

Have No Monopoly

Mr. Ilsley said if the C.C.F. proposed that government commercial banks should be run without regard to profit and loss "they are in for a gigantic system of loans on the part of the government," with many having to be granted under mass pressure.

The banks did not have a monopoly as Mr. Slaght had claimed. It was unfair to suggest the present owners of a bank were entitled only to receive a return on the original investment in the bank, when some of the institutions were more than 100 years old and the cost of shares had increased.

Borrowing from the Bank of Canada for government purposes instead of from the chartered banks had been suggested as a means of saving interest charges. But the money borrowed from the Bank of Canada would eventually reach the chartered banks, and under the conditions proposed the carrying charges to the banks on $3,000,000,000 from the Bank of Canada would total $22,500,000 annually. This would represent a charge on the banks which would have to be passed on to someone. It would be unfair.

G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) said that for the sake of people with poor eyesight the Finance Minister should see that notes of different denominations issued by the banks are of similar colors. The Bank of Canada $5 bill was blue, but bills issued by the chartered banks were green and looked very much like a $1 bill.

Dusty Roads Done With Lakefield Council Hopes

LAKEFIELD, May 12 — (ENS). —Village residents will go back to dustless summers again this year as road oil once more becomes available. The contract to oil the roadways was awarded A. C. Jupp Construction Company. Council also went into the matter of the Memorial Hall roof leaking. It appears that the main storm gutters which were supposed to be copper have turned to be tin, and have given way in numerous places. The job cannot be done properly until the war is finished, and at that time it was indicated that the only real cure would be to take down the virginia style brick facing and revamp the entire gutter system.

Reeve Scriver was authorized to have the leaks fixed again in an effort to have the job last until the war is over.

The Highways Department suggested that the sidewalk jutting into the roadway at the Post Office corner be cut down and the Hydro pole moved to widen corner some eight feet. Council concurred with this idea and the Department will be notified of the Council's approval.

Court of Revision will sit this year the earliest in the village history on Thursday, May 25, at 8.00 o'clock in the evening. Three protests have been received to date:

The question of a caretaker for the village park was discussed and it was decided to call for tenders, the job to commence June 1.

Chief Samis reported one speeding case with a heavy fine, and investigations on window breaking and one boat house break-in.

Road Commissioner Charlton reported considerable gravel already places on the roads and satisfactory testing of an asphalt tar mixture as a crack filler for repairing sidewalks.

Reeve G. G. Scriver and Councillors George Charlton, George Graham, W. C. Grant and Reg. Doubt were in attendance.

Accounts were as follows: Chief Samis, first half salary, $51.20; Thomas Chaplin, stamps, $6.00; Street labor, $13.30; Stuart Peel, hall water, $1.25; Percy Hockaday, grading, $16.50; Thomas Martin, park, $4.20; William Watson, park, $4.20; John Sanderson, library, $13.00; Bell Telephone Co., $5.44; Chief Samis, salary last half, $51.20; E. G. Matthews Talks At Home And School

CAMPBELLFORD, May 12 (ENS) —Education as a principal factor in building citizenship was discussed before members of the Campbellford Home and School Association this week. Gordon Matthews of Peterborough was guest speaker and emphasized the part played by the teaching of Canadian and British history in building citizenship.

Mr. Matthews saw post-war planning as playing an important part in the future and stressed the cooperation of employees as essential for any workable plan.

The thanks of the association was expressed by Mrs. A. B. Bennett. Public School children of Grades 4, 5 and 6 gave an entertainment with choral readings and the singing of choruses. President Mrs. Jack Clarke announced that this was the final meeting until September, and a committee headed by Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol and Miss J. Trumpour and R. Hazell was appointed to study methods of raising funds for the group.

Egg Merchant Not Guilty On Theft Charge

COBOURG, May 12 — (ENS) — James Mallory, resident near Welcome, was found not guilty of theft of $25 from W. J. Inch, his neighbour, in police court Thursday. Mallory was arrested last month by Provincial Constable Alex MacLeod of Cobourg.

Inch testified that Mallory had been selling him eggs for some time and that on April 25 when he came up from the barn he found Mallory standing in the woodshed door at the back of the house. Mallory told him that he had seen a man come out of his house. Later he learned that his wallet was missing from where he had hidden it under his mattress.

Inch testified further that after he started to think things over, he began to suspect Mallory. A mirror in his bedroom reflected the end of the room where the wallet was hidden and it could be seen readily from the sitting room, Inch said. The complainant was most emphatic in his opinion that Mallory was responsible for the theft. Questioned by defence counsel, A. W. Affleck, Inch admitted that he looked in the yard for the missing money but said that he was convinced nonetheless that he had left the money under his mattress.

Didn't Notice

Mallory denied any knowledge of the missing money. He testified that he called at Inch's home on the morning of April 24 to sell some eggs. He took the eggs inside and put them on the sitting room table as was his custom. He didn't notice where Inch got the money as he was busy cleaning the eggs. On the following day, he was to ride into Port Hope with Inch and he called at the farm and when he arrived noticed that Inch was down at the barn. He waited for him just inside the woodshed door and had only been there a few moments when he saw a man come out of the kitchen door.

"I saw that he was a stranger and told him that the boss was down at the barn and rather roughly he replied 'why don't you go down and see him then?' I watched him as he went out and saw him disappear down the highway. Mr. Inch came up and when I told him about the stranger he didn't make any comment. He said that it was too late to go to town so I went home. About noon he called at my house and said he would like me to go out with him to see if we could find the stranger. I did but we couldn't find him," testified Mallory.

Girl Friend Helps

Questioned by Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, the accused admitted some taxi trips to Port Hope and Cobourg a few nights after the robbery but stated that he used some money given him by his girl friend in Port Hope as he had little funds of his own.

He also declared that he had never been inside the bedroom of Inch and although he had noticed the mirror from the sitting room he had never noticed what part of the bedroom was reflected in it.

Irene Gaffield of Port Hope, who said that she "went with" the accused, testified that she had tried before to give Mallory some money because he had been so good to her when she was ill and he was not working at the present time. She told of putting $15 in his coat pocket without his knowledge on April 25. It was the only way she had of getting him to take it.

"The evidence places you under suspicion but not strong enough to convict you and I am therefore going to let you go. Your conscience knows just how guilty you are," stated Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

As Others See Us

Canadians are proud of the contribution which our country has made to the cause of the United Nations in this war; Britain has shown her appreciation of our help on many occasions, and yesterday Mr. Churchill paid a handsome tribute to our effort, which he described as "magnificent". Leaders in the United States have also been generous in their praise of what we have done. But it may surprise Canadians to learn that many citizens of the U.S.A. who are not so well informed think that Canada's war effort is trifling.

Where do they get such an idea? They get it from the popular press, and from the strong tendency of a majority of newspaper readers to absorb and remember strongly-spiced items of news, and to neglect or forget essential facts. May we offer you an example of what we mean? This week a representative of this newspaper attended a meeting of newspaper men from Canada and the United States, and was surprised to find that many of the American visitors had a poor opinion of Canada's contribution to the war. He argued the matter with them, presented them with facts, and left them partially convinced. Imagine his chagrin, therefore, when one of the men to whom he had been talking sent him this clipping from the May 8 edition of the American magazine Newsweek: "Group Capt. Denton Massey of the R.C.A.F. is a big fellow, much handsomer than his cousin Raymond, the actor, and a much better public speaker than his cousin Vincent, the Canadian High Commissioner in London. Home from overseas duty, Denton had taken his seat in the House of Commons and listened to the debates. Last week he sounded off on Canada: 'These days seem to me to be as gilded and giddy as those of 1929'. (Canada appeared to be enjoying the greatest prosperity in history, with no motivation for a full-out war effort). 'I regret to say it, but I say it frankly: I was not particularly impressed on a few occasions with the atmosphere of this chamber. I hazard that there are times when visitors may sit in these galleries for a whole sitting, and leave the House and hardly realize there is a war on'".

Observe the form which this item takes: Denton Massey is associated with a film star and a well-known diplomat, thus giving him an entirely false importance in the reader's mind; the most strongly flavoured portions of his speech are quoted from almost ten columns of Hansard, and the American reader is left with the impression that Canada is doing as little as possible in the war.

Canadians know how much importance to attach to what Group Capt. Massey says. For many years before the war he kept himself in the public eye by predicting death and destruction for us all if we did not change our wicked ways; his speech in the Commons was of a piece with his most effective evangelistic utterances. But American readers of Newsweek cannot be expected to know these things, and with their passion for news in capsules they probably take Massey's word as an important pronouncement on Canadian affairs. This gentleman has done more harm in an hour than the Wartime Information Bureau can undo in six months.

When he spoke in the House on the 28th of April Denton Massey exercised his privilege; after all, he was sent to Parliament to say his say on behalf of the people who elected him. It is a pity, however, that he chose to misrepresent this country as he did. It is a pity also that a number of newspapers hastened to parrot what he said; but it is an unfortunate fact that there are many people who will fawn on any man who tells them that they are going to hell; their conviction of sin and worthlessness is stronger than their good sense, and they welcome anything which ministers to it. But it is hard on a country which is doing a fine job.

Revising The Bank Act

The Bank Act comes before Parliament for revision every ten years, and well in advance of its appearance the Banking Committee of the Commons decides what revisions are to be recommended; as a usual thing these revisions are conservative, and cause no strong feeling either among the general public or in banking circles, where they are foreseen.

The revisions suggested this year were put forward by Mr. Ilsley as preparations for post-war re-establishment of business, and the return of industry to peacetime production. The amendments to the act were designed to encourage more generous lending to farmers and fishermen, among others, in order to give these vital trades all the help that they need. Agriculture should benefit greatly from the Farm Loan Improvements Act, also, which, when finally it is law, will strengthen the farmer's hand in one important respect.

The rate of interest for Chartered Banks has been cut from 7 to 6 per cent.; as the Government is holding the interest rate on its own bonds to 3 per cent. this seems a reasonable move; the tendency during recent years has been to reduce all rates of interest. Federal Bonds have dropped from 5 and 4½ per cent. to the present 3 per cent. rate, and bank interest has fallen from 3 to 1½ per cent.

Banks have come more and more to recognize small loans as an important part of their business, and the revised Act permits them to make such loans on a basis of monthly repayment at 5 per cent. interest; as the small loans bring many new clients the banks cannot be said to lose in this respect.

The banks will not, in future, be permitted to issue their own notes. Doubtless they would prefer to do so, but the advantage to themselves is not so great that they are prepared to dispute the ruling. They have foreseen this move for some time.

The revisions are favourable to the people of Canada, and thus they are certain to be popular. They do not strike heavily at the banks, and they make several wise provisions for post-war finance. It is unlikely that the revised Bank Act will meet with serious opposition.

The Voice Of Love

An interesting article appeared some time ago in the London Sunday Dispatch, one of Britain's most popular week-end papers, and was reproduced in The Maple Leaf, the newspaper which is published for the Canadians serving in Italy. The article attempted to explain why it is that girls in the British Isles like to make dates with Americans and Canadians rather than with the young men of their own country. According to the Dispatch, the charm lies in the variety of accents which the North Americans possess.

Everyone has heard the American accent abused; it is something new to hear it described as the authentic Voice of Love. But that is the way it impresses many English girls. They are great movie-goers in Britain, particularly among what used to be called 'the lower middle classes', and they know all the great lovers of the screen by appearance and also by voice. If an American soldier has a low, grinding voice, he reminds them of Humphrey Bogart, or Clark Gable; if it is mushy and musical they think of Gary Cooper; if he speaks in the more familiar tones of Boston, he may bring William Powell to mind. And the effect is to increase his romantic appeal, while the poor lad who speaks plain Lancashire or Glasgow is left out in the cold.

The romance of accent is incalculable. The Polish soldiers stationed in Britain are said to be very successful with the girls, and much of their charm lies in the unaccustomed warmth with which they speak. And the Norwegian airmen who have been stationed in Canada have never lacked for feminine society, because the charm of their speech is irresistible. If there is a lesson to be gained here, it is this: if a young man wants to be a success with women, let him go somewhere away from his home, where his speech will have an interesting foreign ring; there, however halting his professions may be, or however hackneyed his compliments, he cannot fail. The Voice of Love is all the better for a slight accent.

Eating... A Lost Art

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
(In the Winnipeg Free Press)

A DARING or ignorant writer on this page has lately defended the eating habits of Toronto against the insinuations of an American visitor. This is very neighbourly, as between Winnipeg and Toronto, and presents an impressive spectacle of national unity before the foreigner, but basically no defence is possible. The eating habits of Toronto cannot be defended and, like the eating habits of Winnipeg, they are part of a great national failure—the failure to eat.

Canadians are a feeding, not an eating nation. They consume vast quantities of food. They are strong, healthy and rich in brawn and vitamins. But they do not eat, except in a technical, formal and medical sense. For eating involves far more than the mastication, swallowing and digesting of food. Since the most primitive times eating has been a matter of ceremony, a kind of rite, the supreme social act, in which the barriers between men were dissolved and they became brothers. To break bread with a man was to pay him the highest tribute of confidence. To ask him to dinner was to indicate that you accepted him not merely as a business associate (whom you might not be able to escape) but as a friend whom you wanted to love.

HOW far has the eating of Canada fallen from this fine concept! And just as bad, or worse, is the fall of the Americans who now complain about Toronto's table manners. How far, I mean, are we removed from the days of Horace Walpole, who said his friends were "mountains of roast beef and only seem just roughly hewn into outlines of human form....I see no difference between a country gentleman and a sirloin." How different is a meal today, the hurried, frantic taking on of food like a ship loading disagreeable cargo, from the leisurely bouts of wit at Shakespeare's Mermaid Tavern or Johnson's inn, the Cheshire cheese! Food then, rich as it may have been, was incidental to the communion of men. The only contact in a North American meal is produced by the elbows of the next eater, crowding you at a sandwich bar. There is no meeting of minds, only of elbows.

NOW I will grant you that there is a wide variety of eating in Canada. There is what you might call the highest form of eating in Ottawa's Rideau Club, a kind of technical eating where the master technicians of the Canadian state talk over their business; but this function is mechanical, laborious and dull, and is not a social function. You have political eating in the Chateau Laurier where men concoct deals and seek patronage, and truly democratic eating in the parliamentary restaurant of the House of Commons, where politicians of all parties eat together in apparent amity which would scandalize their supporters at home. You have grim intellectual eating in the Manitoba Club, where the nourishment of the body is merely incidental to the nourishment of the mind. You have the daily assembly of tycoonery in the Vancouver Club, where men who have made fortunes in woods and mines retain the gigantic appetites of their early days of struggle. But still you do not have eating in the historical and better sense.

MOST of Canada, like most of the United States, belongs to the swallow-and-run school. There is, however, in some large cities, a dawdle-and-stare school of idle people, mostly women, who make meals an opportunity to display their beauty, their clothes and their wealth. But this again is not eating as eating exists, or did exist, in Europe before the war.

I do not include English eating, though it was of a stubborn and determined bent, and patiently disposed of the Brussels sprouts and boiled flannel, in the manner of the bulldog breed, just as it later disposed of the German enemy. But it was not eating in the European sense. It could not compare with the spiritual peace of a French inn yard in the evening, nor approach the gaiety of the Paris or Viennese sidewalk cafe, where the cooking of food had become one of the highest arts, and yet where food was secondary to the spiritual exhilaration of the meal, the warming sense of companionship and human contact.

THE Europeans know how to eat. We only know how to nourish ourselves. And the more we learn about nourishment the less, of course, we shall know about eating; for the nutritionist is the enemy of the eater and the physician destroys the whole spirit of the table. We consume food in North America now to keep us healthy. We select our dishes by their vitamin content. We, the carnivores, wolf salads as if we were rabbits or horses, because they contain certain chemicals.

It is all highly respectable and deadly dull and it ends, of course, by making us despite eating altogether, by making three meals a day three annoying intervals when we jostle one another at a lunch counter or glare over our soggy vitamins at our innocent families. Why attack Toronto, or defend it, when it is like all other cities on the continent, perfectly nourished according to the laws of science, but sick unto death with intellectual indigestion, nourished but not eating, fed but not satisfied, replete but gnawed by a deep hunger of the soul?

Unconsidered Trifles

"Would you be happy if you had all the money you wanted?"

"I should be happy if I had all the money my creditors wanted".

A man with more wealth than culture sent his son to a public school. When the boy came home on holiday his father asked how he was treated.

"Oh, not so bad, Dad", said the youngster, "except that some of the masters and the fellows say I'm illiterate".

"What!" shouted the father. "You'll take your birth certificate back with you next term and show 'em different".

The wife who came in to find her husband and a stranger—afterwards ascertained to be a lawyer—engaged in some mysterious business over the dining-room table, upon which several sheets of paper were spread.

"What are you doing with all that paper, Henry?" demanded his wife.

"I'm making a wish", said the husband, meekly.

"A wish?"

"Yes, my dear. In your presence I shall not presume to call it a will".

AMONG THE HEROES

—By Rube Goldberg

'Brave New World' and Realism

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

MR. James S. Duncan, head of the Massey-Harris Company, last week let the Brantford Board of Trade hear some basic truths that we would like to see passed around. Mr. Duncan warned against glib talk of the brave new world that is to come: "Social security, of which we hear so much these days, cannot be given to us by an Act of Parliament. Social security can only come from adequate national income."

This is precisely what this newspaper has been saying for some time now; yet there are critics who say we are reactionary and against the common man.

Social security requires financing, and as to that Mr. Duncan posed these two basic problems:

"Our national income in 1938 was 4.13 billion dollars and our national income in 1943 was 7.76 billion dollars. I am not suggesting that it is either possible or essential that the national income be maintained on this basis, but those who are better equipped than I to judge these matters, state without hesitancy that we must find ways and means of maintaining our national income on the basis of at least six billion dollars, if we are to be in a position to service our present debt, to carry out even a small proportion of the social security plans which are up for discussion, to look after the resettlement of our returned soldiers, sailors and airmen, and to provide reasonable employment for our people.

"And then we have the other problem, that when the war is over, we shall have to find employment, not only for 725,000 men actually serving in our Armed Forces, but for over 1,100,000 workers presently engaged in our war industries."

These are problems which must be met before we can do anything positive about social security and Utopia. Mr. Duncan didn't pretend to have the answers to them but he did set forth a few things he believes we must keep in mind:

(1) If we are to care for our soldiers and ourselves and maintain a good standard of living we must insist upon a high level of export trade. "Industry and agriculture must learn to think internationally".

(2) "For purely selfish reasons, if for no other, we should favour every move which tends to strengthen the British Commonwealth...In the post-war world we shall need the Empire markets more than they will need ours".

(3) At whatever sacrifice we must continue to support the present policies of the Wartime Prices Board in its fight against rising costs. "Foreign customers are not interested in our standard of living, they are interested in the prices at which our products are sold".

(4) We must look upon rising wages with the same wariness.

(5) We must curb our appetites for the too costly forms of social security, lest politicians put them on the statute books and we bankrupt ourselves in the effort to carry them out.

There may not be anything strikingly new in Mr. Duncan's speech. But the trouble with a lot of us, particularly the C.C.F., is that we think we are suddenly going to end all our troubles by finding "something new".

The situation as outlined by Mr. Duncan, is all too familiar to the real students of Canadian economy, but the thing is to get it across to the rest of us. The close student, in fact, has double reason for dismay: we don't heed his advice and warning, but when our heedlessness gets us into a morass we turn to him to get us out. A little thinking now upon the lines suggested by Mr. Duncan may well have a heap of sadness and remorse at the other end of the road.

Dorothys and Bettys

"Girls will never know." That was the cheerful headline over a story of mixed mail in the South Pacific. It is a heartening story, of a censor who had a heart. He caused this notice to be posted on the bulletin board:

Private Blank. Letter at mail desk. Name on envelope, Dorothy; name on letter, Betty. Check, and if correct, mail.

Apparently Private Blank checked and didn't mail. But it seems too bad the censorship couldn't have produced a complete blackout on such a vital matter of strategy. After all, morale on the home front ought to get some consideration. The headline writer may be correct in saying that the girls will never know, but a good many Dorothys and Bettys are going to do a lot of wondering.—Christian Science Monitor.

Advice To Women

Any girl who has any intention of helping a farmer this summer should send for the Department of Agriculture bulletin, "Advice for Women and Girls Doing Farm Work." It is a sensible handbook and has the ring of irrefutability. "Whether a woman can lift over 35 pounds depends on the woman," says the bulletin, coolly looking down at its fingernails. That's a clean-cut statement, the sort of writing we admire. "When you are given a job that requires the use of tools, find out how to use them properly." Right as rain. "When going to a new place, learn your way around. Remember where stairways are, where you step up or down." What better advice can a girl ask on the eve of a great adventure? "If you are not sure of your courage with loose cows, carry a light stick." Terse, frank, helpful. "Never trust any bull." Wisdom in four short words.—New Yorker.

In Ottawa Circles

Almost every Canadian has run across the expression "in Ottawa circles" at one time or another. Perhaps the clearest conception of just what this can mean comes through recounting what happened some months ago. A senior official in one of the large government corporations had been asked to provide an editor with a photograph of himself for publication. He called in his secretary and told her to send one over to the waiting editor.

It must be admitted that this particular official was no publicity-seeker, and after an unsuccessful search of the files the secretary discovered she just did not have a picture. An enterprising girl, she called this government corporation's publicity department and asked for a print of Mr. B.... "Right away" came the ready response. The fact that the official was a particularly retiring fellow must have dawned on the publicity department when they found that even they had no picture on file. But they were full of action. They got the Wartime Information Board on the phone immediately and asked them to rush one over. A scant ten minutes later the phone jangled in the records' office of the National Film Board. It was W.I.B. asking for a rush print of the official; they did not seem to have him covered in their files.

When the Film Board man turned up a blank in his own records he took the one course of action that would occur to any ex-newspaperman. He grabbed a phone and called Mr. B.... "Wonder if we could have a photograph of you, Sir. It's a rush order."

Mr. B.... was regretful that they did not appear to have one available in his office at the moment. "But," he said, "I've got one on order for another chap, and as soon as he's through with it I'll pass it along to you."

"Thanks very much, Sir."—The Printed Word.

These Are the Issues

Ministers have several times urged industries to "come forward with their plans" for post-war development. One of them, the cotton industry, has just done so. The future of our major industries, however, depends on factors beyond the control of the industries themselves. It depends, above all, on whether the governments co-operate to produce a world-wide expansion of trade, or permit commerce to relapse once more into a disorderly scramble. It depends on whether effective measures are to be taken to prevent exploitation; on the degree to which the great monopolies are to be controlled in the interest of the common man; on the extent to which the governments are prepared to combine in assisting the backward areas of the earth and thus increasing the purchasing power of their inhabitants. These are the kind of issues that have to be settled before the aims of the Atlantic Charter can be realized; and the pace at which they are being examined is dangerously slow.—London Daily Herald.

Contemporaries

WELL NAMED

Capt. Horatio Nelson Lay, who is announced as commander of one of the new Canadian-manned escort carriers, certainly bears a name that should be no handicap at sea.—Montreal Gazette.

THAT COMPLEX FORM

"Simplification of income tax forms is under study" we are told from Ottawa. Well, they could very well begin with the idea that almost anything different would be bound to be simpler.—Vancouver Province.

WHAT MOST WANT

Most of us still believe that private enterprise, initiative and competition will make for greater contentment for the mass of the people who greatly object to being pushed around by an army of bureaucrats. We still hanker to be our "own boss," with the right to do as we like within the law and within reason and custom.—Lethbridge Herald.

BORDER STILL THERE

Anne O'Hara McCormick writes in the New York Times that "the frontier between Canada and the United States is as nearly invisible as any boundary yet established between nations." Maybe so but anyone trying to cross it in these days of currency and other restrictions soon realize that it is there all right. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

CATHEDRAL GROVE

Vancouver Islanders and thousands of people all over the world who have visited this part of British Columbia will welcome Premier Hart's announcement that his Government does not intend to permit Cathedral Grove—that magnificent stand of timber, the like of which none of us here will see again—to be sacrificed on the altar of industrial profit.

As Mr. Hart quite properly points out, there is a simple way for the new owners of the timber area of which Cathedral Grove forms a part to conform to popular demand; and that is to take other property elsewhere in exchange.

But the Premier and his colleagues are obviously determined to call a halt to those practices with regard to our timber resources of which we are all too often reminded by so many gaunt remnants of mistaken prodigality. — Victoria Times.

"KITE FLYING"

Kite-flying is, of course, a convenient device by which a Government may ascertain the trend of public opinion. But it is being carried too far when ministers do not specify that they are speaking for themselves. Subsequent disclaimers give a poor impression. There was a time when it was always understood that a minister's words carried the weight of cabinet responsibility. The most famous example is Mr. Lloyd George's speech of 1911 on the Agadir crisis. This was a world sensation, because all the world knew that behind a few quiet words in the middle of a city speech lay the whole authority of the British Government. When ministers speak one day as private persons and the next as members of the cabinet, with no one knowing the difference, they weaken not only their own authority but that of the Government they serve.—London Daily Mail.

A Bible Message

O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ hath been evidently set forth, crucified among you. This only would I learn of you, Received ye the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh? Have ye suffered so many things in vain? if it be yet in vain. (Gal. 3: 1-4.)

As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly....

Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.... For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. (I Cor. 15: 48, 50, 53.)

Gurkhas Great Night Fighters Canadians Find

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, May 12 — (CP) — His name was Tilbahadur Thapa, his rank subadar, his age 39, his reputation excellent.

He came from Nepal, Tilbahadur Thapa said, and he was a Gurkha. He had been in the Army 21 years, and although he wore two pips his rank was roughly equivalent to that of a Warrant Officer Second Class.

Subadar Thapa and his men were training with the Ontario Regiment, a Canadian armored unit, practising the lessons of infantry-tank co-operation both have learned in action.

Canadian tankmen find the Gurkha's adaptability to night fighting makes him an ideal companion for a tank crew that has taken up a position near the enemy lines and would otherwise spend the night hours at the mercy of enemy infantry.

"Tell these fellows to dig in around you when darkness comes," said Capt. G. W. Hamm of Regina, "and you can bet your last dollar they'll be there when you want to go in the morning."

Canadians have come to learn a lot about the men of India in their months of soldiering together.

They have learned that for two Indian battalions in an Indian Division there is usually one British battalion, that the various races are kept separated as much as possible, that Indians and Britons seem to work and fight well together, that the problems of caste are not great because most of the men come from a warrior caste, that an Indian is punished when he is not allowed to do eight guards, not when he is given eight extra guards to do.

This last lesson is something no Canadian will ever understand.

Institute Told Need For Nurses

WESTWOOD, May 12—(ENS)—Miss E. Young, superintendent of nurses of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Women's Institute this week.

Basing her remarks on the very great need of volunteers for the nursing profession, Miss Young gave a complete description of the nursing school in connection with Nicholls Hospital, and told of its many advantages over schools of larger centres. She stressed the importance of the work of nurses in post war plans; in civilian nursing; in the public health field; in keeping up morale and in emergency services.

Mrs. E. Brackenridge, of Peterborough, also addressed the branch, corroborating Miss Young's remarks on the urgency of recruiting for this training.

Impromptu speeches of two minutes' duration, on a variety of subjects, were given by each member. The sum of $1 was voted to purchase plants for the cenotaph plot. It was decided to hold a euchre card party on Friday evening, May 12, in the town hall, and necessary arrangements were made.

Mrs. V. Stanley-Jones gave a concise history of the poet Wordsworth and read two of his shorter poems, "The Blind Boy" and "The Child is the Father of the Man." Fourteen members modelled work aprons in a contest, prizes being awarded to: Mrs. S. Graham, Mrs. F. Faux and Mrs. E. Sargent. A "tree" contest sponsored by Mrs F. Faux was won by the January group. Printed programs of the ensuing year were presented to the members. "Introduce Your Visitor" will be the answer to the June roll call. Added attractions will be a spelling match and a contest of miniature gardens.

Burleigh Council Fights Park Idea

APSLEY, May 12 — (ENS) — At the regular meeting of Burleigh Council, with all members present the following resolution was passed on the motion of Councillors Wilson and Tucker: "That the Municipal Council of Burleigh and Anstruther opposes the formation of a Provincial Park in the northern part of the County of Peterborough because of the large amount of deeded and occupied property in the proposed area, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Peterborough County Council."

Other business transacted was the setting of the rate for 1944 taxes at 34 2-10 mills after allowing for the two-mill subsidy from the Provincial Government, and the passing of by-law confirming same. On motion of Councillors Booth and Tucker, By-law No. 485 providing for the collecting of the trustees' levies (S.S. 1, Burleigh, increasing its levy from $600 to $900, and the School Area making a levy of $400) was passed on the motion of Councillors Wilson and Tucker.

A by-law admitting S.S. 1A, Burleigh into the Township School Area also passed on the motion of Councillors Wilson and Staples, and a resolution that S.S. 1B Burleigh (at the head of Stoney Lake) be taken into No. 1 Dummer School Area was passed on the motion of Councillors Booth and Tucker.

The Reeve was allowed expenses and committee fees in connection with the meeting in Toronto of Mayors, Wardens and Reeves re post-war planning and development on motion of Councillors Booth and Staples.

Arrears of taxes against L.O.L. 1072 are to be removed from the county treasurer's books and the property withdrawn from the "list of lands liable" because of the majority of its members serving overseas and in Canada in the Armed Forces. This on motion of Councillors Booth and Wilson. Next meeting of Council is on June 3.

The Spring Tonic

To which many people return year after year

The days of the old formula for spring medicine—Sulphur and Molasses—are pretty well gone. For many people that treatment has been replaced by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which conforms to modern medical ideas of what most people need at this season of the year to restore their wasted energy.

During the long winter season when artificial foods are so generally used the body is robbed of a sufficient supply of such ingredients as iron and other essential minerals and vitamin B_1.

And so it happens in the spring that you come to feel tired and lanquid and find the daily work an unwelcome task. There may be pains and aches to further add to your discomfort.

If you are not one of the very many who have learned to turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at such times, you have a pleasant surprise in store for in most cases it seems to be exactly what is required as a "pick-me-up" to bring back new pep and energy to the exhausted system. Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for there are few homes in which there is not some one who has used it.

And do not forget the school-age children of ten years and over for they, too, have a draggy time of it just when their school work and examinations are taking so much out of them.

Children respond quickly to the upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Try it for the children when they get cross and irritable and in a few days the change of disposition will surprise you.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, has built up a following of intelligent, thinking people, who have learned by experience to depend on this time-proven medicine to help them, when they need help, to regain appetite and good digestion, restful sleep and the vitality which make life and work a pleasure.

St. John's Win Softball Game

When St. John's and St. Andrew's met in a Church League Bantam School League game at Queen Mary school, Wednesday, Coach Monroe, St. Andrew's, got the game away to a good start by assembling the teams and reminding the boys that many of the players of the church league of a few years ago were now on active service. Many had paid the supreme sacrifice, so in memory of them, he suggested a few minutes' silence. The boys readily complied, bowed their heads and the silent tribute was paid.

St. John's won by a wide margin.

George St. Bantams met Knox Church at the Oval in a fast game. George St. 8, Knox, 3. Teams:

10 Ball Teams Enter League

No fewer than ten clubs, five of them in the loop last year and five new entered the Industrial Softball League at the annual meeting of the organization held in the Duffus Board Room Thursday night.

Last season's clubs back again are Outboard Marines, C.G.E. Drafting Room, Brintons, Watercraft and Dominion Woollens while the new teams are Nashua Paper, with whom will be incorporated members of last season's Raybestos team, Canada Packers, Westclox, DeLaval and Quakers.

Last season's board of officers was re-elected as follows: president, Deb. Hillier, Dominion Woollens; 1st vice-president, Homer Lundy, Watercraft; 2nd vice-president, C. Corbett, Brintons; secretary-treasurer, L. L. Maguire, Outboard Marine.

It was decided that each club would be allowed to use one City League player but such player will not be allowed to pitch.

It was decided that players will not be allowed to wear metal spikes.

The League has secured the Brinton and Dominion Woollens grounds and will play games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of each week with the opening game scheduled for May 23.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

ERA-5c Joe Stewart of the R.C.N.V.R. who captained the champion Algerines in the Y.M.C.A. House League this past season and was a member of the C.G.E. team which won the City League cage championship, just got down to the East Coast in time to land with his third championship team of the season. In a letter to this column the well-known local basketball star says that he played for H.M.C.S. Cornwallis team in a challenge series with the Canadian Army team, winner of the Halifax senior City League for the championship of Nova Scotia. Army won the first game, played in Deep Brook by 36 to 30 and Stewart was not in that battle. He however accompanied the Cornwallis team to Halifax and took part in the two games won by the Navy there. In the first of the two fixtures the Peterborough boy played guard, an unusual position for him and did not score a point as the Sailors won 63 to 40 but on the second night playing centre he registered four points to help Navy win 46-27. Joe says that on the army team was a kid brother of Sandy Sandulak who starred in basketball and softball here while stationed at the Military Training Centre. He also mentions that in an East-West game played at Cornwallis recently another well-known Peterborough cage performer and former member of the Outboard Marines Don Sedgewick was in the lineup. Noting that his old softball teammates Eddie Starr and Jim Ellis were organizing a team for this season Joe adds jokingly, "They will miss my terrific average of .119, don't you think they won't."

It's Whipper Bill Watson and Verne Baxter who fought such a grim battle here this week back again next Tuesday as the feature attraction of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena. Baxter asked for another chance at the Whip contending that the showing he had made against the British Empire champion had earned him a second opportunity to battle the idol of Toronto. Watson who wrestled Wild Bill Longson for the world title before a huge crowd in Toronto last night, going 80 minutes without a fall in a sensational match, didn't voice any objection to meet the Oregon battler again. The Whipper takes them all in his stride. He doesn't worry no matter what opposition they give him and so far as he is concerned the proposition to meet Baxter in another brawl is perfectly all right. "I beat him the last time but if he isn't satisfied with that I'll have to do it all over again," said the British Empire champion. "At that he's plenty tough." Last Tuesday's bout which Whipper won by taking an early fall was one of the grimmest Watson has fought here and Baxter's comeback after being tossed had the champ in repeated jams from then on to the end of the hour. Baxter believes he can beat the Whip. "That fall was more or less of a fluke," he claimed after Tuesday's match. "I tried to surprise Watson by hurrying back into the ring but he came around Maxwell and clipped me down. I won't be so careless again."

Cubs Win At Last

For the first time since they were taken over by Charlie Grimm, in fact for the first time since opening day the Chicago Cubs won themselves a ball game Thursday. They turned back the Philadelphia Blue Jays 5 to 3 to grab off their first victory since they won their first start of the season. In bewteen there have been thirteen straight losses. Big Ed. Hanyzewski was the pitcher who turned the trick for the Cubs with Dick Barrett absorbing the loss for the Phillies. Elvin Adams and Ron Northey hit homers for the losers but even that power was not enough to prevent a Chicago win. The Cincinnati Reds climbed close on the heels of the St. Louis Cards by nosing out the New York Giants, 4 to 3. The Reds had a three-run rally in the eighth to turn the trick. De La Cruz and Shoun looked after the pitching for the winners. Curt Davis, pitching steady ball for the Bums stopped the parade of the St. Louis Cards as the Dodgers won a tight contest 2 to 1. It was the third win of the season for Davis who has been beaten once. The Boston Braves who have not been making many runs for their ace pitcher Jim Tobin came up with an 18-hit barrage against Pittsburg and Tobin won his third victory of the season in hollow fashion 7 to 2. The Pirates got a double shock yesterday for Vince DiMaggio, their hard-hitting outfielder received notice to report for military service.

* * * * * *

It is a long time since any club has beaten Hank Borowy of the Yanks. Borowy finished up the 1943 campaign with seven straight wins and he has picked up this season just where he left off last fall. Yesterday he won his fourth 1944 victory, making 11 triumphs in succession, as the Yanks defeated the Detroit Tigers. Borowy only allowed seven hits and the champs won 5 to 2, getting even for the beating they took on Wednesday. Although he didn't go the full distance Allie Reynolds won his third victory of the campaign as Cleveland Indians won a tight battle from the Boston Red Sox 7 to 6 with Bowman doing the pitching for the Croninites who are not doing so well. Incidentally Cleveland are carrying the only Canadian-born rookie who has managed to make the grade into the big show this season. He is Paul Calvert, a big right-handed pitcher who is a native of Montreal. The Indians have had strings on Calvert for several seasons. The Montrealer was with Baltimore in the International League last year. He has speed, a good curve and an effective knuckler and may make the grade.

Footballs Scarce

Scarcity of soccer balls may interfere with junior football in Niagara Falls according to Bill Gaynon, sports writer of the Falls Review who states that school soccer may suffer as a result. The paragraph should be of general interest. Here it is: "Those conscientious soccer men who are anxious to put the game back in our public and separate schools, have a problem that might stall their good intentions, claims a principal of one of our culture houses. The gentleman in question tells us that soccer nas been well supervised by school heads in past years, but the sport had to be dropped in 1943 due to the absence of footballs. He says every effort was made by the different school leaders and board of education officers to obtain balls, but neither local nor outside business houses could accommodate their wants. Our informant says school bosses would welcome some assistance in this regard and they would appreciate any help oldtime players could offer, but he wonders how such men could be any more successful in securing the balls than were his colleague last autumn. It surprised us to learn that footballs were so scarce, and we sincerely hope some can be found this year, as any group of men wanting to assist the school sporting structure is entitled to every co-operation to make their plans successful."

Baseball in Kingston is in a decidedly healthy condition. Not only is there a five-team senior City League in operation but the 'teen age boys are to get their innings too. Bill Walshe tells of developments among the younger players in the following item in his sport column: "Two four team minor baseball leagues for boys were formed at a well attended meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last night. A juvenile group, for boys 18 years of age and under, will play games at the Cricket Field and the College Street diamond while a midget series for younger boys will be conducted at Cataraqui Park. The boys at the meeting were full of enthusiasm and took part in the discussions with officers of the Kingston Baseball Association. The boys reported that they had made their own diamond on College Street and were receiving assistance for rolling and the building of a backstop. The Kingston Baseball Association promised to keep the boys supplied with bats, balls and other expensive equipment but each boy must supply his own glove."

Sports are not on the war manpower commission's list of essential activities in the United States and it is not likely the Draft Board will ease up on professional athletes, it was stated by a Selective Service official at Washington last night in outlining the newly-defined deferment policy of the commission. The question of the fate of baseball players 30 years of age and over was a matter for local draft boards, it was pointed out, but such boards were privileged to go beyond the official list of deferments for men 30 and over who are active "in support of national health, safety or interest."

Carl Hubbell, pitched his first complete game for the Toronto Maple Leafs 18 years ago today, when he shut out Jersey City with two hits. Cross - Country Runners Training

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)—Elimination trials started today in army camps throughout Canada in a cross-country competition which is expected to have a total of 40,000 contestants.

It is the second step in the army's mass sports participation program to "make fighting men fighting fit." Nearly 50,000 men started out early in the winter in boxing eliminations which led to Dominion finals here May 4.

The cross-country teams of a dozen men will continue to district finals only, as sports officers do not want large teams of men travelling too far from their own depots and taking too much time off regular army drill.

In the new competition, army runners will compete over a rough course of not less than four miles. The course will include a variety of obstacles and irregular terrain. The principle of the competition, as explained by Major Ian Eisenhardt, senior sports officer, is to train the men to "travel across country at maximum speed, surmounting such obstacles as may be met, and arriving at the end of the course in such a condition to use their weapons to the fullest advantage."

Yankees Lead League By Slim Edge

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Joe McCarthy has his 1944 New York Yankees leading the American League for the first time, but it took a weird night fielding display by the St. Louis Browns and a peculiar quirk of the percentage tables to do the trick.

Although the Brownies, who set the pace since opening day, hold a half-game edge in games won and lost, the payoff column in the standings shows the New Yorkers with .667 and St. Louis with .650.

Last year the Yankees took over first place on May 4, but slipped behind Washington and Cleveland into a third-place tie with Detroit before taking charge of the race, May 30.

Hank Borowy pitched Yankees into the lead although he didn't know it until he read the morning paper accounts of Washington's 4-2 decision over the Browns.

Detroit Loses

When Borowy turned back Detroit with seven hits in the afternoon for a 5-2 decision he was stretching his two-season victory streak to 11 and upping his 1944 record to 4-0.

Lefty Mickey Heafners' seven-hit night effort against St. Louis toppled Luke Sewell's men off their perch but four costly errors, including two by Catcher Joe Schultz, were equally disastrous. Jack Kramer's five-game victory streak was lost in the wreckage.

Hal Trosky, the comeback kid, stole home in the 16th inning on Russ Christopher of the A's as Chicago grabbed a 4-2 verdict. Mike Tresy then doubled home Ralph Hodgin with a superfluous score.

Seerey Stars

Cleveland's chunky sophomore outfielder, Pat Seerey, was the big factor in the Indians' 7-6 triumph over Boston. Pat continued his headlong spurt with two doubles and a single and a homer, batting in three runs.

Charley Grimm finally shook the Chicago Cubs out of their 13-game losing streak as Ed Haanyzewski hurled a seven-hit, 5-3 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. Bill Nicholson, who hit 29 homers to lead the National League in 1943, collected his first of the season and Catcher Billy Holm broke into the hit column after going "0 for 25".

Bill Hart's relay of Paul Waner's throw caught Pepper Martin at the plate with the tying run to save Brooklyn's 2-1 edge over the Cardinals. The Dodger rookie shortstop scored one run and drove in the other.

Steve Mesner's eight-inning double broke a 2-all tie, and Boston broke out with 18 hits behind Jim Tobin for a 7-2 slaughter of Pittsburgh.

Battle To Draw

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP). — Bill Longson of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Billy Watson of Toronto last night battled to a draw after an hour and 20 minutes in a wrestling bout billed as a world championship match.

The match, witnessed by more than 10,000 fans, was called at 11 p.m. because of a curfew on wrestling here after that hour.

Rochester Leads, Wins 6th Straight

By the Associated Press.

If the parent St. Louis Cardinals run short of good pitching in quest of their third straight pennant this year, they don't have to look very far far additional strength.

There are some mighty good hurlers on the Rochester farm club of the International.

The Red Birds are currently leading the league, having won their sixth straight game yesterday, 5-2, from the Newark Bears. Kemp Wicker scattered nine hits to become the fourth straight Red Bird pitcher to go the route. Bill Trotter, Bud Byerly, and Bill Emmerich were the others.

In the last four games, Rochester pitchers have given only seven runs and 26 hits.

And Syracuse Chiefs won their second straight from the Montreal Royals 3-2 in 10 innings. Singles by Jose Rodriguez and Walter Cazen and an error by Jack Cummins accounted for the Chiefs' winning run.

Hank Oana pitched and batted the Bisons to win their third straight as Buffalo defeated Jersey City 7-1 for their first victory over the Little Giants in five starts.

Oana allowed four hits and fanned six, besides making three hits himself and batting in a pair of runs.

The Toronto Maple Leafs knocked Baltimore out of second place in favor of Buffalo by defeating the Orioles 4-1 as Woody Crowson allowed only four hits. Tony Castano was the batting star with three hits and three runs batted in.

To-days games and probable pitchers (E.D.T.): Jersey City at Buffalo, 8:30 p.m.; Rosso vs. Tising; Newark at Rochester, 3:30 p.m., Drews vs Trotter; Syracuse at Montreal, 4:00 p.m., Konstanty vs. Travis; Baltimore at Toronto, 8:30 p.m., Lowrt vs. Ananicz.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP). — Canada's new national program for health and physical fitness probably will be set in motion after a meeting of physical educators in Winnipeg sometime this fall. That's the word brought back by Bob Jarman, director of physical instruction in Winnipeg schools, after attending a convention in New York where body-builders from Canada and the United States met to talk over physical programs.

The Winnipeg meeting is expected to iron out the problems attending such an ambitious scheme, and start the ball rolling to bring health in large quantities to every Canadian interested enough to take part.

Why, grandma:

Tales of racehorses over-fond of the grape reminded Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson of Grandma, a rowdy old mare owned by Austin Charters, a New Brunswick harness race fan. Grandma was 11 years old and a confirmed soak when he bought her, and she just couldn't do her best without a good slug of strong drink."

Came the time when Grandma was called upon to race in Charlottetown, capital of Canada's only prohibition province, and in her first heat she came home an unlovely last. When Owner Charters explained he couldn't get any refreshments for Grandma and the old girl was sulking, a well-wisher brought in a pint of that fiery rum that used to be characteristic of the Maritimes before the war.

After that, Fergie reports, Grandma swept to victory like an ancient Roman chariot horse and went on from there to win $25,000 in purses before her old legs gave out.

Incidentally:

Floyd Curry, Ken Smith, Bill Love and "Wart" Barker of the Memorial Cupping Oshawa Generals are stationed at H.M.C.S. York, Toronto Naval Training Centre. Steve Kozlonski, who shortstopped with Niagara Falls Seniors last year, has turned pro with Scranton Red Sox of the Eastern Baseball League....Ten to Ace billed as a wonder horse after his sensational early career as a juvenile and King's Plate winner, two years ago, is being groomed for a comeback. The Ace is said to be recovering from the ailments that nipped his career after his plate win....Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh says that Red Dutton's plan for hockey double-headers just won't work out. The traffic will stand just so much hockey, he says, even in New York or other large N.H.L. centres.

Rate Platter Horse To Beat

BALTIMORE, May 12—(AP)—Conn McCreary things Platter is the colt Pensive will have to beat if Warren Wright's Kentucky Derby winner is to take the 54th running of the Preakness Saturday.

"I'm scared to death of him," said the little man from St. Louis who rode George D. Widener's colt in every one of his starts last year and who won his first Derby with Pensive last Saturday.

Pensive has an excellent chance to pick up the $50,000-added Preakness purse, in the opinion of the 99-pound jockey, but he knows that both colts are stretch runners and is anticipating a duel down the straightaway.

Conn said that Platter and Pensive are exact opposite, except in one respect—"they can both run."

"Platter is dumb," he said, "and you have to make him do what you want him to do. But you have to persuade Pensive—he's temperamental—you have to use force on Platter and kid gloves on Pensive."

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 12—(AP)—Overseas Sports Roundup:

When Gen. Douglas MacArthur learned that the baseball used to open the Syracuse Chiefs, season in MacArthur Stadium was being sent to him, he replied wishing the Chiefs many home runs to "come when you need them."...Writing from New Caledonia, Major Kent Ryan, the old Detroit Lions halfback, said that next to the armistice and another crack at the Chicago Bears, the thing that would give him the most satisfaction would be the arrival of his four brothers. Two are army captains, one in England and one in the Aleutians, and the two youngsters are about to receive their bars as army fliers in Texas...When Sgt. Billy Goodrich of the Marines, former sports scribe, polled a Marine aviation unit on baseball's probable pennant winners, only 15 per cent picked Billy's Dodgers to win and 40 per cent chose the Cardinals. The Yankees, Senators and Indians ran about even in the American league.

Oritain

Cpl. W. D. Gary of Birmingham, Ala., writes from the tight little isle "I read where several soldiers were to return for the world series from the second front. Well, I am not so sure I will be on the same boat with them, because I intend to stop over here to teach the English how to play football this fall. However, I look forward to seeing a few double headers in basketball at the Garden next spring."

Japan

Gil Radcliff, former Penn State football star, managed to retain his sense of humor (and probably not much else) when he fell into Jap hands in the Philippines...On one of those form postcards from a prison camp, written to a girl friend at State college, Gil typed the last line, "Give my regards to all the kids from school, and also all my creditors."

AND NEXT SUNDAY AGAIN COMES

MOTHER'S DAY

And this Year—More than Ever

DON'T FORGET

OUR MOTHERS–

The mothers who are grandmothers and those who have done much for we older fellows down through the years, then mothers of the young men and women who have travelled to almost every part of the world for you and me —the mother's heart is a sadly war torn heart this year and our thoughtful attentions will have double significance.

AND THE YOUNG MOTHERS–

Don't neglect them—the mothers of the small sons and daughters of our fighting men—the young mothers who are holding on and doing a grand job—some at home — some working to turn out overseas necessities—all helping—wouldn't a tactfully handled gift to be presented by a small son or by daughter give her a true thrill!

HALL'S CAN HELP–

It sounds almost "sacrilege" to speak commercially on the subject but we are glad that, although not able to to do all we would like, we can still help in supplying a great number of quite suitable items that may find their way to the mothers on Sunday.

MAY WE SUGGEST FOR YOUR GUIDANCE

A new coil spring mattress for her bed .... 16.95 to 22.50

A suitable housecoat she'll be sure to like .... 3.95 to 8.95

Maybe the money for a Summer dress at .... 6.95 to 14.95

She'll always appreciate nice gloves, priced .... 1.98 to 2.98

Or perhaps a pair of Simmons pilllows .... 6.95 to 10.95

And she'd be sure to like white sheets, good firm ones of lasting quality. The pair 4.50 and 5.95

Then, too, chenille bedspreads are favourites with white ground, patterned various colours. 10.50 to 21.50.

We recommend Irish damask rayon cloths of rich creamy colour. Nicely patterned, 7.95 to 1o.50.

And large white Turkish bath towels with rough, good drying surface. The pair 2.25.

Pigtex Gloves
So Sturdy and Handsome

The smart kind of gloves Mother loves to wear with her tweeds and tailored things. They come in slip-on styles with black whipped stitching and half pique sewn seams on back. They're in tan only in sizes 6, 6½, 7, 7½. Such good looking gloves and pleasant to wear. Pair 2.50

Women's Rayon Gloves
Cool and Attractive In Appearance

Some plain, others with all-over embroidered backs and plain palms. These slip-on style rayon gloves are cool in wear as can be. Ideal for summer months. They come in white only. Sizes 6, 6½, 7, 7½. Pair 1.00

Yes, a Hat For Mother
Casually Styled, Reasonably Priced

Of course it might not be safe for you to do the selecting, but bring Mother in to pick her own—she'll find an assortment of Motherday styles. Straws and felts, featuring particularly navy blue, brown and sand. Sizes 22, 22½, 23. Every woman likes to possess several hats, so you're sure such a gift would be welcome. 3.95

Another Hat Suggestion
Featuring Many Outstanding Models

Conservatively smart styles—emphasizing the new for Spring, but carried out in such a manner that all are hats that Mother mostly likes to wear. Several lighter models amongst these, although darker colourings are also here. All represent real value at the price, each 4.95

These Leather Handbags
Make Attractive Gifts

The assortment gives you a wide range of shapes from which to select a suitable type. Colours mostly black and brown—underarm and top handle styles. All are of real leathers. Nicely lined and fitted with mirrors and coin purses. Purse 6.95

Plus Manufacturer's Excise Tax

Celanese Crepe Gowns
For Cool and Comfortable Sleeping

Elaborately trimmed with Venese type lace. Little cap sleeves are also edged with lace. Back and front of bodice is cut in a "V" shape. The skirt is cut on the bias and slightly flared at hemline. Ties at back. Would make a most acceptable gift. Large, medium and small sizes. White only 2.98

Printed Housecoats
For Her Take It Easy Moments

They're made from cotton percale in allover flower designs. All come in tie waist styles with long flared skirts and with lapels and collars of matching material and useful pockets. These are short sleeved models. They are made from fine cotton percales, having grounds of various colors. Melody prints with pretty, brightly contrasting flower designs Sizes 16 to 20 and 38 to 44. Wine, powder blue, navy, etc. 2.98

Martha Washington Dresses
Of Dependable Fancy Print

Give her a flower fresh housedress to brighten her house duties. They come in various attractive styles on white or coloured grounds. Shirtmaker and button-front styles, skirts pleated, gored or plain, long and short sleeves. Colors green, blue, rose, navy, etc. Sizes 36 to 44 .... 2.29

Handkerchiefs For Mother
Hand Embroidered in Maderia

Finishing touches for any costume. These madeira handkerchiefs are embroidered on all four corners. They're white and finished with fine rolled edges. Some have embroidered edges and a pattern in one corner. Lovely Mother's Day tokens. Each ......

A charge against Robert Patterson of stealing $50 was dismissed in preliminary hearing in police court Thursday when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., ruled that there was not enough evidence to warrant committing the accused for trial. He was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair.

LOCAL BOY IN QUEBEC.

Chief Constable J. J. Gagnon, of Quebec, has notified the local police department that a 17 year old Peterborough boy, Donald Ellis, is being looked after by the Salvation Army in that city. The local police were asked to get into touch with the boy's relatives here.

SEAL B.W.V.F. BOX.

There are three mean soldiers in this district. They are the trio who stole a collection box of the British War Victims' Fund from the counter of Don Sidey's store at Bewdley the other day. They were seen to throw the box away and when overtaken by Mr. Sidey returned 25 cents which they said was all that had been in the box.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Dorothy Ashton, 46, of London and formerly of Peterborough, met a very sudden death in Toronto on Thursday. In ill health for some months, she had come to the city to visit her sister. Mrs. Ashton is survived by her husband, F.O. Leslie Ashton, in the R.C.A.F., one son Michael and an infant daughter.

OFFICERS TAKE EXAMS

Practical examinations for about 40 officers of reserve units who are qualifying for their ranks will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Armouries. Several units in the military district will be represented, in addition to the 2nd (R) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers. These candidates have already completed their written examinations.

PICKEREL SEASON OPENS.

The season for pickerel will open here to-night at midnight and it is expected there will be a lot of nocturnal fishing expeditions organized for the early hours of Saturday morning. It should be understood that fishing from boats with artificial bait is forbidden. Casting from shore, dams or permanent piers with artificial bait is permitted. A June bug spinner with worms or minnows is an artificial bait.

GETS PROMOTION—L.-Cpl. H. Richardson, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Noble, 429 Chambers Street, has been stationed overseas nearly a year with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. His family have just received word that he has been promoted to Lance-Corporal. Before enlisting, he was a driver for the Toronto-Peterborough Transport.

RETURNS TO OFFICE

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., was being warmly welcomed around town yesterday afternoon and today after an illness of three weeks from an effect of German gas in the Great War. He was confined to hospital for nineteen days.

CASE DISMISSED

Mr. Justice Greene dismissed Wednesday afternoon the action against the city by Mrs. Rose Schweier, Wolfe street, for damages covering costs and injuries suffered in a fall on George street, near the former Tip Top Tailors store, north of Charlotte street, a year ago last winter.

OVERSEAS AGAIN.

Pilot Officer C. O. Simpson of Buckhorn is serving overseas for the second time with the R.C.A.F. After several months overseas, he had returned to Canada on furlough, and at the end of that time rejoined his squadron. Formerly employed at the Raybestos, he is the son of Theodore Simpson, Buckhorn.

UNFAMILIAR NAME.

St. Doug Newton, referred to in an R.C.A.F. story in Thursday's paper, is better known as Sgt. Jack Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Newton, 503 Stewart Street. His second name of Douglas is unfamiliar to Peterborough friends. The young airman went overseas last July and was wounded in March on his first operational flight. As far as his parents know, he is still in a convalescent hospital, although they have had no word from him direct for five weeks. The pilot of his crew writes to his parents in Peterborough, and in this way Mr. and Mrs. Newton have kept track of their boy.

Missed Drill Men Charged

Members of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve, faced as many as nine charges of failing to attend drills of the unit before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court this morning.

Some of the charges were withdrawn by Major V. M. Eastwood of the Rangers who prosecuted the cases.

Pte. J. H. Maloney, 16, pleaded guilty to five charges of missing drills and not guilty to two others.

It was announced that no evidence would be given in the two cases in which a plea of not guilty had been entered and that two other charges would be withdrawn.

Maloney was fined $5 and $2.50 costs with the alternative of seven days in jail on two charges to which he had pleaded guilty and Magistrate Baxter suspended sentence in the other three charges.

The accused was given until May 27 to pay the fines.

Pte. James W. Logan, 17, who pleaded guilty to five charges of failing to attend drill was fined $5 and $2.50 costs on two charges, $5 and $1 costs in a third case and in the remaining two sentence was suspended.

The $21 was paid.

Major Eastwood withdrew three other similar charges against the young soldier.

Charges of similar nature against Ptes. Harold Lester and Pte. S. E. Perrott were withdrawn. It was explained that these men were medically unfit and were being discharged from the unit.

Charges against J. C. Huggins of missing drills were also withdrawn. Huggins is now on active service and is stationed at St. John's, Quebec.

Pte. W. Taylor, 18, of Curve Lake, who pleaded guilty to five charges of failing to attend drill was fined $5 and $2.50 on the first charge and Magistrate Baxter suspended sentence in the other four. The alternative was seven days in jail.

"You sold your military greatcoat for $5 did you not"? asked Major Eastwood and Taylor answered in the affirmative.

Boat Upside Down

GANANOQUE, May 12.—(CP).—Ontario provincial police who discovered an upturned motorboat floating in the St. Lawrence river yesterday have started an investigation into the affair. It is believed William Hall, 36, and Gordon Gray, 37, farmers east of hs town were on a pleasure trip in the boat.

Ivan Fletcher Leaves Army

After two years of interesting experiences in the Army, Sgt. Ivan Fletcher, one of the originals of the Prince of Wales Rangers (C.A.) of whom there are only between 12 and 15 left in Canada, has been discharged. He is taking up his duties again as driver of the Keene bus.

Looking back to the time he enlisted in April, 1942, when the unit went active, Sgt. Fletcher has had no regrets except that over age barred him from going with his boys overseas. Except for the few still in Canada, all the others have been posted overseas as reinforcements. Men like Lieut. Allan Park, Cpl. Harold Corrigan, veterans of Italy fighting, now casualties were the men he enlisted with.

He's proud of the Rangers and the record ex-Rangers are piling up against the enemy. In his opinion, every young man should join the Army not only for patriotic reasons, but because it affords an unlimited opportunity of acquiring an education.

"I was in the transport work, and I thought when I enlisted I knew practically all there was to know about it. But I learned a lot and it is going to be valuable to me, now that I am back with my bus again. The Army now offers all kinds of courses, and many boys are receiving training, that they would never have had an opportunity to get any other way."

Fine Record

The Keene driver recalls with pride the record the transport division under Capt. Robert Juby, piled up in 1942, while Col. J. A. Dewart was O.C. of the Regiment. This division was rated the best in their part of the country in organizing transport and for their efficiency in maintenance. Sgt. Fletcher spent 1½ years with the Rangers and then was transferred to Barriefield.

His family backed him to the limit, Sgt. Fletcher said today. He had to give up some of his business when he enlisted, but a brother, carried on for him, at no small sacrifice to himself. His wife and three children, who have been living at Lakefield, are now moving back to Keene, and with summer practically here, his thoughts are turning longingly toward baseball. Before he joined the Army, he had been manager of the Keene Girls' Ball team. Roland Rennie, first R.C.A.F. casualty from Peterborough district, was a nephew.

Sgt. Fletcher pointed out that the Prince of Wales Rangers had contributed more men than most civilians recalled. The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, 4th anti-tank battery and 3rd Field Park Regiment recruited here and took the nucleus for their recruiting from the Rangers, then a reserve unit. When it was decided to make the Peterborough unit an active one, most of their men had been taken and a lot of recruiting took part in other section of Ontario.

For many years, Ivan Fletcher has been a well known figure in Peterborough and district, driving his bus, in spite of the weather, to keep up his schedule. His friends are glad to see him back.

May 24 Holiday For Schools?

To be or not to be—was the question facing Board of Education members about the 24th of May, on Thursday night. Their sympathies were strongly in support of the student bodies, wishing for a holiday, while they reluctantly came to the conclusion that the War Measures Act tied their hands.

"We might just as well give them the holiday, because they won't come anyway," D. V. Canning said chuckling reminiscently. "Last year only a few turned up."

"The Ontario Legislation says we can proclaim a holiday, why not disregard the War Measures Act? It's a Federal thing anyway and education comes under the Province," another urged.

In war time, the Federal War Measures Act supercedes anything else," W. Wilson Craw, chairman of the Board, declared.

"We could get around it by letting them come to school until 10 o'clock and then sending them home," it was suggested.

"There was never any question about it in my day," Fred Reed remarked. "It was a tradition that we celebrated the Queen's birthday on May 24. It was unheard of to think of breaking the rule. Besides, the government lets us have other holidays."

"The schools are under the jurisdiction of the governmental authorities, but I am a good deal more afraid of the opinion of those kids," T. J. Carley laughed. I'd rather take a chance and give them the day off. They'll take it anyway."

The Board meeting adjourned on the note that the War Measures Act reigned supreme, the bogey of Peterborough school children, who want the day to celebrate.

Movement Organized in Support Of Provincial Park In County

A small group of those interested in the establishment of a Provincial Park in Peterborough county, concerning which there have recently appeared a number of letters in the Examiner, both pro and con, held a meeting to discuss ways and means of furthering the project on Thursday evening.

All present were unanimous in the idea of working for a Provincial Park which would definitely not involve expropriation of any patented property within the proposed boundaries of the park. The idea of a Federal Park, involving expropriation of private property, is definitely abandoned. There should be no misunderstanding on the part of the public on this point.

Two resolutions were presented to the meeting and unanimously adopted. The first was to the effect that the meeting should call itself the "Peterborough County Provincial Park Association." The second resolution adopted had to do with the aims of objects of the association which were formulated as follows:

"Believing that the establishment of a Provincial Park in Peterborough county would confer a great and lasting benefit on the citizens of this county and city as well as on the province as a whole, this association is organized for the purpose of taking every legitimate action to bring this about. To this end it will particularly endeavor to obtain all possible information on the subject as well for people who oppose the idea as for those who favor it. It will endeavor to place this information before the citizens of the county and city in order that they may intelligently appraise the question."

The association will welcome to its membership all people who subscribe to these views and objects.

It was decided that it would be unfair to others interested to appoint any permanent officers from a small initial meeting. J. L. McKeever agreed to act as interim secretary until a larger meeting could be called which it is the intention to do in the very near future.

Those present were: Albert Nicholls, Bridgenorth; James Geraghty, Coleman Blewett, J. L. McKeever, H. J. McCannan, S. Tripp, Melville H. Johnston, J. G. Harkness, R. L. Hale, F. G. Marshall. Three others who were unable to attend were Fred Roy, James Gifford, Ennismore, and R. M. Glover.

Council Committees Given Run Around Tenants Full Of Promises—But Sit Tight

Two tenacious tenants of municipal property aroused both the parks and property committees of the city council Thursday afternoon to flourishing gestures of putting their foot down and demanding immediate vacancies.

It seems that after buying his land and buildings on Townsend street, John F. Allin asked for permission to leave his desk and chair in the office, temporarily and only until he could arrange for removal of his remnant possession. That was back in the season of ice and snow. Spring has come and the leaves are on the trees, and Mr. Allin is still coming down to the office as was his wont and habit.

Some time ago he agreed with Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Glover that he would pack up and be gone. It was quite agreeably arranged. But,—nothing has happened.

That incident was mentioned three or four times at the parks committee meeting, in assurance and protest, and in dark wonder that Mr. Allin was extending his tenancy to such length.

If milder measures continue unavailing, Alderman Curtis was authorized to resort to eviction by the method of changing the locks on the building.

The other tarrying tenant is H. W. Cooper, former foreman of the parks committee, who is still domiciled in the municipal residence at Nicholls Oval. With a series of picnics approaching at the Oval, and a change in foremanship, the committee is becoming concerned about its responsibility for providing usual accommodation for the public. Mr. Cooper has been ill for a considerable time, it was stated Thursday, and for that reason and because it was still winter he was permitted to remain in the house at the Oval.

The committee decided to write through City Solicitor Huycke demanding the keys of the house by June 1.

School Doctor Is Under Fire

Although the new woman doctor appointed by the Board of Education to carry on until the end of the term has only been working for a short time, her activities were questioned on Thursday night at the regular meeting of the Board of Education. In a tense atmosphere, members hurled questions back and forth, in an effort to run down complaints from ratepayers.

Fred Reed, started the ball rolling by asking for a progress report, declaring that he had had a number of complaints from parents, who questioned the wisdom of the Board in the appointment.

Inspector Keith Wightman reported that he did not feel capable of passing an opinion on medical work and had called upon Dr. C. M. Scott for a professional opinion.

Recognized Methods

Dr. Scott was the target for pithy questions from his colleagues, although all avoided specific references. He told the Board that he had watched the school doctor giving physical examinations, and he found that she was carrying out recognized methods in medical schools.

"She is capable of making a physical check up, but she has not yet learned her place as to diagnosis and treatment. Her job is to make the examination and report any defects to the family. That ends her responsibility.

"I have heard some criticisms, but I have told the nurses, and Inspector Wightman to give her a chance to see what she can do. She has only been appointed until the end of June and in all fairness she ought to be given a trial. Physical examinations are badly behind, and that is the only job she is undertaking."

Dr. Scott reminded the Board that he was not called on to defend the appointee, and pointed out that they were responsible for hiring her. At the time her application was accepted, there was little choice. The Board received an application from a woman physician qualified by the province to practice medicine, he continued, and although she had some peculiarities, that doesn't affect her qualifications.

Grant Allowance

Transportation allowance was discussed for Miss Eleanor Morrison, school nurse, who has been appointed until the end of June. She does not drive a car, but members felt she ought to receive the same consideration, as the others, so decided to allow her $15 a month.

Dr. Scott then asked about an allowance for Dr. Rea. It was pointed out that she was not going from one place to another like the nurse, but spent a half day at different schools.

"It is ridiculous to assert that there is a difference between nurses calls at the homes and those of the doctor at the schools," Dr. Scott maintained.

"There is a decided difference," T. J. Carley asserted. The nurses made 280 home visits during the past month.

Dr. Scott made a motion, which failed to find a seconder, that Dr. Rea be granted $10 a month for transportation expenses.

HE SURVIVED?

This is the strange story of a dynamite cocktail. It seems a local paint shop secured a lot of empty bottles, to use as turpentine containers. One painter, versed in economy, drained a few drops out of each so-called empty—there was white wine, red wine, rum, gin, rye, Scotch, creme de menthe and brandy. He salvaged about four ounces of liquid fire. This concoction reposed in the workshop until one day, one of the rubby-dub fraternity came begging money for a cup of coffee. They gave him a drink of the best they had, knowing, of course, that he didn't drink coffee. Then they shooed him away, expecting any moment he would start climbing the wall. It was three days before he returned seeking another drink. He didn't get it.

Mayor Hamilton Lauds Citizens

"I don't know what I can say beyond that I am delighted with the news from Mr. Matthews," said Mayor Hamilton this morning when he learned that Peterborough had gone past its Victory Loan objective and was going to make the most of these last days of the three week's campaign.

"The citizens, and of course that includes our country neighbours, have every reason to be proud of themselves," His Worship added. "It is really a grand feeling when you do a job thoroughly, no matter what it is. That is the way we all feel about this Victory Loan campaign, especilly when it is done promptly and with two days of grace."

Mayor Hamilton said the Loan total could be interpreted as a reflection of Peterborough's war spirit linked to the desire to put forth an extra effort to maintain the reputation of the city and county.

Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the earlier Victory Loan committees, said that apart from the patriotic aspect of investment and the determination of the people to stand behind the men of the armed forces, the public was more aware than ever of the advantage to themselves to transfer their funds into Government bonds as an increasing reserve for the period after the war.

Canvassers did not have to explain as much as in former Loans the details of Victory Loan investing, and to convince the public of the utmost safety of their money and also that it was the strongest form of credit that could be held for the years of returning peace.

Obituary

MRS. ARNOLD REYNOLDS.

The funeral of Mrs. Arnold Reynolds, the former Sophronia Marie (Preena) Brush, took place on Thursday afternoon, with services conducted at the residence, 438 George Street South, by Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church, in the presence of a large circle of relatives and friends. The wealth of floral tributes added further evidence of her popularity not only in this district, but also in Stratford, where she had gone to reside prior to her final illness.

Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery, and Rev. F. W. Craik conducted the graveside services.

Pall-bearers were: Roy Price, George O'Dette, Vert Reynolds, John Huggins, John W. Ashmore, Eric Lines.

Garden Supplies And Draw Aid War Victims

In the work that the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund endeavours to carry on, the products of the garden and farm have played quite a part in raising money to assist those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain, this in itself seeming to be a most fitting thing in a land blessed with a comparative plenty, when one considers the trials and difficulties that beset so many inhabitants of this earth, by reason of the scarcity that prevails in other parts of the globe.

For the past three weeks the stall made available to the fund by the city council has again been in operation, this Saturday past seeing Helen Dummitt and Janet Scott, two senior girls at King Edward School taking their turns as sales clerks, the sum total of their effort bringing over $18 to the fund which is listed in today's receipts.

Draw Nets $11.90

A large container holding almost a gallon of new maple syrup which had been donated by H. L. Garner proved quite an attraction as the prize for a draw, this realizing the nice sum of $11.90, and was won by Don Crawford with ticket No. 814 when the draw was made by Maher on Saturday afternoon. This would seem that Lady Luck was giving him some return for the interest he took as principal of the school from which the sales girls came, in going around to give them encouragement in their work on behalf of other less fortunate people.

In addition to this the sale of seeds, bulbs and plants added another $6.50 to the day's receipts, a number of clumps of Iris from the secretary of the fund's garden finding a ready sale, and eight out of nine packets of seed given by R. R. Ford were sold together with other of local production put up for the same purpose.

Playing quite a part in this also was a gift of 5 dozen gladiolus bulbs donated by Harold Ball, president of the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Association, who in conjunction with the Peterborough Aquarium Society are holding their annual show on August 16 and 17, from which the fund bids fair to profit in quite a substantial way.

This event last year was an eminent success in every way, so much so, that it has been enlarged to two days instead of one, attracting the favorable attention of the Canadian Gladiolus Society, and will this year be a focal point of interest for growers in many points of this province. In connection with this event, tickets are now on sale for ten prizes, five to be awarded each day for prizes donated by the ladies of the E.O.G. Society, W. E. Franks Furniture Store, Canada Packers Lt., Cripps Studio, J. Howard Hall, the W. M. German Nurseries, Nesbitt Funeral Co., N. T. Routley Grocery Store, H. S. Routley China Shop and the R. C. Braund Grocery Store.

Saturday's Market

The stall will again be in operation this Saturday with two senior girls from Central School through the kind arranging of the principal, F. H. Dearborn, acting as sales clerks, and there will be plants and seeds for sale, the entire returns of which will come to the fund. These will include some boxed plants a little out of the ordinary kind and include some triple crop climbing tomatoes, a few sweet tomatoes, some Godetia and snap dragons of the better kind.

Previously acknowledged	$75,056.86
Proceeds of draw on maple syrup, donated by H. L. Garner	11.90
Proceeds of sale of plants and seeds at market stall per Helen Dummitt and Janet Scott, sales clerks	6.50

Red Cross Nursing Reserve Gives 43 Women Certificates

Forty-three graduates of the Red Cross Emergency (Nursing) Reserve, in crisp, white uniforms, filed smartly into the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Thursday evening, for the presentation of their pins and certificates of identification. These graduates will be assisting at the hospitals and at the Blood Donors' Clinic, and will help, in a great measure, to relieve the critical shortage of nurses being experienced in Peterborough at the present time.

The presentations were made by Mrs. A. W. Ellis, president of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society. In her address, Mrs. Ellis told the group that they would be the hub of the peace-time work of the Red Cross, which would be just as heavy as the war-time duties. "The yardstick of Rred Cross is the yardstick of need," the speaker said, and explained that there was an unlimited field of endeavor open to the graduates.

Mrs. Ellis told the women that when they had earned the right to wear the Reserve pin, they would have to carry a special responsibility. They would be called upon to serve wherever there was need, and that their special training would be an invaluable aid in serving humanity. She also paid tribute to graduate nurses who helped to train the reserves, and who had given their time and efforts in demonstrations.

Important Job

Mrs. A. C. McKenzie, acting provincial leader of the Emergency (Nursing) Reserve, briefly outlined the work of the Reserve, in the cure and prevention of disease. She explained that Reserve members helped in giving the "patch" tests in high schools and also in hospitals. Another point she brought out was the work in Public Health, where help was given in community health planning. She urged the graduates to continue with their practice training, because something new could always be learned.

Mrs. J. H. Vernor, local officer in charge of the Emergency Reserve, outlined the progress of the course in Peterborough since its introduction in October, 1942. In her brief address, she paid tribute to the untiring work of the doctors and nurses who helped in the demonstrations, to the Y.W.C.A. for the use of the rooms, to the Girl Guides, for acting as "patients" for practical training, and to the graduates themselves, for their efforts to help, and their faithful work during the course.

On behalf of the executive of the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross, Mrs. R. Turner congratulated this first graduating class, and expressed the executive's thanks to all who had assisted during the course. Mrs. Turner introduced Mrs. Ellis, while Mrs. Vernor introduced Mrs. McKenzie. Mrs. Walter Perks moved the vote of thanks to the speakers and the soloist, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, sang "Floods of Spring." She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Musa Cox.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the presentations. The tea table was centred with a huge bouquet of white snapdragons, and fern, in a large silver basket. The two silver urns were placed at either end, and Miss Laura Davidson and Mrs. John Mills poured tea. Members of the executive served.

Those receiving certificates were: Mrs. J. C. Bailey, 19 Howden street; Mrs. L. Briggs, 197 Murray street; Mrs. Marjorie Delaney, 467 King street; Mrs. W. T. I.O.D.E. Planning Annual Carnival

Arrangements were begun for the carnival, being held, July 14 and 15, at the regular meeting of the 57th Regiment Chapter, I.O.D.E., Thursday afternoon in the Armouries. Announcement was also made of the annual flag-raising service being held May 24.

Reports of conveners during the business period showed that work was steadily continuing. Mrs. John Black reported 72 visits to the hospital. Mrs. P. D. Brown, war convener, said that 31 knitted articles and 104 pieces of sewing, in addition to 248 diapers, had been turned in. Mrs. R. G. Cottrell stated that 16 pairs of mitts had been made and sent to the corvette Peterborough.

The regent, Mrs. Chill Turner, gave a report on the annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E., held in Hamilton, and was asked to represent her Chapter at the annual meeting of the National I.O.D.E., which is also being held in Hamilton, May 31. Mrs. F. L. Thompson and Mrs. S. Hanlon were welcomed as new members.

Empire Study convener, Mrs. C. E. Newman, spoke briefly on that topic. The draw for the quilt was made at the close of the meeting, and Mrs. J. Watson, 29 Aberdeen avenue, was winner. Proceeds will be used for war funds.

Nurse Is Wed To G. A. Masters

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was decorated with pink snapdragons Thursday, for the marriage of Margaret McAuliffe, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McAuliffe, to George A. Masters, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Masters. Rev. J. Lynch officiated. Mrs. J. A. MacDonald played the wedding music, and accompanied Mrs. D. Campanero when she sang during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves coming to a point over each wrist. Her finger-tip veil of French tulle fell from a white satin halo, and she carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses. She wore a double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Miss Dorothy McAuliffe was her sister's bridesmaid, and wore floor-length sheer pink frock. Her shoulder-length veil of pink net fell from a pleated halo of matching material and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Mr. T. J. Miller was best man, and Mr. Fred Allison and Mr. Gerald Fleming were ushers

At the reception, held at Hooper's Palm Rooms, the bride's mother received in a navy blue gown, contrasting hat, and a corsage of sweet peas. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in navy blue and white, contrasting hat, and a corsage of sweet peas.

For a trip to Toronto and points west, the bride chose a luggage tan suit, with brown accessories.

Recent Bride Receives Gifts

Prior to her marriage on Thursday to Mr. George A. Masters, Miss Margaret McAuliffe, Reg. N., was entertained several times by her friends. Mrs. Gerald Fleming was hostess for a cup and saucer shower held at her home, and Mrs. W. Ferris and Mrs. S. Harris were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. W. Masters. The bride-elect was also guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Donald O'Connell.

Before his marriage to Miss Margaret McAuliffe, Mr. George Masters, who enters the R.C.A.F. on May 25, was presented with an end-table at a party given by his friends in the Induction Motors of the C.G.E. He was also presented with an identification bracelet by his fellow-employees of the Induction Motors department. The Inspection department of the C.G.E. gave him a travelling bag and an eversharp pencil.

Lynch-Nadeau Vows Pledged

A wedding of interest took place on Wednesday in St. Frances de Sales Church, Smiths Falls, when Lucile Nadeau, Reg. N., daughter of Mrs. Nadeau and the late Mr. Louis Nadeau, became the bride of Joseph G. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lynch of Peterborough. Rev Father LeSage officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. L. Nadeau, the bride wore a street-length dress of white silk jersey, with mauve flower hat She carried a nosegay of white carnations and mauve seet peas. Miss Madeline Nadeau, Reg. N., sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, in printed silk jersey in mauve and yellow tones, with matching yellow straw hat. She carried a nosegay of Talisman roses and mauve sweet peas. Mr. Michael R. Anglesey was best man.

Receiving the guests at the wedding breakfast was the bride's mother, in black crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a dress of mauve printed crepe, with navy accessories, and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

After the wedding breakfast, the young couple left for a trip to Montreal, the bride travelling in a blue printed silk jersey dress, grey coat, black accessories. On their return they will live in Belleville.

Mrs. C. Hartman Hostess To W.A.

BRIDGENORTH, May 12. — (ENS).—Mrs. C. Hartman was hostess for the regular meeting of the Bridgenorth W.A. On the motion of Mrs. M. Fowler it was decided to send flowers to very sick or hospitalized members, and cards to these less seriously ill. The cent-a-day offerings for April amounted to $15.17.

The devotional period was taken by Miss Lily May, who read the Scripture, Mrs. J. Johnston, who read the lesson thought, and Mrs. R. Peterson, who gave a reading on Faith and Hope. The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. F. Jopling, served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Fowler.

Personals.

Friends of Mrs. H. L. Jopling will be glad to know that she has returned to her home from the hospital, but is still confined to her bed.

Mr. William G. Heard recently celebrated her 81st birthday.

Navy Training Tough At Secret Base

BY ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A BRITISH NAVAL BASE, May 12 — (CP) — A bomb exploded below decks, fire broke out in the magazine and the ship's lights blinked off. Nearby vessels hunted submarines with Asdic apparatus while perspiring gun crews fired hundreds of rounds at air and surface targets.

It could have been any of countless actions during those grim days and nights of convoy battles—but these ships were riding at anchor. This was hard, practical training at a secret naval base, existence of which for four years has been one of the war's best-kept secrets.

The Admiralty, announcing the base as the starting point of the Battle of the Atlantic, revealed that such vessels as Corvettes, Frigates and Sloops—many of them Canadian-built and manned — steam here direct from shipyards and within three weeks each crew is moulded into a self-reliant fighting team.

Ships of all Allied nations have passed through the school. Recently, A Corvette sank a submarine just a week after its crew cleared the course.

In charge of the scheme is Commodore Sir Gilbert Stephenson, who as Commodore of convoys gained personal experience in the early days of the unceasing Axis attacks against Britain's Atlantic lifeline.

"We deal in fundamentals," he said simply. "Discipline, spirit and seamanship—no ship can get along without them. Then we add technical knowledge."

Italian Priest Says Mass For Canadians

By DOUG. HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

ORTONA, Italy, April 12 —(CP)— Pietro Tessauri talked about the Dioceses that were ravaged, the flock that was scattered in the fighting that brought Ortona and its countryside into Canadian hands.

Pietro Tessauri is Bishop of Ortona and Archbishop of Lanciano.

Today Bishop Tessauri can look north to where many of his flock are still behind German lines, south to where many fled and have remained refugees.

He can travel his dioceses from one end to the other and find not a single church without scars of the battle.

One, the church af San Donato on the coastal road from San Vito to Ortona, will become a Canadian Shrine and one of Bishop Tessauri's priests will say mass daily for the dead who lie in the Memorial cemetery now under construction behind it.

But it is Ortona's Cathedral—the Cathedral of St. Thomas the Apostle— that more than anything else signifies to the portly Bishop and his people the havoc that has come to their land. It was the burial place of the man who became known in religious history as Doubting Thomas because he scoffed at the story that the crucified Christ had risen. Dec. 21, 1943, the Germans mined the Cathedral.

It stands today with its dome open and naked and looks like an egg shell that has been broken in two. Rubble is piled high among its ruins. From the Sacristy, the only section still in use, an organ mourns.

HEADS DIVISION—Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, 36, of Vancouver, B.C., commands a division of the Canadian Corps in Italy. He succeeds Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Westmount, Que., who went to Britain to head the 1st Canadian Army. A captain five years ago, he is the only Canadian general in Italy who was not a member of the permanent force before the war.

Premiers Plan To Replace League Nations

LONDON, May 12—(CP)—Commonwealth prime ministers have discussed a plan for an international organization to replace the League of Nations and their discussions may be followed by talks between high-ranking representatives of the government of Britain, the United States and Russia on post-war peace machinery.

Probability of such tri-power meetings was made known yesterday by the official British spokesman on the conference. Meeting correspondents for the first time in a week, he also confirmed earlier reports that the British government wished to compare its views on post-war matters with the views of the overseas leaders.

To take account of the dominions' viewpoints, Britain may modify her post-war proposals but they will be presented as British views and not as a joint empire matter.

Since last December's Teheran conference, the British foreign office has been working on a plan for an international organization to replace the league in line with principles of the United Nations declaration which followed the conference.

These plans were explained to the dominions leaders by Foreign Secretary Eden who supplemented information already transmitted to the capitals of the dominions.

The prime ministers will consider the matter at another session when they have had time for more reflection and, perhaps, received the advice of experts.

The talks are expected to run into next week as they are somewhat behind schedule. The prime ministers have yet to consider such important questions as transport, immigration and inter-empire consultation.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

WIFE'S FIRST DUTY TO HER HUSBAND

Shouldn't Deprive Child of Father's Love To Please Pleading Mother.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am married to a man whom I love dearly and who loves me and is good, kind and considerate to me. But my mother hates him and is trying every way to make me leave him and come back to her. She says that I will never be happy with him, but I would if she would just let me alone. She says that I will never be happy with him, but I would if she would just let me alone. She says that if I come to her she will take care of my baby, and that I can go to work and have my own money to spend and be able to come and go as I please. She also says that if I don't leave my husband she won't have anything more to do with me.

I don't want to give up my home and my husband. Must I do so to please my mother?

UNHAPPY.

ANSWER—I should say not. Your first duty is to your husband and, as long as he is good and kind to you, you have no just cause for leaving him. Nor have you a right to deprive your baby of a father's love and care.

Furthermore, if you leave the husband you love just to please your mother, you will be a most unhappy woman and bitterly regret it. Mother love isn't going to take the place of a husband's love, and you will find mighty little pep in Mother's society compared to the companionship of your husband. More than that, no woman who has been at the head of her own house is ever satisfied to slip back into the subservient place of a daughter who has no authority in the household and must do as she is bidden.

To your surprise you will find that if you give in to your mother and do as she wants you to do, she will not be overjoyed at having you at home. As soon as she has accomplished her purpose of breaking up your home and separating you from your husband, she will begin to pity herself for having you thrown back on her hands and for having to take care of the baby and she will make things unpleasant for you.

I strongly advise you to tell your mother that you will not leave your husband and to implore her not to make trouble between you. She is certainly taking a bitter way to wreak her spite on your husband when she is willing to sacrifice you and your child to her enmity.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young girl in love with a married man who has children. He says that he does not care for his wife and that he cannot live without me. Do you think it would be right for me to break up his home?

E.M.R.

ANSWER—There is an awfully good way to settle such questions. Just try the Golden Rule on the situation and see how it pans out. You are young and pretty and slim. When you are stout and middle-aged and grizzled, do you think you would like to have some young girl come along and take your husband from you?

If you had married a poor man and had helped him build up his fortune, wouldn't you feel that when prosperity did come you had a right to share in it? If you had children, would you want their father to desert them?

Just treat this other woman as you would want some other woman to treat you. That is the answer to every woman who is in love with a married man.

DEAR MISS DIX—My sister, who is 17, often expresses the desire to go out and get drunk in order to see how it feels. I am afraid harm will come to her as she runs with a wild gang. Shall I tell our father,

JOSIE T.

ANSWER — Telling your father wouldn't do much good. He would forbid her to do it and that would probably make her all the more determined to do it. She would get an extra kick out of it on account of it being a bit more dangerous, hence a greater adventure.

If your sister goes on her planned drunk and wakes up the next morning with a splitting headache and a dark brown taste in her mouth, she may be convinced that there are no thrills in it and will be ready to sign the blue-ribbon pledge.

It Didn't Rain

DECATUR, Ill., May 12 — (AP). — The sun shone brightly in Decatur most all day Wednesday, but it was a rather gloomy day for 83-year-old Cal Waggoner, the city's May 10 rain-maker. Not a drop of rain fell during the day and Waggoner's prediction of rain on May 10, a forecast he has been making for 39 years and backing it up with small wagers, failed. He said he had won bets 30 of the 38 years he had predicted rain for May 10.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 13

A PARTICULARLY unique or exceptional turn of affairs, probably born of a brilliant idea may make this day an outstanding one in the course of events. Should such intuition or premonition be followed to its inspired conclusion there should be no limit to the success, happiness or public token of appreciation in sight. While the urge to innovation or stepping out into fresh pastures may seem radical and promise gratifying culminations, unless there be stability, good sense and practical ways and means of carrying such programs out, there may be disagreeable conflicts or opposition intended to thwart or dissuade. Be prudent, firm and adhere to such revelation or singular prompting. Be wise in personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of the unique, spectacular or mystifying, in which extraordinary inspirations, leads or intuitions may trend into untrodden adventures and experiences. Should these be from truly inspired sources, and backed up by wisdom, prudence and practical ways and means of accomplishment, there may be surprising denouement, giving gratification as well as some measure of public approbation or rewards from those in influential positions. In domestic, social and affectional relations be especially discreet and practical.

A child born on this day may be endowed with exceptional creative talents, with strange faculties or emotional urges, expressed in poetry, music, art, drama, or other unique professions.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

A very smart late spring costume, one you would wear after the spring coat and suit can be put aside is the trim black or navy dress, very tailored with a square neckline, around which is worn a white colar. The dress, otherwise, perfectly plain, has a peplum on it. With this wear small white straw hat with rather a high crown, its only trimming being a band and bow of narrow black corded ribbon. As the sleeves are three-quarter length and have narrow white cuffs to match the collar, you will wear a pair of black gloves and black shoes and carry white purse. With this hat you may wear a black veil if you like veils, but, if not, it is very smart without one.

Crisp cottons and rayons go everywhere this season, off to the market, to business, or to the classes. They're so versatile, adroitly coupling simplicity ith a touch of sophistication. The moment you look at them and see their cool, clean freshness, their sunny colors and the exciting new printed effects, you will want right away to get out your needle and thread and start sewing. There are so many beautiful goods to choose from, the printed batistes, flowery printed sheers, rayon seersuckers, printed piques, palm ginghams, and dozens of others, that I have not the space to tell you about them. White is also going to be very much in the fashion picture a little later on. You will see the dotted swiss, white broadcloth, white sharkskin, pique and poplin, all coming back again, made up in the one-piece suit effect or the two-piecer. The peek-a-boo mesh is another of the new goods much in evidence. When you have seen these breezy mesh fashions, you will at once wish that summer would hurry and come. This fabric has a cool charm that will make you feel as if you had shed pounds of stuffy clothing when you slip into a dress made of it. The sparkling, vivacious shades or the more delicately muted tones are delightful color backgrounds for these ice-cool prints. The styles in which these dresses are shown made up are very simple, because in order to show the goods to best advantage, the style must be plain. Novel pockets, pretty buttons, smart-vestee or bows of the same material are all the trimmings these dresses need. The hats worn with these will be very plain but large of brim, but to those who go without hats in the summer, I want to say a word. To be dressed in good taste you must wear something on your head. If it is not a hat, it will be a pretty bunch of colored flowers, colorings to match the dress. Remember, girls, do not neglect to wear a head or a hair decoration of some kind this summer, that is, if you want to be dressed right up to the minute, for so says Dame Fashion.

IN MEMORIAM

WATSON—In loving memory of Samuel Watson who passed away May 12, 1939.
The rolling stream of life rolls on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
—Ever remembered by Myrtle and Jacqueline.

HEWITT—In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, Thomas Hewitt who passed away May 11, 1934.
Till memory fades and Life departs you live,
Forever in our hearts.
—Ever remembered by Wife and Family.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. J. B. Williams who passed away, May 12, 1941.
May brings sad memories
Of our dear Mother gone to rest,
Who will always be remembered,
By those who loved her best
Her life was a beautiful memory
Her death a silent grief
She never could forget
Her thoughts were all so full of us
And so we think that where she is
She must be watching yet.
We do not forget her we loved her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely.
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
—Mrs. F. Mortimer and Family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards wish to thank the attending doctors, Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, and employees of Canada Packers for their loyal support, also relatives and friends for their many kindnesses during his illness.

As an employee of the Peterborough Lumber Co. I take this opportunity of showing my appreciation to the same, including the office staff, for the war bond they presented to me at the draw at the plant.

Jockey Club Head A. E. Dyment Dies

TORONTO, May 12.—(CP).—Albert Edward Dyment, 75, past president of the Ontario Jockey Club and former chairman of the Canadian General Electric Company, died to-day in hospital here.

Mr. Dyment had been a hospital patient for about two years except for a brief interval.

He was Liberal Member of Parliament for Algoma from 1896 to 1908

Mr. Dyment was a former president of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association and his Brookdale Stable was long prominent on the Canadian turf, his entries winning the historic King's Plate on four occasions, in 1903, 1904, 1912 and 1921.

Born at Lynden, in Wentworth county, Ont., he married Edith Chapman daughter of Albert Chapman of London, Ont., in 1892 and they had one daughter.

He was clark in his father's lumber business at Thessalon and Algoma in Northern Ontario from 1889 to 1902 when he became a partner in the firm. He later formed a partnership at Toronto and became a member of the Toronto Stock Exchange. He became chairman of the board of the Canadian General Electric Company in 1925 and held directorships in numerous other financial and industrial institutions including the Royal Bank and the Canadian Marconi Company.

Amazing Total Of $289,250 Brightens Victory Loan Picture

Certainty of success began to gleam Thursday night through the columns of figures compiling the official accounting of Peterborough's investments for sixteen of the eighteen days of this Sixth Victory Loan campaign.

Total subscriptions for the day reached the splendid, almost amazing sum of $289,250, and if there was any transient doubt of the city and county weakening at the climax of the drive for 4,500,000, the reassuring answer was sounded by comparison with Wednesday's swelling total of $262,450.

Hitting the hundred per cent. seemed assured last night, probably even before Saturday, if the present volume of investing rolls along to Saturday night.

The four main divisions of the local organization reported their Thursday returns as follows:

Payroll Savings	$143,650
City Canvass	59,800
Special Names	50,000
County Canvass	35,800
Total	289,250

The grand total for the sixteen days boiled over into the $4,000,000 brackets Thursday for $4,253,600, only $246,400 under the $4,500,000 quota which was assigned to the Peterborough Loan unit, comprising city and county.

And it may be pointed out that this $246,400 is considerably less than the respective totals for these last two days. At that, it looks in the bag.

The position of the Loan total for sixteen days as indicated in the percentage column was 94.52 as against the required 88.88 at the close of Thursday.

The big surprise of Thursday was the six-figured sum reported, from the payroll savings section, including the local armed forces and civil servants, for $143,650. That raises their total to $912,050 or 96.01 per cent. of their $950,000 quota. It seems worth mentioning again that the solid foundations upon which Peterborough's investment ascended to that 94.52 per cent. at the end of sixteen days was laid by the payroll savings sections. That division came through yesterday with another huge investment that was just as opportunely helpful and stimulating as the recent substantial aid from "special names" when it might have been expected that the drive might slow down and lag along during this third week.

Meanwhile special names came through again Thursday while the city and county general canvass were holding the rest of the line of action and advance, especially the townships and villages, which collectively have accumulated $555,900 or 92.65 per cent of their $600,000 objective, with two days to go.

The farmers of Smith township barged their way into first place with subscriptions amounting to $18,050, for a total of $108,050, or 120.06 per cent. of their $90,000 objective.

North Monaghan moved up their score from 111.75 per cent. to 114.5, but it was not enough to meet the Smith challenge which thrust Dummer out of the top notch and down to third place with Havelock the fourth over century line. A late report from Reeve Gifford of Ennismore claimed a total beyond the 100 per cent. mark, but the news arrived too late for inclusion in the day's reports.

Belmont-Methuen is apparently going over before the campaign concludes. The far eastern townships were showing 97.8 per cent. of their quota with two days to go, and several of the other rural municipalities were also edging up full accomplishment in the long grind.

Survey of County

Ennismore led the rural division Thursday by pushing their percentage up from 66.25 to 90.42 (as officially reported last night and their total subscription up from $7,950 to $10,850.

Smith's percentage advance, already mentioned, was 15.12.

Lakefield was up 8.18 points from 65.82 to 74 per cent. Their $4,500 investment increased their total from $36,200 to $40,700.

Douro reported $2,250, advancing their total from $26,400 to $28,650 and their percentage from $75.43 to 81.86, a gain of 6.43.

Norwood moved up to the 90 per cent. level from 84.14 for 5.95 points and in investment from $48,500 to $52,250, an increase of $3,450.

The northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther turned in $2,250, showing an advance from $31,050 to $33,300, and in percentage from 69 to 74, a margin of 5 points for the day.

Belmont-Methuen, mentioned above reached 97.8 per cent from 81.6 per cent, a long stride of 16.2 points, and their total was up from $24,450 from $20,400. Their quota is $25,000.

North Monaghan's return for the day was $1,100, bringing them to $45,800 or 114.5 per cent of their quota, a 2.75 point gain in percentage.

Asphodel reported sales of $1,500 up to $26,650, or 70.13 per cent. of their objective, a gain of 3.95 from Wednesday's 66.18.

Havelock and Otonabee were not heard from Thursday.

Dionne Quints Ten This Month

TORONTO, May 12—(CP)—Mrs. Oliva Dionne of Callander, Ont., mother of the quintuplets who will be 10 this month, said Wednesday she has seen pictures of the Argentine quints and "they are beautiful children."

In Toronto with her 15-year-old daughter, Theresa, Mrs. Dionne is on her way to officiate at the Mother's Day christening Sunday of a Liberty ship at Superior, Wis., where her five little girls previously christened five freighters.

Through an interpreter, Mrs. Dionne speaking French expressed keen interest in the Argentine quints whose birth was made public only when they were eight months old. She wondered how their parents had managed to keep the birth secret for so long.

Mrs. Dionne reported that her quints are tall and healthy, making good progress in school and helping with the housework in the family's new 25-room house.

Theresa said the quints "get along fine with the rest of us."

There are seven other children in the Dionne family.

Professor Leaves

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP) — Professor E. K. Brown, former member of the University of Toronto English staff and winner of the 1943 Governor-General's award for academic non-fiction, has been appointed English professor at the University of Chicago, it was learned here yesterday.

For the past four years Dr. Brown has been head of the English Department at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

Radio Speech Breaks Tradition

LONDON, May 12—(CP Cable)—The tradition against broadcasting from the Houses of Parliament, broken first in 1942, was shattered again today when Prime Minister Mackenzie King's address to a joint meeting of the House of Lords and House of Commons was broadcast and recorded for world transmission.

Mr. King spoke in the royal gallery of the Palace of Westminster, an imposing hall 110 feet long which forms part of the Houses of Parliament and through which the Sovereign passes on his way to the House of Lords.

For Prime Minister Churchill, who introduced the Canadian Prime Minister, it was the second broadcast from the hall. When Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa spoke from there Oct. 21, 1942, Mr. Churchill introduced him and their speeches went over the air.

Mr. King's speech will be translated into more than 25 languages for transmission to people in allied, neutral and enemy countries.

Nest Gives Trouble

NAPLES, May 12—(AP).—Returning from a raid on the Balkans, the pilot of a U.S. Liberator complained that the ailerons were functioning so badly he had great difficulty in bringing the big plane home safely. The ground crew searched futilely for the trouble, but it was some time before they found the answer — a bird had crawled through an inspection hole, built a nest and laid an egg there, interfering with the controls.

Wins Medal?

CALCUTTA, May 12—(CP)—Cpl. DEFENSE HAS TO GUESS

IT WOULD be interesting to see a compilation, based carefully on some big tournament, which would indicate how many defeatable contracts get made just because the defenders do not have X-ray eyes. Some great percentage of made contracts would be beaten if the opponents only knew the exact situation. No matter how able they may be, there is nearly always some element of guess in their efforts.

Scoring the club K, West followed with the A for South to ruff. The heart Q was won by the K and the spade 9 return by the K. South led the heart J then to the A, and East gave South a diamond to the A. A spade to the A settled the defenders' trumps, and two established hearts were scored, for discards of the diamond 2 and—just for fun—the diamond A. Trumps, of course, finished the hand.

What an easy thing it would have been to beat that contract if West had seen fit to lead a diamond at the start, or if East had played the 2 on the club lead instead of the 7 and thereby caused a switch to a diamond. It would have changed the entire timing of the hand. If South then tried to set up a heart for a diamond discard, he would have got started too late in the process. East should have won the first heart and returned his second diamond. Then, when West won the second heart, he could have cashed the diamond trick which would set the contract.

The entire fate of this hand depends on how soon diamonds get led against South.

Cattle Prices Higher, Trade Active

TORONTO, May 12 — (CP). — Prices for cattle were 15 to 25 cents cwt. higher in active trade on the Live Stock Market here this week. Veal calves, hogs, sheep and lambs were unchanged.

Packers' coolers were fairly well cleared of beef last week-end and demand for live cattle was keen from the opening. The moderate supply on the yards was cleared by the close. Weighty steers reached a top $13 for a few choice with others from $12.50 downward. Butcher steers were $10.50 to $12 and heifers $11.75 down. Butcher cows brought $7.50 to $9.50. Canners and cutters were $5 to $7.25. Bulls sold at $7 to $9.25 and fed yearlings at $12 to $13.50. Short keep feeding steers brought $11 to $11.25. Ordinary stockers brought $8 to $11 cwt. Milkers and springers were slow sellers at from $65 to $140 each.

Good and choice veal calves sold at $13.50 to $15. Common to medium Easterners were plentiful at $6 to $12 cwt.

No hogs were admitted to the yards until after Tuesday. Prices on the following run were steady at $17.65 for Grade A and $17.25 for B. Sows were $13 dressed. Direct prices for off-truck hogs were $17.55 to $17.65 for Grade A. Estimated 700 hogs were unsold at the close.

One car of Western lambs and a few good locals sold at $14.25. Other Ontario lambs brought $9 to $14 cwt. Good spring lambs sold in small numbers at $16 cwt. The few sheep offered were sold at from $2 to $6 cwt., according to quality.

in the mountains," Associated Press War Correspondent Sid Feder said in a dispatch from an advanced Allied 5th Army post.

Wounded began returning to front-line hospitals, he said, shortly after the assault began.

Five thousand rounds of artillery fire were arched on one small sector in an hour, Feder said, adding that the fire covered the area so completely that the enemy did not respond with a single round until an hour and a half after the first shots were fired "in the dark of the moon."

All correspondents on hand as the Allied artillery opened up agreed that the weight of fire topped anything they had yet seen.

The Gustav Line faced what has been the Allied 5th Army's main front—stretching from the mouth of the Garigliano to Italy's central mountains.

Last week an official Allied announcement said it had been reported that the Germans had evacuated all civilians from a belt 20 miles deep beyond this section of the battle line.

This measure and the flooding of the Pontine Marshes on the right flank of the Allied Anzio beachhead were taken to be a precaution against an Allied offensive aimed at joining the main line and beachhead forces—and eventually driving the enemy from Rome.

He ordered the crew to open their parachutes out the waist windows and this slowed down the big bomber sufficiently to permit a landing.

Aussie Motion Defeated At I.L.O. Meeting

By C .R. BLACKBURN, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12—(CP)—Australia's resolutions calling upon the United and Associated Nations to hold a general conference in the near future on employment and unemployment problems, has been carried without opposition in the committee on future policy of the International Labor Conference.

But the Australian Government delegation's efforts to obtain a clear-cut declaration of the National and International obligation of member governments to adopt such measures as would ensure a high level of employment was defeated after a spirited argument.

This latter effort was embodied in a substitute motion to that of the United States Government delegation embodying "proposed resolutions concerning social provisions of the peace settlement."

This resolution would declare that each member government "recognize its duty to maintain a high level of employment" and should adopt measures designed to achieve that end.

The Australian alternative to this would declare that member governments accept the establishment of high employment levels as national obligations to themselves and international obligations to other governments.

The Australian substitute was defeated by a show of hands 22 to 17 at the conference late last night. The United States resolution was adopted by a vote of 46 to 3, and the Australian resolution for the calling of an international conference on employment carried 27 to nothing with many abstentions.

The Canadian delegates did not take any part in the discussion nor did they vote on any of the questions.

engineers prepared for months past and strengthened to the utmost and which Hitler's troops will be ordered to hold to the last man. The defences we now are attacking are the strongest the British Army has encountered in the present war.

Expect Tough Battle

"Thus our progress must not be judged in terms of an advance of so many miles but by the successive defence lines we break through and the strongpoints we capture. Our success will only be achieved through a series of hard-fought encounters in which the infantry will have strong artillery and armored support and the backing of the powerful British and American air force."

The General, who met correspondents in a natural outdoor amphitheatre beside his tactical headquarters, spoke of the period just ended when the 8th was moving in beside the 5th on this front.

"During recent months the 8th Army, while holding a considerable sector of the front, also has been taking over a new and more extended line and has been regrouping," he said.

Fresh Formations

"Certain formations, formerly part of the 8th Army, now have returned under the command and fresh formations have been absorbed.

"The army thus has been training and preparing for the new attack, divisions have been rehearsing their roles and considerable reserves of stores and supplies, which will be required in the battle, have been built up.

"Now the 8th is on the right flank of the 5th Army about to launch an attack on the Gustav line, its leading formations in the assault including British, Dominion, Indian and Polish formations."

Successes, he said, must be measured sanely, for he left no doubt he expected a grim, hard, and possibly costly, struggle.

The Germans facing the 5th and 8th armies are first-class, battle-experienced troops with tremendously strong natural defence. Before the war, students at the Italian staff college came to the Cassino area to study the "perfect" defensive position.

Mountain Country

The whole terrain is marked by high mountain peaks— miniature Rockies—from which the Germans control the valleys below. Rivers and wadis for natural barriers to tanks and have been reinforced by the finest obstacles German engineering genius could construct.

There can be no comparison between this assault and earlier ones against the same positions. The forces involved are far greater and better-equipped; the winter rains have ceased and the ground is dry and dusty.

The two Allied armies are marching on distant Rome, their effort co-related, and one knows what the other is doing. This is in every sense an Allied assault. Spectacular victories must not be looked for though they may come. Every soldier in the line to-day knows his task won't be easy.

that coastal observers estimated it represented the greatest armada ever sent out by the R.A.F. bomber command.

The first reports on the Canadian part of the attack termed it a "large force."

Planes were heard leaving Britain shortly after midnight, only a few hours after light bombers ended the greatest day of railway attacks which struck at least 24 marshalling yards and railway centres on the invasion coast of France.

Channel reports said the sky seemed alive with planes and explosions from the Boulogne and Calais area during the night rocked the English coast. This was followed by the noise of explosions further inland.

The force of the blow on Boulogne was so great that reverberations from the high explosives rattled windows and dishes on the English side of the Channel.

Endless Line

English Channel coast observers reported that Allied planes streamed across the Channel during the morning in an almost endless procession and that the brief silence between contingents now was more impressive than the almost uninterrupted roar.

The daylight operations carried on the campaign which in the previous 24 hours saw 40 railroad centres of the vital Nazi transportation system bombed by some 7,000 tons of explosives dropped from 4,000 warplanes.

The German radio reported that "strong enemy bomber formations" were over western Germany at noon and "approaching southwestern Germany."

At noon Channel observers reported "terrific crashes" again being felt from France.

"People are keeping all of their doors and windows open to prevent them being broken because the vibrations are so heavy," one observer said, adding that "so many planes are going out and coming back that the sky is throbbing with the pounding of their engines."

Upset Gunners

Describing the assault on Boulogne, one R.A.F. pilot said the first bombs hit so solidly that the city's anti-aircraft batteries were disrupted and fired erratically through the clouds of smoke and dust rolling up from the blasted railyards.

"We were about 10 miles from Bologne when the whole sky suddenly was illuminated by a great flash," another pilot said. "Ten seconds later everything was black again. After we bombed and were on our way there was another similar flash"—indicating some kind of explosive stores were touched off.

While the several-pronged R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attack was concentrating on Boulogne, Louvain and unspecified anti-invasion targets other British planes laid mines in enemy territorial waters.

The German radio reported "heavy air battles" over the Rhine and Moselle rivers where fighter and bomber formations slashed into Southwest Germany, and said the attackers were suffering "considerable losses."

Allies Meet Strong Opposition

NAPLES—(AP).—Allied 5th and 8th Armies made satisfactory progress across Italy today, punching deep holes in stiff defences of the Garigliano valley. French capture of Monte Faito was heralded a major victory. Allied planes dominated the air, meeting no opposition as they riddled rail lines and harbors.

Canada's Loan Over The Top By 11 Million Dollars
Record Total Figure Likely

OTTAWA, May 13—(CP).—Canada's Sixth Victory Loan today passed its minimum objective of $1,200,000,000 with a margin of $11,475,100 to spare. The total announced early today at national loan headquarters—$1,211,475,100—was approximately $2,500,000 above the amount reached on the corresponding date of the Fifth Loan. The Sixth Loan total still requires another $172,000,000 to equal the final figures reached in the previous campaign six months ago.

Yesterday's sales, which put the total past the minimum objective, amounted to $74,735,000.

Individual Canadians had their biggest day yesterday when their purchases totalled $38,060,400, while the large buyers bought $36,674,600 in bonds. The number of sales is also up. Yesterday, a total of 176,478 applications were received, bringing the number for the loan to 2,312,206. This compared with 2,127,000 applications at the same stage of the Fifth Victory Loan.

Five Canadian provinces now are above their minimum objectives. Yesterday, Manitoba and New Brunswick reported simultaneously that they had reached their quota. This morning, British Columbia and the Yukon telegraphed loan headquarters that they had gone over the top on Friday with every department exceeding quota. The overall investment in British Columbia at Friday noon was $124,903,400, being 104 per cent. of the minimum objective. Individuals and armed forces in British Columbia purchased $50,249,800 as a result of 240,850 applications for 102 per cent. of the $49,000,000 objective.

The only provinces still to attain their minimum objectives are Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario.

Soldiers Do Well.

A highlight of the Sixth Victory Loan campaign, which began April 24, has been the showing made by the armed forces, whose purchases as reported last night amounted to $43,202,600— well above Fifth Victory Loan figures.

Latest of the three services to pass the last loan mark, the R.C.A.F., with every command "over the top" is heading toward a $16,000,000 mark, with all previous Victory Loan records shattered.

R.C.A.F. subscriptions so far reported are $15,481,950, or 147 per cent of the original $10,500,000 objective. In the Fifth Victory Loan the R.C.A.F.'s final figures were $15,021,550.

Men and women of the Canadian Army at home and overseas have reached 166 per cent of their original objective if $13,750,000. A total of 242,463 buyers have invested $22,863,300, compared with $18,350,000 in the last loan. Overseas troops to the number of 114,094 have bought $9,926,900 for 265 per cent of their quota.

Chinese Forces Surge Forward

KANDY, Ceylon, May 13—(CP)—Chinese forces have opened what appears to be a major drive on the North Burma Japanese bases of Kamaing, Mogaung and Myitkyina, attacking along a two-mile front with tank, dive-bomber and artillery support, it was announced today.

The new offensive was launched more than a mile south of Malakawng on the south bank of the Kwelon River and west of the Mogaung River. Several Japanese antitank guns were knocked out in the early phases of the offensive.

An official announcement said Chinese advance columns holding Manpin, east of the Mogaung River and only 10 miles north of the Japanese base of Kamaing, had repulsed an enemy attack on their position after inflicting considerable casualties, including two Japanese commanders.

Another force driving on Myitkyina from the north was reported to have penetrated the perimeter of Japanese defences about Tiangzup, strong outpost about 40 miles north of Myitkyina.

Considerable progress was reported to have been made by another Chinese column in the Mogaung area.

LONDON, May 13 — (CP) — A strong force of German E-boats concentrated in the English Channel about 25 miles southeast of the Isle of Wight was scattered by the French destroyer La Combattante early today after an engagement in which one E-boat was sunk and another damaged, the Admiralty announced.

"The remainder of the enemy force escaped at high speed under cover of smoke," the announcement said, adding that the destroyer, which suffered neither damage nor casualties, picked up a number of survivors.

Member Resents Smearing
Chairman Rules Article Not To Be Read

OTTAWA, May 13 (CP)—G. E. Wood, Liberal member of the Commons for Brant, said yesterday he thought "the press should recognize that members of parliament and other citizens have the same rights and privileges, and they should not be accused of smearing because they see fit to criticize the unethical action of certain gentlemen who saw fit to desert the war front at a time of crisis and join a particular political party."

Mr. Wood made the statement after being prevented by a committee chairman's ruling from reading an editorial which he said appeared in the Ottawa Journal April 26.

He said he believed the editorial referred to Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, former chairman of the National War Labor Board, and Henry Borden, a former executive on the Prices Board. Mr. Justice McTague resigned recently and was appointed national chairman of the Progressive Conservative party. Mr. Borden was also appointed to executive post in the party.

Mr. Wood said the editorial referred to "a campaign that was under way to smear two gentlemen who had held high offices in this government."

The newspaper saw fit to publish this editorial which said this smearing should be stopped before it even started," said Mr. Wood.

Allied Fliers Dominate Italian Skies
German Air Power Non-Existent As Attack Starts

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Italy, May 13—(AP).—The Italian arm of Reichmarshal Goering's once-vaulted air force lay dormant all day yesterday as Allied aircraft flew out in nearly 3,000 sorties in support of the new Allied ground offensive.

Not a single German fighter plane rose to challenge the raiders during the dawn to dusk attacks. One was sighted but it fled.

Despite bad weather, the Allied bombers and fighters pounded communications, roads and air fields throughout Italy during the day in an intensified isolation campaign aimed at blocking supplies and reinforcements from the enemy's Gustav line.

Some medium and fighter-bombers blasted bridges, guns and enemy troops just behind the enemy lines while fighters maintained combat patrols.

Meanwhile heavy bombers struck as far north as Genoa.

From all the extensive operations, 18 Allied planes failed to return. They apparently were victims of anti-aircraft fire.

In addition to the attempt to throw a blockade over the enemy's land supply lines Allied airmen redoubled their punches at the Axis sea arteries.

Harbors Battered

Harbors at Piombino and San Stefano were hit by heavy bombers during the day and the targets suffered an attack from R.A.F. Wellingtons during the night. The latter also bombed Porto-Ferraio, on Elba.

Mediums attacked gun positions and enemy troops near Pastena while others battered targets around Atina. Spitfires in sweeps over the Yugoslav coast damaged four ships, two bridges, blasted a motor transport and a bivouac area. During the previous night Beaufighters shot down an HE-111 off Marseille, the MAAF said.

Fighters had a big day, cutting the main and alternate Florence-Rome railway at 28 places, destroying or damaging three bridges, an overpass, and slashing other railroads. Other fighter-bombers divided their time between attacking frontal troop concentrations, gun positions and transportation routes.

One special objective of the practical air force operations during the day were high-ranking enemy officers. Their headquarters, command posts and bivouac areas were blasted and strafed in at least six different instances.

17 American Sailors Perish In Explosion

BOSTON, May 13 (AP)—A naval court of inquiry today began investigating cause of an explosion and fire aboard a navy lighter about 14 miles northeast of Boston harbor Thursday afternoon which is believed to have cost the lives of 17 American sailors.

First naval district headquarters said that an enlisted man died of burns and that 16 others were reported missing. Thirteen officers and men were rescued.

The lighter was dumping old and condemned ammunition from the Hingham depot when a "terrific whoosh" shook the 132-foot self-propelled vessel.

The vessel sank 35 minutes after the first explosion.

As flames scorched the shattered lighter a navy weather vessel 2,000 yards away started to the rescue.

Naval authorities said only four of the lighter's regular crew were rescued and one was the enlisted man who died.

Members Agree Press Fair Across Canada

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA, May 13 —(CP)— The Commons yesterday turned from a toilsome four days with the intricacies of the Bank Bill to brisk discussion of newspaper, censorship and films.

The day started with protestations from some members that a wrong impression had been given by a published item which left the impression that they owed money to the king's printer.

Later discussions dealt with whether the press of Canada was free or not, whether dispatches sent from province to province should be checked and whether newspaper reports were "colored."

The House concluded examination of War Services Department war estimates of $16,494,804. Justice Department war estimates will come up for examination Monday.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said an item carried in an Ottawa newspaper (Journal) and broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation gave a wrong impression some House members, including himself, were in debt to the king's printer. The bills were paid as rendered.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, read a telegram from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative Prime Minister, who said he had never heard of a bill he was alleged to owe the king's printer.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 — (CP) — Jobs for all who are fit to work and security for those who because of disability and other reasons beyond their control cannot work, are among the high aims of the International Labor Conference which ended its sessions here last night.

Those aims were the animating influence of the large Canadian delegation, Labor Minister Mitchell said here today. "But", he added, we know we must have international cooperation to accomplish this."

That is the only part of the ambitious program launched at this first annual conference of the International Labor Organization since the war interrupted their yearly Geneva assemblies after the 1939 meeting.

The conference which ended at eight o'clock last evening adopted resolutions which together from a plan which if put into operation by all nations would spell the end to poverty and insecurity.

The resolutions adopted and recommended to the 43 member nations and to all nations, would require every government to dedicate itself to measures which would

750 Bombers Smash Louvain City
150 Enemy Planes Knocked Down U.S. Force Loses 52

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 13—(AP)—German broadcasts said strong American bomber formations thrust as deep as the Berlin area amid heavy air battles this afternoon in the 29th day of non-stop aerial offensive.

Mentioning the invasion officially for the first time in a communique, the German high command declared the "persistent and strong attacks by British-American bombers against occupied western territories may be regarded as preparatory to invasion."

Waves of medium and light aircraft began the new day's assaults Behind the Atlantic wall in precision attacks at French rail centres—the same targets against which the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. threw up to 750 bombers last night in raids on the Belgian railway cities of Louvain and Hasselt and other objectives in France and northwest Germany.

German broadcasts said today's bomber formation attacks developed into heavy air battles over north and northwestern Germany.

Although it cost Hitler 150 of his frontline fighters trying to keep the 8th Air Force off his synthetic oil factories in Germany yesterday, R.A.F. crews said the Germans put up more night fighters last night than they had seen in some time.

Fourteen of the possibly 750 British bombers dispatched last night failed to return—about the same loss suffered by forces of similar strength Wednesday and Thursday nights.

The R.A.F. night attack was a quick follow-up to a smash assault by 2,000 bombers and fighters on five big Nazi synthetic oil plants.

Hasselt Also Hit

Louvain, about 18 miles east of Brussels, was hit heavily by British bombers Thursday night. in the campaign to paralyze German military communications. Hasselt, about 30 miles east of Louvain, was visited yesterday by Thunderbolts and fighter-bombers of the U.S. Ninth Air Force aiming at railroad bridges.

The Paris radio, quoting Brussels reports, said the Louvain Cathedral was almost completely destroyed in yesterday's attack and other severe damage was caused in the city.

The Berlin radio claimed the Americans lost 95 aircraft, including 86 big bombers in yesterday's attacks. A U.S. strategic air force communique stated officially that 42 heavy bombers, and 10 fighters were lost and claimed destruction of 150 enemy aircraft.

The huge American sky-fleet yesterday smashed its way through great swarms of German fighters in one of the war's fiercest aerial battles to strike at four oil refineries in the Leipzig area and a fifth in Czecho-Slovakia.

Yugoslavs Launch All-out Attack

NAPLES, May 11 (Delayed) (AP)—Yugoslav authorities announced today that the Partisan forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) had opened an all out offensive as part of an Allied onslaught against Hitler's fortress Europe.

(Presumably this dispatch was delayed pending the opening of the Allied offensive in Italy Thursday night).

The Yugoslavs said troops of the army of liberation have opened attacks against the Vardar and Ibar Valleys—the two main escape routes of German troops now in Greece.

Meanwhile Greek patriots were reported harassing four German divisions in that country.

Fierce Struggle Rages Near Dnestr River

LONDON, May 13.—(CP).—Russian and German troops were locked in a fierce struggle on the west bank of the Dnestr river northwest of Tiraspol to-day with the Germans hurling strong forces against the Soviets in an attempt to wipe out the bridgehead.

A Russian communique said that in two days of fighting, 4,000 German soldiers and 100 tanks had been knocked out by Soviet troops defending the bridgehead which provides the Russians with a potential jumping off place for another big push westward.

Announcing that the last remnants of Axis forces trapped on the Crimean peninsula west of fallen Sevastopol had been eliminated. The Soviet Information Bureau in a broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor, said that in the five-week Crimean campaign 111,687 German and Romanian troops were killed or captured. In addition, the broadcast said, Russian planes and ships of the Black Sea fleet sank a total of 191 Axis ships, including 69 transports and high-speed landing barges which the enemy was using for evacuating their trapped forces, adding greatly to Axis casualties.

The Information Bureau reported that 20,000 Germans and Romanians were killed in the final three-day assault which toppled Sevastopol last Tuesday, and that more than 50,000 were killed in the overall campaign which began April 8.

In addition to the Axis troops killed, 61,687 were captured along with huge piles of military supplies.

British People Endorse Talks

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 13—(CP Cable)—Though no spectacular results are expected from the meetings of Empire Prime Ministers at historic 10 Downing street, it became apparent today there is little doubt the conference has achieved one of the purposes set out for it by Prime Minister Churchill—that the Empire "in its collective and united aspect should put itself solidly on the map."

That was the belief in London as the conference went into its second week-end adjournment, with prospects that it will end sometime next week. The meetings will get underway again Monday.

British reaction has been strongly receptive to the manner in which the Prime Minister of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have studied the challenging questions of the post-war world and the Commonwealth's place in it.

Week-end Talks

It is considered likely that Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and some of the other Empire leaders would see Prime Minister Churchill over the week-end in circumstances similar to last week-end when they talked over matters in the peaceful atmosphere of the country.

With the week-end free of scheduled sessions, the prime ministers will have a chance to review two weeks of almost continuous survey of world and empire problems.

Most of their work now is completed and there remains on the agenda only inter-empire topics covering consultation on the methods of transport and teacher exchanges. These matters are not expected to carry the conference beyond Wednesday.

San Sebastiano And Ventosa Fall To Allied Troops; French Capture Monte Faito
8th Army Sets Up Bridgehead On Rapido
Town Of Cassino By-Passed
Leaders Warn Hitler Fighting Ahead

By NOLAND NORGAARD—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 13—(AP).—American and French troops assaulting the Gustav Line in Italy have captured three towns and numerous hilltop strongholds, it was announced today, while British 8th Army forces south of Cassino are forming a bridgehead across the Rapido River. Headquarters officially announced gains of a mile to a mile-and-a-half, while front dispatches reported advances of two to three miles at some points in the offensive on a 25-mile front from Cassino to the sea.

Fierce German counter-blows were beaten off in other sectors.

Americans of the 5th Army attacking in the Castelforte area—13 miles south of Cassino—seized Ventosa a mile to the west, hill positions nearby, and the town of Cercobi, a mile farther south, winning that village in a tank-supported thrust. A third village near Castelforte, San Sebastiano, also was captured.

Farther north, Frenchmen of the 5th Army captured 2,550-foot Monte Faito, a hinge of the Germans' first line defences, about midway between Castelforte and San Ambrogio.

Damiano Hill Taken.

South of Cassino, the 8th Army had crossed the Rapido River and was forming a bridgehead against stern opposition, headquarters said.

The headquarters communique declared the initial assault had "driven in the enemy outpost line," and said heavy fighting continued.

Ventosa in the Garigliano sector was taken in severe fighting, and the Americans drove the Germans from strongpoints on Damiano Hill and Hill 316 west and southwest of Castelforte.

The capture of Ventosa disclosed that the Allies had punched ahead at least two miles from the jumping off of the offensive in that area.

Other Allied troops advanced one mile, and with the support of tanks routed the Nazis from the town of Cercobi, a mile south of Amiano Hill.

In the Lower Garigliano valley near the Tyrrhenian coast 5th Army slugged their way onto four hills from which the Germans had commanded the lowlands approach route and then crushed two violent enemy counter-attacks.

South of Cassino Allied troops defied torrents of fire yesterday from well-prepared German positions to cross the Rapido River in the Liri Valley with assault boats before dawn.

Bridges were quickly placed across despite the swift current of the Rapido while the assault force drove back enemy outposts.

An official Allied report declared these troops "are forming the first bridgehead in close contact with the foremost defences of the Gustav line in this sector. The buildup in this initial bridgehead is proceeding against stiff opposition."

The bridgehead was exposed to enfilade fire from enemy artillery concealed in numerous gullies and small valleys opening into the sides of the Liri Valley.

The Germans also were employing great numbers of tanks, mortars and

Japanese Cut Main Line At Two Points

CHUNGKING, May 13—(AP).—Barring the main retreat line for several hundred thousand Chinese troops, the Japanese driving down from Shansi have cut the Lunghai railway at least at two points more than 40 miles west of beleaguered Loyang, it was disclosed today.

Field dispatches reported heavy fighting on the outskirts of Loyang and the Japanese were said to be using 200 tanks in an attempt to storm the city.

The Chinese acknowledged the loss of Mienchih on the Lunghai railway 42 miles west of Loyang to a Japanese column which had struck southward across the Yellow River from Shansi Province. A spokesman previously had said Mienchin "may have fallen." The high command already had acknowledged the loss of Yingshao, six miles farther west.

The loss of Mienchih appreciably lessened the chance of Chinese troops in Honan Province to fight their way out along the Lunghai railway, their main escape route.

Another Japanese column from the north was reported striking in the direction of the railway town of Kuanyintang, whose loss would place the invaders only 75 miles from Tungkwan, gateway to China's great northwest.

The course of the battle was being viewed with increasing alarm in Chungking as it was realized a Japanese drive on Tungkwan would be fraught with grave implications.

Expect Raids On Philippines

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, May 13 (AP)—Moving the air war nearer the Philippines, headquarters listed the Palau area today for the first time in its communiques.

Palau, which stands like a gateway to the Philippines a little over 500 miles west of it, is the big Japanese naval base which underwent its first attack of the war March 29 and 30 by carrier planes of a huge task force.

Now it is within range of land-based bombers 800 miles southeast at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, and today it was reported that a patrolling bomber caused bomb damage Wednesday to a 1,000 ton enemy ship 300 miles east of Palau.

3,300 Foremen Go On Strike
Packard Plane Motor Plant Closed

DETROIT, May 13 (AP) — One big war factory—Packard, makers of Rolls-Royce aircraft engines and PT-boat engines—stood idle today as the strike of 3,300 Detroit war plant foremen began to have more serious consequences.

The Packard Motor Car Co. plant was closed by the management last night virtually at the very hour the War Labor Board declined to go on record with assurance to strikers that they would be protected from any management reprisals if they returned to work.

The Foremen's Association of America had demanded such assurance from WLB before resuming work, and Board Chairman William H. Davis limited himself to a promise that the Board would inquire to determine the management attitude.

Davis said flatly that the Board would accept no conditions from the Union to ending the strike. The W.L.B. earlier had ordered the strike to cease before it would attempt to negotiate the dispute.

George T. Christopher, Packard President and General Manager, said the Company was forced to cease production because the U.S. Army Air Forces had refused to accept Packard products in the absence of "inspection supervision to guarantee quality."

Members Irked Can't Get Tax Concession

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, May 13 — (CP). — Members of Parliament get $4,000 a year sessional indemnity which looks like prosperity to a good many Canadians. But, the members lament, they get no taxation concession for the expenses they have to carry, such as the salary of a secretary to do their unavoidable parliamentary work in their home town. They claim that every other Canadian is allowed taxation exemptions for unavoidable expenses such as he would incur in earning $4,000 a year in any business undertaking.

But, in spite of their logic, the members hesitate to raise the question of taxation concessions in the House. Most of them labor under the belief that the taxpayer thinks he has to pay enough already without making life easier for his elected member. And disgruntled taxpayers make life hard for politicians.

But A. W. Neill (Ind.-Comox-Alberni) already has set forth the plight of the average member without other substantial sources of income in addition to his indemnity. And Mr. Neill says he is going to do it again.

Carefree.

T. C. Douglas (C.C.F.-Weyburn) "I am reading from the wrong page."

Trade Minister MacKinnon "It doesn't matter."

Mr. Douglas: "It certainly does not matter. There are lots of bad spots in it."

Hearty.

F. D. Shaw (SC-Red Deer): "I am reading from the 1940 election manifesto of the Communist Party. They (the Government) were 'war profiteers'......'Parasitical ruling classes'...and to end up 'thieves.'"

Walter Tucker (L.-Rosthern): "Is that all?"

Mr. Shaw: "That is all, and if that is not found in this publication (the manifesto) I will condescend to eat the platform although I am sure it would give me well I am sure it would give me violent indigestion."

Rebate

Labor Minister Mitchell: "My honorable friend will have to take my word for it. I know, and you do not."

G. A. Cruickshank (L.-Fraser Valley): "You take my word. You are wrong, and I know it."

Mr. Mitchell: "I am not taking your word for it. I know, and you do not."

750 Bombers

Another 1,000 British-based planes hammered at other anti-invasion targets.

In addition to the strategic success against the oil plants the bombers and fighters dealt the German Air Force its heaviest blow since March 6 when 176 Nazi planes were shot down in an assault on Berlin.

Airmen returning for the assaults on the oil refineries said that the air battles were more terrible than any fought in the great daylight attacks on Berlin, with the German fighters viciously attempting to break up the bomber formations before they reached their targets.

A communique to-day said the photographs showed severe damage to all five of the German oil plants, and that at the Brux plant in Czech Sudetenland, fires were out of control in several units.

The Brux plant is one of the largest in German-controlled Europe, the bulletin said.

Fires were visible also in the oil refinery and gas generating plant at Bohlen, near Leipzig, the communique said, adding that "large fires were seen at the big Leuna plant at Merseburg where concentrations fell in the centre of the works."

At Zeitz another gas plant was hit, and oil tanks at Luzkendorf were ablaze.

Blizzard Hid Shifting Of 8th Army

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY, May 13—(CP). — A major from London's Chelsea district read aloud from Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" to keep himself and his colleagues awake as British 8th Army Headquarters trundled across Italy at 10 miles an hour.

It was noon one March day when they set off from an Adriatic port to an olive grove over the Apennines more than 150 miles away. Before they reached the end of the journey the major had read a large part of Gibbon's ponderous history.

The Army's move along serpentine roads, through blizzard, snow and ice, was a feat or organization and planning without precedent in the Italian campaign.

It was carried out with clockwork precision, and, apart from a few cold feet and number hands, it was achieved without mishap.

A platoon of sappers equipped with bulldozers strengthened the roads, dug diversions for heavy traffic and reduced the wear and tear on some stretches by one-way diversion signs.

The group commander said: "It was a most tricky move, because it was not known till it was well on its way which of the three alternative routes would be used on account of the snow.

"The men were warned that it would be very cold and were advised to be well muffled up," he said. "We beat the snowdrift to the staging area for the night. Then the blizzard began.

"We got outside riders — jeep drivers and motorcyclists—into the houses first. Others slept in vehicles parked by the roadsides or in buildings where available.

"We pushed on next morning with cars sliding along slippery roads and edging through deep snow. We drove at 10 miles per hour with 10-minute stops every two hours to stretch our legs.

"I have taken part in many long desert moves, but I have never been in a smoother-handled mass movement across the backbone of a country."

Pastures Killed May Affect Milk Production

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13 (ENS) —Pastures killed out during the past winter may have a marked effect on milk production during the current season. This is the opinion held by a number of whole milk producers in the district according to Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, who recently made a survey of pasture conditions in part of Seymour township.

Though a marked production decrease is already noted from several of the cheese factories now in operation, it is regarded too early to make any definite prediction to the entire season. However, a survey indicates production is definitely down in the district by almost fifty per cent and figures obtained from Plum Grove factory offer but one example of the opposite trend. There a total of 107 cheese was turned out in April last as compared to only 46 boxes during the same period a year ago.

An outbreak of scarlet fever in the district has had its effect on the cheese industry. Some patrons have been required to discontinue sending milk to the factory for this reason, except in the case where those attending the dairy live out, and do not expose themselves to the disease.

There were 293 boxes of cheese (7 lots) graded at the local warehouse on Thursday afternoon this week in contrast to 9 lots comprising 512 boxes graded a year ago at approximately the same time. James L. Irwin of the Federal Grading staff did the grading. J. M. Bain, chief dairy instructor for western and central Ontario was in town this week and along with W. P. "Bill" Moore visited a number of factories in the Peterborough district.

LOS ANGELES, May 13 — (AP) — Mrs. Alice Browning, 56, wife of Film Director Tod Browning, died last night. She was the former Alice Houghton, film actress.

Great Chances Facing Youth Today

"If ever a generation of youth had an opportunity to do something great, this is the day," said Lt. Col. Claude E. Bates, field secretary for the eastern territory of the Salvation Army in the United States, speaking before a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Friday at the Empress.

"I still believe that life is conquerable," Col. Bates emphasized in opening his remarks on the prospects facing youth in the years that lie immediately ahead. "To its problems youth will bring the realism of insight which is part of the day in which we are living, that and a courageous effort.

"Dare youth hope in the face of the world situation today? I say they do. But youth certainly faces the turmoil," Col. Bates added, and we cannot ask it to follow in the footsteps of ourselves, who were the authors of that turmoil."

The speaker, who has been an officer of the Salvation Army for over 30 years and is particularly well known for his work in child and youth training, was introduced by Col. Frank Hamm of Toronto, a Salvation Army officer who was stationed at one time in this city. Also attending the dinner were Major Gage of Toronto and Major John Wood, commanding officer of the Salvation Army Temple in Peterborough.

Must Have Help

"There is one thing, however, which youth must see as we see it," Col. Bates cautioned. "Whatever its qualifications for the job of bringing about a better world, and they were never greater in history, youth must realize that it cannot go it alone. There the plain psychological facts of the matter must be faced. There is no change today in the process of growing up; our children grow up the same way we did. There must still be that period of incubation before the arrival to maturity."

It was therefore necessary, Col. Bates concluded, that a parallel, well-balanced, well-thinking group of adults with the right point of view was needed by youth to help it in accomplishing its aims. "To discover a new way of life requires fervor, spirit, the quick thinking and other attributes of youth," he said, "but also necessary is the steady guidance of mature minds."

In inspirational, imaginative and pictorial style that held his listeners engrossed, the Salvation Army officer asserted his optimism concerning the changes that would come out of the war. "I believe that great things are in process of becoming," he said. "I believe that as a result of this upheaval there will be a world such as we have never seen before."

Home Important

Tracing the main issues facing the civilized world, Col. Bates laid particular emphasis upon arriving at a new interpretation of the idea of home. "Life today is lived so much out of the home," he said, "that other issues arise to be solved simply because of this." He spoke also of the need for the complete elimination of racial barriers, a problem he saw already on its way towards solution through the shrinking of the world brought about by the advances of science; and of the need for greater faith.

"I see humanity at a common meeting place," Col. Bates stated at the close of his address, "with a refinement of nations and of spirit taking place, and the growth of new and clarified minds."

The vote of thanks was moved by Rev. H. L. Roberts, who paid tribute to the leadership of the U.S. and said that in their oneness of viewpoint on the basic aims for the postwar world, Jew, Catholic and Protestant were united for the first time in 2,000 years.

VOL. 1. EVENING EXAMINER — PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, MAY 13 NO. 29

Four Pound Trout

John T. Arnott of Peterborough caught a four-pound speckled trout in the Millbrook pond. It measured 20 inches and was one of the largest caught there in some years.

Lowest In Years

Peterborough's welfare list is lowest in years. Ten heads of families require assistance. They have 21 dependents and there are also four single men and 21 single women in the group of 61 on the list.

Stricken In Cafe

Michael J. Collins, stricken in a local cafe and removed to Nicholls hospital died a few hours later.

550 Men Needed

Selective service has announced that 550 men are needed immediately by Peterborough industries.

27 Join Navy

In past few weeks 27 boys from Peterborough and district have joined the Canadian Navy.

Elected To Office

Fred Roy has been elected vice-president of the Ontario Society of Photographers and Fred Cripps, a director.

Objective Reached

With 24 hours to go the sixth Victory Loan in Peterborough went over the top. The objective of $4,500,000 and it is believed that before the books close every division of the loan will have subscribed more than its objective.

93 Years Old

Fines Total $825

Fines totalling $825 have been paid by owners of downtown establishments who operated pin-ball games and punch boards.

On The Sport Front

Whipper Watson, British Empire champion defeated Verne Baxter, Oregon, in the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show this week, taking the only fall.

The Industrial Softball League organized for the season with Deb Hillier as president and L. L. Maguire, secretary-treasurer. The organization has 16 teams.

At a meeting of the Girls' Softball League executive it was announced that there were seven teams in the loop this season.

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Look for our trade mark a "Red Heart" on the package.

Paul Makes Many Converts In Thessalonica Visit

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 14 is Acts 17:1-10; I Thessalonians, the Golden Text being I Thess. 5: 16-18, "Rejoice always; pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks.")

IN OUR last lesson Paul had been beaten and imprisoned, at Philippi. An earthquake had broken his bonds, however, and the conversion of the jailer and his whole household; and the apology of the magistrates for unjustly accusing him, had somewhat made up for this treatment.

However, he and his companion, Silas, had been sent away from Philippi, albeit, peacefully. They passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, where there evidently were no Jewish synagogues, and came at last to Thessalonica, about 100 miles from Philippi. Remember that travel in those days, for people without means, like the apostles, meant walking.

Thessalonica was an important city of Macedonia in those days. Its former name was Therme, derived from the hot springs found in that vicinity. It was founded by Cassandra about 315 B. C., and named after his wife, Thessalonica, sister of Alexander the Great. Its present name is Salonika.

There was a synagogue in Thessalonica, and there for three days Paul expounded the gospel of Christ, and many were converted, among them a good many "devout Greeks," a number of them being "the chief women," wives of prominent Greek citizens.

Unconverted Jews Envious

The Jews who would not accept the faith, however, were jealous of the popularity of Paul and Silas, and they gathered together the loafers of the city, who "set all the city in an uproar, and assaulted the house of one, Jason," with whom these people believed Paul and Silas were staying.

Not finding Paul and Silas, they dragged Jason to the rulers of the city, the "Politarch," which means rulers. They charged Jason with entertaining in his home men who set the world upside down, saying that "these do contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying there is another King, one Jesus."

These accusations troubled the rulers, but when they "had taken the security of Jason and of the others, they let them go." This must mean that they were allowed to go by furnishing bail, and that they would be tried later. The preaching of the new religion probably had aroused the interest of the population, but the charge of breaking the laws was absolutely unjust, as the Christians were very law-abiding persons. We hear no more of Jason, who, probably was a man of means and a leading citizen.

The brethren immediately sent Paul and Silas away by night, and they went to Berea, where they "went into the synagogue of the Jews."

Paul's visit to Thessalonica was about 50 A.D., and his letter to the Thessalonians about 51 A.D., not so long after his visit. The founding of this church was a most important missionary step, and Paul seems to have always had a warm affection for the people in this church. He longed to see them again, and says so in this letter.

Tells of His Work

He tells them where he has been and what he has been doing since he left them, how he "thought it good to be left at Athens alone," so he sent Timothy, whom he has sometimes called his son, to go to Thessalonica, to "establish you, and to comfort you concerning your faith." Timothy had brought back a good report of the Thessalonians to Paul, comforting him.

He tells them of his hopes for them, advising them that they "increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men." They should live pure lives, "for God hath not called us unto uncleanliness, but unto holiness."

He counsels them "that ye study to be quiet, and to do your work with your own hands . . . that ye may walk honestly toward them that are without, and that ye may have lack of nothing."

He assures them of comfort in bereavement, for "if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him."

"See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men.

"Rejoice evermore.

"Pray without ceasing.

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good."

Closed Mind Often Proves Detriment To Progress

All they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath, and rose up, and thrust Jesus out of the city that they might cast him down headlong.—St. Luke 4:28, 29.

Do you understand why the villagers of Nazareth, where the Lord had been brought up, were filled with wrath and sought to kill Him?

The Lord had returned to His boyhood home. His fame had preceded Him. As His custom was He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day. Naturally he was invited to read the Scripture. He read Isaiah sixty-one:

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He has anointed Me to preach the Gospel to the poor; He hath sent me to heal the broken hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and the recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, to preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

How true to life the story is. "The eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on Him." And He began to say unto them: "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your years." All bare Him witness and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. The plain, country congregation is deeply moved. They had never expected anything like that from their old friend and neighbour—the Carpenter of Nazareth.

Then came the climax; the startling interpretation of a well known Scripture. But the interpretation was amazing, and beyond their imagination horrible. The people had been trained to believe that Jehovah was their God and they were His peculiar property. In a word Jehovah loved the Jews and hated the Gentiles. They accepted the slogan that the Jews were a superior people and that their blood was superior to the blood of the Gentiles. Keep this thought in your mind as you read these words:

"I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land; but unto none of them was Elias sent, save unto Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a woman that was a widow. And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian." Now you can understand that all in the synagogue were filled with wrath and desired to kill Him. He had struck their most deeply imbedded doctrine of nationalism. Had not Isaiah prophecied that Gentile "kings shall be thy nursing fathers and queens thy nursing mothers"? Isaiah 49:23.

The Lord Jesus was striving to open to them the hidden truth that God is the God of the Jews and also God of the Gentiles. That God loved the poor widow of Sarepta and also Naaman, the conqueror of Israel. It was a bitter truth.

Did you ever read the Book of Jonah with an understanding and open mind? The startling truth is that Jehovah loved the people of Ninevah. The little book closes with the provoking and moving words: "Then said the Lord unto Jonah: Should I not spare Ninevah, that great City, wherein are more than six score thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle." Jonah 4:11. Do you not think that the earliest listeners to that parable were not filled with wrath and rose up and killed the prophet, who was moved by Jehovah to reveal this higher truth of the character of God; that God loved all men, both Jew and Gentile?

After the war the graver problems will arise. How are we to deal with Germans and Japanese, especially Canadian born and naturalized? As you think of these things keep in your mind this fundamental truth: God hath made of one blood all nations of men to dwell on all the face of the earth."

THEN THE LORD JESUS OPENED THEIR UNDERSTANDING THAT THEY MIGHT UNDERSTAND THE SCRIPTURES.

SHELL-TORN CATHEDRAL IN ORTONA—War has passed this way. The shattered remains of St. Thomas Cathedral, in Ortona, where Canadian troops fought house to house when driving out the Hun, is a grim reminder of war's devastation. The Cathedral was mined and blown up by the Germans when they could no longer hold Ortona. Standing amid the ruins are, Left to Bight, Doug. Amaron, Canadian Press war correspondent; Lt. Yvon Beaulne, Don Pietro di Fulvio, the parish priest, and Capt. E. J. MacIntyre, The two Canadian officers are with a Canadian Public Relations detachment in Italy. (Canadian Army Overseas Photo)

Havelock Missionary Meet Held At Mrs. Harry Peters

HAVELOCK, MAY 13 (ENS) — The great mission of the Church today is said to lead all men to dedicate all of life to Christ, such was the study chapter, reviewed by Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke, at the Women's Missionary meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Peters.

In the East, many of the prophetic spirits, who led the way in thinking out the plan and program for complete approach to life, were men from rural areas, since there is something almost sacramental about country life, she said. All the process of agricultural life are inextricably tied up with religion, such as the dependable, undestructible order of the seasons, the methodical working out of God's laws are clearer reminders of God's presence than the routine of offices and factories. Most of the farmers work is a demonstration of faith—his plowing and sowing, the raising of animals the planting, pruning and grafting of fruit trees, and the weekly cultivation of his garden plots.

In the Harina Rural Mission, with about 10,000 farms, Dr. Clark was the first missionary to serve these half million poorly clothed, poorly fed, half depressed farmers, but the success of his adventure speaks for itself.

The President, Mrs. George Chiles led in the worship service followed by Mrs. James Freeman. A service of dedication to the Great Commission was led by Mrs. James Cochrane, with the members joining in the responses. Articles for the bale are to be sent to the home of the President and are to be packed May 20. The financial Secretary, Mrs. Wing, asked the members to complete their autograph quilt blocks. A picnic is to be held the last of June at the summer cottage of A. C. Denike at Trent River.

Mission Band Meets

The Mission Band held its regular meeting at the parsonage, with the leader, Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, in charge. Betty Post read a story "Thoughts of God." Betty Brown read items of news from Mission Bands in Australia, and a letter from a girl, contacted through the World Friends. Memory verses from a Bible Alphabet, in charge of Mrs. Kinnaird, were correctly recited by Eleanor Forsyth, Betty Brown and Kenneth Nobes. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to the coloring of a cut-out chart on Africa.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Paul in Thessalonica — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 17:1-10; I Thessalonians

Paul preached in the synagogue at Thessalonica, and some believed, but those who did not gathered some ruffians together and they assaulted the house of Jason.

Not finding Paul and Silas, they took Jason and the other believers to the rulers and accused Paul and Silas of turning the town upside down and of going contrary to Caesar's decrees.

They said Jason had entertained Paul and Silas who had preached against Caesar and also that there was another king named Jesus. The rulers were troubled but let Jason go.

The brethren immediately sent Paul and Silas away at night to Berea, and when they arrived thre, they went into the synagogue.

We've Done It Again

The Sixth Victory Loan in this district is over the top at the time of writing, and we are confident that when this reaches our readers the margin of surplus will be substantially increased. There is little to be said on this subject; the achievement speaks for itself. Everybody in the district knew what had to be done, and so we all pulled together and did it. That is the story of the Loan.

Congratulations are in order. First of all they must be offered to the organizers and the salesmen; without wishing to make invidious comparisons with previous campaigns, we think that they worked better than they have ever done before; they knew that their job would be harder than it had been before, and they tackled it with fine enthusiasm and determination. Congratulations are owing to those who headed the various Canvasses. And finally congratulations must go to the thousands of people who put duty before personal desire and bought Bonds; it is upon their willingness to make sacrifices, in the long run, that the success of the Loans rests.

But all these congratulations are extended in a sober spirit. After all, there is nothing particularly meritorious in doing an obvious duty. Canada is a country with a very high standard of individual responsibility; our democracy gives us great freedom and we are expected to use our freedom like intelligent people. When we are told that a large sum of money is needed to prosecute the war and keep the country's enonomy on a sound footing we know that it is our job to raise that money; that is what we have done. And that is what we will do next time.

Because there will be new Loans in the future. Until the war is won we shall have to go on lending to Canada. It is our duty, and we shall do it until the very end.

Simplified Income Tax

The government of the United States has taken steps to simplify the Income Tax in that country which might advantageously be considered here. About 60 per cent. of the taxable population will not have to file tax returns at all; people earning $5,000 a year or less will simply send to the tax office a receipt from their employers' for the amount of tax-money which has been stopped out of their wages; on one side of the receipt they will list relevant information about dependents and extra sources of income; in time they will receive a bill for the amount of tax still owing, or a cheque for the amount paid in excess of the correct tax. In order to make the work of the employer as easy as possible a new set of tables for computing taxes and the amount to be withheld at the source; these tables will bring the amount withheld as close to the actual amount of tax as possible. It is estimated that about thirty million people will be relieved of the necessity of computing their own tax by this means.

The other taxpayers whose affairs are more complicated are to have the benefit of a revised and shortened form which will be much easier to complete than the one now in use.

This will be good news for the people of the U.S.A. Why should we not take a leaf out of their book and arrange a similar simplified form here? The present Income Tax form used in this country is said to be simple, but the fact remains that a great number of people—and intelligent and able people too, many of them—find it confusing and hard to work out with accuracy. As it is the Government's unpleasant habit to check the tax forms two or three years after they have been sent in, and to charge interest on any money which has inadvertently been withheld — although it does not return interest with any money which has been paid in excess of the correct sum—the taxpayer who is not a clever arithmetician stands to suffer annoyance for years on end. There is not a soul in Canada who would not be glad to see a simplified system of computing Income Tax introduced here.

Objectors For Farm Labour

In a recent statement in the Commons the Minister of Labour, the Hon. Mr. Mitchell, said that there were 8,600 conscientious objectors registered in Canada, and continued thus: "I am frank to admit that the old policy of having all the consscientious objectors in camps has been changed considerably. We felt, in view of the shortage of manpower, in agriculture in particular, that those men would be far better off engaged in that important undertaking in our national life than they would be working in those camps in the Rocky Mountains". The money which objectors earn at this work is limited to $25 a month, and anything which they earn in excess of that amount is paid to the Red Cross. The Minister said that during the first eight months of this arrangement the Red Cross had been enriched by a sum in the neighbourhood of a quarter of a million dollars.

This seems to us to be a very satisfactory solution of the problem presented by the conscientious objector. The man who refuses to serve in the armed forces because his conscience will not allow him to do so is not a criminal, and he most certainly is not a coward. Nor is it permissible, in a country calling itself free, to force such a man to fight. To force a man to fight against tyranny is a paradox. The conscientious objector himself is not necessarily a crank or a fanatic, and he is not usually opposed to doing work which helps his country in a difficult time. He is opposed to killing his fellow-men under any circumstances, or doing any work which directly assists that killing. No one will say that helping the country to raise food is an aid to killing, although it is a substantial aid to the war effort.

There are people who think that any sort of understanding or humane treatment of conscientious objectors will increase their number, and open a way for slackers who do not want to do their duty. Such people show a poor understanding of human nature and of the laws governing such matters. It takes more courage to be an objector than most slackers possess, and the objector has to prove himself sincere before men who are keenly suspicious of fraud and well able to detect it. The government seems to have found a solution to this problem which is humane, practical and good for everybody.

Tightening The Blockade

During the past month Turkey has ceased to export chrome to Germany, and the Spanish exports of tungsten ore to Germany have been cut by 90 per cent. Thus two extremely serious blows have been struck at German heavy industry, for chrome and tungsten are needed to harden steel. The Allies are tightening the economic blockade on the enemy.

It is not known what dictated the Turkish move, but clearly Turkey has decided that Germany cannot win the war, and wants to be on the right side when the climax comes. Spain was definitely coerced by the United States; that country agreed to send Spain enough oil to satisfy her bare needs if Spain would cut tungsten exports to the bone, expel from Tangier any persons whom U.S. investigators brand as Axis spies, release Italian merchant ships in Spanish waters and arbitrate the position of Italian warships which are similarly interned. Spain has agreed to these things.

Clearly Spain has decided which way the cat is going to jump. Not long ago Spain called herself a "moral belligerent" on the side of the Axis, with limited military aid. Now Spain wants to be "strictly neutral". As a matter of fact there can be no such thing as a strict neutral when all Europe is at war; a non-belligerent country is neutral on either one side or the other, and most of the neutrals in this war have hopped from one side of the fence to the other several times. There are no more "strict neutrals" except Portugal and Sweden, and of course Switzerland which really deserves that name, although its sympathy with the anti-Axis cause has never been disguised. Portugal may follow Spain's example in the matter of tungsten; Sweden, which depends on Germany for almost everything which keeps Swedish business going, will have to tread carefully until the Allies can offer a way out; Sweden has no use for Nazism, but cannot live without Germany.

Bringing Spain to her present position without a diplomatic break must be counted as a fine stroke of policy. Spain is a totalitarian country whose rulers are heart and soul with the Axis; and Spain knows that when the Axis is disposed of the position of the present Spanish government will be desperate. It would not have been difficult to throw Spain into the arms of Germany, with three million fighting men. Instead Spain has been most effectually dealt with and the squeeze on Germany grows tighter and tighter.

Diary Of Spring Observations

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Had lunch in the open air today, in my garden. No frowsy picnic on a rug, with everything spilling and slopping about, but a proper meal with a table, cloth, napkin and plenty of silver and cutlery. There is a special pleasure about eating in the open air, but far too many people like to spoil it by sitting uncomfortably on the ground, eating food which they would not tolerate indoors. In my callow youth I once went picnicking with some people who insisted on roasting wieners over an open fire; the resulting mess, partly charred and partly raw, we ate with a ridiculous affectation of enjoyment. I can still recall the epic heartburn which followed this woodland orgy.

MONDAY: The Spring weather has aroused the visiting instinct in many people, and they kept dropping into my office all day; they didn't say so—doubtless for fear of embarrassing me—but it was obvious that they wanted to bask in the sunshine of my present. This creates a serious problem for me: I like seeing people, and would rather chat than work; nevertheless, I have a great deal of work which must be done. Should I abandon work entirely, and open a salon, serving hard cider and gingersnaps to all comers .... The storm windows were taken off my office today, and I was able to let out the air which was imprisoned there last October, and which had become somewhat heavy. After I had been smoking all day, the atmosphere was decidedly close, and people who came in to see me used to stagger and look white, as though entering a gas chamber. It never bothered me, I must say. I used to faint frequently during November, but I soon got over it. It is possible to live without air if you make up your mind to it.

TUESDAY: A lady who knows Australia well writes to me about a recent Diary which contained some remarks about the Australian robin; she says that I am "all wet," which I consider a rather unladylike expression. The Australian robin, she says, is a variety of finch, and has a very red breast; it is the English robin, she says, which has an orange breast. Probably those birds with brilliant red breasts whom I used to see in England were Australian robins who had journeyed up to the Mother Country with a cricket team, or a kangaroo, or a Rhodes scholar, or some other Australian export; or perhaps they were just English birds whose breasts had been permanently reddened by drinking that Australian wine (burgundy type) which finds such a ready market in England....Once again Nature has shown her special interest in my welfare; the warm weather has been beautifully synchronised with the exhaustion of my coal pile.

WEDNESDAY: Received a letter from a gentleman who signs himself Yarmouth Bloater, who says, "unlike your lady correspondent, I most frequently agree with you and find your impressions enlightening"; and later on he says, "I naturally find your writings elevating, which makes me certain that you are a gentleman of discerning and dignified tastes." What penetration Yarmouth Bloater shows! What depth of psychological insight! Never have I heard myself so aptly summed up in a few words. Any time you are passing, Bloater, old fellow, drop in and we'll see if there is anything cooling on the ice....From where I sit I can look across the street into a bank, and see most of what goes on there. What leisured, placid chaps these bankers are! Has anyone ever seen a banker run? Once, when a child, I saw an angry man kick a banker on the street, and the banker showed no sign of discomfiture whatever. But when he went into his office he burned his clothes, washed all over, and was unclean unto the seventh hour. When he emerged it was as though nothing had ever happened. The representative of a paid up capital and reserve of several millions necessarily lives a hallowed and priestly life.

THURSDAY: With the coming of warm weather a number of woman have shed their stockings; this is economical, but rarely charming. It was Herrick who wrote so feelingly of Julia's legs, "as smooth and hairless as an egg." If Herrick were alive today his bloodshot old eyes would whirl in their sockets at some of the battered gams which flaunt themselves in the streets....Beauty in women is a product of leisure. Almost any woman who has plenty of time to spend in cultivating her appearance can give an impression of great charm. But a woman who has to work at a job all day will never achieve real beauty, even though she has the makings of a Venus about her. And, as Aldous Huxley observes, nothing distorts the face so much as thought or concentration. Beauties are rarely brainy, and our foremost thinkers are invariably gargoyles. If the socialist state comes I hope that one woman in every fifty will be given a pension for life, so that she may devote herself solely to being beautiful.

FRIDAY: Visited some people today who had a budgerigar, which I take to be a kind of parakeet; I had never seen one before, and was impressed by its ability to do tricks. My only experience with cage-birds has been with canaries; they are subject to heart seizures, which are brought about by chill, or fright, or a number of causes. When a canary has one of its heart spells it falls dramatically from its perch and lies on the floor of its cage with its toes turned up. The best thing for it is a small quantity of warm diluted brandy—the form in which it is now sold by the government is about right—poured down its beak from a spoon. Once I knew a canary which became a sot, and feigned heart attacks in order to get the booze. When its mistress discovered the deceit and refused to give it any brandy the yellow tosspot lost all his feathers and refused to sing. Later he acquired a taste for hard-boiled egg plentifully sprinkled with red pepper, and eventually died of old age.

SATURDAY: Being committed to deliver a speech tonight, I spent my whole afternoon preparing it and worrying about it. I think it is cruel to make a man eat his dinner and then address his fellow-diners. He cannot enjoy his food, and he probably has indigestion when he is called upon for his speech. Would it not be sensible to reverse the present plan, and make the speaker do his work before the dinner, and then allow him to eat his meal with peace of mind? Pre-dinner speeches would also have the effect of reducing most addresses in length, which is greatly to be desired. And an audience which was sharp—set and eager to attack the grub would be receptive to what the speaker had to say; as things are at present, a man who is himself in the throes of indigestion is asked to strike sparks out of an audience which is gorged with food. The whole scheme of dinner-table oratory is unsound.

British Political Truce Breaking Up?

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THE announcement on Saturday in a dispatch from Britain, that the Montgomeryshire Conservative Association has decided to withdraw its support from Clement Davies, K.C., member of Parliament for that county, and that it will cease to observe the wartime political truce, is, we believe, the first outright abandonment of the truce by any official group since it was agreed to by all parties. There have been one or two bitter by-election contests, but the candidates opposing the Coalition Government candidates were not officialy supported by their own parties.

The abandonment of the political truce by the Montgomeryshire Conservative Association, seems a logical procedure, for Mr. Davies entered one or two recent by-election contests and spoke in support of the candidate opposing the Government.

The result in Montgomeryshire of the action of the Conservative Association, will be watched with interest, for that Welsh border county has had an interesting political history. From 1799 to 1880 the county seat was held by the Conservatives. For most of that period it was held by members of one family—the Wynns of Wynnstay and Coedymaen. Charles Watkin Williams-Wynn, cousin of the Duke of Buckingham and intimate friend of Southey, was the member from 1799 to 1850, and during that time served in several governments. From 1862 to 1880 his son of the same Christian names represented the county. He was defeated in 1880 by Stuart Rendel, afterwards Lord Rendel, and since that time the seat has never been recovered by the Conservative party. The Wynns are still a powerful family, but Sir Watkin, the lord-lieutenant of the county, now in his 80's, lives at the ancestral home of Wynnstay, in Denbighshire, and the Coedymaen branch of the family has no young members. From 1905 until 1943, the seat was held by Baron Davies of Llandinam. Since 1932 Clement Davies has been the representative.

Clement Davies is a brilliant barrister, and able business man. He is one of the managing directors of the well-known firm of Lever Bros. In addition to being the sitting member for the county, he is also chairman of the Quarter Sessions, a high and important position. In the election of 1935 he was elected as a National-Liberal with the support of both the Liberals and the Conservatives. He has now lost the support of the Conservatives, and some of his National-Liberal support has also cooled. The county is partly English-speaking and partly Welsh-speaking. Mr. Clement Davies, being fluent in both languages, has had a distinct advantage, for few of the county land gentry, from which the Conservative candidate is usually chosen, can speak Welsh.

There are distinct signs that the Coalition will not survive the war. Labour is getting restless, and the Liberals and the New Commonwealth party are also anxious to try conclusions with the Tories as separate parties. At present the standing is 360 Conservatives, 165 Laborites, 45 Liberals and 45 others, including independents. Canadians will hope that Mr. Churchill will be abe to hold power at least until after the peace terms are arranged and the treaty signed. After that he may want to retire and enjoy a well-earned rest. However, he is but 70 and Gladstone was still Prime Minister at 86.

Evictions Over-emphasized

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THE annual turmoil of moving day has come and gone here with relatively limited evidence of tenants leaving their previous homes, voluntarily or otherwise, and unable to find at least temporary accommodation.

There has been no evidence whatever of any general ejection of families into the street, though an estimated total of at least 150 families had to double up with relatives and friends. There were no reported cases of families having to find refuge from a street bivouac in the somewhat repulsive and ill-prepared civic buildings the city authorities had tentatively made available.

Only one case was reported of a family having to be accommodated in a police station. And it was not a Montreal family but one coming, with what looks like very poor judgment, from Sweetsburg. The city had to undertake the storage of the furniture of only two families.

In short, the great commotion raised in recent weeks by or in behalf of tenant groups, with frantic demands for government action and dark hints of rebellious defiance of the law, has proved to have little or no real foundation. Admittedly the situation was not and is not the best, and we sincerely sympathize with those families who had to move by legal order or force of circumstances and found it difficult or impossible to find suitable new quarters.

But we fear that the agitation made by or for these people sprang partly from ignorance of the full facts of the situation, and partly was fostered with political or other ulterior motives. Much of this agitation was focussed on the comparatively small number of evictions legally permitted property owners requiring premises for their own accommodation.

The persistent demands of evictee groups for remedial action were narrowed down almost entirely to insistence on complete freezing of all leases. This war coupled with denunciation of the Prices Board for its refusal to curtail any further the few remaining rights of landlords to use of their own properties. It was overlooked that lease freezing would adversely affect many tenants as well as landlords.

Actually the evictions by landlords for personal use constituted only a small though admittedly acute phase of the city's housing problem as a whole. Tenants served with valid eviction notices numbered only 1,258 out of some 8,000 to 9,000 households which moved May 1 for one reason or another, and the total number of tenants in Montreal is estimated at 220,000.

The number of evictions and the total of those who moved were incalculably less than they would have been without the ceiling control of rents and the rigid restrictions on evictions for landlord occupancy.

The over-emphasis on evictions has tended to distract attention from the fundamental problem—that Montreal had a shortage of suitable housing at low and moderate rentals even before the war, and has since been inundated with additional population estimated at from 125,000 to 135,000 people. That problem still persists and the shortage will grow no less just because the May 1 moving flurry has passed without untoward event. It is to be hoped that adequate remedial action will be taken in the not far distant future, to the end that the people living in this city will have proper dwellings available to them at rents within their capacity to pay. It is a challenge that cannot be turned aside.

Letter To The Editor

PENSION EDUCATION SCHEME

Sir,—Might I supplement in a few sentences the very full report which you so kindly inserted in your edition of May 10th regarding the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada. I refer to the account of the pension education scheme which was before the Presbytery.

The list of charges was read one by one, and the response was most gratifying. Nearly every charge favoured some one of the schemes to benefit the pension fund which are at present before the Church. Most boards expressed the utmost willingness to support whatever plan the General Council may adopt.

Thanking you again for your generous hospitality to the report of our Presbytery.—I am, yours sincerely,

E. W. YOUNG.

FOR COMPULSOPY VOTING

All who enjoy the rights and privileges of citizenship owe it as a duty to the State to take an active interest in the government of their country — in the people they send to Parliament to represent their views in Parliament. They have no right to expect to enjoy the privileges of citizenship if they are too supine to recognize and discharge their duty as citizens.—Montreal Star.

LET'S GO FISHING

There is nothing more perverse and unpredictable than fisherman's luck. Sometimes the fellow with a can of worms and a sapling for a rod runs into all the luck and catches a fine string of speckled beauties. It is a great thrill for such a fisherman on such an occasion to meet on his way home a party of fully accoutred and equipped and highly proficient fishermen who have had just no luck at all—not even a bite. That is one of the compensations that sometimes fall to the lot of the rank amateur.

Well, anyway, the season is on again. Let's all go fishing.—Fort William Times-Journal.

A Bible Message

And after six days Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John his brother, and bringeth them up into an high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light. And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elias talking with him.

Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him. And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid.

And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid. And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only.

And as they came down from the mountain, Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man is risen again from the dead. And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the scribes that Elias must first come?

And Jesus answered and said unto them, Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things. (Matt. 17: 1-11.)

"Put the ball down, Fido," said the old lady sweetly. "Here's the kind gentleman to knock it off for you again."

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

I am today going to give you varied recipes that will be good to use any time now that the warmer weather is upon us. Lighter ways of cooking foods that, if we cooked them the same as in the colder weather, would not be appealing, for they would be too heavy eating for warm weather.

Baked Tongue With Blackberry Sauce

1 fresh beef tongue, whole cloves, 1 glass of blackberry jelly or jam, 1 cup raisins, juice of a lemon. Boil tongue adding 1 tablespoon spices, 1 bay leaf, ½ cup diced celery to the water while cooking. When tended remove the skin, trim off root end and stick the solid meat full of whole cloves. Place in a greased baking pan, dust with flour, pour over the jelly, which has been softened with a fork, and raisins which have been cooked until tender in a cup of water. Add lemon juice and bake in a hot oven 400 degrees for 30 minutes, basting often. This may be served either hot or cold.

Green Peppers Stuffed With Liver

2 cupfuls cooked, finely chopped liver, 1 cup of cooked rice, 1½ tablespoons chopped onion, 8 medium green peppers, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup milk, 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Seed peppers after having cut a slice from the top. Cover with boiling water and simmer gently for five minutes. Drain. Meanwhile combine finely chopped liver, rice, onion, salt, pepper, milk and melted butter. Slightly salt and pepper the inside of the peppers and fill them with the prepared liver stuffing. Bake upright in a baking pan, with 1 cup of boiling water in a moderate oven 375 degrees for half an hour or until peppers are tender.

Yum-Yum Sandwiches

1 cream cheese, 2 cups minced ham, 1 small bunch watercress, either white or brown bread.

Pick the leaves from the watercress and cream them into the cheese together with the ham. Spread between thin slices of unbuttered bread. A little mayonnaise may be added to the sandwich filling if desired.

Ribbon Sandwiches

Brown bread, white bread, butter, sweet red pepper, sweet green pepper. Cut two slices each of the brown and white bread, at least half an inch thick. Spread with butter. Lay alternate narrow strips of red and green pepper on each slice. Press the slices firmly together, alternating the brown and white slices Trim off the crusts and slice thinly through the four slices. The regular flecks of the red and green are very attractive. Clear currant jelly and cream cheese may also be used in place of peppers.

Cabbage Salad

2 cups shredded cabbage, 2 canned pimentos diced, 2 tart ripe apples; — cup nutmeats, mayonnaise and lettuce.

Combine the shredded cabbage, apples which have been pared, cored and cut into matches, the diced pimentos and nut meats coarsely chopped. Mix lightly with mayonnaise, lay on a bed of white lettuce leaves, mask with a little more of the dressing, ornament with more of the slices of pimento, a few quartered nutmeats and serve at once. Do not prepare this salad until ready to serve. Chinese cabbage may be used in place of white cabbage if desired.

Almond Macaroons

½ pound almonds blanched and ground, mix with unbeaten whites of two eggs. Beat well, then add gradually one cup of pulverized sugar. Drop on buttered paper and bake in slow oven.

Mrs. H. Tait Tells Of Convention

A resume of the meeting of the Provincial Women's Missionary Society, in Hamilton, in April, was given by Mrs. Harold Tait, of Centreville, president of the Peterborough Presbyterial of the W.M.S., to the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Tait said that all reports given at the meeting showed that progress had been made, particularly in the givings.

She reported that many new societies had been formed, and that a real effort was being made to cooperate with the government in its wartime problems. Homes for the care of children have been opened, and centres for the care of preschool children have been set up. A new home for girls is also being opened in Toronto.

Mrs. Tait mentioned the special effort being made to send all possible aid to China, to help overcome a tremendous need. She said, "we have to build a new world, as the old one must be destroyed". Another point stressed by the speaker was the need for leadership.

Miss Alicia Langley sang "The God of Love My Shepherd Is". The thanks of those present was extended to the speaker and the soloist by the president, Mrs. E. H. Howson.

Y.W.C.A. Holds Tea For War Brides

Members of the War Services committee of the Y.W.C.A., and representatives of various auxiliaries throughout the city, were guests of the Y.W.C.A. Friday afternoon, when they gathered to meet eight war brides who are making Peterborough thir home. The war brides meet every Friday afternoon for a social time, and to become better acquainted, and this tea was arranged as an introduction for these young women, and to interest groups in them.

The entertainment of war brides is a nation-wide project of the Y.W.C.A., and all "YW's" have been asked to contact those in their cities to look after their needs. The Peterborough "Y" is anxious to reach all warj brides in the city, and would be grateful if any person who knows of others, to get in touch with them.

Peterborough's war brides are: Mrs. Herbert Wilson, Mrs. A. Decelles, Mrs. R. L. Ferguson, Mrs. W. H. Wood, Mrs. E. J. Garfat, Mrs. R. Nast, Mrs A. Parks and Mrs. L. D. Emeny.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon by members of the War Service committee. Mrs. R. Turner poured, and Mrs. F. M. Somerville, Mrs. J. H. Vernor, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mrs. H. Eastwood, Mrs. H. C. Sootheran and Mrs. F. E Kerr served

Miss L. Brownscombe, of the Y.W.C.A. staff, extended an invitation to all present to attend a talk being given Tuesday evening in the Y.WC.A. by Miss Jean McPherson.

League Names Two Delegates

At the May meeting of the Catholic Junior League, it was decided to send two delegates to the Catholic Women's League convention in London, and the president, Miss G. Costello and Miss C. Corkery were chosen. The treasurer, Mrs. J. Brady, announced the appointment of Mrs. W. McFadden, Mrs. F. Wolfe and Miss M. Whaley to the finance committee. Each member was asked to raise the sum of two dollars during the year.

Miss Gladys Perdue reported on arrangements being made by the Catholic Auxilary Service Club for the soldiers' Communion Breakfast, to be held on May 21. A donation of $10 was voted towards the expenses of this breakfast. Miss Catherine Corkery reported that the annual garden party would be held in June.

The musical portion of the meeting consisted of a piano solo "The End of a Perfect Day" by Doris Strickland. The president introduced the speaker of the evening, Brother Andrew, who described the life of a missionary in northern British Columbia. Miss Veronica Scollard thanked Brother Andrew for his interesting talk.

COMMON SENSE RANKS FIRST
Enables Marriages to Succeed by By-passing Little Faults in Mates

A girl who is about to be married asks what quality in husbands and wives goes farthest toward making marriage a success? To which I answer right off the bat: Common sense. Just plain, good, reliable, horse sense. If either a man or a woman possess even a moderate amount of it, it is a safe bet that their marriage will be happy. If both of them are liberally endowed with it, it is a sure thing that they will be one of those couples who live in peace and harmony to their Golden Wedding day.

For marriage is not the flower-strewn pathway to eternal bliss that romantic-minded expect it to be. On the contrary it is a rocky road to travel, full of thorns and thumps and bumps and pitfalls, with arid mountains of disappointment that have to be scaled and sloughs of despair that have to be waded through, and nothing but common sense can enable anyone to negotiate its dangers and come through smiling.

Fuel for Domestic Machinery

Being exponents of all the virtues will not do it. Nor will devotion. Nor good intentions. Nor doing one's duty. Nor will being a good provider or a crackerjack cook. The only think that will keep the domestic machinery running without friction and hitting on every cylinder is common sense.

Because common sense takes marriage as it is and makes the best of it. It doesn't expect too much of marriage, nor of themselves. And so they are not disappointed when they find that the holy estate is not the Eylsium it is press-agented to be, and that they have espoused just plain human beings, instead of romantic heroes or angels.

Nor do they throw up their hands and quit and cry out that marriage is a failure when the sledding gets hard. They put their backs and their head and their hearts into making it a success, and they work just as hard trying to make a go of it as they would at nursing any other unpromising venture into a paying concern. For common sense makes them see that they have invested everything they have in a wedding certificate and they can't afford to lose out on it.

Makes Mates Avoid Little Faults

And it takes common sense to make husband and wives walk high, wide and handsome around each other's faults and peculiarities, instead of trying to reform them. They know that we will forgive our mates all the major and minor sins if only they will be easy to live with. So they laugh off each other's little ways and leave it to others to correct their grammar and argue with them over their opinions.

Poets and novelists have taught us that love is the most important thing in marriage. It is not. Every day we see husbands and wives who love each other to death, fighting like cats and dogs. It takes common sense to settle the problems of marriage. And lots of it.

Y.W.C.A. Club Doings

The Girls' Council brings this season's activities to a close with the Maytime Dance to be held in the gym on Friday, next. Music will be supplied by the Melody Men and the decorating committee headed up by Ada Smith is deep in plans for winding a maypole and producing a May garden. From passing conversations one catches snatches of "Oh, I'm digging out my old pink net with the billowy skirt. It will look like new amongst all the artificial flowers." The ticket sale is in the hands of Doris Royea and tickets may be secured from the following council members: Leona McMillan, Flora Metcalfe, Jean Ferguson, Jean McTavish, Ina Robinson, Isabel McCamus, Dorothy Hepburn, Iris Forbes, Shirley Moldaver, Betty Detcher, Jean Elcombe, Jean Carew, Peggy Couch, Maye Lambert, Christine Whatley, Ada Smith, Iris Hopkins, Opal Robinson and Eleanor Taylor.

The Tuesday Intermediate Business girls have decided to disband until next season. Eleanor Taylor is temporary council representative.

The Canada Club spent an enjoyable evening on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Rostocky. A lively discussion took place on present social conditions and post-war planning. This is the last meeting of this season but the members are attending the tea at the "Y" on Friday afternoon to get acpuainted with newcomers to the community.

The '38 Club held their regular meeting in the Club Room on Wednesday. Leona McMillan presided. An interesting and witty script on Political Partism prepared by Mr. L. J. Pettit was produced by Mr. Pettit with Elizabeth Elliott, Audrey Oliver and Betty Detcher taking part. The business meeting followed and plans were made for a hike with Mr. Alex Kay on Saturday afternoon, June 3rd and for the closing picnic on Wednesday, June 7th. It was decided to send three or four children to camp and the following committee was appointed to make arrangements: Lena Dewart, Jean Walters, Flora Metcalfe and Roberta Deyell. The balance of the club funds, will be donated to the Mrs. Winston Churchill fund. The following members were appointed to the nominating committee for next year's executive: Margaret Edmison, Jean Walters, and Betty Detcher. The council report was given by Flora Metcalfe. The Youth Commission report was given by Jean Carew. Lunch was served by Winnifred Metcalfe and Rena Toms.

The Junior Supper Club met on Thursday to make plans for the hike to be held next Thursday in place of the regular meeting. The closing party will take the form of a weiner roast on June 3rd.

The Gym-Swim club entertained a number of men from the camp at a dance in the Recreation Room on Thursday. Music was supplied by Jack Marshall. Doreen Wells and her groups were in charge of arrangements. The last meeting of the season will be held next week at suppertime at the home of Doris and Marguerite Royea.

The Friday Supper Club last week was presided over by Agnes Weddell, program convener, in the absence of the president, Jean Ferguson. The secretary Betty Blewett, is working with the Farm Service Force. The council report was given by Jean McTavish. It was decided to cancel the meeting on the 19th since many of the girls will be attending the council dance. Supper was prepared by Lila Melburn, Shirley Prophet, Jeanne Metcalfe, Laura Lee, Jean Leach and Mary King.

The Advisors' Council held its last meting on Thursday when the council went on a hike to Jackson's Park. Those present were: Flora Metcalfe, Lena Dewart, Eileen Sellon, Adele Milburn and Roberta Kiefer.

Jean Powers Weds Chester Fisher

George Street United church, decorated with ferns, snapdragons, tulips and roses, was the setting for a pretty wedding Friday evening, when Marjorie Jean Powers became the bride of Chester Warren Fisher. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Powers, George street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fisher, 185 Sophia street. Rev. H. L. Roberts officiated. Mrs. C. Renaud was at the organ, and during the signing of the register, played "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded satin, made on long torso lines, with a sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves coming to a point over each wrist. She wore white satin slippers and a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her long veil of English net was caught to her head with lily of the valley, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Pink Delight roses.

Miss Gladys Burley, of Oshawa, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, in a turquoise jersey gown, made on long torso lines, with a frilled neckline, long silk gloves, and a strand of pearls. Her headdress was made of matching flowers, with a veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. William Fisher was best man, and Mr. Frank Fisher, brother of the groom, and Mr. Howard Anderson, were ushers.

At the reception held in the church parlors, the bride's mother received in a gown of printed silk, with a black straw hat, and a corsage of Briarcliff roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in a gown of Airforce blue crepe, matching hat, navy accessories, and a corsage of Briarcliff roses.

For a trip to Ottawa and points east, the bride chose a navy tailored suit, colorful hat, and matching accessories. On their return, the young couple will live at 207 Brock street.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather adverse one, with many phases of difficulties and perplexities. Routine matters may not turn into prolific or satisfactory channels, unless the light of new ideas or out-of-the-orthodox or conventional manner of doing things be adapted and with skill and innovation. The curious, strange and novel has some chance of furnishing productive results. In romantic or emotional connections there may be strange or dramatic moments with high adventure and thrills, of a gratifying nature. Keep restrained and poised.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year for expressing novel ideas, or unusual bright ways of doing old things, with perhaps spectacular results or some measure of public success or approval for daring to be independent and original. Use ingenuity and discard all that may be effete or outmoded and progress awaits. In social affairs there may likewise be the thrill of novelty, the adventurous and unconventional, perhaps sensational.

A child born on this day may have originality, unique skills or ideas, running counter to the usual course of events, in its private as well as business aspirations.

For Monday, May 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of definite openings for using a situation to build a secure and enduring future, with stable position and industrial security, although the very effort at such solidification entails some risks. A tendency to over-expensive ideas and prodigality in the outlay of funds or other substance might prove hazardous. It might be advisable to confer with wiser heads and to conserve the energies and resources and not be influenced by impulse or emotionalism.

Those whose birthday it is may have a substantial opportunity for making the future stable by industry, diligence and the accumulation of real possessions. However, this situation may be put in jeopardy by an extravagant use of funds, resources and energies, or the possible tendency to be governed by the emotions or impulses in making decisions. It might be well to consult elders or superiors.

A child born on this day may have much stability but may be governed by its emotions or extravagances.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Whipper Billy Watson is different from a lot of champions. He is not the least bit temperamental. Many athletes, good enough to hold the British Empire title and the spot of No. 1 contender for the world's championship, would refuse to do battle with an opponent they had beaten only a week before. But the Whipper did not hesitate for a moment when he was told that Verne Baxter, the fast-moving, hard-hitting Oregon grappler had asked for another bout and that Promoter Frank Tunney had granted the Pacific Coast contender's request. "It's all right with me," said the Toronto mat star. "If Baxter thinks he can come any closer to beating me than he did here Tuesday I am quite willing to give him a chance to show it. Personally I don't think he can. I took the first fall then in 16 minutes and perhaps I took things a little too easy after that success. Anyway he got in a few punches on my back that did not do me any good and I was satisfied from then in to keep from being thrown for I had a fall to my credit and that was all I needed to win. I'll try to keep from getting behind the 8-ball Tuesday if I can help it."

* * * * * *

On the other hand Baxter whose vicious attacks surprised and angered the fans here Tuesday thinks that the Whipper was lucky to win that battle. The Oregon battler argues that the only fall scored was due to his own rashness rather than to any special cleverness on Watson's part. "After that," says Baxter, "I don't think that anybody who saw that scrap will deny that I had the edge over the British Empire champ for the rest of the bout." Perhaps Baxter has something on the ball there. He certainly made it tough all the way for Watson, was on the attack most of the time and there were plenty of occasions when it looked as if the Whipper's shoulders were going to be pinned to the mat. The Oregon performer thinks that he has solved Watson's style and that as a result of his experience he can go on and beat the champ Tuesday. A lot of other folk have thought the same thing in regard to the Whipper only to find out later that they had been all wrong. We have an idea that such will be the case with Baxter but at least it should produce a lot of excitement while he is trying the experiment.

Good and Bad

The Yanks lost a ball game yesterday when they were tossed for a 10 to 4 loss by the Detroit Tigers. But the New Yorkers voted it a good in spite of the defeat. The reason? Simply that Ernie Bonham, one of their ace pitchers was turned down for the United States army because of an old back injury. The Yanks didn't mind the defeat after that. Newhouser won the game, holding the New Yorkers to eight hits. The loss went down alongside the name of Zuber. There were four homers in the battle Bud Metheny and Levey clouting one each for the Yanks while Higgins and Outlaw came through with round-trippers for the Tigers. Tex Hughson picked up another win in the other afternoon game played yesterday and the ace right-hander of the Boston Red Sox had an easy time turning the trick for his teammates piled up a total score of 10 runs for him to work on. The final count was 10 to 3 so Tex didn't have a great deal over which to tear his hair.

* * * * * *

In the National League the New York Giants who have been having a tough time for several weeks finally halted their slump by taking a 5 to 3 fall out of the Cincinnati Reds with Feldman who went in in a relief capacity being giving the credit for the kill. Heusser was the losing Red pitcher. Boston Braves had an easy time taking care of the Pittsburg Pirates. The final count was 10 to 3 with the Braves cracking out 12 hits to help pile up a score. Roe was the Pirate pitcher who found the defeat chalked up against him. In the third game of the afternoon the Philadiphia Blue Jays who are finding the clubs of the west not any tougher than the eastern outfits had a field day at the expense of the Chicago Cubs. Derringer who can't seem to win for Chicago was the losing gunner while Charlie Shanz, one of the best rookies of the season grabbed off the win. The Phillies continue to be one of the sensations of the season and so far have refused to fold up.

Night Baseball Popular

"Most noteworthy feature of the major league baseball to date from a crowd standpoint is the attraction of the night games," says Bill Walshe in the Ottawa Journal. "There are unmistakable signs that the games under lights will serve a double purpose—satisfying the fans whose war tasks prevent them from afternoon attendance on a pre-war scale, and at the same time making it a profitable venture for club owners. For instance, at Pittsburg the turnout last night of 28,000 was more than double the largest previous opening day crowd. Washington was close to the 20,000 mark, and Cincinnati had 16,000 for their night attraction. Although these night games were openers and the crowds are likely to fall off for a time, owners in all cases are highly impressed by the possibilities. There are some baseball men still definitely opposed to the night fixtures, but there is nothing like the clicking of those turnstiles to change opinions. All signs now point to the games under lights boosting attendances for one of baseball's biggest years."

* * * * * *

Down in Belleville the idea has been proposed of selecting an all-star softball team covering the past ten years, with the players chosen by the fans. Ken Colling has this to say about it: "During Tuesday night's softball conclave, when Prexy Joe Samain's city mushballers jammed a 42-game schedule into just about one half that many playing dates, Homer "Red" Townsend suggested that the public be encouraged to name an all-star softball team selected from the city league teams (including Point Anne) over a period of the past ten years. Red, who has relinquished his holdings on coaching junior softball, was named to the league's umpiring staff bringing Chief of Staff Bawden's roster up to about a dozen. Maybe Prexy Samain believes there is safety in numbers. Mr. Townsend feels that by having the public select an all-time all-star team it will stimulate interest in the game, which may be true. But a more certain method would be to speed up the games and permit less loafing. As for the selection of the No. 1 all-star team selected from local teams over a period of ten years maybe Mr. Townsend will start the ball rolling."

Dutton Stalls On Taking NHL Leadership

MONTREAL, May 13—(CP).—Mervyn (Red) Dutton was tendered the presidency of the National Hockey League Friday at the annual meeting of the loop here, but he said he regretted that he could not definitely accept the position until he consulted with his business partners in the West.

Only For Duration.

"Under any circumstances," he added, "I would only accept the presidency for the duration; I hope to be able to make my decision within the next month or six weeks."

Mr. Dutton has been acting as managing director of the league since the late Frank Calder's death in 1942.

The rest of the day-long session was taken up by the election of governors, committees and the drafting of four minor league players by the New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks.

If Mr. Dutton would accept the presidency he would become the second in the modern history of the N.H.L. Frank Calder was its chief executive from its inception in 1917 until his death. At that time Dutton, together with Major E. W. Bickle of Toronto Maple Leafs, and Lester Patrick of New York Rangers, were elected as an executive committee, with Dutton as managing director.

Rangers Draft Three.

New York Rangers drafted three minor league players in an early start to bolster their 1944-45 team. They were Walter Atanas, a right-winger from Buffalo; Harold Cooper, right wing from Providence, and Alex Ritson, Indianapolis centre.

Black Hawks put in application to draft Peter Horeck, Cleveland left wing, who played with Ottawa Commandos in the Quebec Senior Hockey League last season following his discharge from the Canadian Army.

The dispute between Montreal Canadiens and the Buffalo Hockey Club of the American Hockey League regarding Goaltender Yves Nadon was discussed. The board of governors upheld the decision of the president in awarding the player to the Stanley Cup champions. Mr. Dutton's original decision had been protested by the A.H.L. executive on the recommendation of Eddie Shore's Buffalo club.

Elected as governors for the following season were: Lester Patrick of New York Rangers; James Norris, Detroit Red Wings; Senator D. Raymond, Montreal Canadiens; Arthur H. Ross, Boston Bruins; Major E. W. Bickle, Toronto Maple Leafs; W. J. Tobin, Chicago Black Hawks.

The rules committee, which is scheduled to meet later this year to deal with proposed changes, will consist of C. H. (Happy) Day, Frank Boucher, Art Ross and Mr. Dutton. Messrs. Patrick, Frank Selke and the president were named to the committee on relations.

The management committee named consisted of Messrs. Patrick, Jack Adams, Art Ross, W. J. Tobin, Frank Selke and T. P. Gorman. Major Bickle, James Norris and Ned Irish make up the finance committee.

Private settlement was announced between the Canadiens and Boston Bruins regarding the services of Player Bert Gardiner.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 13 — (CP). — Devotees of the game of soccer have always puzzled why the head-and-toe pastime has failed to gain widespread popularity in Canada. It is played in many centres, usually where there is a core of transplanted Britishers, but John Q. Phan has never taken much of an interest in the game as far as the turning out to support the players is concerned.

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara delved into the mystery and came up with the suggestion soccer has lagged behind the ubiquitous eight-ball because officials have hogged the spotlight. In his opinion, too much publicity has been given the executive end of the game and not enough to the players. If the game was publicized and colored up with oozing personalities like hockey and baseball is, all would be changed, Baz said.

There might be something to that, but proximity of the United States and U.S. football has much to do with it as well. That's why British rugby, as well as soccer, has been pushed out in the cold in most inland sections of the country.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The club delegates to the annual meeting of the National Hockey League at Montreal yesterday offered the presidency to Mervyn (Red) Dutton Dutton, now acting managing director of the major circuit, but he replied he could not give a definite decision immediately.

In an early move to bolster the squad, New York Rangers announced the drafting of three minor league players while Black Hawks applied for Peter Horeck of Cleveland Barons who had played for Ottawa Commandos following his discharge from the Canadian army.

Lester Patrick of Rangers, James Norris of Detroit Red Wings, Senator Donat Raymond of Canadiens, Art Ross of Boston Bruins, Maj. E. W. Bickle of Toronto Leafs and W. J. Tobin of Chihawks were elected members of the board of governors.

Go To Navy

Four regulars of the Stratford Nationals in the Inter County Baseball Association have been ordered to report to the Royal Canadian Navy May 22 and the position of the team is in doubt. The four are "Irish" Miskimmons, Hugh McGillivray, "Silve" McCuaig and "Hap" Baird.

Seven three-year-olds, including Pensive, Platter, Stir Up and Gramps Image, are expected to go to the post at Pimlico today for the 54th annual Preakness, worth $60,710 to the winner. A fast track was in prospect for the mile and three-sixteenth race which was won last year by Mrs. John D. Hertz' Count Fleet.

President Ed Barrow of the New York Yankees announced yesterday Pitcher Ernie Bonham had been classified 4-F although he had passed his army medical examination in California last March. Shortstop Mike Milosevich, however, had been classed 1-A.

Pitcher Retires

Preferring to remain with his job in a shipyard at Philadelphia, Harry Shuman, 28-year-old pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, yesterday was retired at his own request.

The blanket insurance plan for jockeys and exercise boys on Ontario tracks this season was endorsed last night at a meeting of directors of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association in Toronto.

The only left-handed twirler in the squad, Talmadge Abernathy, was released outright by the Philadelphia Athletics last night to Memphis of the South Association.

Chicago Cubs yesterday lost two pitchers to the U.S. Navy yesterday when Leslie Fleming and Henry Wyse were accepted for service at Chicago. Outfielder Ed Sauer was turned down a second time.

Lanier Wins 5 For Cards; Borowy Has 4

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Max Lanier, the "hard luck guy" of the 1943 World Series, today ranks as the top pitcher of the Major Leagues with a five-game winning streak for the front running St. Louis Cardinals.

Although Hank Borowy of the Yankees also is undefeated, the Cards' chunky southpaw from Denton, N.C., has won one more game than the New York ace and rates the top spot by allowing only six runs and 30 hits in 45 innings. His latest effort was a 7-2 decision last night over his old "cousins" from Brooklyn whom he has stopped 16 times in 23 tries during his career.

Things were different for Lanier last fall when his wild pitch "hid" from Catcher Walker Cooper in plain sight of 68,000 Yankee Stadium fans to cost him the opening series game. He also failed to win his second series start.

After blanking Pittsburgh on opening day, 2-0, the Carolina curver twice topped Chicago, and whipped Cincinnati before last night's seven-hitter against the Dodgers.

Night ball continued to pull out the crowds with 47,501 paying to see the three after dark engagements to an aggregate of 13,957 for five daytime frays.

Browns Cop Win

The St. Louis Brownies lashed out with 15 hits, scoring five times to flatten Early Wynn in the first inning, stopping Washington, 6-4, behind Bob Muncrief. By the night victory, Luke Sewell's persistent crew went back into first place in the American League because the Yankees were beaten by Detroit's Hal Newhouser, 10-4. Pinky Higgins helped Hal become the first lefthander to trim the champs this season by belting a homer and two singles to drive in five runs.

Bobo Newsom was at his best before a "first night" audience of 19,708 at Philadelphia and rationed Chicago to five hits in hurling the A's to a 4-2 verdict.

Boston did its part in boosting the day's big league hit total to 170 by collecting 14 behind Tex Hughson in a 10-3 slaughter of Cleveland.

Mel Ott benched Ducky Medwick despite his .366 average and the New York Giants squeezed past Cincinnati 5-3 using three pitchers.

Charley Schanz lifted the Phils into second place by trimming Chicago with 8 hits 9-3 and the Boston Braves revelled in their new-found batting punch by slugging Pittsburgh 10-3.

Buffalo Wins Fourth Straight

By the Associated Press.

The hot and cold Buffalo Bisons of the International League are hot right now. Manager Bucky Harris is keeping his fingers crossed for fear that they may begin to cool off.

The Bisons won their fourth straight game last night, 3-0, at the expense of Jersey City. Jack Tising gave up only three hits for the second shutout hurled by a Buffalo pitcher in the last three games. Only one run was scored by the opposition in the 27 innings.

Previously Bufalo had lost five in a row to fall into seventh place in the standings. Four of these losses had been to the Little Giants.

The league leading Rochester Red Wings continued to get great pitching and defeated the tail-end Newark Bears 8-1. Bill Trotter allowed the Bears only three hits to rack up this third triumph. Mickey Burnett connected for two triples, driving in half of Rochester's runs.

Leslie Goldstein hit a home run with the bases full to lead the Syracuse Chiefs to a 9-2 victory over the Montreal Royals. Jim Konstanty held the Royals to eight hits to register his fourth win of the year.

Toronto scored two in the tenth inning after Baltimore had tallied once to win a close 5-4 decision for their third straight. Blas Monace of the losers was the hitting star with a double, triple, and a homer.

To-day's games and probable pitchers:

Jersey City at Buffalo, 8:30 p.m., Bertleson vs. Eaton; Syracuse at Montreal, 2:30 p.m., Bebber vs. Travis; Newark at Rochester, 2:00 p.m., Queen vs Gardner; Baltimore at Toronto (2), 2 p.m., Homokay and West vs. Mustaikis and Knerr.

Name Governors For Baseball

WICHITA, Kas., May 13—(CP)—The National Baseball Congress today approved the appointments of three commissioners in the Canadian sandlot baseball program, which will decide the Dominion title at Toronto early in August.

The appointments, previously submitted by Lloyd Douglas of Toronto, Canadian Commissioner, are: Herbert Carroll, Fort William, Thunder Bay District Commissioner; J. F. Stewart, Regina, Saskatchewan Provincial Commissioner; and Rolly McClenahan, Sudbury, Ont., northern Ontario commissioner.

President Ray Dumont of Wichita said all provincial commissioners would be named by July 1.

Championship play-offs will be held throughout Canada with the Canadian champions playing the United States titleholders in the first Canadian-American championship tournament starting at Wichita Aug. 30. It will be a best-of-seven series.

Lifford Group Has Card Party

LIFFORD LINE, May 13 (ENS)—The War Workers of Lifford held a successful card party and dance in the Lifford Community Hall Wednesday evening with about one hundred people in attendance.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing euchre. When the scores were counted Mrs. Earnest Staples of Fleetwood and Edward Lathangue of Lifford were winners. Suitable awards had been donated by Mrs. Lawrence Staples, president of the Society and Miss Emma Lathangue, a member.

Mrs. Lily Richardson of Pontypool provided music for dancing, and Morton Davis and Don. Emery called off for square dancing.

During the evening and previously tickets were sold on a print quilt donated by Mrs. George Page and quilted by the Lifford women. Lawrence Staples, chairman for the occasion, asked little Marion Wright to draw a ticket from the box. The holder of the lucky ticket was Mrs. Percy Preston.

The door receipts with the proceeds of the sale of tickets on the quilt amount to well over $40, which will further the cause of war work at Lifford.

Mr. George Tims has been confined to bed and under the doctor's care for the past ten days.

A number of farmers in the Lifford section have completed seeding for this spring. A few have been prevented from making a start owing to excessive moisture due to unusually heavy rains.

Mrs. Lavergne McKinley suffered an unusual accident recently. While lowering the bars for the admittance of some cattle in the McKinley property, one of the animals in attempting to speed up operations jarred the holder of the bar, causing her to lose footing and sprain her back.

Mrs. Henry Ward, who had a successful farm sale recently, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Peters. Since that date she has left for an extended visit with her brother, Mr. Bruce Hawkins, west of Lindsay.

Victory Loan In Peterborough $170,000 Over

Peterborough climbed over its $4,500,000 Sixth Victory Loan objective Friday, the seventeenth day of the campaign, for a total investment of 4,670,000, a percentage of 103.5, and surplus of $170,000, which, at a rough estimate is likely to be doubled when the Saturday returns are counted.

The story broke Friday morning from headquarters, and the rest is simply an after climax recital, as the city and county coast along on the momentum which will probably carry some subscriptions into Monday.

Friday's investments (in gilt edged, interest bearing Dominion of Canada Victory Bonds backed by arms and the lives of the men of the armed forces) amounted to $331,800 in the official reckoning.

If that second last day's subscriptions were an average for the three weeks it would have produced a grand total of $5,972,400, an index of the reserve purchasing power that appeared on the seventeenth day to make certain of Peterborough's ascent into the company of 100% communities throughout Canada.

The day's Bond buying was made up of $163,000 from the payroll savings section, including the local Training Centre and civil servants; $125,650 from the general canvass in the city; and $43,150 from the general canvass in the townships and villages of the county. The total of $331,800 must have been an expansive and heart-lifting surprise to everybody.

The City Canvass

Subscriptions in the general canvass in the city raised its total to $1,471,300 as compared with $1,345,650 as reported Thursday, an advance of $125,650, leaving $78,700 as the final and clinching job for Saturday.

And if the city makes its objective, the campaign will be a complete success across its constituent divisions, for the county lacked only $950 to put their total at the 100% level. It is altogether likely that canvassers finished the day with applications enough in their brief cases to polish off the rural undertaking and leave a substantial surplus.

Smith On Top

The quota for the rural general canvass is $600,000, and the total of subscriptions from the townships and villages registered $599,050 in the results issued from headquarters late Friday. And that 'peanut' margin remains a push-over at the rate the rural subscriptions have been pouring in this week.

For the seventeen days of sustained action, Smith was leading with 123% of their objective; Dummer was second with 117.33%; North Monaghan third at 116.5%; Ennismore fourth at 106.66% and Havelock fifth at 102.02% of their objective.

Belmont-Methuen, Lakefield and Asphodel were reported yesterday in the 100% brackets, but persumably the canvassers' returns had not actually reached headquarters.

Referring only to the official statement, Lakefield was knocking at the door with 98.73%; Asphodel was close behind at the 97.89% mark; and Belmont-Methuen, Warden Isaac Anderson's bailiwick, was teetering on the rim of 97.8%.

The other percentages of objective were: Douro 94; Norwood 92.58; the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther 88.78; Otonabee 83.38.

The Day's Percentages

At two-thirds of the way along the course Wednesday, Asphodel township moved up four points in the percentage column on Thursday, and on Friday the southeastern township turned on the heat for 27.76 points, soaring to 97.89 per cent of their quota.

Lakefield was second with a 24.73% advance to 98.73 percent, a long stride from 65.82% on Wednesday.

The city's payroll savings division was next in percentage accomplishment with 17.15.

Ennismore came through with 16.24 points to parade with the hundred percenters; and the other northern group of townships, Harvey, Chandos, Burleigh and Anstruther showed an advance of 14.78 points in their percentage standing.

Douro moved up 12.14 points, and Dummer kept plugging away for another 4.16 points.

Smith was credited with 2.94 points, Norwood 2.49 and North Monaghan 2 points.

The County's $43,150

In the amount of subscriptions Friday, Lakefield village headed the rural field with $13,600; Asphodel was second with $10,550; the northern group, Harvey, Chandos, Burleigh and Anstruther, $6,650; Douro, $4,250; Smith, $2,650; Ennismore, $1,950; Norwood, $1,450; Dummer, $1,250.

Summarized percentages last night were:

County grand total	101.9
Special Names	102.86
Payroll Savings, etc.	113.16
County canvass	99.84
City canvass	94.92
County-city canvass	96.29

The final day's attention will be fixed on the results from the city general canvass, because the county is certainly going over the 100% line.

Amounts Subscribed

The itemized objectives and amounts subscribed for seventeen days but not including late returns Friday afternoon were:

	Objective	Secured To date

Total general and employees canvass	3,100,000	3,145,400
Special names	1,400,000	1,440,000
County grand total	$4,500,000	$4,585,400

Selling Beauty To Peterborough Easy Job Shrub Salesman Finds In Extensive Travels

Selling beauty to Peterborough is Charlie Cowan's conception of his job as sales representative of Brookdale nurseries.

"When those Bechel's crab trees that I have sold here and there around Peterborough begin blooming, seventy-five or hundred of them—that's what I mean."

These pink flowering trees, comparative miniatures but overgrown shrubs, first attracted general attention of the Peterborough public when they reached the stage of bloom along the George Street front of King Edward Park. They were planted during the time the late Walter Stocker was chairman of the city's parks committee.

They make a generous splash of pinkish white, during a too brief blooming, and the memory of their soft loveliness remains through the months to the next spring. Citizens saw them down the park and naturally dramatized their own lawns and boulevards in the enchancement of such graceful beauty.

Easy Job

"So, you can understand that it was comparatively easy selling Bechel's crab trees. And by the way I could sell 10,000 rose bushes in my district, but we have hardly one left; only a few odds and ends. Dwarf evergreens are likely to be fewer and also smaller next year. Increased demand, even in wartime or perhaps because of wartime and wish of the people to obtain some compensating factor to offset the grimness of these war years, the worry and sacrifice, something to lighten the darkness, more people buying in a time of labor shortage,—that is the explanation of the difficulty of keeping up stocks of bushes and trees and shrubs. Our staff is cut in half, and some of them are helpers we get from plants like canning factories that can spare them for a few weeks at a time."

Vicarious modesty lays a restraint on one of Mr. Cowan's remarks spoken casually and with obvious sincerity. However, this is it: "The people of Peterborough whom I have met in the last seventeen years are the most courteous people I have met. I know they welcome me when I come around, because they want to know more about beautifying their homes.

"That is this job of mine is so pleasant, and if the local people keep on planting shrubs and bushes and trees, Peterborough will increase in beauty from summer to summer. I say that because I know the quantity of stock I am selling here, and there are others too."

Preening Time

Incidentally, Mr. Cowan recommended that the dwarf evergreens, the pyramidal forms and so on, should be proud about the middle of June.

"If the people will only take care of their trees and shrubs, look after them, see that they get some of the food that they need, and then be patient until they mature! You can't expect flowers to bloom before their time. You have to wait two or three years for some of the climbing rose bushes to grow up, as it were, and then they pay you in full with their flowering.

Minister Plans Municipal Probe

TORONTO, May 13—(CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar of Ontario said to-day the Department of Municipal Affairs will investigate the present system under which municipal and commission counsel receive costs awarded in legal actions won by the municipality or commission.

"I have never been in favor of any official employed by a municipality or commission receiving any income of that nature," said Mr. Dunbar.

He said also inquries will be made about a system in some municipalities in which the treasurer receives additional fees as commission on the sale of lands and in others where clerks receive a commission on marriage license fees.

Toronto To Get 250 New Homes

TORONTO, May 13—(CP)—Mayor Fred Conboy last night announced he had received approval of Munitions Minister Howe to erect 250 semi-permanent houses here for rent to families of members of the armed forces. Work will be started within 10 days or two weeks, he added.

An additional 250 will be built if city council considers them necessary.

The mayor said the houses would not be built on one location but would be in various parts of the city on city-owned property. Each house will cost about 3,000 and some will have six rooms with four bedrooms and others four rooms with two bedrooms.

Rent will range from $24 to $30 monthly. A fixed tax on the land will be turned over to the Dominion Government.

Two Societies Meet Jointly

MILLBROOK, May 13—(ENS)—A joint meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary and the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church was held this week at the Parsonage, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, president of the W.A. taking the chair for the opening period, and Mrs. Franklin Bannister having charge of the devotions, and taking up the theme "Faith," based on Hebrew's 12. Mrs. Sisco offered the closing prayer.

The secretary, Miss Josie Sutton, reported that shrubs will be purchased for the front of the church, instead of the annuals chosen in previous years, also that fees at the April meeting were $1.95; mile of coppers, 79 cents; donation of 50 cents from Miss Finnimore, and $4.53 from the Sunshine Bags, all of which are not yet in.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, showed $123 from the sale of tickets for the I.O.O.F. banquet; $15.90 from sale of tickets to workers; $5 donation, and $3.10 from sale of baking; a total of $147; expenses have yet to be deducted, all accounts not being on hand. On motion, it was decided to collect voluntary subscriptions in lieu of the annual hostess tea, held the latter part of May. Receiving subscriptions are: Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, Mrs. McKnight and Miss Sutton. The money is to be in by the June meeting.

Mrs. A. L. Sisco took the program or the W.M.S. Miss M. E. Hetherington gave the financial report to the end of April: Members' fees, $7.50; Easter thankoffering, $41.25; envelopes, $8.90; mite-box, 50 cents; donations, $33.03; total $91.18; other thankoffering envelopes came in later, and the president reminded the members that a decided effort will be necessary to have the half-year's allocation in by the end of June.

Mrs. F. J. Smith gave the Christian Stewardship message, "The Christian Use of Money," and the leader took up the study book "All of Life for Christ," those assisting being: Mrs. Weston Fallis, Miss Ethel Hatherly, Mrs. J. H. George, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, Miss M. Finnemore and Miss E. L. Hetherington. These gave stories from various mission fields showing how, in all the world, the harvest of souls won for Christ is being gathered. This was the first joint meeting of the two societies held locally, and over thirty-five were present.

Boy, 15, Goes To Reformatory

BANCROFT, May 13—(ENS)—At Bancroft police court this week, presided over by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd, the following cases were disposed of:

Two boys from Lake St. Peter were taken into custody as the result of a check-up by Provincial Officer S. W. Palmateer and Town Constable R. F. Delyea. The constables acted on a complaint about fifteen cottages on Lake St. Peter having been broken into and fishing tackle and blankets taken from them all. The older was found guilty on fifteen charges of breaking, entering and theft and was committed to the boys' training school at Bowmanville until he reaches the age of 21 years. He is now only fifteen.

The second, aged 13, was placed on suspended sentence paying court costs of $8.50.

J. Oliver Hilts of Coe Hill was found guilty on a serious charge under the criminal code and paid costs of $52.50 and placed on suspended sentence.

Four people were called into court including one minor charged under the breach of the L.C.A. and found guilty, three of which each paid $10 and costs while the fourth, a minor, found guilty on three charges as the result of purchasing, haying, and having a permit in his posession, was assessed $57.50 costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden Leaving Fraserville

FRASERVILLE, May 13—(ENS)—A large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the Orange Hall, Fraserville, on Wednesday to honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holden and their daughter Jean, who are leaving the community soon to reside in Millbrook.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of McIntosh Bradshaw until the supper hour, when Ray Findlay asked Mr. and Mrs. Holden and their daughter to come to the front. Mr. Findlay expressed, on behalf of the community, their sorrow in losing the Holden family as they resided here for some twenty years.

Hilliard Waterman then read an address and R. Findlay, Roy Smith and Rollie Atchison presented Mr. and Mrs. Holden with a studio couch, and Miss Holden with an occasional table from the community.

An address was read to Miss Holden by Mrs. Leigh Hewitt and Ray Bothwell presented a dresser set from the Sunday school and church. She also was teacher of one of the classes in the Sunday school and this class presented her with a glass dish.

The family thanked everyone for their kindness and invited everyone to visit them in their new home.

Friends were present from Cavan, Millbrook, Peterborough and South Monaghan.

Penny Box Total Now $2,187 For War Victims

The old saying that "Many a mickle makes a muckle" was never better amplified than through the story of the work that some forty penny boxes scattered throughout the city in some of the various places of business have been doing on behalf of the Peterborough and District War Victims Fund.

First starting off with a gift of the boxes themselves through the kindness of Sam Whitehouse of the Canadian Sealright Co. Ltd., and furnished with labels through the kindness of D.D.C. Dawe, printers, they have since early 1941 been making their silent appeal, and at the moment may be found located at all three Theatres, the Empress Hotel, the Bank of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Bank of Toronto, Dominion Bank, Grafton's Ltd., R. Fair Ltd., R. Hall Ltd., Hooper's Center Store, United Cigar Store, Payne's Drug, McLeod's Drug Store, Utilities Offices, Warne's Jewellery, Routley's China Shop, St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough Pet Shop, The In and Out Shop, Canadian Tire Corp. Associate Store, Examiner Office, Zeller's store, Bulhler's Meat Shop, Bell Telephone Co. Ltd. Office, Northam's Bakery, Silvermoon Grill, W. H. Hamilton Grocery, C.D.S. Ready to wear dept., Mrs. Whiddon's Service Station, LeBarr's News Shop, The Brewery Warehouse, McMahon's Store at Crawfords Grove and Loblaw's Grocerteria.

The returns from these have been truly remarkable, no one ever dreaming that they would go to such heighths as to produce almost one entire gift of £500. on their own account, and since a sum of $2,240. is required for that purpose, it can be seen how close they have actually come to that amount, when it is disclosed that to-date the same boxes have produced the sum of $2,187.81 in money raised for the fund.

One of the Best Producers

Playing a major part in this splendid achievement, the box at the Empress Hotel is really entitled to special recognition, for it has produced on a scale that places it in the forefront of this one particular assist to the fund, to-day's contribution of $12.75 being ample evidence of such, for it is just one month to the day that it was previously shown in this column from the previous collection made at that time. This is due in a large measure to the daily contribution made by the proprietor to help those stricken through air raids over Britain.

Then another good producer is also listed in this day's receipts, the boxes at the Bank of Montreal being credited with $6.25, following on other good amounts which have come to the fund from them on previous occasions. The penny boxes as a whole rank second highest in total amount that have come to the fund from any one particular source and if any individual or business house would care to assist the fund in this way, the secretary of the fund would be glad to supply a box on request.

Public Uninterested In Potato Supply

Possibly it has been a difference in background altering the spring potato market— scarcity of supply and scrambling demand a year ago as compared with ample stock and seeming indifference by the consuming public this year.

These last few Saturdays have produced an abundance of potatoes, but orders have been comparatively few, and most buyers pass along as if their last interest was potatoes.

The Examiner asked Frank C. Paterson about the current market, and his answer was to the effect that the province may drift into the usual potato cycle.

"The tendency seems to be when seed is plentiful, as at present, to ease up on plating, and then a scarcity overtakes us we all begin thinking of seed and planting, and so it goes," Mr. Paterson said. "I understand there is ample seed stock in this district, and every reason for people to put in gardens, make the best use of this supply of seed, and be all set for the normal needs of next winter."

DUTY OF SCHOOL DOCTOR

Dr. C. M. Scott has drawn to the Examiner's attention an error in the report of the debate about the school doctor published Friday night. In discussing the new doctor, Dr. Scott should have been reported, "She is capable of making a physical check up, but it is not her place to make a diagnosis and treatment."

Candy Comes First

ATLANTA, May 13—(AP).—A four-year-old had his hand stuck in a fire hose socket. "He's got a piece of candy in his fist and won't let go," explained his distraught mother. A bystander rushed into an adjacent dime store, returned with a bag full of candy. The youngster got his hand loose.

LIEUT. BOB HAMILTON

Lt. Bob Hamilton Italy Casualty

After serving with the British 8th Army in Italy through some of its toughest battles without injury, Lieut. Robert M. Hamilton, has been reported wounded in action May 7, extent of injuries not known. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, Homewood avenue.

The young soldier went overseas in the fall of 1942 with the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. He had enlisted following his graduating at college, and made rapid progress. Accompanying the Canadian forces which went to Sicily, he has been serving in the Mediterranean area ever since.

A brother, William Hamilton is serving overseas with the R.C.A.F. and last year was awarded the D.F.C. for courage displayed during a raid. The two boys attended the Peterborough Collegiate.

3 Photographers Award Winners

One Extra Merit Award and seven Awards of Merit were the prizes of Peterborough photographers taking part in the competition of the Ontario Society of Photographers in Toronto this week. This was the Diamond Jubilee of the Society, oldest association of its kind on the North American continent.

The portrait winning the Extra Merit Adward and now on exhibit in Robert Simpson's window in Toronto is of the late E. Stratford Martin, former manager of the Bank of Montreal. It was taken by Fred L. Roy and was one of the very few such awards of recognition given by the judges to contestants representing all parts of the province. The award in itself is indicative of the highest order of photographic craftsmanship.

Mr. Roy also took three Awards of Merit, for pictures of a soldier, a child and a bride. The soldier is Sgt. C. S. Saunders, the son of Charles H. Saunders, 9 Dennistoun avenue. The child is Caird Wilson, grand-daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Forrest of Bewdley and Toronto. The bride is Mrs. Edward (Teddy) Cragg of Peterborough.

Three excellent portraits, exhibiting unusual force and character in the portrayal of their subjects, won Awards of Merit for Fred Cripps. They are of a soldier, Pte. T. Wood of Peterborough; of David Miller of Warsaw, and of E. H. McKone, principal of the Normal school.

Still another Award of Merit was won by a Peterborough photographer. This was a picture by Morris Duke of Peter Fitzpatrick, the 2-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Fitzpatrick, 335 Stewart street.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

MAY 13, 1940—Netherlands government vacated The Hague and royal family fled to Britain as Germans advanced to within 15 miles of Rotterdam. German offensive extended along the entire Belgian front. Allied troops counter-attacked in the Liege-Tongres-St. Trond-Waremme quadrangle.

MAY 14, 1940—Germany forced capitulation of the Netherlands except for the southwest province of Zeeland where resistance continued. Big battle developed around Sedan after Nazis drove wedge into Allied defences at northern end of Maginot Line.

Johnson Motors Subscribes $94,050 In Loan

With 94.2 per cent of their employees lending some of their money to the Government at much better than bank interest, Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company reported a total of $94,050 aggregate subscription of the Victory Loan. They had an objective of $67,000 and they secured $94,050, or 140.3 per cent.

One of the final presentations of Three Star V flags was to the employees of the Peterborough Canoe Company by W. A. Reid, of headquarters. The flag was received by W. A. Richardson, who expressed his appreciation to the staff for the manner in which they had supported the Loan.

Fisher Gauge Company was canvassed in the group payroll section; all the employees bought bonds to the extent of 200 per cent of the shop objective.

Also in the group payroll Three Star V flags were won by the staffs of National Grocers and J. K. Hughes.

A Letter From the Victory Loan Chairman:

National War Finance Committee

Peterborough, County

Saturday, May 13, 1944

CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH COUNTY:

The National War Finance Committee desires to express appreciation to the loyal citizens of the County of Peterborough, whose loyalty and generous support of the 6th Victory Loan has made possible the very successful result.

We would also like to thank publicly the many members of committees, salesmen and the many other individuals and companies who have contributed in so many ways to the success of the loan.

Attendance At Red Cross Clinic Showing Decided Improvement

Increased awareness fo the need for blood plasma was evidence at the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic this week, when for the first time in many weeks, attendance climbed over the hundred mark, with 119 donors present on Wednesday. The total present on Monday reached 81. The Training Centre, which sends men on Friday nights, has also been increasing the number of soldiers. For several weeks, their attendance was cut sharply, but last week 60 men gave their blood to help their comrades at the front.

Mondays donors were:

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FINESSING THEM LOW

WHETHER to finesse the queen of a suit, or the ten, or to shoot some lower card through, or to play your highest for an attempted drop of an honor, can be a complicated question. The answer to it may depend on a variety of factors. One is the probable distribution of the suit indicated by the bidding or previous play. Another is the question of entries into the finessing hand or into the leading one. Another is the danger of letting a particular defender get the lead. Several may be combined in a single case.

The heart lead to the J was taken by the A, and South saw at once that his contract depended pretty much on what he did in spades. He finessed the 10, and the singleton K won it. Back came the heart 6 to the 10 and K, then the third heart to the Q and a fourth, which South got with the 9.

South now scored the spade Q, but when East showed out, he saw that the suit would not break. He scored the A also, then led a diamond. East split honors, playing the Q, and the A won. South led a small diamond, hoping the K would now be singleton. East overtook his partner's good 10 so he could cash his heart 7, setting the contract, and then beat it two more for good measure by leading the club 3, which South finessed. The K won that and the spade J scored another trick for the defenders, downing him three.

Notice how South could have made that contract by playing the spades differently. If he had used the 7 instead of the 10 on the first trick, he would have had five spade tricks instead of two. In fact, with East's heart bid indicating shortage elsewhere, that would not have been unsound. It would have won the day if East had the singly guarded J, singly guarded K or singleton K, all of them quite likely holdings.

Capt. T. Holmes Inspects Cadet Corps

MILLBROOK, May 13—(ENS)—Beginning with a parade from the Armouries, along King Street to the school grounds, the annual inspection of the Millbrook Cadet Corps, No. 348, took place on Friday morning, with Capt. T. Holmes of M.D. No. 3 the inspecting officer for the the third consecutive year.

In addition to the new uniforms which gave the Cadets a smart appearance, a new feature this year was the inclusion of the Millbrook Company of Girl Guides, organized last fall under Capt. Honor Gibson, and looking particularly natty in their navy uniforms with bright red ties. Rhythm and swing for the marching, as well as correct time, both for the parade and at the grounds, was ably backed up by Cpl. Conrad Stinson with the drum, and Cpl. Russell Kennedy was the standard-bearer.

With Capt. Holmes taking the salute at the base as the Cadets marched past, were Lt.-Col. E. H. Bounsell of the local Armouries staff, and Cadet Instructor Percy Hamilton, as well as Sgt. Kent, who made such announcements as were necessary through the megaphone. Marching and counter-marching in mass formation, by the senior and junior platoons and in six separate sections, kept the record of the Millbrook Corps well up to the high peak etsablished in previous years. New features this season included target-shooting with the new Swift training rifle, teaching the boys individually good aim with a machine-gun, and tying a variety of knots.

By kind invitation of Capt. Holmes, the large number of parents and friends present for the inspection were permitted to gather round the several points of interest and gain close-up information on the work being done.

Officers on Job.

Cadet officers, filling their several stations with marked precision and ability, were: Adjutant-Capt. Donald McKnight, Capt. Ted Stinson, Lieuts. Jack Greer, Platoon No. 1, and David Fallis, Platoon No. 2, Sgt.-Maj. Donald Edmunds, Sergts. Willoughby Belch No. 1 and Zenas Ward No. 2, and Cpls. of the six sections respectively, James Deyell, Russell Kennedy, Ted Sisco, Roy Dawson, Lyle McMahon, and Conrad Stinson.

Midway in the morning's events, the Girl Guides came in for their share in the inspection, a part of their manoeuvres including the reading of the company's ideals embodied in a poem from their Fireside Ceremonials, by Guide Betty Thornton. After this, the trefoil from the Guide badge was formed, each letter being the initial one of the various Guide laws. Reversing the trefoil, only the letters "C.G.G." showed Canadian Girl Guides, and when other members held aloft the motto "Be Prepared," the company yell was given with vim and enthusiasm. The Guide pledge repeated in unison, with a suitable chorus, completed this section.

New Uniforms.

Donald Edmunds took charge of the P.T. by the senior Cadets, and here again the boys new outfit—white sweaters with Millbrook in black letters across the chest, with Cadet trousers, were suitable and attractive for the exercises, executed with prompt and accurate obedience to commands.

Capt. Holmes presented the awards, the silver trophy for the most outstanding section going to No. 6, Cpl. Conrad Stinson in command; to the most efficient Girl Guide on the parade day and through the year, the prize went to Patrol Leader Betty Thornton; and for the Cadet judged by the same standard of efficiency throughout the year and at the inspection, the award was presented to Sgt. Zenas Ward. The Strathcona Medal for the best shot in the school was won by Evans Hatherly, now in Peterborough. In his remarks Capt. Holmes congratulated all those who had taken part, "for I believe you each and every one have put into it all the effort you could," and mentioned particularly the welcome addition to the inspection of the Girl Guides, and the smart appearance the new uniforms had effected.

No Fooling.

Somewhat sharply critical, the Captain pointed out that two sections had that day lost their chance of the prize, because in one instance a boy had talked to the Cadet behind him, and in the other one member, inattentive when the command was given, had lagged in the ensuing movement.

"Remember," he said, "you are now wearing His Majesty's uniform and you cannot do as you please when you have it on, nor act in any kind of manner, individually or collectively, else you may be asked to turn it in. Do not slouch on the street when wearing your uniform, either Cadets or Guides; nor do you boys present a slovenly appearance by having your tunics unbuttoned, nor your hands in your pockets. You are part of over 100,000 Cadets across Canada, and I would remind you to always endeavor to live up to their highest ideals."

The usual half-holiday was announced by Capt. Holmes, and the parade back to the Armouries preceded dismissal.

who had also been mentioned in public accounts as owing an alleged amount of $85 to the king's printer, said he was ready to pay all debts "but the taxes are so high we must proceed gradually." The House laughed.

G. M. Weir (L.—MacDonald) said that R. McCubbin (L.—Middlesex West) who also had been mentioned as owing a bill to the printer, had shown a receipt for the sum allegedly owed. Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C.—McLeod) said the reason he owed a little account to the printer was because "I am a poor man."

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced the Canadian wheat board is starting to mail cheques to wheat growers on participation certificates issued to them on the 1940 crop, ranging from 6.166 cents a bushel for No. 2 northern to 20.599 cents for feed wheat and 26.640 cents for No. 1 mixed grain.

Pouliot Protests

Mr. Pouliot, speaking in the debate on an item of $2,177,800 for the censorship office, said he protested against liaison officers of government departments who prevented the press getting news of value and interest to the people. There was no democracy as long as the censors prevented information reaching the public to "create a sanctimonious atmosphere in which our infallible men may sit on the treasury benches."

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F.—Cape Breton South) criticized a dispatch by The Canadian Press from Sydney Mines, N.S., on May 9 which described miners on a buying spree after receiving $160,000 in retroactive pay increases.

Mr. Gillies said the dispatch was untrue, distorted and deliberate propaganda to prejudice the rest of Canada against the miners.

He said War Services Minister La Fleche should check with The Canadian Press and if there was any need for censorship it was indicated in the item he discussed.

"The Canadian Press should be checked, and only items which tend to promote national unity and the war effort and the country's interest in general should be printed in the newspapers across Canada," he said.

Hanson Applauds

Gen LaFleche said the article would not, "even by the greatest stretch of imagination," be a matter for legitimate action by the censorship.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C.—York-Sunbury) said that if there was to be censorship of such news items "there will be a revolution in this country. There will be no longer a free press in the country."

Mr. Hanson said he had suffered from the censorship. He had made a speech some years ago about the Empire Training Plan and it had been "on again, off again" in the censor's office until it was finally released "in order to give the Prime Minister (Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King) and the Air Minister (Hon. C. G. Power) a tongue lashing against me personally after it had been decided that the story should be censored and killed.

"But thank God we have a free press in this country that gave me an opportunity to answer the statement the Prime Minister and the Air Minister had made."

His mail had been censored when he was Opposition Leader.

Gen. LaFleche said he could say categorically there was no political espionage through the censorship.

George Wood (L.-Brant) said the press in Canada had served a useful purpose in transmitting some of the important news, but it had not transmitted all the important news, by any means.

"It would be very difficult for anyone to write a story or article without coloring it with his own prejudices or philosophies," said Mr. Wood.

C.C.F. Has a Gripe.

"I believe the intelligensia of the country realize this, and articles are usually read with the ordinary reservations of common sense that should be applied. I am just mentioning this in the hope that the press will not get the idea that because it publishes something the public believes every word of it."

Mr. Coldwell said "when we talk about a free press in this country let us make up our minds that we have not a free press to-day."

Agriculture Minister Gardiner: "They are pretty free in what they say about most of us."

Mr. Hanson: "I think so."

Mr Coldwell: "Some of our papers operate as a free press; there is no question that most of them do. But I could name papers that do not."

The Montreal Star would not publish a report of anything one political party said and would not take its advertising. L'Action Catholique, French language daily, of Quebec, did the same.

"But in the main the press of this country is a fair and free press, and I say that very readily," he continued.

A Mild Surprise

Mr. Hanson: "They published reports of your speech in parliament last Monday."

Mr. Coldwell: "Did they really? I know they have refused our advertising."

Mr. Hanson: "They integrated your speech with mine, so that when I got through I did not know which was yours and which was mine."

Mr. Coldwell: "That is probably too bad for both of us. I think that as soon as we discontinue any form of censorship whatsoever it should be discontinued."

Tom Reid (L.—New Westminster) said there was "intimidation" of the press by members of the C.C.F. party in British Columbia. They had told dailies in Vancouver that if they were not "kindly", subscriptions would be withdrawn.

Anthony Hlynka (SC— Vegreville) said he agreed with Mr. Hanson and Mr. Coldwell that the censorship of House members' mail should not be allowed.

"There is a free press in Canada, and there is not the slightest intention so far as the government is concerned of making it less free or not free," said Gen. LaFleche.

"I must also pay tribute to the people of the press, those of the Fourth Estate, for assisting in making it possible to have good censorship in Canada because of their co-operation."

self-propelled guns in that area.

To the north of the 5th Army sector, French troops in some of the day's bloodiest, close-quarter combat capture the 2,550-foot crest of Monte Faito and then moved on to the neighboring heights. The summit was a mile and a half ahead of the starting point of the offensive. After taking the mountain the French repulsed a very heavy enemy counter-attack.

Assault forces of the British 8th and Allied 5th armies broke into German positions to a depth of two to three miles at some points along the 25-mile line from Cassino to the Tyrrhenian Sea.

The village of San Sebastiano, a few hundred yards within the German lines, was captured in the early stages of the onslaught against Castelforte and the troops fought on toward that town.

Grim struggles progressed both north and south of the battered ruins of Cassino but the Germans inside the town itself were left unmolested.

Tough Paratroopers

The 8th Army's achievement of gaining a bridgehead over the Rapido was matched by other 8th Army units north of Cassino which drove in enemy outposts in the rugged mountain area and advanced in the face of the most determined German defense.

Toughened veterans of the German first parachute division launched bloody counter-attacks as grim fighting raged in the hills northwest of Cassino.

A headquarters spokesman cautioned against any undue optimism over the initial gains both north and south of Cassino and declared much stiff fighting lay ahead before the German defenses in those areas could be pierced.

In the Liri Valley, he said, the enemy has constructed many pillboxes and converted houses into miniature forts.

the announcement said.

A Soviet communique said Red army troops fighting on the lower Dnestr bridgehead were being attacked by numerically superior enemy forces and had been forced to call for support from Russian war planes. The communique declared "the enemy did not achieve any success although suffering heavy losses in men."

The German High Command claimed, that Nazi troops had smashed the bridgehead, which was established last month, dispersing seven Russian rifle divisions and parts of one artillery and anti-aircraft division.

Elsewhere on the long eastern front there were no essential changes the Russians said.

Eggs Plentiful Pullets Draggy

TORONTO, MAY 13 — During the past week receipts on the egg market have continued plentiful, with the exception of pullets which have been rather draggy and have declined one cent per dozen. Quality of arrivals is holding fairly well, but the seasonal change in yolk quality is becoming more noticeable as the weather becomes warmer. Offerings to the special products board have not been so heavy this week and it may be that the peak of production has been reached. The local consumer demand is holding well.

No further decline in butter prices has been noted since Wednesday, although it is expected that a further change will take place. The rate of production is still quite slow while the demand has dropped off considerably. The present supply appears sufficient to meet all needs.

Dealers still report no cheese is being offered locally.

French Capture Town Of Ausonia
Carve Seven Mile Gain In Italy

Allies Pierce Gustav Line At Several Points; Take 2,000 Nazi Prisoners

Entire Frontline Defences Overturned With Several Villages Already Taken Over By Allied Units

By NOLAND NORGAARD—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 15—(AP).—French troops have advanced as much as seven miles from the take-off point on the Allied 5th Army right wing in the all-out Allied offensive and captured the important town of Ausonia, creating a "significant breach" in the Germans' Gustav Line in southern Italy, Allied headquarters announced today.

Americans have smashed the enemy out of Santa Maria Infante and San Pietro on the Lower Garigliano River and taken vital mountain positions on both sides of the Ausente River.

The French have reached the hills dominating San Giorgio, equally as important as Ausonia.

Americans are pressing an attack on Spigno, showing they have driven at least four miles north and west of Minturno.

Ausonia is 6½ miles north of Minturno and San Grigorio seven miles southwest of Cassino and one mile south of the Liri River.

Farther to the north the big Allied offensive also gained, with British and Indian troops of the British 8th Army deepening their Rapido River bridgehead to at least 2,000 yards—more than a mile—and sending over great numbers of tanks to exploit this attack into the Liri Valley—a direct road to Rome.

More than 2,000 prisoners have streamed back into Allied hands and others were coming in constantly as the attacks progressed.

Very heavy casualties have been inflicted along the whole front and hard fighting continues everywhere up and down the line of attack, an Allied communique said.

The German 72nd division, entirely reconstituted after its original was wiped out at Stalingrad, bore the brunt of the 5th Army attack and lost more than 1,200 men in prisoners alone, including six battalion commanders.

The whole frontline defences of this division have been overturned. French troops, who were the first to launch their attack Thursday night and who have been slugging through extremely difficult terrain, quickly exploited their initial success.

Charging yesterday with infantry and tanks they overran the villages of San Ambrogia, Villa Maio and Ausonia, bypassing strong enemy points which now are being mopped up.

Cut Vital Road

Simultaneously the Americans on the extreme left of the attack line cut the Ausonia-Fromia road.

After a bitter and bloody fight the Americans drove the Nazis out of the town of Santa Maria Infante at noon yesterday, pushed on to a road junction northeast of the town

Major Drive Launched By Chinese

20,000 Soldiers Cross Salween In Surprise Move

WITH THE CHINESE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE ON THE SALWEEN FRONT, May 15 (AP) — More than 20,000 Chinese have crossed the Salween River at more than a dozen places on a 130-mile front and have opened China's first real offensive in a drive aimed at joining with the Allied forces in Burma.

The Chinese met no initial reverses the night of May 10-11 and ferrying of troops proceeded with great speed.

In later fighting, units of the battle-toughened Japanese 56th Division halted some of the thrusts along the mountain trails with counter-attacks in force and with well-placed machine-guns and artillery.

Severe Fighting

Severe but small-scale fighting Saturday had developed near four places, the village of Ping Ka, 24 miles southeast of Lungling on the Burma Road, Hongmoshu, 21 miles east of Tengghung, north of the Burma Road, Tatnag Tazu, 29 miles northeast of Tengghung, and on the approaches of the 11,000-foot Kaoli mountain barrier.

Amien Pass, 40 miles north, northeast of Tengghang, set in the most forbidding terrain of the sub-Himalayan range, stands seven or eight miles from the Salween.

American fighters heavily supported the new drive, two American communiques reported. Medium bombers attacked a bridge and warehouse area at Wanpahsa on the Burma-Thailand border today, causing numerous explosions and fires among fuel dumps and causing smoke to rise 6,000 feet. Fighter-bombers flew numerous sorties against Japanese installations.

The drive, in a sense the first big Chinese offensive of the entire Chinese-Japanese war, broke the long lull along China's southwestern frontier and obviously was aimed at opening a connecting link with India by way of the Ledo and Burma roads and breaking the blockade of China.

Seasoned Leader

The Chinese in the new thrust were commanded by the seasoned veteran of many Chinese-Japanese battles Gen. Wei Li-Huang known as "100-Victory Wei" because of his successes in many comparatively minor engagements.

The crossing of the Turbulent Salween was effected on three successive nights, and as the Chinese thrusts developed clashes occurred at many points with the Japanese counterattacking at some places. The Japanese were forced to deploy

FRIGATE TORPEDOED—The frigate H.M.C.S. "Valleyfield" has been torpedoed and sunk while on convoy duty in the North Atlantic, Hon. Angus L. U-Boat Torpedoes Frigate; Only 38 Survivors

OTTAWA, May 15—(CP).—The Canadian frigate Valleyfield has been torpedoed and sunk in the North Atlantic with five dead and 121 missing, Navy Minister Macdonald announced today. There were 38 survivors. Few details of the sinking were given by Mr. Macdonald. He said the warship was torpedoed while on escort duty and that she sank "almost immediately after being hit." He did not indicate how the survivors were rescued.

Listed among the missing were the captain, Lieut.-Cmdr. D. T. English, Halifax, N.S., and the five naval men who were being carried as passengers— Lieut. J. C. Watson, Montreal, AB. E. G. Garrioch, Toronto, and three Royal Navy ratings.

In making the announcement, Mr. Macdonald said Prime Minister Mackenzie King, attending the Prime Ministers' conference in London, had cabled a message of sympathy to relatives.

The Valleyfield—built at Quebec—was commissioned last December. She was the first Canadian frigate to be sunk and the first Canadian ship to be lost on escort duty since the destroyer St. Croix was torpedoed last September.

Renewed Danger.

The torpedoing of the Valleyfield gave emphasis to recent warnings that renewed German U-boat warfare might break out again "at any time." It was thought possible that

Fantastic Secret Weapon Requires Daring Operators

By CHARLES BRUCE—Canadian Press Staff Writer

A BRITISH NAVAL BASE, May 15—(CP).—There are men in Britain's submarine service who have ridden the so-called "human torpedoes" on operations and came back—if need be to do it again.

When the Admiralty a month ago announced the existence of this fantastic weapon—removing the veil from a secret weapon that really works—the impression grew that driving the combination submarine-projectile was a mission ending in death or capture.

While the range of the torpedoes is too short to allow return to the parent ship, there are other means of retrieving the two-man crew. There still is some secrecy about the operations but it is probable a pick-up system has been devised.

Called Many Things.

The Admiralty has just allowed newspapermen to see the weapon in operation along with four-man midget submarines of the type which smashed the German battleship Tirpitz in Alten Fjord in northern Norway last September.

The "human torpedo" as a name is not strictly accurate. These cartridge-craft — the boys who ride them call them jeeps, and other names both secret and unprintable—are more truly open cockpit submarines with human periscopes and detachable explosive snouts.

The one we saw liked like a green-painted ordinary torpedo — about 21 feet long and 21 inches in diameter, mounted with a superstructure on which sat the driver and the No. 2 man, each fronted by a metal shield. The war head

KANDY, Ceylon, May 15.—(CP).—Chinese troops have captured Tarongyang, 11 miles north of Kamaing, and Burmese troops fighting for the Allies have raided Tangpu, only 28 miles north of Myitkyina, in the closest strike to that main Japanese base in northern Burma, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

Kamaing is the immediate objective of the Allied pre-Monsoon offensive in north Burma. Chinese troops, driving down the Mogaung Valley, joined forces with Allied units at Manpin, a mile south of Tarongyang, the communique disclosed.

It gave no details of the Tangpu raid.

The communique announcing its success also said that mopping up operations are proceeding southwest

Italian Village Is Wiped Out

By ASTLEY HAWKINS
Reuters War Correspondent.

SANT' ANGELO, Italy, May 15—(CP-Reuters). — This picturesque Italian village on the banks of the Rapido is juts a heap of rubble now, in the wake of the 8th Army's smashing attack across the river to crack the Gustav Line.

The only persons in the dead village was a Canadian sergeant searching the ruins for injured Germans. He had found two almost dead in one wrecked building which they had tried to hold as a strong-point.

(There has been no official disclosure whether the 1st Canadian Corps is engaged in the new Italian offensive. Cabling from the front last week, Douglas Amaron, Canadian Press war correspondent mentioned only that "Dominion" troops were with the 8th Army.)

Indian troops cleared up the village yesterday but wounded Germans still are being extricated from wrecked buildings to-day.

War correspondents found evidence everywhera of recent fighting—abandoned German clothes, gas masks, and piles of shell cases.

Troops resting in ditches wanted to know whether the second front had opened—a wild rumor which spread over the entire Italian front to-day in a few hours.

There is nothing left of the village but shells of crumbled buildings.

Pas-de-Calais Area Blasted Huns Raid English Coast

By W. W. HERCHER—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 15—(AP).—American heavy bombers attacked German invasion defences in the Pas de Calais area nearest Britain today in the 31st consecutive day of the great aerial offensive, after a night in which German bombers sharply attacked the British coast. A maximum of 250 heavy bombers under fighting protection pounded military installations in France, following up a night attack on Cologne by R.A.F. Mosquito bombers, and a week-end of activity which saw the historic Brenner Pass, main supply line for the Nazis in Italy, virtually sealed up.

The Berlin radio claimed German raiders had made "fierce attacks" on the port of Bristol last night and claimed that "large quantities of high explosives and incendiaries" were dropped. A British announcement that at least 15 of the raiders were shot down indicated the Nazis may have struck with as many as 300 planes.

The Air Ministry said the raids had caused some damage and a small number of casualties "over wide areas of south and southwest England," but noted that the weight of bombs dropped did not seem proportionate to the number of planes employed, suggesting that the main objective of the Attack was to gain information about possible concentrations of invasion equipment along the coast.

The blow at the Brenner Pass, accomplished by the Italy-based heavy bombers on Saturday, was followed up by a 1,000-plane assault yesterday on German-held airfields and railyards in Northern Italy rounding out a solid month of round-the-clock attacks by Allied airmen who flew 90,000 offensive flights and dropped 130,000 tons of bombs on fortress Europe.

Last night the Germans retaliated against Britain, where mammoth invasion armies are poised and the ships to carry them assembled, by scattering bombs up and down the Channel coastline.

At least 15 of the raiders were shot down, the Air Ministry announced, indicating a sizeable enemy force was involved in the raids, which the announcement declared caused some damage and a small number of casualties "over wide areas of south and southwest England."

Later it was announced that R.C.A.F. planes of the aerial de-

Bombers Lash More Islands

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 15—(AP)—The heaviest bombing since the pre-invasion softening of Hollandia was reported today as one of six separate assaults designed to immobilize the last remnants of Japanese air power in New Guinea.

Heavy bombers and tree-skimming mediums dumped 334 tons Saturday on Wake Island and the Maffin Bay coastline to Sarmi, 20 miles southwest on the Dutch New Guinea mainland.

The airdrome runway at Wakde, [illegible]0 miles toward the Philippines [illegible]om captured Hollandia, took 200 tons. Strafing medium bombers bagged two parked bombers. Smoke boiled up 6,000 feet from fired installations.

It was the heaviest concentration of bombs delivered by Southwest Pacific airmen since Hollandia was blasted by 400 tons three weeks before the invasion April 22. The biggest previous load on the Wakde-Sarmi area was 295 tons May 9.

Other bombers ranged more than 300 miles farther, pressing the drive to clear enemy aviation from northwestern New Guinea. Where the Japanese were reported 10 days ago bringing in expert naval fliers to bolster their dwindling strength.

The Schouten islands in the mouth of Geelvink Bay were hammered for the 10th straight day and nearby Noemfoor Island was hit. It was the second day in a row the Schoutens had been under double-barreled at[illegible]ck—day and night.

Revenge-Thirsty Poles Attacking

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE POLISH ARMY IN ITALY, May 14—(Delayed)—(AP)—Polish troops who have waited four years to battle the Germans on a big scale again were thrown against their old-time enemies at the opening of the offensive against the Gustav line last Thursday night and have been in the thick of the fighting ever since.

Theirs was one of the most difficult of all sectors of this difficult [illegible]nt.

113 Planes Downed By Squadron

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 15—(CP Cable).—The total of enemy planes destroyed in the air and on the ground by the R.C.A.F. City of Edmonton Mosquito Intruder Squadron since its formation two years ago was raised today to 113½ when the potent team of Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Kipp of Kamloops, B.C., and his navigator, [illegible]O. P. Huletsky of Montreal destroyed a German plane.

The Kipp-Huletsky combination destroyed a Heinkel 177 in the air above Mont-de-Marson, south of Bordeaux, France.

Today's kill raised Kipp's total to 10, of which seven were scored at night. He and Huletsky got four the night of May 2.

"The first burst of fire resulted in flames breaking out in the Heinkel's cockpit," Kipp said.

"The second burst brought a terrific explosion in mid-air and the Heinkel went down, to break up in a huge mass of flames."

Later it was announced the R.C.A.F. Beaufighters of the aerial defence of Great Britain force, accounted for four of 15 enemy aircraft shot down over England during raids last night. PO. William G. Muschett of Jamaica and his navigator, FO. F. L. Hall of Edmonton, were credited with downing two.

Wing Cmdr. F. C. (Moose) Fumerton of Fort Coulogne, Que., and PO. M. McConnell of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., each got one.

Moscow Urges Uprisings Now

LONDON, May 15—(CP Reuters)—Moscow radio, advising Europe that "titanic battles are approaching," today called directly upon the people in Axis satellite countries to revolt against Germany, while in France the Nazis continued last-minute preparations for invasion.

In a significant change of policy—previous Moscow broadcasts had called upon the satellite governments to withdraw from the war—the Soviet addressed this message to Europe.

"The world is waiting with bated breath, for the days of titanic battles are approaching. The days when Hitlerite Germany will feel concentrated Allied blows.

"On the eve of this great conflict Hitler's satellites have received their last warning. The peoples of these countries will have to take the matter of their liberation from the German yoke into their own hands.

"The peoples of these countries must decide without delay. Time will not wait. Tomorrow the chance will be gone."

While the Germans were requisitioning all automobiles in Southern France and systematically organizing Wehrmacht reception centres to protect German civil residents in France, Philippe Henriot, Vichy propaganda minister, broadcast a pessimistic message to the French population.

Engine Explodes Three Men Die

HAMILTON, May 15 — (CP) — Three crew members, all of St. Thomas, Ont., of a Wabash Railway Company freight train were killed at noon today when the locomotive drawing the train exploded near the top of a steep grade two miles west of Cayuga, about 25 miles south of here.

Dead are E. Sherman Robinson, engineer; John H. Pickering, fireman, and Wesley H. Irwin, head-end brakeman, all Wabash railroad employees.

The boiler was hurled into the air by the force of the explosion and landed on one side of the tracks while the cab was blown to the other side.

The train was going from Niagara Falls, Ont., to Windsor, Ont., over the Canadian National Railways line which passes through Cayuga.

The explosion could be heard for several miles and scores of farmers rushed to the scene. Mrs. Wilfrid Last whose home is less than 300 yards from the scene of the accident, notified the dispatcher at Cayuga who in turn called for the coroner, Dr. J. M. McCamus and a C.N.R. wrecking crew from Fort Erie, Ont.

Huge New Transport Has 2 Unloading Doors

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (AP)—A new welded stainless steel cargo plane, the Conestoga, is in full production, the U.S. Navy announced today. The two-engine, 68-foot aircrafe with an upsweep after-body giving it the appearance of a flying whale, is the first plane in which welded stainless steel has been used to a large extent, the Navy said.

Doors on opposite sides of the fuselage permit launching of paratroops and supplies simultaneously from both sides in contrast to conventional one-door transports.

The Conestoga can be concerted to troop transport or ambulance use, and an ambulance and jeep both can be carried inside.

Bond Totals Nearing Record

OTTAWA, May 15 — (CP) — The final total of subscriptions to Canada's Sixth Victory Loan may be "very close" to $1,400,000,000 if delayed reurns are as large as they were in last autumn's Fifth Victory Loan, officials of the National War Finance Committee said today in announcing that subscriptions to the Sixth Loan reached $1,292,105,000 Saturday, last day of the three-week campaign.

Loan headquarters said there are still "many millions of dollars" to be recorded, and that delayed returns usually include many purchases under the Payroll Savings Plan which are turned in only after the canvass of plants is completed. Further reports on the Loan's progress will be issued Wednesday and Saturday of this week.

The total of Sixth Loan subscriptions recorded up until Saturday compared with returns of $1,282,627,850 at the same stage of the Fifth Loan.

Eire Electioneering Starts

De Valera Expects Tight Squeeze

DUBLIN, May 15 (CP Cable) — The Eire General Election campaign was in full swing today with hundreds of meetings planned before this neutral country votes in the election called by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera for May 30 following his government's single-vote defeat on its transport bill.

Today it was predicted the result will be perhaps as close as in 1943 when Mr. De Valera's Fianna Fail part gained 71 seats against 67 for all other parties. The Premier himself gave a hint that he expected a tight squeeze.

Speaking in his own constituency of County Clare, Mr. De Valera said "under proportional representation (Eire's system of voting) it is impossible for a single party to get a complete majority."

Meanwhile Premier De Valera rejected again the opposition's demand for a National Government of all parties. He told his constituents that coalition would be like a man choosing a cracked beam to uphold a mass of masonry—"it couldn't stand the strain."

The strongest call for coalition has come from Gen. Richard Mulcahy, leader of the Fine Gael which is the strongest opposition group. But Gen. Mulcahy appeared to be winning the support of Labor and Farmer groups on this issue at least.

Aerial Blows Shatter Communications

By KENNETH DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NAPLES, May 15 — (AP). — Striking both long and short range blows against slowly strengthening enemy air resistance, Allied warplanes flew more than 2,500 sorties yesterday supporting the 5th and 8th Armies by an intense campaign to isolate the Gustav Line defenders.

More than 30 enemy aircraft were sighted during the day, of which 10 were shot down, the Mediterranean Army Air Force reported. Six Allied planes were reported missing, and one additional enemy plane was downed on Saturday night, the report added.

Heavy bombers unleashed a barrage of blows at railroad yards in the Po Valley from Central Italy. Medium bombers, plus the fighter bombers, simultaneously slashed rail communications between Rome and Florence in an effort to render drawing of supplies from even that sector temporarily impossible.

Fighters roared down enemy airfields throughout Italy, destroying parked planes and harassing all highway transport activity sighted along the roads leading to the Gustav and Hitler lines.

AMERICA'S TOP ACES—A recent picture of Major Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wisconsin, the first American fighter pilot to break Capt. Rickenbacker's World War One record of planes downed in combat. Capt. Robert Johnson of Lawaton, Oklahoma, who tied the mark set by Pacific ace Major Richard Bong, by shooting down his 26th and 27th enemy plane on May 7. "Bobbie" is pictured during his early days of flying.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

Today all doctors are stressing the value of milk in our daily diet so I am going to give you several recipes where milk is used in large quantities. Try them all and see for yourself the results you derive from them.

Calcium, so vital to health and maintenance of teeth, bones nails, complexion, is found in large quantities in a single glass of milk. For energy value is another thing that milk is good for. There are 170 calories in one cup of milk, and so I might go on, but space will not permit me to do so, but these recipes you will try when you have read them over.

Green Tomato Soup

3 cups chopped green tomato, 3 to 4 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon soda, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 4 cups milk, salt and pepper.

Cook the tomato in the boiling water, with onion and salt for about 20 minutes, or until tender, adding more water if necessary. Add soda. Melt the butter in a double boiler, add flour and mix well. Add milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in tomato mixture and season with salt and pepper. This will make six servings.

Garden Cream Soup

1 cup peas, 1½ cups diced asparagus, 1 cup diced carrots, 2 tablespoons chopped spring onions, 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2¼ cups of milk, salt and pepper.

Cover the peas, asparagus (reserve the tips) carrots and onions with boiling salted water, and cook uncovered until tender. Add the asparagus tips about ten minutes before the end of the cooking time. Drain off and boil down the vegetable liquid to about 1 cup. Melt the butter in a double boiler, add the flour and mix well. Add the milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the vegetables and vegetable liquid, season with salt and pepper.

Chicken Pie With Sweet Potato Topping

3 tablespoons butter, 4½ tablespoons flour, 1¼ cups milk ¾ cup chicken stock; salt and pepper, ½ cup diced cooked celery, ½ cup cooked peas, 1½ cups diced cooked chicken, fluffy mashed sweet potatoes.

Melt the butter in a double boiler, add flour and mix well. Add the milk and chicken stock and cook, stirring until thickened. Season with salt and pepper to taste, add celery, peas and chicken. Reheat and pour into a buttered baking dish. Pile mashed sweet potatoes on top and brown in oven.

Escalloped Potatoes and Pork Chops

6 pork chops, salt and pepper, 6 medium sized potatoes, 3½ tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ cups milk. Trim off fat from pork chops and brown on both sides in hot frying pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pare potatoes and cut in thin slices. Place half of them in a buttered baking dish and sprinkle with salt and half the flour Repeat the process and place the pork chops on top. Dot the chops with butter and pour in the milk. Cover and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake for 30 to 40 minutes longer, or until tender.

Orange Filled Coffee Ring

½ cup buttermilk, 1½ tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1¼ tablespoons butter, ½ cake compressed yeast, 1 egg, 1¾ cups flour.

Heat buttermilk in double boiler, stirring constantly until lukewarm. Remove from the heat and stir in the sugar, salt and melted butter. Add the crumbled yeast and stir until well mixed. Add the slightly beaten egg, and gradually beat in the flour. Place in a buttered dish, brush with melted butter, and set in a warm place to rise. When double in bulk place on a floured board, knead lightly for about one minute and roll out in a large rectangle about ¼ inch thick. Spread with orange filling made as follows: ¼ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon butter, ¼ teaspoon vanilla 1½ tablespoons grated orange rind. Mix the sugar flour, slat in a double boiler. Add the milk and cook for 2 or 3 minutes, cover and cook for about 10 minutes longer. Add some of the mixture to the slightly beaten egg, mix well, and return to double boiler and cook one minute longer. Remove from the heat, and stir in butter, vanilla, orange rind. Cool, spread over the rolled dough Roll up like a jelly roll, place in layer cake pan. Cut gashes about 1½ inches apart around the outside edge with the scissors, and twist so that the cut side of each section is down on bottom of pan. Brush the top with melted butter and let rise in a warm place until double its size. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for 20 to 25 minutes. Spread with a frosting made by mixing together, 2-3 cup of confectioner's sugar, 1¼ tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla. This ring can be made in about 2½ hours.

Obituary

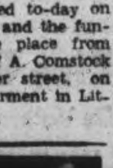
MAXWELL MARTYN.

The recent death of Maxwell Martyn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Martyn, and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Martyn, who were prominently associated with Peterborough interests, occurred suddenly in Fort William. Educated in Peterborough, he joined the Canadian Pacific Railways at the age of 16 as a telegraph operator and held many positions throughout the province, at the time of his death being C.P.R. train despatcher at Schrieber, Ont. Mr. Martyn was also well known in brokerage circles and was employed by firms here, in Toronto and elsewhere.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, the former Ida Edmondson; a son, Dick of Peterborough; and two daughters, Mrs. Russell Wells, Fort William, and Mrs. Jack Rummery, of Schrieber. A daughter, Gladys, predeceased him some years ago, and a sister, Mrs. G. B. Spilsbury, in Februray of this year. There are two sisters surviving, Lucia and Ipsa of Toronto, and two brothers, Jack and Charles of Peterborough. Beverley and Barbara Wells, grandchildren, live in Fort William.

The remains arrived to-day on the C.P.R. noon train, and the funeral service will take place from the funeral parlours of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water street, on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment in Little Lake cemetery.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?



It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralizing acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

Russians Land On Norway Coast

STOCKHOLM, May 15 — (AP) — Norwegian and Russian partisans have been landed in far northern Norway from Soviet submarines which slipped past German defences through the Fjord-dotted coastline, the Stockholm Tidningen said today.

Quoting private sources, the newspaper said the partisans were reported conducting small-scale guerilla warfare against the Germans.

Norwegian legation sources said they had no information about landings of such partisans, but that it was possible. The Russians have at times put ashore small scouting parties equipped with mobile radio sets.

Two Youths Held For Car Theft

Quick action on the part of a soldier and a civilian who chased and caught two youths whom they saw run away from a wrecked car on Highway 28 just outside the city Sunday evening led to charges against the pair in police court this morning of having stolen the damaged automobile.

The two, Maurice Pelland, 19, Park street and Sanford Robbins, 19, Monaghan Road, were arraigned before Magistrate O. A. Langley today, charged with stealing an automoblie belonging to A. Crowley, Otonabee.

Both elected summary trial and pleaded not guilty and at the request of the crown were remanded for a week. Bail was fixed at $2,000 in each case.

Crowley's car had been parked at Preston's service station and its theft was not discovered until it had been involved in an accident on the highway.

Failing to make a turn a short distance southwest of the city, the automobile shot off the highway, into a ditch and then through a fence into the pasture field of Robert Dale, North Monaghan, where it came to rest in a badly damaged condition. Police say that the car travelled a distance of 125 feet after leaving the highway and that for 82 feet it skidded sideways.

Two youths were seen to jump out of the machine after it stopped and start to run across the field in the direction of Highway street.

Pte. W. J. Doughty, 225 Barnardo avenue and Carl Rose, R.R. 3, Peterborough, chased the flying pair and caught up with them at High and Chamberlain streets where they held the two until Constables Andre Dalton and Ernest Beatty arrived in a police cruiser and arrested Pelland and Robbins.

production. This is a modified version of the craft designed by Gen. Alexander Yakovlev, which proved the fastest on the Russian front. The newspaper said Chkalow aircraft factory workers had pledged an over-fulfillment of their quota. Other plane and arms plants are working top speed, building up supplies for the offensive.

Recent visitors to several sections of the front said they saw intense activity, indicating the drive was fairly imminent. Details could not be published, but preparations were described as immense.

The 4th Ukrainian army and Gen. Yeremenko's Maritime army, fresh from conquest of the Crimea, are among the forces for which new sectors presumably are being assigned.

A closer concentration of troops appeared possible for the launching of the new thrust at whatever point the Soviet command chooses.

It is assumed in Moscow that the offensive will be opened in unison with the Allied invasion of Europe in accordance with decisions taken at Teheran by Marshal Stalin, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Use Diving Suit.

The driver and the second man dress in warm woollen clothing with a modified diving suit over all. Whether submerged or on the surface, they breathe oxygen from the many hours' supply with which each suit is fitted. They can hear external sounds and communicate with each other by putting their glass-visored faces close together, or by hand signals.

Getting away from the parent ship, they may travel partially on the surface for a time with the upper bodies and shields of the superstructure out of the water. The driver has in his hands the handlebars working on the joystick principle, and as the target nears he goes down.

The craft actually works as a submarine with an underwater deck crew. Silence is essential. Under water, the driver released the warhead, fitted with a timing device, and it is fixed to the target by the No. 2.

After that they get out of there. The men who man the outboard submarines are fellows who have volunteered simply for "a special and hazardous service."

All of them get a stiff medical examination and four months of special training.

The Germans facing them were the toughest of all the Germans here —the first, or Green Devil, parachute division. And to make the task harder, the Germans were in the process of relieving units as the Poles attack, which meant they encountered the enemy in double strength.

The Polish attack came in the almost impossible mountain sector just north of Cassino and Monastery Hill and they made their thrust westward toward the Liri Valley, the entrance of which is guarded by the stronghold of Cassino.

Casualties Heavy

They moved tanks up mountain slopes, so rough that not even a tank could travel without engineers to lay a path for it.

They went into action against a superior German force, gained their first objectives and then were driven back by the most furious counter-attack the Germans have yet launched in this offensive.

Casualties were heavy on both sides, heavier than anywhere else on the Italian front. The Poles regrouped and went back into the attack and the fight is still raging.

It is a desperate one, with fanatical Nazi paratroopers on one side and revenge-thirsty Poles on the other.

All these Polish troops are homeless and separated from their families. Their only hope of regaining their homes, wives and children is in defeating the Germans.

Sixty-five miles below Kohima, the bulletin said, British forces are pushing on steadily against the enemy southwest of Imphal, where a communique yesterday reported that Allied troops had driven into Potsangbam. Heavy enemy artillery fire was reported in the Palel region but an expected enemy attack in that area failed to develop.

Two sweeps by enemy aircraft over the Imphal and Kohima areas Sunday were intercepted by R.A.F. fighters, who destroyed three, got three probables, and damaged 12 out of more than 24 enemy planes.

U.S. Air Force fighters, again attacking the Meitkila and Heho airfields in Burma, shot down four planes, got three probables, and damaged two more out of more than 20 enemy planes, again without loss to themselves.

TONS OF WASTE PAPER ARE NEEDED EVERY MONTH FOR MAKING ESSENTIAL WAR MATERIAL

● Waste paper is an essential ingredient in the manufacture of many war materials. It is the raw material from which millions of containers for shipping vital supplies are made. Today, Canada's paperboard mills are desperately short of waste paper. The shortage must be, and can be, made up from the paper salvaged by civilians. Help meet this war emergency!

WHAT IS WANTED

You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of Waste Paper, namely: wrapping paper—store bags—cardboard—cartons—corrugated board—old magazines and books—envelopes and letters—newspapers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed Paper containers.

HOW TO DO IT

Tie securely in separate bundles. (The little time you take will save thousands of man hours.) Then dispose of it through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your pedlar, dealers or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL WAR SERVICES

Regent Reports IODE Convention

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15 (ENS)—Miss Eleanor Ferris, regent of the local Bemersyde Chapter, returned from the annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter held in Hamilton with an enthusiastic report of I.O.D.E. wartime activities. She gave a full account of her attendance when the Bemersyde Chapter met and among other things told members of their obligation as Canadian citizens to make welcome any British brides who have come or may come to Canada.

She quoted Mrs. W. B. Horkins, national president, as saying though we are now in the fifth year of the war and may be getting weary of it, nevertheless the challenge is facing the Daughters of the Empire to take up the job afresh for what we hope will be the last push. Miss Ferris went on to say that although a number of Chapters had turned in their charter due to withdrawal of members owing to wartime activities, an equal number of new chapters had been formed and in Ontario alone there are now 15,858 members. She also spoke of the number of C.O.E. (Children of the Empire) chapters being formed and suggested the value of cooperation between these and the older groups. As an example of the enthusiasm these C.O.E. Groups are showing one such Chapter had a 98 per cent. attendance and had entertained some 800 enlisted men. Ten new I.O.D.E. Guide Packs had been AIRMEN ADRIFT FOR TEN HOURS TELL OF RESCUE—Adrift for more than 10 hours in the North Sea, these three Canadian airmen were rescued by naval craft, while an "umbrella" fighters circled overhead for several hours to protect them. Centre is FO. Jack Hall of Morden, Man., bomb aimer; at Right, Sergt. Harry "Hank" Glass, Toronto, flight engineer; and Left, Sergt. Howard Robinson of Montreal, mid-upper gunner. Their aircraft was heavily attacked by two Junkers 88's shortly after they had bombed a German target, with the result that their navigator was wounded and equipment set afire. The pilot succeeded in "ditching" his aircraft in the North Sea off the French coast, but was apparently unable to extricate himself when the heavy aircraft broke in two and sank. He is listed as "missing, believed killed." With them on their half-inflated dinghy were three R.A.F. lads. Robinson had a similar experience in 1940 when, as a member of the Merchant Navy, his ship was torpedoed near Antwerp. All are members of the "Bison" squadron of the R.C.A.F. bomber group overseas.

Seymour W.I. Reviews Work

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16 (ENS)—Presentation of the annual report held over from last month, was the main feature of the May meeting of Seymour East Women's Institute. The meeting, presided over by the new president, Mrs. E. C. Pollock, was at the home of Mrs. Walter Sharpe.

The annual reports indicated the Institute had completed another very successful year during which their main endeavors had been directed towards the war effort. There were seven regular meetings held and a social evening including a pot luck supper in January replaced one meeting. In October last, the country fair held in the parish hall netted the branch $180.60 making their largest single undertaking of the year. Proceeds of the pot luck supper amounted to $19.45. The Institute took charge of a refreshment booth in connection with a street dance in Campbellford last August and proceeds amounted to $16.97 while collections and donations brought another $15.37. They received a $3 government grant and miscellaneous work done by the branch brought $10.05 which with the 1942 balance made total receipts $283.42.

Expenditures included Salvation Army $15; hospital supplies, $10; ditty bags, $60; Russian relief, $10; Girls' Club and Sunshine Committee, $9; country fair expenses, $54.70; district and federated fees, $10.88; postage and officers' expenses, $29.28; a total of $198.86 and leaving a balance on hand of $84.86.

The highlight of the program was the topic "A Girl of Today and Her Opportunities" which was given by Mrs. Jesse Locke. Mrs. Ray Williams gave a vocal solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Heagle and Mrs. Carmen Gumming contributed a reading. It was announced Mrs. Roy Walker would be hostess to the Institute for their June meeting.

Unveiling Of Honor Roll Feature At High School Graduation

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15 (ENS) The unveiling of a Roll of Honor bearing the names of 287 former students now in various branches of the Armed Forces and presentation of prizes, diplomas and scholarships were highlights of an At Home held in place of the annual Commencement exercises at the Campbellford High School.

Unveiling the Roll of Honor marked the most impressive part of the entire program. It was done by two students—Cadet Captain Jack Connor and Cadet Captain Patrica Ironside, both in uniform as they set aside the two flags that covered the large gold framed Roll which stood nearly four feet high and was about three feet wide. And as H. N. Carr, who conducted the unveiling ceremony, read the names of 14 former students who had already paid the supreme sacrifice, Miss Ironside dropped a trillium before the Roll.

Mr. Carr's remarks combined the appeal of wartime patriotism with post war planning along sound democratic lines. He felt there was already a tendency of the individual to think more of the so called 'new order'—security from the cradle to the grave—than of the war effort. Many were already beginning to interpret the new order as meaning "a life of ease, without effort, plenty for that security on the part of the individual". "I hope none of our young people here harbour such unworthy thoughts, because if there are, I would like to counsel them now from a long experience, that no such thing is possible. Man's best security is economic freedom and the chance to provide for himself."

Great Opportunity

The speaker, who until last fall represented Northumberland in the Provincial Legislature, visualized Canada as a land of great opportunity. "There is no country in the world where the standard of living is higher, than on this continent. Every boy or girl who is willing and ambitious to succeed can, by study and endeavour, carve out their future and make it whatever they wish it to be."

To the young people he said, "You have the world at your feet, to do as you will. You may take advantage of all the opportunities offered or you may just drift along and wait for the old age pension. The choice is yours. You are at the age now when you cannot afford to hesitate, you must go at your task aggressively determined to make your life what you want it to be."

Post war immigration, was in the opinion of the speaker, the fundamental of Canada's future strength. "We must get away from the short-sighted policy of Canada for Canadians and the belief that because we suffered a depression along with the rest of the world for several years, that any increase in population will result in unemployment. Some say that every immigrant who finds work in this country throws a native workman out of employment. Well, if that is true, it could equally have been said when there were only a thousand people in Canadad or the United States. If there is one thing that all economists and his brains agree upon it is that expanding population decreased unemployment . . . Canada with all her natural resources and advantages stands pre-eminent in the world of the future. With only one-fifth of our water power developed, we already have the second largest hydro electric power capacity in the world. Who has the temerity to say Canada should stand still and that we can not provide living for many millions more than we now have?"

Musical Program

The musical and entertainment features of the program were limited and in keeping with the general trend of devoting more time during the short school term to regular curricula activities. Both the late opening, early closing (for those who would seek summer farm employment) and added studies directly associated with the war effort, combined to eliminate a program of the type held in former years. However, the singing and instrumental numbers were warmly applauded and were a credit to the school. A chorus of Grade IX girls opened the program with two familiar folk numbers, "At Pierrot's Door" and "Hey Marinka". Miss Patricia Robertson followed by singing in solo "Canterbury Fair" and "Cradle Song" while Francis DeCarrol offered "Floral Dance" and "The Road to Victory". The only instrumental numbers were a trumpet solo by Joseph Clarke who played "Say a Prayer For The Boys Over There" and encored with "The Honey Song" and two piano duets by Dianna Ironside and Collette O'Keefe, "Diana" and "Viennese Melody."

Mayor F. F. Long presented Proficiency Shields to five students, each of whom had stood highest in his grade. He congratulated the winners and made the awards as follows:— The J. E. Birks Trophy, Grade IX, Yolanda Wilmink; F. F. Long Trophy, Grade X, Phyllis Brown; A. D. Bennett Trophy, Grade XI, Marvin Goody; B. Booth Trophy, Grade XII, Jack Bleecker; H. MacArthur Trophy, Grade XIII, Fay Kelly.

Prizes Given.

The Fall Fair prizes were awarded by the secretary of the Seymour Agriculture Society G. G. Stephens, and these represented varying sums of money offered annually by the Board of Education and Agriculture Society to develop an early interest among students in the Arts and Crafts.

COBOURG, May 15.— (ENS).—O. D. Cameron, who has been science and agriculture teacher at Lindsay Collegiate, will join the staff of Cobourg Collegiate Institute in the fall term. He will take over the duties here of the late T. H. McClelland. Another addition to the local collegiate staff will be Miss Ruth Carleton, B.A., who recently graduated from the Ontario College of Education. She will fill the vacancy which will occur at the end of the term due to the resignation of Miss A. Waring, business practice teacher and girls' physical trainer. Miss Waring has been obliged to resign because of ill health.

Winchell Irked By Dr. H. Bruce

NEW YORK May 15. — (CP).—Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator, said in his regular broadcast last night that nobody had paid for a trip he made to Canada because "I have not been to Canada since 1914."

Winchell was commenting upon a question placed upon the Canadian House of Commons order paper Saturday by Dr. H. A. Bruce, Toronto Progressive Conservative.

Dr. Bruce asked whether the Canadian Wartime Information Board had furnished Winchell with material which he used in a recent laudatory article on Canada and her part in the war and whether Winchell received remuneration from the Canadian Treasury "for his services in this connection."

In his broadcast, Winchell commented: "It is the first time I have been kicked in the britches for writing something nice."

Northumberland Tops Objective

COBOURG, May 15.— (ENS).—Northumberland county went over the top at the close of the Victory Loan on Saturday with a total of $1,608,000. he Tobjective was $1,600,000. Complete figures will not be available until early this week. The town of Cobourg also went over the top with 109 per cent as compared with 104 per cent obtained in the neighboring town of Port Hope. The two towns had a challenge race on to see which town would have the greatest percentage at the end of the campaign. Canvassers worked very hard on Saturday and a large volume of sales put the loan over the top.

The Rotary Club had charge of the thermometer raising ceremony in front of the town hall and Sergeant E. Edgell, recently returned from overseas, raised the thermometer reading with a generous application of red paint to indicate that the mercuy had burst its confines and bubbled over. Chairman was Reuben Freeman, president of the Rotary Club.

Fred Slade, county chairman of the Victory Loan drive, thanked supporters of the Victory Loan for their response and thanked the hard-working canvassers and committees. It would be good news for the county boys overseas when they learned that Northumberland had backed them 100 per cent. he said. Mr. Slade then presented the plaque toJohn Blackhall of Colborne, in recognition of Colborne heading the list with over 145 per cent subscribed.

Regent Reports IODE Convention

CAMPBELLFORD, May 15 (ENS) —Miss Eleanor Ferris, regent of the local Bemersyde Chapter, returned from the annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter held in Hamilton with an enthusiastic report of I.O.D.E. wartime activities. She gave a full account of her attendance when the Bemersyde Chapter met, and among other things told members of their obligation as Canadian citizens to make welcome any British brides who have come or may come to Canada.

She quoted Mrs. W. B. Horkins, national president, as saying though we are now in the fifth year of the war and may be getting weary of it, nevertheless the challenge is facing the Daughters of the Empire to take up the job afresh for what we hope will be the last push. Miss Ferris went on to say that although a numberof Chapters had turned in their charter due to withdrawal of members owing to wartime activities, an equal number of new chapters had been formed and in Ontario alone there are now 15,858 members. She also spoke of the number of C.O.E. (Children of the Empire) chapters being formed and suggested the value of cooperation between these and the older groups. As an example of the enthusiasm these C.O.E. Groups are showing one such Chapter had a 98 per cent. attendance and had entertained some 300 enlisted men. Ten new I.O.D.E. Guide Packs had been

Lord Wavell And Mr. Gandhi

Since the breakdown of negotiations between Sir Stafford Cripps, representing the British Government, and the leaders of the various Indian parties two years ago, the political situation in India has been a deadlock. Now the Viceroy, Lord Wavell, has ordered the release of Mr. Gandhi, the most powerful of Indian leaders, and it may be profitable to speculate why he has done so.

It is a fact, of course, that Mr. Gandhi is old and in poor health, and his death may not be long postponed. If he were to die in prison—even when the prison is a luxurious palace in which he is given everything he wants—he would become a martyr to the people of India, and the power possessed by martyrs after death is sometimes wholly unrelated to the views which they advanced during life. Mr. Gandhi has been moved from one fine house to another and if he dies he will die as a free man. But it is also possible that Lord Wavell has taken this step as a means of offering the palm-branch to the Indian leaders. Two years of deadlock is a long time. And Lord Wavell is not primarily a politician or a diplomat, but a soldier, and therefore he may favour direct and simple methods of dealing with the Indian problem. What may come of Mr. Gandhi's release?

What was it that Sir Stafford Cripps offered to India? It was self-government, to be assumed peacefully after the war; the bargain was that India was to help Britain in her fight against the Axis, and particularly against Japan. The Indian leaders would have nothing to do with the plan; they wanted self-government at once, and they would make no promise to maintain order and unity if the Japs were to invade. The result was that the nationalist leaders were imprisoned and Britain was severely criticised in some quarters for her harshness in dealing with India. There can be no doubt that Britain's attitude toward India was dictated by political and military necessity; but it was also dictated by a very real concern for the Indian people. What would history have said if Britain had abandoned India and her 390 millions to chaos and civil war in 1941?

The Indian politicians have loud voices; their passionate protestations can be heard all over the world. But what about the Indians themselves? What have they done? Well, there are more than a million Indian volunteers in the British Empire forces, and they have distinguished themselves in many of the eastern campaigns. The Japanese sought Indian support when General Tojo urged the thousand millions of the East to rise against the Western barbarians in a holy war. "What Japan expects to do in India", Tojo said, "is to put India completely in the hands of the Indians". The Japanese announced that an Indian National Army was ready to invade India under Japanese guidance, and free it from the British forever; this army would be followed by a Free India Provisional Government, under the leadership of the Indian collaborator and protegee of Hitler, Chandra Bose.

After all these fine speeches the Japanese invaded India with a tiny force, doubtless expecting the Indians to welcome them with open arms. There was no Indian National Army, and Bose stayed in Singapore to see which way the cat would jump. And what did India do? It resisted the Japs furiously, and is now driving them back into the jungle. It would be silly to pretend that the Indians were fighting because of their great love for Britain, but certainly they have shown that they prefer British to Japanese rule.

Last week American troops reached a number of Sikh prisoners who had been held by the Japs in New Guinea. The story that these men have to tell will let the Indians know just how much the Japs are concerned about their fellow-Asiatics. The Sikhs were as poorly fed and as brutally treated as the Europeans; they were forced to march eighteen days without rest; worse, in the Sikh estimation, their religion was flouted, for they were compelled to eat unclean meat and were threatened with the direct penalties if they did not shave off their beards. And the Sikhs saw what happened to Chinese prisoners, so that they know just what value to place on Japanese propaganda for a united Asia.

Lord Wavell has chosen a propitious time to make overtures to the Indian leaders. Perhaps the more fanatical among them have seen their mistakes; they cannot help but know that their condition under British rule is infinitely better than any rule that the Japanese might bring. The promise of self-government after the war may look better to them now. At any rate, the Viceroy has boldly taken a propitiating step and the Indians have never shown themselves unfriendly toward a generous gesture. Mr. Churchill has declared that he does not intend to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire which, he said, stood "like a rock of salvation in this drifting world". Perhaps he will see the Commonwealth at last welcome India as a responsible, sovereign, self-governing Dominion.

Has Bathing Any Value?

An interesting discussion is growing up about the value of bathing. Nowadays, when we make a fetish of certain sorts of cleanliness, the idea is widespread that a bath every day is a good thing, and that those who bathe less often should conceal their shame. Last Tuesday, at a meeting of the Medical Society of the State of New York, a doctor gave a long and interesting dissertation on the value of bathing as a cure or palliative in many kinds of disease; he described it as a form of physical medicine, to be recognized and respected as such.

But recently the former Lord Chancellor of the United Kingdom, Lord Maugham, spoke vigorously against bathing in the House of Lords. Bathing is by no means necessary to health, he said, and pointed out that soldiers who had been three months in Africa without a bath suffered no ill consequences. His Lordship might have gone farther; the Arabs never bathe or touch water to their bodies from birth to death, yet travellers whose word must be respected say that no cleaner people exist anywhere on earth, for the sand-laden winds keep them clean; what is even more important, no disease of any kind exists among the Arabs or in the Sahara.

Have we overdone this matter of washing? Examine this quotation from The Rule of St. Benedict, which dates from the year 529: "The use of baths shall be offered to the sick as often as it is necessary; to the healthy, and especially to youths, it shall not be so readily conceded". And an old English proverb, venerable with the wisdom of the ages, says, "They who bathe in May will soon be laid in clay".

The Kingston Whig-Standard, which obviously wants to curry favour with the bathers and represent itself as a much-washed journal, says that the fact that the soldiers in Africa were able to go without baths for three months was merely another evidence of their great physical endurance, and quotes a correspondent who said that when he was able to get a bath in Africa he felt "weak and civilized and wonderful". Pah! He was simply pandering to a sensual streak in his nature. Like Lord Maugham, who is 72 and has seen a lot of life, we look upon this bathing propaganda with suspicion.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Germans have found out that Crimea doesn't pay.

A man in Indiana wants a divorce because his wife beat him with a skillet. That is panning with a vengeance.

"More Nude Doukhobors Held For Failing To Show Registration Cards", says a headline. Weren't they showing enough?

Some new photographs of the sun reveal it as "a seething mass of flaming hurricanes and gigantic explosions". Are they having a war up there, too?

We were impressed by the answer a farmer gave to a man who asked him what time he went to work in the morning. "I don't go to work", said he; "when I get up I'm surrounded by work".

We have done well, but we mustn't be puffed up. After all, Russia oversubscribed a five billion dollar war loan in two days. True, Russia has a few more people than we have, but it's the spirit that counts.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

THE first week in May was a "field week" for farmers and an amazing lot of work was done on the land which was very fit. The end of the week brought a seasonable rain that didn't quit until the newly seeded ground had a fair soaking which, following a few quite warm days, gave spring work a good start. I saw a young airman from Regina on Saturday and he said they had a much needed rain in that part of Saskatchewan but his companion from Calgary said they were still hoping for rain in Southern Alberta. The Western Prairies are not very promising this year. Heavy June rains would help a good deal but there is almost an absence of stored moisture. Grass is coming fine in Ontario at the end of May's first week and cattle are turned out in many districts. The farmer who had a fair growth of grass last fall has the new green spears coming through the old coat and it makes a fine mouthful for the beasts. That is at least one legacy from the wet autumn of last year.

A CHANGE, I understand, is being made with respect to the County Agricultural Committees. Originally these Committees were to formulate policies for the department and to be given powers of enforcement such as the English War Agricultural Committees possess. Now I understand they are to advise the District Agricultural Representatives. Heaven save him from so many adviser! The men named on these committees will likely be leading farmers and the work of the District Representative is of most value among farmers who need advice and help. The leading farmers are always available to him for information and suggestions, but if a committee is to be formed to direct him he may have to spend too much time taking direction. A District Representative worth his salt needs only the "Direction" of the head of that branch, and any effort to try to shift the responsibility for administration from the branch to a committee is not likely to produce a definite line of consistent policy in agricultural administration. The department must give leadership and the heads of the branches must carry on their work. Every competent official of an agricultural department never fails to drop in to well conducted farms for suggestions and for his own observation and education, but his broth can have too many cooks.

A FEW fields of peas can do a lot for the pig business this year. I remember when farmers grew peas as a matter of course when they raised pigs, but this year we need this kind of feed more than ever. Every report that comes in about lime emphasizes the profit and proven good results from its use on land. If a farmer gets through seeding early he can profitably spend some time applying a few tons of ground limestone on his seeded fields. If the field is being seeded to grass or clovers it is even more important to sweeten the soil in this way.

BUILDINGS and fences have suffered from lack of labour on farms in recent years. One cannot afford to allow this neglect to go too far. An extra effort should be made to keep this very necessary part of farm equipment in a fair condition of repair. A few days spent in fixing fences or making small repairs to buildings will save a much larger expenditure a little later on. Wet days can be used with advantage for inside work on buildings but it will only be done if you have made definite plans ahead.

THE Imperial Conference meeting in London, England, at the time of writing this, will not likely reach any determination on trade agreements at this time. Trading terms among the nations of the world can only be decided when the United States, Russia and China have a voice in the determinating council. Canada is now making some agreements with Britain as to the marketing of large amounts of cheese and bacon over a period of years which we hope will take us past the end of the war. In the matter of wheat we must look for a wider market. When we have a full crop we need a world market for the surplus.

New Zealand must find a considerable market for butter in Britain as must also Australia, and they both have very large exports of wool and mutton, or rather lamb. Australia has a considerable export of wheat and beef under peace conditions, but so far as the British Commonwealth of Nations, outside of Britain herself, there is no import market for the products of the soil. If the food of the world is to have comparative freedom of access to markets where it can be consumed it is easy to see the danger of trying to make a combination of Empire Dominions all of which, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and Canada, are producers of food in excess of our own requirements to sort of stand against the rest of the world where dense populations make a continuous demand for food.

After the last war the United States made an effort to live within itself thinking that its 48 States were the equivalent of as many countries, and in some particulars they were as the state of Iowa produced more foodstuffs than the whole Dominion of Canada. This exclusiveness, out of which Iowa farmers expected to get rich, soon encouraged hog growing in that State until hogs for slaughter sold down to $4.50 and $5 per cwt. live weight. The boom of their exclusiveness burst and had not President Roosevelt come to the rescue in 1932 nothing but disaster was facing the food producers of the United States.

The farmers of Canada have realized for some years the value of the United States market, and now under the bitter stress of war conditions when our beef is demanded for the invasion of Europe, we see the benefit of that market even more clearly, so we must take the greatest care that we don't raise at this time any question of trying to make our Commonwealth of Nations a threat in trade, or anything else, to the other nations of the world with whom we hope to trade when we are working hard in the future to pay off the burdensome war debt that we have had to contract to beat Hitler and the Japs and so save our homes. The future markets for food products are vital to every Canadian family that makes its living on the land.

PROTESTS are coming from the United States that land is selling at boom prices and a later collapse is feared. We have not suffered much from this in Canada. Western farms have sold a little better of recent years but the deals are mostly for cash and that is a safe way to buy land.

LET me repeat, if you haven't harrowed your fall wheat or your grass fields yet, it is not too late to give them a stroke from the spike tooth. It will help the crops and give the land a better chance for a greater yield this year. I have repeated this quite often but it is well worth calling attention to.

THE EMPEROR'S SCREEN —By Thomas

Kreisler, The Many-Sided

KREISLER is never intolerant, except for the very best of reasons. His profound intelligence has a wide range. He is a scholar and an intellectual. One of his favourite pastimes is the reading and rereading of the New Testament in its original (Aramaic) texts. One evening at our house, after dinner, he expounded the Einstein theory with such clarity that scholars who were present admitted that he had made them able to grasp it for the first time. He is a bibliophile of internaional reputation.

Yet his erudition does not get in his way as a raconteur. He can fill a whole evening, when he is in the mood, with the most entertaining anecdotes and experiences gathered from his travels in places far and near. I recall one intimate dinner given by the Ernest Schellings, at which he told story after story about Sarasate, whom he had known in his younger days. One anecdote stands out in my mind.

Among Sarasate's satellites was a man who lived for no other purpose but to bask in the atmosphere of reflected glory, an idiosyncrasy which amused the waggish Sarasate. When playing on tour Sarasate often took along this close friend—his closest friend in fact. As this man never liked to spend a cent, for the sake of a little fun at his expense Sarasate, before setting out on one of these trips, asked him to buy the tickets. "You will only have to get two tickets—one for me and one for my acompanist," said Sarasate. "On this particular train the conductor comes through but once. You can save your fare by crawling under the seat and staying there until our tickets have been taken up."

The friend was delighted. It would be a good joke. He bought two tickets and gave them to Sarasate who, unknown to him, already had a third ticket safely tucked away in his pocket.

The conductor came through the train. Sarasate gave him the three tickets. "But why three tickets when there are only two of you?" asked the puzzled conductor.

"Oh, no," replied Sarasate, "there are three of us. But my friend there under the seat likes to travel that way."

Purple with fury, out crawled the friend, with rumpled hair and mused white linen vest.—

Sermons And Editorials

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

AT Picton the other night, the Laymen's Association of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene debated on a resolution that sermons should not exceed 10 minutes in length. The affirmative won. It was pointed out that newspaper editorials seldom took longer than that to read, yet covered their subject thoroughly.

We are filled with awe and admiration. This Laymen's Association is quite obviously composed of hardy and discerning souls, whose temerity in setting a time limit to sermons is equalled only by their perspicacity in the matter of editorials. However, while we may be accused of snapping at the hand that patted us so flatteringly, we feel impelled to point to a few differences between the sermon from the pulpit and its opposite number in columns such as these.

The average minister gets two opportunities weekly to address the same congregation. The daily editorial page has six opportunities weekly, and may deal with from three to six subjects each time. It hardly seems fair to cut sermons down to editorial length when ministers have far fewer opportunities to propound the eternal verities.

There is also the matter of presentation. No minister worthy of the cloth would omit the truth when addressing his congregation, but a too blunt and brief presentation could result in the odd member of the congregation walking out in the middle of the sermon — an event which would be extremely embarrassing both for minister and congregation. Newspaper readers, on the other hand, can toss the paper aside with muttered words when they disagree violently, with no embarrassment to either party. The only way they can embarrass the newspaper is to write a letter to the editor—and even then, many editors are noted for their nonchalant equanimity under such circumstances.

Again, ministers deal — or should deal — with subjects a trifle more solemn and spiritual than those generally found in editorial columns. Theirs are the important tasks of saving souls, of renewing and feeding faith, of offering mankind that service to which they have dedicated their lives. It is not unreasonable to expect them to take a fair amount of time over so vital a task.

Nevertheless, the debate in Picton points to a trend some ministers might recognize with profit. The lessons they have to teach can be more effectively absorbed in shorter sessions than have been customary in the past—and it is becoming increasingly clear that people want them taught that way. Ten minutes, perhaps, is too short. Double it, however, and the Laymen's Association would have something.

Living Costs In Britain

For three years the British have stabilized their cost-of-living index at a level between 28 and 30 per cent above that in the pre-war period. This achievement was made possible by the combination of a heavy tax program, compulsory and voluntary savings, effective price fixing, extensive rationing of food products, complete control over supplies and comprehensive subsidy payments. As the pressure for price rises has increased, the subsidy program has been broadened to cover more products. From an annual rate of $234,000,000 early in 1940, total subsidy payments were expanded to $580,000,000 early in 1942 and to $780,000,000 last year.

Many persons have cited the British experience as support for the adoption of a comprehensive subsidy program in this country. In many cases it has been assumed that subsidies could be used to prevent any general price rise.

Now this myth concerning subsidies is about to be punctured. The Chancellor of the Exchequer has just announced that despite the payment of subsidies it will be necessary to permit the cost-of-living index to rise from the 1943 average of 28 per cent above the pre-war level to a new level 30 to 35 per cent above the pre-war period.

This revision in policy has been made necessary because wages have continued to increase. In other words, the pressure upon prices has become so great that they can no longer be rigidly stabilized despite the large-scale use of subsidies.

A major lesson may be drawn from this latest British development. There are limits beyond which subsidies cannot be used to stabilize prices. Those persons who have become convinced of the virtues of unlimited subsidies and the desirability of further general wage increases would do well to ponder this latest development in Great Britain's battle to hold the line.—New York Times.

Training The Clergy

The final report of the Archbishop's Commission on Training for the Ministry extends to over 80 pages. The scheme outlined aims at developing greater powers of spiritual leadership and producing a clergy who from their training are more in touch with social, industrial and rural life, more familiar with modern scientific and secular thought, and able to bridge the gulf that exists today between the presuppositions of the ecclesiastical world and those of ordinary men. An early chapter is given to the problem of "recruitment."

The report suggests that specialists in religious teaching should be available in schools of all types, and courses in Biblical study for teachers should be multiplied and encouraged. A special Church of England minister should be appointed as a liaison officer for every modern university; there should be post-graduate scholarships available to help those who find their vocation for the ministry late in their university career.

It is said that some 3,000 young men now serving in the forces propose to offer themselves for ordination after the war.—London Times.

BRITISH BARRACUDA

It is interesting to note that the new Royal Navy Barracuda, torpedo reconnaissance aircraft weapon of the Fleet Air Arm, took a leading part in the great, chiefly British attack on Sumatra, in The Netherlands East Indies. The Barracuda made its dramatic debut during the successful assault on the German battleship Tirpitz. First American-built Hellcats and Wildcats went in concentrating their gunfire on the ship's anti-aircraft defences. Within a few seconds they were completely disorganized and the Barracudas went in and were completely free of flak so that they were able to take perfect aim. The attack was so synchronized that the whole business was over in 30 seconds, proof not only of the success of the Barracuda, but of new air combat tactics.—Niagara Falls review.

PROBLEM OF FUTURE

What is going to be the Allied attitude toward the authors of the atrocities committed by Japs and Germans throughout this war? There is a question that ought not to be dismissed lightly as unanswerable in a practical way. A similar situation in the civilian organizotion of society would not be dismissed as an unsolvable problem. We have forces for the administration of justice under peace conditions. They do not excuse brutal crime on the ground that it is just a manifestation of uncontrollable impulses. Murderers are made to pay the penalty for their crimes. Unless the principle that underlies that kind of social order is applied to the offenders in this war, there is little likelihood that their conduct will be better when next they have the opportunity to run wild.—Sydney Post-Record.

REVISION NEEDED

However, the whole situation could best be remedied by removing the hypocrisy which surrounds the whole marriage law of this province. The establishment of a Divorce Court, such as exists elsewhere in Canada, would end all the complicated annulment processes and permit each citizen to take advantage of the new court as his or her conscience decreed. Certainly it would be much fairer and more logical than the present system which permits relief from the marriage vows for a certain small section of the population and prohibits it to others—except at great cost.—Sherbrooke Record.

A Bible Message

Now a certain man was sick, named Lazarus, of Bethany, the town of Mary and her sister Martha.... When Jesus heard that, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.... Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lain in the grave four days already..

Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died. But I know, that even now, whatsoever thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee. Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again....

Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I knew that thou hearest me always; but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me.

And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with graveclothes; and his face was bound about with a napkin. Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go. (John 11: 1, 4, 17, 21-23, 41-44.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Grandpa gnashed his toothless gums indignantly.

"There's far too much bad language used by the younger generation," he wheezed. "Now when I was a boy things were different—"

"Well," said his grandson: "I think we are much better today than in your time — better than they were thousands of years ago—even the babies swore in the olden days."

Jones was hard up. He had gone north on business, and found himself stranded. So he put through a trunk call to Smith.

"Hello," he asked, "is that Smith?"

"Yes."

"I say old man, I'm in a fix. I'm stranded up here—no cash. Can you lend me a fiver?"

"Can't catch a word. Say it again."

"I tell you I'm stranded up here without any money. Can you wire me a fiver?"

"There must be something wrong with the line. Can't get the sense of it at all. Don't you think—"

At this stage the operator chipped in: "There's nothing wrong with the line. I can hear the caller distinctly."

"Oh, can you?" said Smith. "Then you loan him the fiver."

The new maid, preparing to serve her first dinner party, was instructed by her garden-loving mistress to place a "little flower" in each finger bowl for the guests.

That point in the course of the meal arrived, and to the hostess' perplexity, she saw that no blossoms were floating about as planned, but that the water had a decidedly murky nature.

Asking the maid afterward as to the cause of the murkines, she was informed: "Why, ma'am, Ah jes' put in a little flour like you tole me."

Normal Alumnae Holds Annual Reunion

Forty-two guests and members of the Alumnae Association of the Peterborough Normal School, gathered at Hooper's Saturday at noon, to enjoy their annual reunion dinner. Special guests were Dr. J. A. Bannister and Mrs. Bannister, Mr. F. B. Smitheran, Dr. A. J. Madill, Miss O. Johnston and Mr. Q. McKinney. Mr. F. B. Smitheran was guest speaker.

After dinner, the group adjourned to the Normal School for an informal get-together of dancing and singing, the latter featuring attempts to remember four-part harmony studied the previous year. The entire afternoon was spent in getting re-acquainted with the school and the teachers, and in reminiscing about happy times spent there.

The election of the executive for the committee to take charge of the arrangements for the reunion in 1945, was held, and resulted as follows: President, Miss Ruth Telford; vice-president, Miss Margaret Hillis; secretary treasurer, Miss Maureen Brown. The 1944 executive was: President, Lloyd Robertson; vice-president, Miss Clara Nesbitt; secretary-treasurer, Miss Maralin Munro.

Those present were: Misses Kay Rankin, Helen Davey, Carmelita Donoghue, Kathleen Simpson, Marion Delaney, Ruth Telford, Edith Hendry, Margaret Hillis, Maralin Munro, Theda Anderson, Marguerite Armstrong, Wilhelmine Huffman, Phyllis Beatty, Mary Ross, Marion Gorrell, Rubie Thomas, Joan Allan, Clara Nesbitt, Dorothy Gaebel, Lenore Walton, Helen Armstrong, Anna Thomson, Audrey Barker, Frances Crough, Gladys Elmhirst, Dorothy Laver, Irene Ketcheson, Doris Dafoe, Eileen Lee, Ruth Libby, Maureen Brown, Eleanor Glover; Lloyd Robertson, Earle Carpenter, Henry DeMille, Gordon Locklin.

Mission Circle 48 Years Old

The forty-eighth anniversary of the Park Street Baptist Church Mission Circle, the Young Women's Mission Circle and the Baptist Young People's Union. Mrs. E. Booth, who was celebrating her eightieth birthday, was presented with a life membership in the Foreign Mission Board by Mrs. J. Tranter.

"The Work of the Bible Women of the Telegu Baptist Work in India" was the topic for a series of lantern slides shown during the evening. Miss Fern Rahmel read the accompanying explanations. The Young People opened the meeting with a sing-song, and the Senior Circle took charge for the remainder. The hymn, "To The Work," the first hymn sung by the circle at its first meeting, was sung.

Misses Thelma and Zelda Tedford sang, "The Stranger of Galilee," accompanying themselves on their guitars. Mrs. George Batley sang "Because He Loved Me So," and Allan Boate played a selection on his guitar. Mrs. Margaret Batley read the scripture and Mrs. Clarence Corbett was pianist.

Mrs. Booth cut the large anniversary cake, and also her own birthday cake when refreshments were served. Mrs. E. Whan and Mrs. J. Pilling poured tea. The committee in charge was Mrs. James Benson, Mrs. E. Booth, Mrs. J. Halcrow and Mrs. H. Lane.

Rivard-Ellis Vows Pledged

Rev. F. W. Craik officiated at the ceremony in St. James' United church recently, when Phyllis Marjorie Ellis, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ellis, became the bride of Pte. Gerard Rivard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rivard. Mr. Cecil Lapp was at the organ, and Mrs. C. Searles sang "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank Ellis, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin with lace inserts in the tight-fitting bodice, and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists. Her floor-length veil of embroidered net was caught to her head with orange blossoms. She wore a triple strand necklace of pearls, and carried a nosegay of deep red roses and sweetpeas.

She was attended by Mrs. Earle White, as matron of honor, and Miss Carlotta Laing, as bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in floor-length taffeta, on lines similar to the bride's gown. Mrs. White wore pink, with blue shoulder-length veil and matching gloves, and Miss Laing wore blue, with pink shoulder-length veil and matching gloves. Each carried a nosegay of pink and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Harold Porter was best man, and Mr. Earl Ellis, brother of the bride, and Mr. Ralph Osborne, were ushers.

Mrs. H. Kearns and Mrs. G. Rogers served at the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received, in a two-piece dress of black embroidered crepe, with fuchsia accessories, and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

For travelling, the bride wore a brown tailored suit, matching top-coat, turquoise accessories, and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

Piano Students Present Recital

Fifteen pupils of Mrs. R. T. F. Brain presented a studio recital recently at her home. The recital began at 5 o'clock, and tea was served at the close. Pupils ranging from Grades 3 to 10 were included in the presentation, and played their numbers well for the gathering of parents and friends.

The students and their piano numbers are as follows: Jimmy Johnston played three duets with Mrs. Brain; and Barbara Clark played two duets with Mrs. Brain, and a solo, "Bumble Bee"; Thelma Sanderson played "The Clown"; Doreen Graystock, an English Folk Song, and the Aria from "The Marriage of Figaro."

Barbara Brown and Betty Janet Hinds played two duets, and Miss Brown played a Czerny "Etude," and Miss Hinds played Schubert's "Minuet in A." Elizabeth Blackwell played Boccherini's "Minuet in G"; Ann Young, Mozart's "Fantasia in D Minor"; Eleanor Shirley, "Sonata in D" by Hayden; Ruth Curtis, "Sir Rupert" by Schumann.

Nancy Sootheran played two Czerny "Etudes," the "German Dance," by Beethoven, and "Liebestraum" by Liszt. Margaret Walker's number was "Waltz in D Flat" by Brahms; Eunice Moncrief, "Sonata in F" by Mozart; Jane Hall, "Schertzo in E Flat," by Schubert; Ruth Gaskell, Beethoven's "Sonata in F" and selections from Schumann's "Scenes for Children."

Canteen Girls On Duty Sunday

About forty Sunday Canteen Girls were hostesses during Sunday afternoon and evening at the Uptown Recreation Centre, when a large number of boys from the local Training Centre were entertained. Cake and cold drinks were served in the afternoon. Cpl. Rogers and Miss Barbara Nicholls were at the piano. In the evening, Pte. Harold Wright led in the sacred sing-song which has become a regular Sunday night feature, with Mrs. C. Norman at the piano. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

Special visitors to the Centre during the week included three Salvation Army Officers, Col. F. Ham and Major R. W. Gage, of Toronto, and Col. C. Bates, of New York.

Nature Club Holds Outing

In spite of the uncertain weather on Saturday, about forty-five people journeyed to the Hiawatha district for the annual field day organized by the Peterborough Nature Club. The aim of the Club is to further the study of nature and its conservation, and the membership is open to all interested in this study. V. R. Henry is president.

During an afternoon of rambling through the woods, the group found two new plants, rattlesnake plantain and striped coral root. Special note was also made of the large colonies of dogtooth violet and bloodroot. Three birds, the crested flycatcher, the bob-o-link and the Baltimore Oriole were also noted.

The picnic lunch was eaten on the slope of the hill at Hatrick's Point, which commands an excellent view of Rice Lake and the mouth of the Otonabee.

After supper, Dr. A. J. Madill and Dr. J. A. Bannister summarized briefly the flowers, trees and shrubs observed during the afternoon.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

WOMAN'S DUTY TO SERVE U.S.

Obligation to Country Greater Than Man's Because of Freedom Granted Here.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl 22 years old. Unmarried. No dependents. No particular home obligations, for my parents are in good health and in good circumstances. I have a high school education with two years of college, and a good job. I am a strong, healthy, intelligent young woman, and I feel that I owe just as much duty to my country as my brother does who is in the army.

I am very anxious to join the WACS where I know I could be of service, but my parents positively refust their permission. Do you think they are right in doing so?

A BAFFLED PATRIOT.

Daughters Should Serve, Too

ANSWER—No. Your parents are not only doing you an injustice when they force you to be a quitter when your heart's desire is to be of service to your country, but they are being highly unpatriotic. When Uncle Sam calls for help, there is no reason why his daughters should not respond than his sons. Indeed, their obligation is the greater, because nowhere else in the world have women been given such privileges and opportunities as in this country, and they are only paying their debt of gratitude when they fight to preserve our way of life that has given their freedom.

Of course, it is natural for fathers and mothers to want to keep their little biddies safe in the home nest. Anyway, they don't think girls would be of much use in the war, and they believe that the slogan "every woman in the army releases a man for combat duty" is just propaganda.

They forget that unless we win the war no place will be safe for girls. That millions of men are able to fight on the front line because their sisters are fighting in the rear, and that the service of women in the army has been so invaluable that it is recognized by all of the high-ranking commanders who are asking for more and more and more of them.

Of it being the patriotic duty of every able-bodied woman, without dependents, to enlist in the army and do her bit towards saving her country, there can be no question. Nor does it call for the heroic sacrifice that fond parents believe it does. On the contrary it gives the girl soldier a dignity and a self-respect that she has never had before. It teaches her the courage and gives her the discipline to meet whatever comes in life and it opens up a new and exciting career for her.

Nor are the pecuniary rewards to be despised. When a girl joins the Women's Army Corps, she is just as much a soldier as any man. She receives exactly the same pay as a soldier in the same grade, which is from $50 a month up, all clear, no expenses. She also has the same opportunity for advancement in grade and pay, and if she shows qualities of leadership she can come up from the ranks into the officer class.

Women Get Same Benefits As Men

In addition, enlisted women receive all of the many benefits offered to men in the army: national service, life insurance, free food, uniforms, housing, medical and dental services annual leave with pay and best of all training fitting them for a career after the war is won.

The WACS for instance, offer their members a choice of 155 regular jobs, with many additional ones for women with special qualifications. This gives every girl not only a chance to follow her bent, but to have her talent developed by skilled technicians.

Many a WAC will walk into a brilliant career after the war that she could never have had if she had not gone into the army. Don't miss the opportunity to serve your country and benefit yourselves, girls.

DEAR MISS DIX—It always puzzles me why a man is so afraid of being called a "piker" by people whom he neither likes nor respects, yet he will fearlessly bring upon himself the disapproval of his wife, children and God. Why is this?

PUZZLED

ANSWER—Perhaps it is because he would rather be wept over by his wife and children than sneered at by strangers, and he thinks that he won't have to settle with God for his misdeeds for a long time.

With The Girl Guides

The Guides and Brownies of the First St. Andrew's Company and Pack were joined by the Sixth Jackson Park Guides for their annual "Mother's Night," which was held on Friday evening in St. Andrew's Sunday School hall. The mothers showed their continued interest in Guiding by their large attendance.

A short program, which was arranged by all three groups, included a Brownie and Guide enrollment ceremony. In the Brownie Pack, Betty and Barbara Jones of the Gnomes were enrolled; and in the First Company Guides Shirley Meath. Shirley Hudgin and Margaret Deal received their badges. Both of the ceremonies were performed by Commissioner Mrs. R. Whalon.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of badges and awards which had been won by Guides and Brownies throughout the year. The following Brownie badges were awarded: Golden Bars to Margaret Munro, Betty Murphy, Helen Lancaster, Doreen and Mary Raddon. Good Deed Ropes went to Betty Murphy, Nancy Rowell, Diana Miller, Betty and Barbara Jones. One-year service stars were also awarded to Margaret Munro, Doreen and Mary Raddon, Carolyn Horton, Helen Lancaster and Joanne Curtis; while Barbara Bacon received her Weaver Badge. Guide second-class badges were awarded to Elizabeth Rowell, Joan Carley and Joyce Beggs of First Company. Service stars went to Amy and Mary Curtis, Nina Harrison, Kitty Smith and Jean Chambers of First Company; Barbara Luther and Doreen Goodfellow of Sixth Company. National Service armbands, which can be worn by Guides only when they are doing war work, such as collecting grease, were given to Joyce Beggs, Shirley Meath and Shirley Hudgin. These won by Guides after six hours of war work. One hundred hours' war work entitled them to wear the 100-hour war service badge, which is worn over the right pocket of their uniform. These were won by Ada Aulbrook, Joan Carley, Pat McLachlan, Doris Dawson, Kitty Smith, Jean Graham and Jean Chambers. 200-Hour badges were won by Elizabeth Rowell and Mary Braund, all of First Company. For consistently collecting grease, without slackening their efforts, Joan Carley and Elizabeth Rowell received prizes from First Company, while for extra good service in Sixth Company, Doreen Goodfellow and Barbara Luther received prizes. Miss Moira Whalon, leader of the Brownies, received her Brown Owl warrant and pin, and Pack Leader Joyce Bridcott received her Tawny Owl warrant and pin. Mrs. Stanley Shields, secretary of the local association, who also acted as pianist, received a gift from the Guides in recognition of her services. Mrs. Shields instructs and tests for many parts of the first-class test, also. Two First Company Guides, Mary Curtis and Nina Harrison, who have worked very hard during the past two weeks to complete their first-class test, received their badges, and each also received a gold Guide pin when they are able to complete this difficult test. Mrs. Whalon, commissioner, presented all these badges and awards. In recognition of her thirty years in Guiding she was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Brownie Anne Maudsley, and an address which was first read by Barbara Luther.

A short campfire program followed the badge presentation, and the evening was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments.

Grove School Loses Cricket Match

The Peterborough-Whitaker team travelled to Lakefield on Saturday to play the old-time fixture against Grove School, and scored an encouraging win by 101 to 50. It looked at one time that the match would share the same fate as the one arranged for the previous Saturday and not played owing to rain, but the weather turned out fair but cold.

Batting stars for the winners were F. Smith 26, B. Roberts 26 and J. Wild 23, and in bowling Colbran took 7 wickets for 33 runs. It will be noted that the three batsmen named scored 75 out of 95 from the bat. The P-W men batted first and made a poor start. The Rev. J. F. Kelly, who was making a welcome re-appearance, was unfortunately run out when he seemed set for a good score and 3 wickets were down for 11. Then Roberts joined Smith and the two put up the best cricket of the afternoon showing strong defence and dealing adequately with the loose ones. At 64 after 53 had been added to the score Smith was bowled by Hyde for 26, and, as often happens after a long partnership, Roberts was bowled by Roy in the next over for a like score which included a big square leg hit for 6. Wild kept up the good work with a valuable 23 and the innings closed for 101. Roy and Hyde were the opening school bowlers and sent down some good balls but naturally tired as they were not relieved until the total was 87 and then Langmuir took 3 quick wickets for 6.

The School made a disastrous start against the bowling of Dyer and Colbran, the latter in his first two overs taking 4 wickets for 4 runs and the scoreboard showed 7 runs for 4 wickets. Capt. Ketchum, former Grove School master and now stationed at the local Military Training Centre, defended well but could get little help and with the score at 20 for 6 he was bowled by Dyer. Later J. Shanely and W. Smart by some plucky but lucky hitting put on 25. The former's 13 included a six and a four and the latter's 12 included 2 fours. In bowling, Colbran's analysis suffered from the partnership but he came out with the fine figures of 7 wickets for 33 runs and Dyer has 3 for 14, the latter figure including Shanley's sixer.

Players, past and present, heard with deep regret of the serious illness of Mr. Hubert Eisdall, who has for months been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital. He always had a kindly, courteous welcome for visiting players and his effective coaching of the boys was always evident in the good style shown by recent School teams.

Manager Murph Chambers of Switchgear is the first City League pilot to come with an announcement of his probably battle array. Switchgear face Plazas in the opening game of the city loop on Thursday night and Manager Chambers has his lineup about doped out for the initial encounter . The Switchgear team this season will be a combination of last year's Switchgear, Genelecs, and Combines with one representative of the 4th Battery to give it more variety. The pitching staff will consist of Ron Akers, with Genelecs in 1943 and Harrison who was with the Switchgear last season. Holly Mowry, hard-hitting catcher who played for Genelecs a year ago will be hehind the bat while Switchgear have additional batting strength at first base which will be taken care of by Ashmore who caught for them last season. Art Padget of last summer's team is billed for second while Nicholls formerly with the Combines is slated to play short. At third base will be Don Holmes or Honey Tompkins, the latter with the champion 4th Battery in the 1943 campaign. For the outfield berths Manager Chambers has Jack Playford, formerly of Genelecs, Jack Carpenter who played left field for Switchgear last season, and Gib Brockley and Frank McCormick of Combines. That is a combination that has plenty of batting strength and looks strong defensively, too.

Promoter Frank Tunney has lined up quite an array of batlers for the Tuesday night card at the Brock St. Arena with Whipper Billy Watson and Verne Baxter continuing their hectic feud in the main bout and a wealth of talent packed into the two preliminary engagements. The battle between Watson and Baxter last week was one of the toughest wrestling encounters that has been seen since the Tunney era began and they will probably pick right up where they left off. In other words there should be plenty of action. John Arthur, the powerful Chicago wrestler who showed so much power when he appeared here several weeks ago will have a chance to demonstrate just how strong he is in the semi-final bout for he is stacked up against a newcomer in the person of Don Evans, a California grappler who is both fast, and clever. Then in the opener there will be a pair of whirling dervishes with Nick Elitch the squat New Yorker clashing with the Hamilton buss saw Joe Maich. That pair will make the customers think the May 24 firework display has arrived a little prematurely. It should be an entertaining card for it has about everything.

Plenty of Baseball

Baseball in gobs over the week-end and plenty of features for the fans to chatter over, Probably the outstanding event of the whole program was the fact that the grand old veteran Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds came within one blow Sunday of achieving the pitcher's dream of a no-hit game. Walters gave the Boston Braves exactly one hit and that did not come until Connie Ryan got an anemic single in the eighth frame, a broken-bat hit at that. Walters easily hung up his fifth win of the campaign as again one defeat but it was a tough break losing that no-hitter. St. Louis Cards had a fair week-end and probably the most important development was that Mort Cooper picked up his second win of the season in beating the Philadelphia Blue Jays 6 to 3 and it looks as if the big right-hander has found the winning combination again. There is no doubt as to the Cards' left-handers. Between them Max Lanier and Harry Brecheen have won eight games so far this season without a loss. Lanier has won five straight and Brecheen made his record three in a row by beating Brooklyn Saturday 8 to 4. Rip Sewell, who like Cooper had trouble getting started this season has evidently got on the beam again for he came through with a masterpiece yesterday to shut out the Giants for ten innings on six scattered hits. The Corsairs finally scored a run for him in the tenth to give him a 1 to 0 win.

* * * * * *

In the American League the pitching classic of the week-end was Luman Harris' two-hitter against the Brownies in a game that the Athletics finally took 3 to 0, thanks to a two-run homer by Frankie Hayes, his fourth of the season. Gorsica came up with another gem in blanking the Boston Red Sox 9 to 0. The Detroit pitching star allowed the Sox only three hits. Incidentally the Tigers had no trouble in taking both ends of a double-header for they took the second game 6 to 1 with Dizzy Trout having too much on the ball for the men of Cronin. The New York Yanks won themselves three games over the week-end, beating Cleveland 5 to 1 Saturday and winning both ends of a double-header Sunday from the same team. Bonham started the first game Sunday but the win went to rookie Roser who went in as a relief pitcher while Atley Donald got credit for the second. Maltsberger of the Chicago White Sox who is fast becoming one of the most successful relief performers in the American loop, garnered his fourth win of the season in a fireman role yesterday when he relieved Orval Grove against Washington Senators and got credit for the victory.

Different Here

Strangely enough while Kingston is managing to keep baseball alive there is trouble in regard to senior softball and there may be no league this summer. Says Bill Walshe in the Kingston sport column: "Kingston's major sports circuits for softball and baseball are at the uncertain stage and there is a fear that the fastball group will have to go out of business. The only doubt in the baseball league is the entry of the Aluminum team, which has been wrecked by losses to the service forces and retirement of veterans. Harry Radley, sports supervisor of the Aluminum Co., called a workout this week but there were not enough qualified players to form a good team. The Aluminum Co. has a ruling that only employees or employees who are now in the service forces may play on the Aluminum teams. If the Aluminum team drops out there will be a grand scramble for the few remaining players. Bob Elliott, smart coach and catcher of the Aluminums, will be in demand as a coach and one service team is specially interested in landing him. There will also be bids for the Aluminum baseball togs as the Navy is without uniforms. At the last baseball meeting there was a suggestion to loan the sailors the outfits formerly worn by the Kingston Ponies senior team. While the Aluminum Co. team would be missed from the city games at the Cricket Field the league would be the same size as last year with four teams as the Navy is a new entry. The Aluminum team has been in the finals the last two years and the scraps with Locos were features of the summer schedule."

* * * * * *

"Baseball in Belleville is just about on the same level as it is in Lindsay," says Ken Colling in the Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer. "However, there are three groups of teen age boys in this city who are anxious to play the diamond game, but unfortunately they've no adequate diamond upon which to play. Beryl Fanning, who championed the losing cause of intermediate O.B.A. ball here for many years in this city, informs this department he is in possession of some eight or nine bats, a catcher's outfit and some other baseball paraphernalia he would gladly pass over to any group of youngsters interested in playing baseball. Other reputable citizens, who realize the fact baseball will return to its former prowess after the war has been won, are anxious that teen-aged boys be given an opportunity to play the game in order that Belleville might have the nucleus of a team when the big day comes. On the week-end of May 21 two junior ball clubs hope to play the first baseball game to be played here in over two years and have selected the old Cricket Field as the only logical spot to play the game. One of the teams comes from the vicinity of St. Michael's Academy while the other is being groomed by Bobby Blaind down in Foster Ward where many a good ball player first saw the light of day."

Two League Teams

COBOURG, May 15—(ENS)—Cobourg will have two teams in the Port Hope Softball League, the entries from here being the Primeau's and Cobourg Dye. Harold Walden is managing the Cobourg Dye and Wild Campbell will be coach. Bill Milne will manage the Primeau team with Joe Bulger as coach.

WINS FREEDOM—Mrs. Joe DiMaggio is shown as she appeared in court at Los Angeles to receive her divorce decree from the famous baseball star of the New York Yankees. Mrs. DiMaggio, the former movie star Dorothy Arnold, told how her husband made her a "stooge" and wrecked their marriage by his indifference. DiMaggio is now in the armed forces.

Sir J. Martin Harvey Once Peterboro Idol

Death of Sir John Martin Harvey will be regretted by Peterborough playgoers of yesterday who remember gratefully the fine artistry of the English actor in repeated appearance in this city when the spoken drama flourished in our midst and the Grand Opera House, now alas only a memory was the centre of entertainment.

Sir John and his English company visited here frequently and opinion will probably still be divided as to whether his greatest role was Sidney Carton in "The Only Way," based on Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" or as Raresby the Rat, in the stirring play "The Breed of the Treshams." Other plays in which the English star appeared here were "David Garrick" and "A Cigarette Maker's Romance."

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The international women's basketball supremacy was retained by Percy Page's peerless Edmonton Grads when they made it three straight over Wichita Thurstons at Edmonton seven years ago today. Holders of the trophy since 1925, Grads settled the issue with a 46-25 rout in the Underwood Challenge - Trophy series. The Grads' championship record was still unmarred when they disbanded after the start of the war.

British Actor Dies At 81, Toured Canada

LONDON, May 15 (CP)—Sir John Martin-Harvey, widely known British actor, died last night at the age of 81. He was the father of actress Muriel Martin-Harvey, who has appeared in the United States.

Sir John rejected an oportunity to follow in his father's footsteps as a naval architect in favor of a theatrical career.

For years a member of Henry Irving's Company, he appeared both in Britain and toured Canada and the United States. On one occasion he was made a chief of the Sarcee Indian tribe with the title of Ta-Decasse (Red Feather). He was knighted in the 1921 New Year's honors list and received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Glasgow University in June, 1938 on his 75th birthday.

He made his first stage appearance at the Court Theatre here Sept. 24, 1881—a boy in "To Parents and Guardians."

His first North American tour was in 1902-03 and the last was 1932 when he played in "The King's Messenger" and "The Bells."

While appearing in "David Garrick" at Toronto in 1921, Sir John became ill with influenza during the post-war epidemic.

Sir John married Angelita Helena de Silva in 1899 and they had a son and daughter.

Sir John, with his company, was the first to blaze a theatrical barnstorming trail across Canada from Halifax, across the Prairies and through the Rockies to Vancouver.

Between 1914 and 1932 Sir John brought his troupe on seven transcontinental tours of Canada. In doing so he endeared himself to many thousands in large cities and small towns with his portrayal of self-sacrificing Sidney Carton in "The Only Way" and his red-blooded version of other heroic roles.

MONEY
DOES GROW ON TREES

● There's a wealth in Canada's forests ... but to secure and distribute it takes vision and initiative. Free Enterprise has created in Canada the world's greatest output of pulp and paper products—at the same time giving Canada its Number One Industry in point of new wealth.

In 1941, a typical year, free enterprise had almost seven hundred million dollars invested and over 37,000 people working, producing pulp and paper products to the value of $334,429,175.00. It paid workers $63,677,818.00, an average exceeding $1,700.00 each.

It paid additional huge sums to other Canadians for materials and supplies and to Governments for taxes. Its products provided a means of livelihood and profit to thousands of Canadians in printing, publishing, stationery and allied trades. All these in turn spent their earnings for the things they freely chose to buy.

That's how free enterprise works to enrich our lives and enlarge our opportunities. For 89 years it has been the privilege of this Bank to aid in these united free endeavours with friendly, experienced counsel and material assistance in financial transactions.

Syracuse Team In 3rd Place Defeat Bears

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs, winners of the Governors cup in six of the last nine years in the International League, already are in third place at this early date.

In defeating the Newark Bears 4-2 and 3-1 in both ends of a double header yesterday, the Chiefs notched their fourth straight victory and six of their last seven games to climb within a half-game of the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Goody Rosen, the Loop's oldest player in point of service, sparked their drive, making seven hits in 12 times at bat for the last four games.

Montreal Royals captured both halves of a twin bill, defeating Baltimore Orioles 10-4 and 4-3. While the Royals had easy sailing in the first game, they had to break a 3-3 deadlock in the final inning to win the nightcap.

Toronto Maple Leafs held the league-leading Rochester to an even split, winning the first game 4-3 behind Al Jarlett's nine-hit pitching, and losing the second 5-2. Young Bill Emmerich notched his fourth success without a setback in the final.

Buffalo and Jersey City also divided their two games. The Bisons winning the first 5-1 behind Mike Roscoe, but the little Giants coming back in the final to score twice in the seventh inning to take a 5-4 decision.

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

Bucky Walter, star righthander for the Cincinnati Reds, yesterday just missed becoming the first pitcher in 22 years to hurl a perfect game in the major leagues. He pitched to 28 batters.

Working the first game of a twin bill against the Boston Braves at Crosley Field Walters retired the first 23 men to face him. Then, with two out in the eighth, Connie Ryan, Braves' second sacker, singled over third base. He was the only Boston player to get on base.

It was the nearest to a perfect game in the major since Charley Robertson, of the Chicago White Sox, turned the trick against Detroit on April 30, 1922.

Walter won his one-hitter, 4-0, for his fifth straight win, but Ira Hutchinson scattered eight Reds' hits for a 6-0 Brave triumph in the nightcap.

The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals each tightened their grip on first place in the American and National League, respectively. The Yanks beat Cleveland twice, 4-3 in 13 innings and 8-4 before 41,-628 paid at the Yankee Stadium, the largest crowd of the 188,166 fans who watched the eight Sunday double-headers. Johnny Lindell's 13-inning single won the opener while Don Savage's three-run homer clinched the after piece.

Cards Snag 2.

The second-place Phillies went down twice before the Cards at St. Louis, 6-3 and 1-0. Big Mort Cooper won his second game in the opener while George Munger bested Southpaw Al Gerheauser in the nip-and-tuck second game.

Dizzy Trout and Johnny Gorsica pitched Detroit Tigers out of last place in the American loop. They beat the Boston Red Sox, 6-1 and 9-0, to shove the Sox into the basement.

Pittsburg climbed into the National League first division by beating the Giants twice, 1-0 and 8-2.

Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics took both ends of their twin bill from the St. Louis Browns, 4-3 in 11 innings and 2-0. The double win put the A's back in the first division.

Washington split with the Chicago White Sox. Dutch Leonard whitewashed the Sox in the opener, 4-0. A ninth-inning rally, featured by Thurman Tucker's two-run single, won the nightcap for Chicago, 6-4.

Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, in the first game of a bargain bill before 32,166 but lost the second 8-7.

NEW YORK, May 15 — (CP).— Looks as if there's a slight football war brewing— and we don't mean the difference of opinion between Lou Little and Bill Bingham about the college rules....It seems the new American League on the Pacific Coast has been dickering with a few players who are under contract to National League clubs ....That, of course, would "outlaw" the athletes for five year, but it may be that some of them are shopping around to see if the risk is worth taking....Eli Whitney, the champion heart player and victory gardener of the American Bowling Congress reports he has raised 500 tomato, cabbage, pepper, etc., plants right in his office building....Critics who said it couldn't be done now are sneering that their offices are swept regularly.

Guest star:

Will Connolly, San Francisco Chronicle: "What this part of the country needs is a good five-cent knockout to restore interest in the middleweights....A pugilist weighing 160 pounds is a full-grown man and should be able to hurt somebody."

TORONTO, May 15 — (CP). — There may be a surplus of gals in some places, but you can't prove it by the Regina Fastball League. Out in the Prairie city they are having trouble keeping the lasses on the basepaths, and many of them are heading for the bright lights and glamor teams of Chicago.

The exodus of the girls for professional leagues south of the border isn't the only difficulty either, laments Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh. Says he: "The situation becomes more acute when lad invade the diamond to lassoo a bride. It reaches the stage where one manager is rumored to be contemplating wedlock with his star. Then even if she does insist on dashing off to Chicago, he can always claim half her salary and retire."

Alger in reverse:

Bill Kasepchuk, husky Ukrainian pitcher from Windsor way, seems to have fooled his chance at possible stardom in the bigtime. Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star reports Kasepchuk earned himself a quick hike from Detroit Tigers and their farm club Buffalo Bisons by too-extensive salary demands. Back home again, he got into trouble with the Essex County League by placing a premium on his services and signing with two teams at once. Horatio Alger never told that side of the story.

Monday meanderings:

Scholarly Doctor Phil Edwards, Canadian track flash in past Olympic and British Empire Games, is coaching the C.W.A.C. cinder-path Cinderellas at Ste. Annes Training Centre near Montreal.... Will Cote, hockey statistician who now is in the R.C.A.F. in Alberta, is planning a record of statistics of the old Western Canada Hockey League, which boasted such hockey greats as Eddie Shore, Bill and Bun Cook, Mervyn (Red) Dutton, and others....Neil Colville has taken up fastball in Regina with the Regina R.C.A.F. Western Canada titlists...They still haven't cleared up Johnny Greco's status in the New York ring world. Johnny won't be 21 until August, and can't sign a contract until then without his parents' consent. Meanwhile, he is being scrapped over by opposing managerial candidates.

WOMAN ON FREIGHTER

BARRY, Wales—(CP)—Possibly the first Englishwoman to serve on a foreign merchant ship in wartime, 24-year-old Audrey Andreason is at sea on a coal-carrying Swedish freighter. Her husband is steward on the vessel and Mrs. Andreason signed on to avoid being separated from him.

Calumet Stable Gathers In Preakness Prize

BALTIMORE, May 15 — (AP) — The 1944 racing season still is in its fancy, especially in so far as rich stakes are concerned, but today at least four of the championships appear to be wrapped up and ready to deliver the combination of Warren Wright, Ben Jones, Conn McCreary and Pensive.

Unless something goes wrong with the 30-odd home-breds in his Calumet farm stable, Wright will end up as the top money winning owner for the second straight year, Jones again will head the trainers in money won; McCreary will be the No. 1 money-winning jockey and Pensive will rule the three-year-old division.

Jones has the other trainers wondering whether he can make a mistake. At least six of them were hoping for the error that didn't materialize when Plain Ben sent out Pensive Saturday to win the richest Preakness and gain the second leg on the triple crown.

The three-quarter-length triumph over George D. Widener's Platter in the mile and three-sixteenths of the Preakness boosted Pensive's earnings for the year to $139,475 and was the seventh stake triumph of the 28-day Pimlico meeting for horses carrying the Calumet's red-devilled silks.

Counting Pensive's Kentucky Derby purse and $43,460 picked up in Florida, the Calumet horses have won $250,840. That's only some $17,-000 short of the figure compiled by Wright in leading the field last year.

McCreary, 22-year-old St. Louis boy, has been riding rich since joining up with Wright and Jones April 1. Last year he rode for George D. Widener and switched connections just in time to get the mount on Pensive and other stake winners from Calumet.

Baseball May Oust Cricket?

LONDON, May 15 (CP).—The report that baseball equipment has been issued to British units in the Middle East to meet their increasing interest in the game has prompted the Times of London to devote to baseball its famous "Last" editorial written in humorous vein.

Says the Times:

"The first reaction to the news will be that of gladness over another point of friendly contact between the two armies. That is the rational and pleasant view, and there may be some prophets of evil to take another. They may declare that this is the writing on the wall; that since the authorities at Lords resolutely refuse to have their game brightened by 'stunts,' cricket will be weighed in the balance of public opinion and found wanting; that to a taste vitiated by ice hockey and greyhound racing, the speed of baseball will make an appeal with which the leisureliness of cricket cannot compete.

"This is surely too gloomy a forecast; there is room for both games, and he is but a poor-hearted lover of cricket who thinks that it needs a protective wall built round it.

"Baseball, though superficially it looks simple, is in fact in its subtleties and finer points by no manner of means easy to understand. To watch it is to be almost as much mystified as on first entering a tennis court; but if much is hidden the raw spectator can at least catch a spark of excitement from his instructed fellows. . . .

"It may be that in a few years we shall have absorbed all the traditions of baseball, rise in a body to stretch ourselves at the sleepy seventh, and write of the game in a language as palpably spirited as it is incomprehensible. . . ."

Room For Both

LONDON — (CP-Reuters).—Following the report baseball equipment has been issued to British units in the Middle East, the Times of London said in an editorial there is room for both baseball and cricket and "it may be in a few years we shall have absorbed all the traditions of baseball, rise in a body to stretch ourselves at the sleepy seventh, and write of game in a language a palpably spirited as it is incomprehensible."

Airborne Army Expected To Hit France

NEW YORK, May 15 — (AP) — The Allied amphibious invasion of Western Europe may be accompanied by a force against which there is no standard method of defense—a complete and independent airborne army landed deep behind Hitler's Atlantic Wall.

For the first time military commanders have the means of concentrating powerful forces both within and against an enemy's fortifications. The extent to which Gen. Eisenhower can take advantage of this most modern expression of war depends on how well the Allied Nations have been able to prepare.

The maximum application of this development would be the simultaneous landings of an amphibious army against Hitler's western armies and a complete airborne army behind them. Certainly there will be landings directed against airfields and strong points.

There are many evidences the Allies plan a lavish use of airborne forces.

Practice Night Landings

Towplanes and gliders cover many of Britain's green acres. British-based fleets of air transports, towplanes and gliders of the United States 9th Air Force flew more than 30,000 hours during April in a series of midnight and dawn practice operations. And the greatest night practice landings ever accomplished have been held since.

These preparations usually are mentioned in connection with Commando-type blows, and Germany has recognized this threat to the extent of announcing that countermeasures have been prepared.

It seems safe to assume that the German High Command also has foreseen the possible co-ordination of scores of these independent forces into a single unit, a powerful army, reinforced, supplied and supported from the air and striking swiftly at any one of a dozen vital rear positions.

An airborne army of 100,000 men landed behind Hitler's wall probably could hold its own for a long time or until joined by other forces.

British and American plants together turned out planes at a clip of 14½ an hour in 1943—127,000 for the year. Most of them were trainer and combat types, and many of the transport and cargo planes went to other theatres.

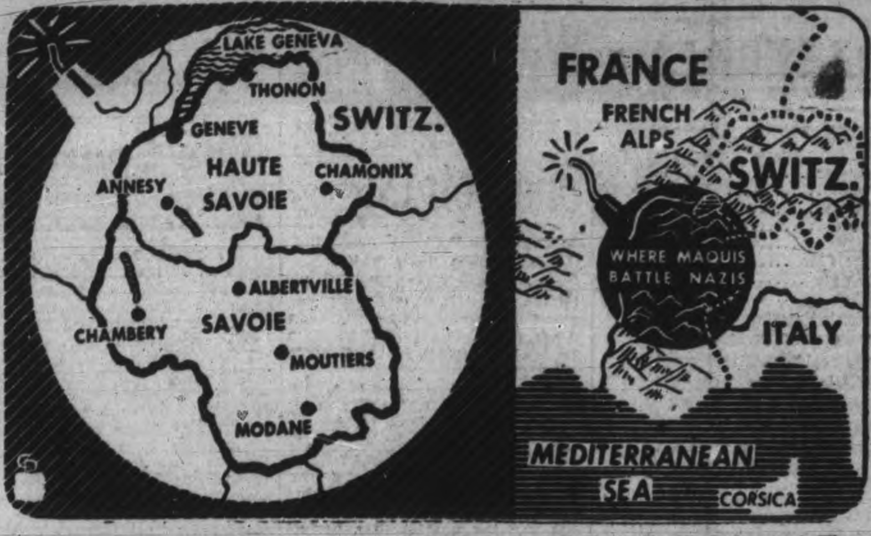
But 1,500 transports and towplanes with their gliders—about the number of heavy bombers and their escorts employed in a single major raid—could land 100,000 men. Heavy equipment—tanks and artillery—would follow, and, given reasonable aerial protection, the extent to which the airborne army could be increased in size would be limited only by the number of men that could be spared without endangering the amphibious operation.

The initial landing would differ only in scale from the familiar pattern set in Burma, New Guinea, Africa, Sicily and Italy.

The immediate objective of this striking force would be to obtain and hold German airfields until the heavily convoyed transports and cargo planes could unload reinforcements and heavy equipment.

Transports carrying up to 40 fully equipped men are in use and aircraft carrying double that number probably are in production. Disassembled, all but the heaviest equipment necessary to a modern mechanized army probably could be landed.

France offers many advantages to an airborne army, including a highly organized underground to furnish guides and information and perhaps provide small holding forces.



WHERE FRENCH PATRIOT ARMY IS STRIKING—The Maquis, a band of patriots hidden in the French Alps, have poked the torch of freedom under the noses of Hitler's tyrants. Their most recent contribution has been staged, according to press dispatches, in the Savoie region, where the French, Swiss and Italian Alps begin to meet. There, reports said, the hidden army recently met the enemy in battle and struck with such force that the Germans called out tanks and planes. Since an important German supply route to Nazi troops in Italy, goes through Maquis territory, their value as saboteurs has been great.

and fanned out to capture the village of San Pietro and the nearby hills, Monte Cerri and Monti Bracchi on either side of the Ausente river. Then they continued the attack on Spigno.

The French in the Upper Garigliano area approached the Liri river in the vicinity of San Gorgio after occupying a number of dominating heights. Ausonia, in the valley connecting the Liri Valley with the sea, fell yesterday afternoon.

In quick succession the embattled French won 2,500-foot Monte Rinchiuso and 1,900-foot Colle Agrifolglio and occupied the towns of San Andrea and San Ambrogio and mopped up San Appolinare.

Subsequently the troops of Gen. Alphonse Juin routed the Germans from the 1,400-foot Colle Castellone, highest feature overlooking San Giorgiogio and Colle Cantelupo, which overlooks the Liri Valley and flanks enemy positions in the Valley.

The defended town of Corena southeast of Ausonia was by-passed and surrounded and other heights beyond were seized.

Poles Attack

Southwest of Cassino the enemy put in strong counter-attacks throughout yesterday with infantry supported by Nebelwerfers, artillery and a few tanks. From the Nazi first parachute division elements in this sector the Allies captured four officers and 117 men prior to yesterday.

The only sector of the offensive front where the fighting died down was northwest of Cassino where Poles had attacked heavily on the two preceding days.

It was reported officially that the enemy was hastily reinforcing his defences against the Poles and moving up other reinforcements also for a prolonged battle along the entire front with an evident determination to prevent any breakthrough on the Gustav Line which would permit the Allies to begin an early assault on the Hitler Line beyond.

Gurkhas Busy

Knife-swinging Gurkhas cleaned out the last enemy resistance in the Labarynthine cellars and fortified buildings of Sant'Angelo in the Rapido bridgehead and tanks and infantry advanced slowly south of that town. Enemy pockets were mopped up also in the area of the Rapido and Liri Rivers.

The minefields in this area were not as bad as expected. At one place the enemy hung Booby traps from branches of trees overhanging the road.

Additional bridges have been thrown across the Rapido River. At least 30 Nazi guns shelled one bridge.

U. S. Army Engineers building new bridges on the lower Garigliano River despite the shelling of the enemy's long-range guns used diving suits to descend 25 feet under water to check foundations of old bridges wrecked by Germans.

Just as the whole attack was evidence of Allied co-operation, so was the spectacular advance of the French a demonstration of the close unity of the Allied forces. American artillery backed Gen. Guin's onslaught, shelling enemy strong points, while R. A. F. planes helped spot their targets.

the Germans might have started to renew their attempts to disorganize supply lines to the Allied invasion troops in Britain.

Date or location of the sinking was not announced, but the fact that this was the first successful U-boat attack on the North Atlantic convoy route for some time dispelled any hope that might have been held that the German navy had abandoned this mode of defence.

Announcement of the loss of the Valleyfield followed close on the heels of a statement by Mr. Macdonald in which he urged residents in the Lower St. Lawrence area stringently to observe dimout regulations during the summer shipping season which has just started.

Naval circles here said the sinking of the frigate in conjunction with the Navy Minister's statement on the dimout regulations was a distinct indication that the Navy was preparing for the German underseas fleet to make a final desperate attack on Canadian shipping lanes.

Second Loss

Valleyfield's loss was announced just 17 days after one of the Navy's most modern destroyers, the Athabaskan, was sunk in the English Channel during a battle with German destroyers.

The Navy announced that 46 of the Athabaskan's complement had been picked up by an accompanying destroyer and that 202, including two Royal Navy ratings, were missing. Of the missing, 85 were reported by the German radio to be prisoners of war.

The Valleyfield was the 16th vessel lost by Canada since war started. The others were: five destroyers—Fraser, Margaree, Ottawa, St. Croix and Athabaskan; six corvettes—Windflower, Levis, Spikehard, Charlottetown, Louisburg and Weyburn; four minesweepers or patrol ships—Bras D'Or, Otter, Raccoon and Chedabucto.

The first naval loss was the destroyer Fraser, cut in half in a collision off the French coast in June, 1940. The corvette Levis was the first ship lost through direct enemy action. She was torpedoed in the North Atlantic, Sept. 29, 1941.

Only one name of a Peterborough and district sailor appeared on the casualty list. He is Able Seaman Frederick Murray Lonsberry, son of Mrs. Lonsberry, 101 Blake street, Cobourg.

Lightning Kills Cows

MARMORA, May 15 — (ENS).—James Leonard Hewitt, farmer of Marmora Township, lost two cows which were struck by lightning at 2 p.m. on Saturday. Other cows pasturing in the same field while the storm was on were not affected.

People Warned To Move From Rail Areas

LONDON, May 15 (CP) — Nazi propagandists, thumping their chests in new displays of defiance as the day of the Allies' western invasion draws nearer, had an assist today from Premier Hideki Tojo, who, in a radio pep talk, told the Japanese people the German armed forces are "confident and impatient" as they await the expected assault.

The BBC, meanwhile, addressing the peoples of occupied Europe in 24 languages in a radio broadcast, asked them to move immediately from the vicinity of important railway and industrial installations—prime targets in the pre-invasion hammering of Fortress Europe.

In a friendly but firm tone, a BBC speaker said "our pilots realize that lives and homes of our friends are at stake. They therefore exercise the greatest possible care, but the scale of these attacks inevitably will add to the sufferings which you—our staunch friends—have so courageously endured in this war.

"We know the extreme difficulty of evacuation at the present moment. Nevertheless, we ask you most urgently to take every step possible to move away from the vicinity of all important railway and industrial installations."

The British people were warned again that these "counter-offensive moves" might include an attempt by the Nazis to land on the British Isles in the hope of disrupting the plans of the Allied invasion chieftains.

fence of Great Britain's force accounted for four of the 15 enemy planes destroyed over England. Two JU88's were shot down by one Canadian fighter, while a third JU88 was brought down by other pilots of the same squadron.

During Sunday's daylight patrols over eastern France, an R.C.A.F. Mosquito destroyed a Heinkel 111 in combat and severely damaged other enemy aircraft on the ground.

While Canadian Beaufighters were battling enemy raiders in the night skies over England last night, the R.C.A.F. bomber group laid mines in enemy waters.

From all these operations one Canadian fighter is missing.

The German bomber command came to life after a day in which British-based air forces paused for breath in their blasting of the Reich and enemy-held territory across the Channel.

The German radio said Bristol was the main target.

In their strike against the Brenner Pass line hand-picked bombardiers attacked the 3,500-foot-long Avision Viaduct, scoring hits at the northern and southern ends and probably in the middle. It was one of three strikes against the 81-mile Brenner gap through the Alps. There is no alternate route at the viaduct section and its destruction would stop traffic.

TORONTO, May 15 — (CP). — Ninety-eight Canadian Army officers and men, including 4 stretcher cases, arrived from overseas during the week-end.

Church Services Honor Mothers

MARMORA, May 15 — (ENS) — Mother's Day was observed by the congregations of St. Andrew's United and St. Paul's Anglican churches.

The former congregation joined with the Sunday School in a joint service in the Town Hall at 11 a.m. A women's choir led in the musical portion of the service and sang special music. The form of service followed was that as sent out by the Ontario Religious Education Council. Rev. E. M. Cadigan gave an inspiring talk on the origin and significance of Mother's Day. A service was also held in the evening with the girls' choir performing.

At St. Paul's, the morning service was taken by the Diocesan Lay Reader, W. J. Cottrell, who spoke on "A Great Woman," 2 Kings 4:18. A duet, "My Mother's Memories" was sung by Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. L. R. Rundle. Rev. A. B. Caldwell officiated at Evensong and delivered a sermon on Hannah's dedication of Samuel to the service of the Lord. W. J. Cottrell sang "My Mother's Prayer."

1923 THE Automotive Industry BEGAN TO EXPAND

By 1923 the automobile had passed from the luxury stage and was entering the era of rapid expansion and mass production. A great new industry had come into being.

The men who managed Canada's Nickel mines and plants were determined to build a greater Nickel industry. In the automobile, subject at that time to frequent breakdowns, they foresaw new markets for Canadian Nickel to replace the war demand which had ceased in 1918.

So the Canadian Nickel industry gave its full co-operation to automotive engineers who were pioneering the search for stronger, tougher, more dependable materials.

Cars became stronger, safer, more reliable, as Nickel alloys were used for vital parts. It was not many years before the automotive industry became the world's largest user of Canadian Nickel, and the output of Nickel exceeded its wartime peak.

Today Canadian Nickel is again devoted to war purposes and again the industry looks to the future with confidence. Plans are ready to develop and expand old and new peacetime markets, so that the Nickel industry may continue, through its own initiative and enterprise, to make still greater contributions to Canada's welfare.

IN GUARD OF HONOR — Stoker 1 Leonard Symonds (Right), son of Mrs. Violet Symonds, 564 Murray Street, was a member of the guard of honor in Kingston for Navy Minister Hon. Angus L. Macdonald during a recent Victory Loan inspection. Before enlisting in March of this year, he worked at the C.G.E.

Main Street Topics

A NICE TROUT

Ernie Jones joined the ranks of the successful fishermen over the week-end when he snagged a speckled trout weighing two pounds, two ounces in the Millbrook stream. The fish was slightly over 17 inches in length and he took it on a fly.

MARKET PRICES

Potatoes sold at $1.50 to $1.75 and $1.85 a bag on the local market Saturday with ample supplies for the morning demand. Tomato and cabbage plants and annual flowers were 25 cents a box. Eggs continued in the recent range of 30 to 35 cents a dozen, broiler chickens 40c a pound and hens 35 cents.

WITH BRITISH ARMY.

Lieut. Donald Boulter, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boulter, 626 Aylmer Street, has volunteered for service with the British Army, and is overseas on loan from the Canadian Army. Before enlisting in August, 1940, Lieut. Boulter worked at the Outboard Marine, and he had received his education in Belleville.

MERCHANTS TO OBSERVE MAY 24TH.

The merchants and storekeepers of Peterborough have decided to close their places of business all day on Wednesday, May 24. While not a legal holiday it would otherwise have been a half-holiday, and as Wednesday morning business is never very brisk the merchants felt it would not hurt anyone if they took the whole day off.

COAT IS STOLEN.

Petty thieving from automobiles is still giving the police concern. The latest case came on Saturday night when a lady's coat was stolen from a taxi driven by William Hawthorne, parked outside the Churchill Restaurant. The ownership of the coat is not known. It had been left in the taxi and disappeared while Hawthorne was inside the restaurant.

MAGNOLIA TREE IN BLOOM.

W. M. Cruthers, 561 King Street, has a magnolia tree in flower. While there are two or three others in the the city this kind of tree is very rare in Canada. It is native to the Carolines and Florida. Mr. Cruthers' tree, which is nearing the end of its bloom, has had over 100 flowers, large, fragrant, white and pink.

BEER, MONEY TAKEN.

A. J. Blodgett reported to the police on Saturday that a milk cheque for around $10 and about $7 in bills had been stolen from his wallet and that a case of beer had also been taken from his car. Blodgett said that he had invited a soldier to visit his place and that the man in uniform disappeared from Blodgett's car while the complainant was shopping. The beer disappeared at the same time.

ARRIVES IN CANADA

Sgt. R. Williams, who has been overseas since 1939, has been invalided home and arrived in Kingston Saturday, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, 263 Engleburn avenue. He served overseas with the Signal Corps and is expected in Peterborough on Tuesday. A brother, Chief Petty Officer Kenneth Williams, is among the missing in the Athabaskan sinking.

FIRE REPORT

There was a leak in the sprinkler system at the Farmers' Co-operative Saturday morning, but it was taken care of by firemen without any damage occurring. At 12.07 p.m. Saturday an alarm for overheated pipes took the fire truck to 583 Park street, home of R. Goodfellow; and later, at 5.35 p.m. to 598 Downie street, home of V. Shannon, where a chimney fire had started. A false alarm was turned in from Box 8, at the corner of King and George streets, just past midnight Sunday morning; at 8.30 a.m. Sunday a car belonging to R. Bristowel, 487 Murray street, caught fire on Chambers street when anti-freeze boiled over. The car escaped undamaged.

THE USUAL RESULT.

Edmund Quinlan pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning to a charge of having been drunk, and asked for leniency. He got the usual penalty, a fine of $10, and $2.50 costs, or ten days in jail.

STAKES THROWN AWAY.

Some time during the night the stakes which carried the names of the various small evergreens, roses and shrubs in the beds in Confederaiton Square were all pulled up and thrown about the park. A white painted stake carrying the name had been placed beside each shrub or small tree so that visitors to the park could easily identify the shrubbery.

AGAIN REMANDED.

Charles David Baker, who pleaded guilty some time ago to assaulting his wife, Audrey Baker, was again remanded for sentence when he appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning. Stationg that the wife was still in hospital and unable to appear, Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., asked for a remand until Wednesday, promising that if Mrs. Baker could not attend then he would present some other evidence in regard to the alleged assault.

26 Men Arrive From Overseas

KINGSTON, May 15—(Special)—"It sure is good to be back home in time for Mother's Day", was the opinion expressed by most of the 26 officers and other ranks who arrived back in Kingston Saturday afternoon from overseas. After receiving special leaves at No. 3A District Depot, Fort Frontenac, the returned men left for their home towns for a long awaited family reunion.

Sapper J. F. Chapman, of Carlington, Ontario, has been convalescing for the past nine months on the beautiful English estate of the Rt.-Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada, from wounds received during a raid on Spitzbergen. He is receiving treatment at Kingston Military Hospital.

Sgt. W. J. Grabiec, of Ottawa, stepped off the train wearing the uniform of the U. S. Army. Having transferred to Special Services, Sgt. Grabiec was part of an international paratroop force serving on the Anzio Beach-head. It was there that he suffered injuries to his arm.

L/Cpl. D. A. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hill of Havelock, Ontario, received wounds during the battle of the Moro River. L/Cpl. E. C. French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy French of Frankfort, near Trenton, told of his experiences both in Sicily and Italy with the Armoured Corps, and added that the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps is "tops!"

From North Bay, Pte. A. E. Curtis of the Canadian Army Service Corps, was driver and batman for a padre in Sicily. Suffering from internal injuries received during manoeuvres, Pte. Curtis has had the unique experience of being in 12 different hospitals within a month, but says the Canadian hospitals are the best every time.

The names and towns of the men who returned were:

Other ranks: S. Sgt. L. B. Marchand, Kingston; Spr. J. F. Chapman, Sgt. W. J. Gabriec, Pte. I. F. Halpenny, Pte. S. Poirier, Pte. L. A. Thatcher, R.S.M. J. T. Tighe of Ottawa; Pte. F. G. Buckland and Sigm. E. Paquette of Cornwall; L/Cpl. E. C. French, Frankford; Bdr. R. A. Hall, Peterborough; L/Cpl. D. A. Hill, Havelock; Pte. G. N. Loveless, Belleville; L/Bdr. R. Turner, Kemptville; Bdr. A. C. McGregor, Napanee; Cpl. A. A. Fulford, Brockville; Bdr. H. D. Rumbelow, Cobourg; Gnr. J. L. Tuepah, Yarker; Gnr. W. P. Patterson, Coblin; Gnr. J. F. Ethier, Montreal; Pte. A. E. Curtis, North Bay; Gnr. J. C. Brewer and Sgt. R. D. Williams of Toronto.

War Mail Lost Between March 7 and 22

Many items mailed by Peterborough citizens between March 7 and March 22 to relatives and friends serving overseas must be considered lost with the announcement by the Postmaster General of the most recent loss of mail through enemy action. This consignment of parcels, tobacco and news, despatched from the Base Post Office on March 21 and 23, was intended for members of the Armed Forces serving in the Mediterranean area.

Of the various mishaps so far this year that have interferred with successful delivery of the mails to Canadian servicemen overseas, unfortunately, the Post Office says, the heaviest toll has been taken of that which was destined for the men fighting in the Italian theatre of the war. Among these was the loss at sea through enemy action of 861 bags of ordinary and tobacco parcels and news en route from the United Kingdom, a portion of it posted in Canada. A mail plane en route to the Mediterranean was compelled to jettison 5,059 lb. of air mail and surface letters; and 4,851 more lb. of letter mail were lost when the plane carrying it crashed and burned on its way to North Africa.

Despite these and other losses the Post Office has an admirable record in getting the mails through in the face of the abnormal conditions prevailing in its wartime operations. Last year, for instance—the heaviest on record—out of 31,500,000 letters, 27,500,000 lb. of parcels and 997,000 lb. of news despatched to the forces overseas by the Canadian Postal Corps, losses from all causes were only a fraction over 1 per cent.

BRIG. A. J. SMITH

The death occurred on Saturday of Brigadier Arthur John Smith of the Salvation Army, at his home, 151 Erskine Avenue, Toronto. Retired last June, he was 65 years old. Brigadier Smith was formerly commanding officer of the Peterborough Temple, having been here when fire gutted the Temple building in 1923.

For many years he served as field officer in Kingston, Ottawa, and this city, and before going to Toronto engaged in evangelistic work in Montreal, Cobourg and Cornwall. For the past 13 years he had been in charge of the Sherbourne Street Hostel in Toronto, and was known to thousands of homeless and unemployed as a friend.

A story is told of Brig. Smith and Mrs. Smith, who, while conducting a street meeting one night in Cobourg, were joined by a guest from a neighboring hotel. The stranger's rich voice as he sang with the Salvationists drew a crowd and Mrs. Smith's collection plate jingled with coins totalling $70. When Mrs. Smith, in answer to an inquiry, admitted she did not know the name of the stranger singing Gospel songs with her husband, she was told it was Caruso.

Brig. Smith leaves to mourn his loss his wife, the former Annie Westlake; two daughters, Mrs. Melville Shadgett (Ivy) of Peterborough, and Mrs. Ralph Falle (Dorothy) of Toronto; and four sons: Ben of this city, Bernard and Bramwell of Toronto, and Wycliffe of the 48th Highlanders, Brantford.

A service will be held in the Albert Street Temple today at 2 p.m., following which the remains will leave by motor for Peterborough and funeral service in the Aylmer Street Temple on Tuesday afternoon.

Record Pay

GLACE BAY, N.S., May 15—(CP)' — Back-pay increases amounting to about $1,100,000 were distributed on Saturday to some 7,000 miners in the Glace Bay-New Waterford area, making what was believed the biggest single pay in the history of the district.

Found At Last

London, Ont., May 15 (CP)

POST OFFICE officials here have been conducting a fruitless search for a John Webb, 100, who according to writing on a three-pound package of bacon lives at Springbank, Ont. The parcel was sent to Mr. Webb by C. W. Baker, a butcher in Guelph, who apparently heard a recent broadcast mentioning the centenarian.

(Mr. Webb lives at Springbrook near Bonar Law and a few weeks ago the Examiner carried a story about him celebrating his 100th birthday.—Ed.)

Pickerel Fishing Is Ambition Of 8th Army Veteran

"Now we'll go pickerel fishing; and that mean's tonight," said Lance-Corporal Douglas A. Hill, late of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment and the British 8th Army, who arrived on crutches at his home in Havelock Saturday night.

His father, W. W. Hill, is seriously ill at Nicholls Hospital, and for the present his condition is so grave that his physician directed that no one should call on him, not even his soldier son of the famous Canadian unit, the Hasty-Pees.

"When the fellows are gathered around and talking about things, you can depend on it they soon get around to home and after the war, and what they are going to do when they get back. The meals they are going to have, the sleep they are going to get, the job they'd like to get, fishing trips and so on. Those are subjects they talk about a whole lot. And I have been so much in the outdoors these last four years that I'm not wasting any time getting away for my first pickerel trip. As soon as I am out of the army — I don't know when that will be—I'm hoping I get a job that will be outdoors, forestry work sounds all right, but I wouldn't mind guiding all summer, if that could be.

Old Friends

"Talking about food, I'll never forget one meal I had with an Italian who used to be a foreman for Franchesini of Toronto, the roadbuilder who made a lot of money in that work.

"I've forgotten the name of that town where I met this Italian, who could speak English about as well as any of us. We had a platoon of thirty men to find a place for them that night, and we came to this rather large house on the outskirts of the town. Quite a house. The downstairs rooms were pretty well crowded with people from the neighborhood whose houses were gone. They had no place but the roof of a friend.

"This man says, 'We can put your boys upstairs for the night, how will that be?' And that was all right. I suppose there might have been thirty refugees downstairs and the few members of this man's family.

"'You speak pretty good English,' I said to him. 'Were you ever living in the United States?'

"'No,' he said. 'I used to live in Toronto and Ontario. I was a foreman with Franchesini on road jobs.'

"And it turned out that he knew this district and had been in Peterborough on some road contract.

"I liked this chap fine, and I think he liked me. We took to each other, and then he had been around Peterborough and Havelock, and we are almost like old friends. 'I'll fix up a special dinner for you tomorrow, and we'll have a little celebration.' So, he got a chicken somewhere, cooked it in olive oil and rustled some fruit and things like that. And it really was a grand meal.

Take Everything

"The room we had that night had been occupied by Germans just a short time before we became tenants. Italians told us that everywhere that the Germans had stripped them of cattle and food, household articles, even clothing, leaving them with just the things they stood in. They were expecting the worst and had buried a lot of their goods. Two days or so after the British would arrive they realized they were safe and they would bring out their goods, even food they had hidden."

Lance Corporal Hill said he had gained a favorable impression of the Italian people he had seen. "They seemed very friendly and glad we were coming in and the Germans on the way out.

They usually lined up in the streets in the little villages and towns through which we passed, and they certainly showed all the signs of being glad to see us. I believe they were, and I was well treated by those I met personally.

But, speaking about what the men do and talk about! The conversations generally veer around to when the war is over and what they hope to do, the lost time they want to make and the jobs they hope will be ready for them without too long a delay.

The mail man is more welcome than the food line. Letters from the folks back home are really great stuff to keep up the morale. I would suggest that if you know a lad who lived down the street from you, some neighbor's son, and you haven't written to him yet, it would be a grand thing to do it now, let him know the folks generally are thinking about him. And believe me, he'll think a lot of you. They've been over there a long time, some of them."

Born In Tweed

Doug Hill was born in Tweed, but the family has lived for years in Havelock. He has one brother, Fred, with the 1st Special Service Force of Canadians and Americans in Italy, paratroopers; a brother in Toronto, one sister, Mrs. Keith Childs of Havelock, and a younger brother, Bobby, eleven years old, and his parents. He came to Peterborough this morning with his mother, but his home-coming as a whole has been clouded by his father's illness.

He was eighteen years old when he enlisted June 6, 1940, at Trenton with the Midland Regiment, and was on guard detail in that early stage of the war. They were mobilized about August, and guard duty took Doug Hill to Ottawa, and from coast to coast, St. John, N.B., to Prince Rupert, B.C., and Niagara-on-the-Lake and Edmonton, Alta., between times.

Out west he volunteered for a draft to go over to the Hasty-Ptes, and in England he met some fellows from this district including a lad named Basciano and another named Murney from Peterborough, but he could not remember their first names.

Action finally took the unit to Sicily and on to the Italian mainland. He was in Italy four months, from September 3rd, the day of the landing at Reggio, until December 9, the morning he was hit on the road to Ortona.

"I had been having a nap in a slit trench on a slope beyond the Moro River. One of the fellows came along and wakened me. We were out on the roadside, under some shell fire. I really heard this particular shell. In the flash of a moment I had a pretty good idea it was going to hit close by. And it did. I was making a dive for the split trench, but I had waited just a split second too long. A fragment of the shell hit me in the back. I didn't realize it at first.

One of the fellows asked me if I was hit, and I said I didn't know, but I rather thought I was. So they looked me over and found a small hole near the base of the spine and just half an inch from it. It was just about the size of a shilling. The fragment of steel fractured the sacrum of my hip. It did not cause me much pain. I was evacuated to hospital, and am getting along all right. The doctors expect that I will walk pretty well again."

The Hastings-Prince Edward regiment sailed from Scotland for the Mediterranean, arriving at Malta only a day or two in advance of the rendez-vous for the invasion of Sicily.

"We didn't have a chance to land at Malta; just cruised around for a while, and couldn't see anything distinctly, and then we were on the way for the synchronized landing on Sicily.

Our beach was east of Syracuse. We did not run into any opposition on the beach, and we were three miles inland before we ran into any of the enemy. But, the press stories have given a pretty full account of that."

The landing at Reggio, in sight of Mount Everest, September 3, seemed to have been another surprise action.

"Opposition was extremely light on the beach and inshore. I think the only casualty at that stage was caused by one of our own shells. The first night we made twelve to fifteen miles."

"We could see the shore of Italy before we started. The strait was only five miles. We landed around midnight, and it was two or three days before we had anything like a meal. You get along pretty well on your emergency rations. The transport section was right at our heels. You have to be in a landing like that to get any real idea of what it takes to move an army."

The Italian fall and early winter was unfavorable, and the Canadians were always facing the hills which provided natural advantages for the Germans. To this young veteran of the British Eighth Army, the whole experience was something not to be missed, in spite of the chill rains and mud and fighting and so on. But they were a grand lot of lads in the Hasty-Pees.

Doug Hill mentioned one of the officers, a Captain Campbell who was credited with killing twenty-six Germans in one of the engagements in the Sicilian campaign. He also spoke with war appreciation of the "Beaver Club" in Camp Basso. "They called it the Canadian City, because of the number of men you usually met there. The Club provided everything you'd want on a leave."

And one of the sights his memory recalled were new cemeteries with many crosses bearing the names of soldiers from Canada and other parts of the Empire and from Allied countries. "Italians told us they would see that flowers were kept growing on the graves and that the cemeteries would never be neglected."

Mother With 5 Sons, 2 Daughters In Forces Unveils Immaculate Conception Honor Roll

Mother's Day was chosen for the unveiling of an honor roll on which was beautifully inscribed in Old English characters by a Sister of the Monastery, the names of the young men and women of the Immaculate Conception parish who are serving in His Majesty's forces. There are 137 names on the list, 37 in the Navy, 74 in the Army and 26 in the Air Force.

The privilege of officiating at the ceremony was accorded to Mrs. Michael O'Toole who has the almost unique record of having five sons, two daughters and a son-in-law wearing the King's uniforms.

The memorial is placed near the sanctuary close to the group of figures that portray the closing scene on Calvary, thus associating these young people with their Divine Master Who made the supreme sacrifice that men might be free.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

May 15, 1940—France re-organized its Sedan command where some German progress had been reported. Attacks from Antwerp to northwest of Namur repulsed; enemy crossed the Meuse at several points between Mezieres and Namur. Destroyer Valentine reported damaged and beached.

Gifts To Fund Now Total $7,025 By C.G.E.

It would seem that the employees at the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., and Genelco Ltd., are keeping in mind the suggested objective of eventually reaching the total of $10,000 in money raised by them to assist those stricken through enemy air raids over Britain through the local and district fund which operates for that purpose.

Only a few short days ago, this column reported them as having crossed the $7,000 mark, and now another gift is listed today which brings their total up to the sum of $7,024.95, so one does not require a great deal of imagination to see that on a basis of this kind, with their potential for going after and achieving their objective, that this suggested amount is quite within the range of possible accomplishment.

Punch Press Gives $20.59

This time it happens to be the Punch Press department with A. Griffin as foreman that has come forward with another gift, they also belonging as a group among the circle of those from this large industrial plant whose name has appeared among the most frequent giving support to this local and district effort to assist the people in the front line in Britain.

Coming at a time when a most intensive campaign on behalf of the war effort was being waged, their giving a helping hand in this manner is considerably appreciated, and now that the big push has ended so successfully, it is hoped that others will follow their lead and keep up and intensify the good work on behalf of this fund.

Memorial Gifts Also Help

No finer remembrance or tribute can be given to loved ones who have passed on, than that their memory should be revered in an act of helpfulness and goodwill to people who at the moment are feeling very much sadder things of this earthly life, for all good people who have dorse and approve of such, and the lovely sentiment that such a donor must feel in such an act, can never be duplicated in any other way.

Two such gifts on this one day serve to emphasize this in a decided way, both having reference to a day on which loves sentiment has always held considerable sway, for one is listed as "Mother's Day, In memory of Mother," and the other as "May 15, John's Birthday, from E.C.B.," both observing these particular days of remembrance by giving practical aid in this way to other people in difficulty and distress.

Would Abolish Fee

OTTAWA, May 15 — (CP) — Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader said in the Commons Friday that he believed there were good reasons for abolition of the $2.50 annual radio fee in the light of revenue now being obtained by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Typist Dies

LONDON, Ont., May 15 (CP) — Mrs. David John Gerrie, a native of London and one of the world's outstanding speed typists, died Saturday at Toronto General Hospital, it was learned here. One of the Canadian champion speed typists, she also was one of the few who held a gold medal for speed shorthand.

SERVING OVERSEAS — Pilot Officer Donald M. Rennie of the R.C.A.F. is serving overseas. His wife and son reside at 420 Stewart Street.

Final Figure $4,789,250 In Victory Loan

Every municipality in Peterborough county, and all the city's subdivisions of the Sixth Victory Loan, exceeded their objectives in piling up a grand total of $4,798,250, as the campaign closed on a high note of accomplishment Saturday.

That was the pith of the reports from headquarters this morning. Details will not be available until late this afternoon.

The Peterborough objective was $4,500,000, and the surplus was $298,250, or close to $300,000 more than the assigned quota.

It was a complete and flawless response by the city and county, climaxing on the home front the financing of the second half of the fifth year of the war.

General canvass, payroll savings, group payroll, special names, Armed Forces, every sector of the Peterborough organization took a full bite of the necessary investing. The city and county total implies more in support and willing cooperation than any comment could enhance. The story stands in its finality of $4,798,250, and there may even be some tag-end sales belatedly reported today.

Daniel Driscoll 87 Dies At Iroquois

IROQUOIS, Ont., May 15—(CP)—Daniel Driscoll, 87, widely-known saddle and harness stable proprietor, died yesterday at this St. Lawrence River town, 50 miles south of Ottawa.

He raced horses on Ontario and New York tracks since 1885 and drove his last winner at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, in 1936.

"Dan" employed jockeys to ride his saddle horses but he always drove his harness entries and was never known to use a whip—even in training.

He was a native of Brinston, Ont. John Driscoll of Toronto is a son. The funeral will be held tomorrow with burial in Cardinal, Ont.

YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN if you can pay back $9.46 a month

No endorsers needed—Quick, private service—Both men and women invited to apply for $20 to $500

SHORT OF CASH? Get a personal loan at Household Finance in a quick, simple transaction. To apply for $100, $200 or any amount up to $500, just give us a few facts about yourself and your job—and choose a convenient payment schedule. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no recommendations from friends or relatives. Household Finance loans are made largely on character and earning ability. If you have a job or other source of steady income, you are invited to apply to Household for the loan you need.

Loans over $300 at reduced rate

Notice the choice of plans for repaying your loan. The shorter the time you take to repay the less your loan costs. A $100 loan repaid in twelve monthly instalments of $9.46 each—a total of $113.52—costs $13.52. If repaid in six monthly instalments a $100 loan costs only $7.10. Charges on loans of more than $300 were recently reduced. Notice that a $500 loan repaid in four monthly instalments costs only $22.40. Payments shown in the table include both principal and costs. You pay nothing more. We have no hidden charges of any kind.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, May 16

ALTHOUGH THERE is omen of a sudden upsetting and disruptive force to contend with, according to the lunar transits, yet there are offsetting signs showing that with concentrated effort, diligence, patience and perseverance, all deep rooted dangers and disturbances may be sidestepped. This accomplished there may be surprising gains of radical importance, with much activity and pleasure in business as well as private life. Use the stimulated energies and substantial resources and background and all may be of enduring benefit.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of rather definite achievements, with solid returns for efforts well directed and resources and energies shrewdly utilized, in the face of a sudden disrupting or devastating combination of circumstances. Making changes, new plans or seeking fresh objectives should be done with sagacity. A concentrated marshalling of the forces, energies and resources should bring enduring and worthwhile results built upon solid foundations. In private affairs there may be surprising turns to romance or to happiness, but be discreet, and avoid all forms of extravagance, or eccentricities.

A child born on this day should have many solid traits of character and practical ability, with energy and creative power. It will be kindly and congenial.

Max Brand Hurt

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, May 15 (AP)—Max Brand, writer of popular western stories, an artist for Life magazine and a Reuters News Agency correspondent, have been wounded since the Allies began their big offensive Thursday night, it was announced yesterday. None was considered dangerously hurt. Ed Laning, the artist, and Henry Buckley, the Reuters correspondent, were wounded near Santa Maria yesterday when a mortar shell burst behind their jeep.

Should Report

MONTREAL, May 15 — (CP). — Group Capt. W. G. Webber, officer commanding No. 1 Wireless School, R.C.A.F., at the closing ceremony of an air crash rescue course told air raid wardens yesterday it is their duty to report low-flying planes over towns and cities in an effort toward reducing the number of air crashes.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

—By J. R. Scott

R.A.F. FAMILY—Now that both the sisters of Air Commodore George Beamish are in the R.A.F., all members of the well-known Coleraine, Northern Ireland, family are in the same service. The sisters, Eileen, Top, and Kathleen, are dental surgeons in flying and technical training commands. One brother, Capt. Victor Beamish, is missing. Two other brothers are Group Capt. Charles Beamish and Squadron Leader Cecil Beamish, the latter being the only member of the family stationed abroad. He is a dental surgeon in Iraq.

Frigate, 5 Corvettes Launched In Quebec

QUEBEC, May 15—(CP)—Brief ceremonies here Saturday marked launching of one frigate, and the christening of another frigate and five corvettes.

The frigate H.M.C.S. Kirkland Lake was christened by Mrs. Ann Shipley of Kirkland Lake, Ont., Walter M. Little, member of parliament for Timiskaming, headed a delegation from the Ontario town to attend the ship christening.

The other ships christened were, the corvettes H.M.C.S. St. Lambert, Hawkesbury, Asbestos, Beauharnois and Stellarton, while the frigate, H.M.C.S. Cap de la Madeleine was launched.

Regent Reports

formed during the last year as another phase of Provincial activity.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Regent for her splendid report. The Regent then urged members to speed up their knitting quota as the six items each member is pledged to make had been coming in very slowly. She also reported a request for recordings of religious songs and hymns. The request had come indirectly to her from Captain Grant Meiklejohn (Chaplain) with the Canadian Army overseas. The recordings could be played over a public address system used for outdoor services and carried on a jeep from which the padre addresses his men.

Plans were made to hold the Chapter's annual tag day on October 7 and on motion $10 was voted to the camp library fund which had also been supported last year.

Athletic Group To Present Cup

MARMORA, May 15 — (ENS) — The annual meeting of the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association was held in Deloro Hall recently. In the absence of the president, H. A. McNally was asked to act as chairman for the meeting.

The financial statement presented by the secretary-treasurer, M. J. Corrigan, disclosed cash on hand to be $40.43. A motion was carried that the Association approach the Deloro Social and Dramatic Society with a view to amalgamation. A suggestion put forth by M. J. Corrigan received the unanimous approval of the meeting. It was to the effect that as the late R. A. Elliott had taken such an interest in the D.A.A.A., to honor his memory, a cup should be donated by the Association and put up for competition each year for the bowling team that is declared winner.

The following officers were elected: President, A. W. Drew; vice-president, M. J. Corrigan; secretary-treasurer, S. B. Cheeseman; assistant secretary-treasurer, Anne Paquet; auditor, H. A. McNally; bowling manager, C. C. Watson; tennis manager, M. J. Corrigan; playground manager, W. H. Brown; softball manager, C. Goodchild; July 1st Celebration convener, past president; rink manager, T. Cousins.

Strathcona Medal (best shot in the school) Lynn Ferrill; D.C.R.A. Medals:— Douglas Free, Jack Connor and Lynn Ferrill.

High Standing.

Principal E. H. Greig, who presented Graduation Diplomas, spoke with justifiable pride of the high standing maintained at the school despite the shortened term and extra courses. He revealed also that the ability of pupils was not confined to academic work alone since in the Youth of the Empire shooting competition for King George V Trophy, Campbellford stood third in Military District 3. Results of this competition, which closed November 30, placed T. C. S. Port Hope first and Perth Collegiate second in M. D. 3 while in competition with other Cadet Corps throughout the entire Dominion, Campbellford was tenth place and will now be entered in competition with other cadet corps throughout the whole Empire.

The following were awarded diplomas:— Graduation Diplomas (Secondary School) Jean Arnold, Helen Beatty, John Blecker, Ada Brown, Betty Buchanan, Elizabeth Campbell, Patricia Ironside, Betty McKeown, Leila Mitchell, Ross Taylor, Dorothy Throwers.

Honour Graduation Diplomas :— Ellenor Allan, Elleda Buck, Kenneth Dunk, MacIntosh Hay, Fay Kelly, Jack Little, Glenn Maxwell, Howard Rowe, Helen Wood, Ila Wood, Helen Young.

At the conclusion of this portion of the program the entire gathering was invited to be guests of the staff and pupils for refreshments of tea and sandwiches.

to function this season and accordingly the St. Peter's team is looking for a new berth ... If their application is accepted they have lines on a number of players as reinforcements ... Plazas practice tonight at 6.30 in Riverside Park.... Bucky Walters only pitched to 28 batters in blanking the Braves yesterday ... Ryan's hit spoiled a perfect game for the veteran for it put the only Boston runner of the game on the sacks ... The Phillies were stopped with a bang by the Cards yesterday with Mort Cooper and George Munger putting on the brakes. Munger in fact folded up the Philadelphia attack completely by holding the Blue Jays to six hits and refusing to allow a run ... With the Cards in front by 3½ games and the Yanks two games in the van in the American the big leagues are taking on a familiar appearance.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FEAR DISTRIBUTION

JUSTIFIABLE fear should govern a declarer's tactics if one of his opponents had made an overcall during the auction in spite of the fact that very few high cards were out. It is a certainty that great suit length was the chief basis of the overcall, and consequently there is great shortness in the hand of that bidder's partner. The declarer should in such cases consider the possibility of a ruff by the partner of that bidder to be a very distinct danger, and should guard against it.

As soon as South got a look at that dummy, after West led the heart K, he should have realized what was the only real threat to his contract. But he was one of those quick players, who embark on the first plan which looks as if it would work. Seeing that he had to get rid of some hearts, and that he had some spades in the dummy which could be used for ruffing them, he studied no further.

Winning the first trick with the heart A, he led the heart 3 and ruffed it with dummy's spade 5. East gave him two shocks in succession. He over-ruffed with the 8 and led back the club 5, which West ruffed with the spade 3, setting the contract. He, of course, locked the stable after the horse was gone, by ruffing the next heart lead with the spade J, but the beans were already spilled.

South should have realized the great danger of West having so many hearts, when he had overcalled at the two level while vulnerable. Had he done so, he would have dropped trumps in two rounds, ruffed one heart in dummy, discarded two hearts on diamond tops, and then tried the club finesse. When it worked, he would have taken all the tricks.

District President Addresses Institute

BETHANY, May 15—(ENS)—Mrs. T. J. Jackson was hostess to the members of the Women's Institute for the regular meeting with Mrs. Vincent Jackson assisting. Miss Hannah Staples presided.

Letter of thanks for boxes received were read from Harry Johnston and Stewart Thompson, expressing their appreciation to the society for their remembrance. The visiting reported having sent a box of fruit, to a member in the hospital. Final arrangements were made for the entertainment to be held on Victoria Day under auspices of the Society.

Mrs. Price gave an interesting report of war work done, during the past month. More wool had been sent for socks and sweaters. It was also mentioned that Mrs. McKenzie of Beaverton would be present to organize a Red Cross nursing class, next regular meeting day.

The president introduced Mrs. Ira Lowes "District" president of Women's Institute, who commended them for their thorough devotion to war work, and noted they were buying Victory Bonds with their surplus cash. Mrs. Price, on behalf of the local society moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Lowe and presented her with a lovely cup and saucer as a remembrance.

Mrs. W. L. Rowan, convener of Group 1 took charge of the following program: a piano solo by Mrs. Leonard McNeil; an interesting paper by Mrs. T. Jackson on the life and works of Dr. George Washington Carver, Negro scientist; a humorous reading "The Tales Of A Dust Pan" and a man's idea of the spring housecleaning given by Mrs. Leslie Challice; a contest followed in which Miss H. Staples had 12 correct answers out of a possible 16.

A dainty lunch was served by members of Group 1, and a social half hour was enjoyed. The June meeting would be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Carr. Mrs. Thorndyke and Mrs. Clara Armstrong will be in charge of the program.

If You Get Up Nights You Can't Feel Right

If you have to get up 3 or more times a night your rest is broken and it's no wonder if you feel old and run down before your time. Kidney and Bladder troubles often may be the cause of many pains and symptoms simply because the Kidneys may be tired and not working fast enough in filtering and removing irritating excess acids, poisons and wastes from your blood. So if you get up nights or suffer from burning, scanty or frequent passages, leg pains, backache, or nervousness, due to Kidney and Bladder troubles, you'll make no mistake in trying Cystex. Because it has given such joyous, happy results in so high a percentage of cases, Cystex is sold under an agreement of money back on return of empty package unless completely satisfactory to you. Cystex costs little at druggists, and the money back offer protects you.

Bishop Suspends Polish Priest

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 15—(AP). — Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski failed to appear at any of four Masses at his church on Sunday, and remained in seclusion, apparently accepting his bishop's suspension which greeted him on his return home from a flying visit to Premier Stalin.

The canonical penalties were imposed by Bishop Thomas M. O'Leary. The Polish-American priest failed to obtain permission to leave Our Lady of the Rosary Church for the trip to Moscow and a conference with the Russian Premier.

Rev. George A. Shea, Chancellor of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Springfield, disclosed that Bishop O'Leary had received a personal letter from Father Orlemanski, and he added:

"It would be fair to assume that it said that Father Orlemanski would acquiesce to the bishop's orders."

The penalties, imposed Saturday less than four hours after Father Orlemanski's return to his home parish from Moscow, ordered him to go to a monastery for an indefinite period and stripped him of his priestly privileges for the interim. Father Shea said the terms of the punishment forbade the Polish-American pastor to say Mass administer any of the sacraments, or to take part in any of the public functions of the Church.

Father Orlemanski charged Saturday that he was being "crucified" by his Church after his unprecedented Moscow visit from which he brought what he announced was a signed agreement of Stalin to permit freedom of religion in Poland, the Ukraine, and all the Russias.

Father Orlemanski announced that he would appeal to the Apostolic Delegate in Washington, Bishop Amleto Cigognani, or to the Holy See in Rome for a review of Bishop O'Leary's action:

He also said that his appeal invalidated the suspension ordered by the bishop, and promised he would go ahead with the usual Sunday Masses yesterday.

In Washington, however, the Apostolic Delegate said last night that he had not received an appeal and isued a statement saying that Father Orlemanski, "like every other diocesan priest, is directly subject to his bishop."

Father Shea had announced that failure of Father Orlemanski to abide by the terms of the penalty order could lead to imposition of further punishments, including removal from his office as pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary—an edifice which the Polish-American priest designed and helped to build with his own hands.

Trent River W.I. Reviews Work

TRENT RIVER, May 15—(CP) — Agriculture was the theme of the May meeting of the Trent River Women's Institute at the War Worker's rooms in the village Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Glenn was hostess.

The meeting opened with a War prayer read by Mrs. T. Brown. The roll call was answered by exchange of flower slip's and bulbs. This exchange has been carried on by the branch for some years and has proved interesting. Mrs. E. Greenly gave the financial report for the year 1943-44 showing a cash balance of $9.

Mrs. Harry Mann gave a splendid report on the War Service unit showing receipts of $556.28. Expenditures of $353.46, with a balance of $202.82. This branch has closed a busy year. Although few in number much has been accomplished. The aim of the War Workers, to provide comforts for local men in service has been accomplished and besides they helped with donations totalling $55. to the Red Cross, Central Fund, Christmas cheer fund for British Children and Jam for Britain Fund. The proceeds were raised from quilting, sale of quilts, donations from Belmont council and Group 1 of United Church, a concert sponsored free of charge by Havelock High School students.

Gifts were given to enlisting men, Christmas parcels to all in service and cigarettes sent overseas every second month. During the year 55 quilts were quilted, 15 fancy quilts sold and 4 on hand for sale. Sweaters and socks were provided for overseas boxes. Letters were read from three overseas boys who received cigarettes, Keith Lewis, Elton Hubble and Clifford Dunn.

Mrs. E. Greenly gave an interesting paper on the "potato". Mrs. Tom Brown, district director, gave her report of the district executive meeting which was held in Peterboro Agricultural Hall. She reported the district annual meeting will be held in the Peterborough Agricultural Hall on Thursday, May 18 at 9.30 a.m. Mrs. Brown, newly appointed sec. treas. asked to be released of her duties and Mrs. H. Mann was appointed in her place. Voting delegates appointed to attend the Dictrict Annual were Mrs. W. G. McLaughlin, Mrs. E. Greenly, Mrs. G. Brooks and Mrs. W. Glenn.

Mrs. Ward Glenn conducted a courtship contest on flowers, Mrs. E. Greenly was the winner of a red geranium. The hostesses, Mrs. W. Waters, Mrs. R. Colby and Mrs. W. Glenn served lunch.

Man Promises Care For Family

LINDSAY, May 15 (ENS) — William Hannivan, 31, who gave his address as Peterborough, formerly of New Toronto, pleaded guilty in police court before Magistrate E. A. Gee, to the charge of non support, preferred by his wife, Florence Hannivan.

On the stand Mrs. Hannivan said: "I was supposed to get $30 a week for support of myself and my six young boys, but it is months since I got the last $50. I moved the family from New Toronto to Fenelon Falls."

Wilber Worsley, Reeve of Fenelon township, brought the wife and family to Lindsay. "They have been living in the township for two weeks in a small house, six miles from a store and she told me they had not had any meat and scarcely any groceries for several weeks."

Hannivan stated that he had been out of work since his father's death and had no money to send his wife. He was ready to support her if she would return. "I have heard so many promises," Mrs. Hannivan said: "Everybody seems to pity him, but I do the work, look after the children and get no pity."

Magistrate Gee: "Well your husband has six good reasons for supporting you, almost a baseball team, with six boys ranging from one year to 13 years." Hannivan said he was awaiting his call into the army. He was allowed off on suspended sentence when he signed a note to support his wife and children with $13 to $15 a week and assign his pay over when he joined the army.

Mill Operator Gets $50 Fine

LINDSAY, May 15—(ENS). — An unusual police court case of interest to employers, as well as employees, was heard in Haliburton, when J. Larry Hendrick, a lumber mill operator, was found guilty of illegally employing and guilty of retaining employees without proper permits.

Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay, in imposing a nominal fine on each charge of $25 and $2.75 costs, said the reason why he only imposed a nominal fine was because it was the first case of its kind in his jurisdiction. His Worship gave a fair warning to all employers and employees that the next person to come before him on any similar charge would receive a sentence of not less than $200 and costs or six months' imprisonment; or if circumstances warranted both fine and imprisonment.

Magistrate Gee further stated that employers and employees must obey these regulations as their contribution to the war effort. It was pointed out that the accused had been warned several times, but finally "pulled up stakes" in Haliburton and was later apprehended by the Mounted Police in Toronto and summoned to attend trial in Haliburton.

E. D. Fulton of Lindsay represented the prosecution and R. I. Moore, K.C., of Lindsay, appeared for the defendant. The case was investigated by R. E. Slade, enforcement officer for the National Selective Service.

Free Enterprise GAVE HIM HIS CHANCE

Librarian Reports Drop In Circulation

LAKEFIELD, May 15—(ENS). — The Library Board met recently with all the members present. Miss Grace Yonge, librarian, in her report said there was aa drop in circulation of 179 books from the previous month. This is due largely to the students studying for examinations and more outdoor play. The total circulation for the month of April was 763 books, made up as follows: Adult fiction 251, adult non-fiction 64, juvenile fiction 364, non-fiction 84. There were six new members and eight renewals. Fees and fines collected amounted to $1.65. It was decided to send all the discarded books to an Indian school.

Must Import From England To Safeguard Export Trade

HAMILTON, May 16—(CP).—Canada's ability to maintain her present standards of living in the post-war era "will be measured by our ability to maintain a high level of export trade more than upon any other single factor," James S. Duncan, president and general manager of Massey-Harris, Ltd., said today in an address prepared for delivery to the third foreign trade conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

To do this, he said, "ways and means must be found of increasing our importations from the United Kingdom, lest we pay the penalty of seeing our exports to them decrease, and we must set ourselves resolutely to the task of widening our circle of customers."

Mr. Duncan said that in 1938 49 per cent. of Canada's total export trade went to the United Kingdom and other British Empire countries whereas imports from the same sources amounted only to $186,000,000. Post-war Britain "will no longer be in a position to allow us to export so much and import so little," he said.

The essential factor in world economic rehabilitation, he said, was the maintenance of international law and order and "we should urge upon our government the necessity of playing our part in the international policing of the world in the post-war era."

Canada should also lend support to every move which tends towards a freer exchange of goods between nations, and should favor every move which tends to strengthen the British Commonwealth of Nations for "in our urge to secure new markets, let us be ever vigilant that we do not lose our present ones."

Mr. Duncan also recommended government agencies which would aid and protect exporters, and suggested overhauling of the present trade commissioner service, increasing the number of trade representatives and seeing that they were better trained and equipped.

Must Help Nations.

HAMILTON, May 16. — (CP).— New institutions and new rules of international living must be set up and there must be the broadest possible interchange of goods and services throughout the world to maintain peace among the nations, W. K. Jackson, of Boston, vice-president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said in an address here to-day.

Canada and the United States will emerge from the war with an enormously expanded productive capacity and an almost inexhaustible reservoir of well-trained manpower, he told the third foreign trade conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"Trading nations cannot be prosperous in a world in which their customers are unproductive and bankrupt. We must have economic

Partisans Free 3 Large Towns

LONDON, May 16—(CP).—Large scale operations by Yugoslav Partisans in Central Albania have liberated the three important towns of Koritza, Elbasani and Beratj and give-and-take battles are in progress on all fronts in Yugoslavia, a communique from Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today.

Particularly fierce battles are in progress in Bosnia and Croatia, while in general the Germans are striving desperately to clear important lines of communication at any cost, said the broadcast bulletin.

Partisan detachments have thrown back German troops in western Bosnia which had penetrated to Sanski and Sitnica, and besides inflicting heavy losses wrecked an engine and 45 carriages on the Dobjo-Dermenta line, the communique added.

The Germans were reported to have met with more success in Croatia, where the Partisans admitted the enemy had occupied several more localities after dogged fighting.

Guerilla fighting continued in Slovenia, where the Nazis are attempting without success to occupy Zuzemberk, Tito declared.

Romania Wants Aid At Once

ISTANBUL, May 16.— (AP). — Premier-Marshal Ion Antonescu of Romania was reported yesterday to have warned Adolf Hitler that if more German reinforcements were not forthcoming immedately Románia "would consider herself free" to negotiate a separate armistice with the Allies.

Antonescu has demanded an answer by Monday, following up a promise Hitler made when the Red army first crossed the Dnestr river before the fall of Odessa, said the report, which was regarded here as credible in view of Romania's position.

Advices from the Balkans said the Romanians now have only five fully-equipped first class divisions in the field to meet a Russian offensive.

Nazi Bombers Batter Portsmouth

Mosquitoes Bomb Ludwigshafen Four Planes Lost

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 16 —(AP)—The German air force, striking with possibly 300 planes in its counter-invasion aerial offensive, attacked the southern coast of England last night for the second consecutive night and the Berlin radio claimed today the assault was concentrated on Portsmouth.

Defensive forces shot down five planes as the Nazis came over in two waves shortly after midnight. Four other coastal towns felt the weight of enemy bombs as the raiders spread through the dark sky. A hospital was hit, causing a number of casualties.

Allied operations from British bases last night were confined to attacks by R.A.F. Mosquito planes against the industrial city of Ludwigshafen, objectives in north west Germany, and an enemy airfield in France. Four aircraft failed to return from these and mine laying missions. R.C.A.F. Halifaxes laid mines last night but the only Canadian losses reported were two fighters in operations yesterday.

Seventh Raid

Ludwigshafen was last bombed the night of May 10 by Mosquitoes, which now have made seven night penetrations over Germany this month.

After a week of the most intensive bombardment in preparation for the impending invasion, Allied aerial activity from British bases has been on a greatly reduced scale for the last 60 hours. It appeared to be a grim pause for more new crushing blows.

The German operation against the south coast seemed in about the same strength as Sunday night's raid on south and southwest England. In that foray the Nazis lost 15 planes.

The Nazi loss of only five planes last night was attributed to the fact the Germans hit Channel targets and did not cross England to the west coast, thus avoiding the longer exposure to British defences.

Dangerous Test

Describing the attack on Portsmouth, the German radio claimed large quantities of high explosives and incendiaries were dropped "on most important targets in this coastal town.' In spite of a 'very fierce enemy defence" the attack was carried out "with good effect," the Germans claimed.

Later today it was disclosed that the R. A. F. Mosquitoes unloaded 4,000-pound "blockbusters" on Ludwigshafen last night.

The Paris radio went off the air at 2 p.m. today, signifying possibly fresh attacks against occupied territories.

In last night's attack on the English coast, one German bomb demolished six houses, killing a man, his wife and three children in one of

Japs Launch New Thrust Toward India

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANDY, Ceylon, May 16 — (AP) —A new Japanese thrust close to the borders of India 220 miles south-west of Imphal was reported by the South-east Asia Command to-day which said an attack was repulsed 10 miles west of Daletme.

Daletme is only 11 miles east of the India frontier in the Kaladan River valley and is about 50 miles north-east of Buthedaung, the high water point of the British spring advance against Akyab on the Bay of Bengal coast. British authorities recently announced the abandonment of Buthedaung for more defensible positions following a Japanese flanking thrust in the vicinity of Paletwa, 35 miles to the north-east.

The south-east Asia communique said a Japanese attack west of Labawa in the Kaladan Valley also was repulsed.

A report reaching headquarters said the Japanese have acknowledged that they have been thrown on to the defensive in the Kohima area of north-eastern India and have ordered their troops to hold out at all costs.

British tanks, mopping up in the Kohima area in northeastern India, have destroyed 15 enemy bunkers and killed 150 of their Japanese defenders, a communique said.

Jury Retires In Murder Trial

MONTREAL, May 16.—(CP)—The fate of 15-year-old Fernand Clermont, charged with the murder of Detective Sergeant Henry Farmer of the Montreal Police Force, rested with the jury early this afternoon as the 12 jurymen retired following the summing up of Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure.

Clermont is charged with having shot Sgt. Farmer March 7 when he admittedly went up to the north end of the city to "commit robberies" with a 17-year-old accomplice, Leo Paul Boisvert, who faces a separate charge of murder.

The trial started yesterday with the defence offering no evidence.

Crown attorneys charged that Clermont committed a "wilful murder" while the defence countered that the fatal shooting of Sgt. Farmer was "a pure accident." The defence also contended that "society was just as much responsible for what had happened as the accused."

Counsel for the defence claimed that "gangster" and "mystery" books and movies had started the youth on his criminal career.

In his remarks to the jury before it retired, Mr. Justice Lazure said that in his opinion "society is no worse now than it was generations ago, before the invention of movies."

The jury had not to judge the society but only the accused, he said.

Soviet Fliers Sink 6 Hun Ships

Spot Huge Convoy In Kirkenes Norwegian Port

LONDON, May 16—(CP)—Soviet air blows at German sea and land transportation and local activity on two sectors of the otherwise dormant battle front were reported by the Russian high command today.

A broadcast communique, recorded by the Soviet Monitor here, said Russian airmen caught a convoy of 41 ships in the Norwegian port of Kirkenes and sank three transports totalling 19,000 tons, a self-propelled barge, an auxiliary vessel and a patrol cutter.

Three Nazi transports were set on fire and one of them was beached, the communique added. Two other transports and an escort vessel were reported damaged.

Nazi rail concentrations in the vicinity of Lwow in pre-war Poland were bombed and fires and explosions were started among German military trains and supply depots at Ravaruskaya, Stryj, Dvinsk, Ukhno and Dobrozin, the high command said.

A supplemental communique told of local fighting southeast of Stanislawow in pre-war Poland and northwest of Tiraspol on the Lower Dnestr.

A German bridgehead on the left bank of the Lower Dnestr was liquidated, the supplement said, in a Russian counter-attack that resulted in about a battalion of Nazis being either killed or drowned.

Health Insurance Talks Reveal Provinces Anxious For Action

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP) — The Commons Committee on Social Security decided today that each province should be allowed to fix the amount of contribution each person would be obliged to pay under a health insurance plan.

The committee made the decision while studying a draft health insurance bill which contained a suggestion that each adult be obliged to contribute $12 annually.

The action of the committee left the entire matter of contribution to be decided upon when Health Insurance Bills are finally acted upon by the Dominion and the Province.

The committee dealt with the matter of contributions after Pensions Minister Mackenzie read a report on the Dominion-Provincial Health Insurance conference held in Camera here last week.

Mr. Mackenzie said all Provincial Ministers of Health approved of the principle of health insurance and expressed themselves as being favorable to its early adoption.

"Some doubt was expressed by some of the Ministers as to their ability to introduce all the benefits of the bill at one time or to apply its benefits in all parts of the province at once," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Alberta representatives at the conference suggested that:

1. Health insurance benefits be introduced item by item as may be found feasible in any province.

2. The Federal grants be applied as each item is introduced in any province.

3. The provinces be permitted to raise the funds in any way they see fit.

Want Free Hand.

4. If it is found from experience that the $12 per capita plus the Federal grant is more than is needed to provide the health insurance services, the provinces be permitted to lower the amount contributed to the fund.

(The Draft Health Insurance Bill being studied by the Social Security Committee contains a suggestion that each adult contribute $12 a year to health insurance. Persons in income tax brackets would pay an additional amount through income tax.)

The conference suggested that some of the grants the Federal government planned to make under the health insurance plan were inadequate, said Mr. Mackenzie.

"It was considered the general public health grant of 25 cents per capita was too low and it was suggested that this should be increased to 35 cents per capita," he continued.

Grants Inadequate.

"It was also suggested that the tuberculosis grant and the mental disease grant were inadequate and that their acceptance would in some instances cause certain of the provinces financial loss. It was suggested that both grants be raised. The provinces did not suggest the amount by which these grants should be increased.

"It was thought that the venereal disease grant was quite adequate and, in fact, one province (Manitoba) expressed the opinion that it might be difficult for the province to expend an equal amount of the grant to that received.

"It was suggested that the professional training grant should be raised to $250,000 and, if necessary, subject to an increase for a period of from five to 10 years as needed.

"It was thought also that the method in which the grant for crippled children would be divided among the provinces should be specified. Distribution on a per capital basis would be acceptable.

It was most encouraging to find that there was great unanimity of opinion in regard to the need for health insurance and the advisability of its adopton by all of the provinces at an early moment even though it might not be possible for some of the provinces to apply all of the provisions to all parts of the provinces immediately."

What's The Moral

PHILADELPHIA, May 16—(AP).—Healthy cats, given a chance to drink alcohol, refuse; but neurotic kitties prefer liquor. After the animals recover from their jitters they go on the wagon, permanently. What this proves about men is not clear, but it was reported to the American Psychiatric Association today by Dr. Jules H. Masserman and assistants of the University of Chicago.

Premiers End Conference; Report Coming

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 16—(CP Cable).— Commonwealth Prime Ministers ended their first wartime conference today, meeting at noon amid general satisfaction with the prolonged and frank exchange of views and information.

Prime Minister Churchill presided as he has done at all sessions since the conference got under way May 1.

Before returning home, the overseas leaders will attempt to see more of Britain at war than has been possible during the conference and they also will attend meetings of the War Cabinet.

While the Prime Ministers met in the Cabinet room at 10 Downing Street, officials were busy arranging for publication of a joint statement expected to affirm the general principles which the Commonwealth governments hope to see followed in post-war international relations.

Report Wednesday.

The statement, to be released simultaneously in the five capitals Wednesday, will be the first official declaration since the Prime Ministers' speeches at the opening session May 1 were released for publication the following night.

Date of the departure of the Prime Ministers, of course, is secret but Prime Minister Mackenzie King is anxious not to delay leaving beyond the time necessary to visit some of the Canadian forces and keep a few other engagements.

The last stages of the conference were devoted to intra-Commonwealth matters such as consultation, machinery, education and defence, but it was understood the only difficult topic was consultation. This developed when Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia brought up his proposal for an Empire secretariat to handle exchange of information among various parts of the Commonwealth.

While the other Prime Ministers were either non-commital or opposed, the matter was left open for future consideration by mutual agreement among the leaders to consult their governments further on it.

Indian Fighters Near Pignataro

SANT ANGELO, Italy, May 16— (CP-Reuters). — Indian troops of the British 8th Army to-night were in the outskirts of the important Liri Valley garrison town of Pignataro, two miles west of here, while north of Pignataro other Indian formations crossed the important Cassino-Minturno lateral road. A British county regiment operated farther west.

With the area between the village of Panacions and the confluence of the Liri and Rapido Rivers cleared of enemy pockets, the 8th Army's Rapido bridgehead now is crammed with troops, tanks, self-propelled guns, half-tracks, carriers and various types of general transport vehicles.

More and still more bridges are being thrown across the Rapido, and great bulldozers have gone across to change the face of the country tracks by churning out serviceable roads.

While Cossino itself is still quiet, a see-saw battle is still raging between Polish troops and men of the German 1st Paratroop Division to the north-west.

To date Indian troops have destroyed five enemy tanks and three self-propelled guns.

Every man fighting west of the Rapido has a personal story of high risk to tell. He has either knocked out a sniper, grenadier, or enemy machine-gun posts, or bayoneted or beheaded a German in hand-to-hand struggle.

French Pour Through Breach 3,000 Prisoners Taken Cassino Almost Outflanked

French Capture San Giorgio Town In Garigliano Valley; British, Indian Troops Regain Ground

By NOLAND NORGAARD—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 16—(AP).—Fighting French troops poured through a breach in the Gustav Line on the south edge of the Liri valley today in pursuit of disorganized remnants of the German 71st Division whose retreat was endangering the flank of the Nazi line blocking British troops at the valley's mouth.

(The German radio said violent fighting was raging against strong Allied forces heavily reinforced all along the line from Cassino to the sea, and that German troops had been forced to fall back in night retreats, especially in the coastal hills which make up two-thirds of the fighting area.)

Reviewing the five-day campaign, a member of the staff of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander-in-chief in Italy, said Allied casualties had been less than expected.

The Liri valley affords a strongly-guarded corridor north toward Rome, and at its mouth fast British armor was massing for a big battle in the shadow of Cassino.

Allied troops had smashed forward three to eight miles since they opened their full-scale spring offensive Thursday night.

American troops have overrun Spigno in the Lower Garigiliano Valley. The French in a violent attack have taken Monte Fammera, 2½ miles west of captured Ausonia and seven miles north of the Tyrrhenian seacoast.

They threw back disorganized elements of the German 71st Division.

Meanwhile British and Indian troops of the 8th Army repulsed a series of Nazi counter-attacks supported by tanks yesterday and recovered ground southwest of Cassino which the enemy had managed to regain in a series of violent thrusts Allied headquarters announced

3,000 Prisoners.

The bag of prisoners taken since the Allied offensive started last Thursday night rose to 3,000, and official reports said today that the Fighting French virtually had destroyed the 131st Infantry Regiment of the 44th (Hoch und Deutschmeister) German Division.

French warriors, thirsty for revenge against the Germans, pursued battered and disorganized remnants of the enemy northward and westward from the Upper Garigliano valley, capturing the important town of San Giorgio immediately south of the Liri River.

This swift thrust put the Allies in a position to flank the whole German defence system guarding Cassino and facing the 8th Army's Rapido bridgehead.

Official reports said: "The Germans holding high ground west of the 5th Army front now are dependent on rough mountain trails for their lines of communication but enemy demolition made establishment of our lines of communication likewise difficult."

Flying 1,800 sorties in support of ground forces the Mediterranean air force yesterday sent medium bombers against Piombino and Ancona harbors, rail bridges at Orvieto and Pontedera, as well as industrial objectives at port of Oferraio.

After winning San Giorgio the French captured Cresta Santa Lucia and Leforche to the southwest and in the area between they seized the villages of Casale, Annunzita and Castel Nuovo, cutting the road from the north-west of Castel Nuovo.

Chinese Gain Steadily Near Salween

CHUNGKING, May 16.—(AP).— Chinese troops have captured several strategic points in a further advance west of the Salween river in the new offensive to open a path to India, the Chinese High Command announced to-day.

The Chinese expeditionary force is receiving the continuous support of the American air force, the communique said.

Sweeping forward in China's first big offensive in seven years of war, the forces of "100 Victory" Marshal Wei Li-Huang advanced through important Namien Pass, 40 miles northeast of the Japanese base of Tengchung north of the Burma road and reached the Shwele river.

Farther south the Chinese virtually encircled a considerable number of Japanese in the vicinity of Tatangzu, 29 miles northeast of Tengchung.

The Chinese also occupied Hongmoshu, 21 miles east of Tengchung and captured the ruins of Pingka, 24 miles southeast of the Burma road town of Lungling, one of the principal Japanese bases in China's southwestern province of Yunnan.

Tengchung is approximately 110 airline miles southeast of the positions held by Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and Americans who are pushing the two-lane Ledo highway from India toward Myitkyina.

Information furnished by the Chinese High Command suggested that the Chinese were developing a pincers movement against the Japanese-occupied section of the Burma road. Dispatches from the front said the Chinese already were at work reconstructing ruined portions of the Burma road to link it up with the Ledo road and establish a land connection with the outside world.

Banking Bill Still In Air

OTTAWA, May 16 — (CP). — The Commons Banking and Commerce Committee to-day debated procedure in consideration of the voluminous Bank Bill and finally referred series of suggestions to its Steering Committee for recommendation.

After a two-hour discussion, the committee agreed to the appointment of a Steering Committee to recommend what witnesses would be called before it, on the motion of G. G. McGeer (L.-Vancouver Burrard) who suggested the whole financial structure of Canada

Refugees Clog All Roads

Half Million Italians Flee To North

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERN, Switzerland, May 16 (AP) —The Allied push into the Gustav Line, coupled with bombings and Partisan sabotage, has disrupted food deliveries and thrown Italy into the greatest confusion since the days following Mussolini's ouster, it was reported today.

Swiss dispatches from the border said at least 500,000 Italians were fleeing the southern war zone and have pushed into Rome, which already is short of housing and crowded with 100,000 persons bombed out of their homes.

Virtually no rail communications exist from Florence southward, the dispatches said, and it has been impossible to shunt the refugees northward. Trucks and planes alone are available for transporting food to the south, it was said.

The Partisans, their numbers growing, have launched a series of hit-and-run offensives to parallel the Allied thrust into the Gustav Line, frontier reports disclosed.

Optimism, which dwindled and in some cases turned to resentment because of bombings during the winter, has revived, especially in northern Italy, where reports told of a series of open fights between Fascists and anti-Fascists.

Duck Hunting In Burma

Veterans Of Italian Campaign Fight In Burma

With the R.C.A.F. on the Burmese Border, May 16 (CP)—Duck shooting provided recreation for R.C.A.F. fighter pilots flying with R.A.F. squadrons near the India-China border before the Japs launched their attempt to seize Kohima and Imphal, strategic centres near the frontier of occupied Burma.

Three Canadians with a Spitfire squadron are Flt. Lt. R. W. Day, Vancouver; FO. W. H. Fell, Norwood, Man., and FO. R. W. Rathwell, St. Vital, Man., all of whom formerly fought in Sicily and Italy

Their duck shooting companions at another Spitfire squadron were Flt. Lt. D. E. G. Thurston (11 Scath St.) St. Thomas; Flt. Lt. T. J. Trimble of Kenora; FO. Rod Lawrence, Winnipeg; Flt. Sgt. K. A. Neville (48 Talbot St.) St. Thomas, (since reported missing), and Flt. Lt. L. D. Thomas, Detroit (since reported missing).

The Canucks are based at airfields in the Naga Hills, only a short hop from the battlefront. Their flying strip is about 5,000 feet above sea level, and surrounding hills tower another 6,000 feet above them. The extremes of temperature are such that they need five blankets at night, though a scorching sun beats down in the daytime.

The R.C.A.F. fliers have been in the hills for months, and the pilots know the mountainous terrain around so well that they do not need maps.

Aussies Advance 40 Miles In New Guinea

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 16—(CP)—Australian troops today were reported advancing unopposed toward the last Japanese stronghold on the northeast shoulder of New Guinea as Allied airmen bombed the enemy's battered airbases at the other end of the huge island with relentless fury.

A headquarters spokesman said the Australians had advanced some 40 miles from captured Alexishafen to the vicinity of Bunabun harbor—halfway to the Japanese airbase at Hansa Bay. Bunabun is 16 miles beyond Cape Croisilles, which was reached last week.

Naval units supported the advance by bombarding Karkar Island, where the remnants of a Jap force are falling back towards Wewak.

Karkar has been strongly fortified by the Japs and used as a base for supply lines to Madang, Alexishafen and other New Guinea coast centres.

The results of the naval bombardment may leave the Jap forces trapped north of Madang, with only the coastal route leading to Wewak.

Royal Australian Air Force bombers, attacking the Boram airstrip at Wewak, have possibly destroyed the Japs' last hopes of escape by air. For several days Australian pilots reported desperate Jap efforts to lay down new strips for heavy transports at Boram. The R.A.A.F. waited until the strips were nearly completed, then turned on a devastating attack, wiping them out.

Heavy bombers dropped 220 tons of bombs Sunday on Wakde Island and coastal targets nearby in a mighty follow-up assault to the record 334-ton pounding the day before. Headquarters said damage was extensive at this sector 120 miles northwest of Hollandia.

Heavy and medium bombers also carried attacks on the Schouten Islands, 260 miles northwest of Hollandia, into the 11th successive day with night and day strikes which left fires.

Expect Plastics To Model Life

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16 (ENS)—Plastics and their development in the world of today and the use in the world of tomorrow were discussed in an interesting address delivered before members of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their noon-day luncheon held Monday. Rotarian Lou. St. John of Kempville, Ont., was the guest speaker and he traced the scientific progress made in synthetic products, declaring that imagination was the only limit to their use.

There are now 25 types, 15 major and 10 minor, used for such things as car fenders, for eye glasses that fit under the lids instead of the cumbersome and breakable ones in use today, for shoes made of nylon which are easily kept clean, for tooth brushes, known and utilized for centuries in all countries.

Now that the world's supply of bristle from China and Russia is cut off, a substitute had to be found. The answer is plastic products, he declared. No longer will the white haired hogs that roam the wilds of Asia supply our intimate toilet needs—for tapered plastic bristles, sanitarily and scientifically made, replace the brushes imported previously from Japan. Records disclose that bristle brushes did not come into general use until 1806. Before that people had to be content with washing their teeth with a cloth dipped in hot water and salt; a practice still recommended by some dentists. People buying several tooth brushes a year give little thought as to how these were made, although they are an indispensible article. The beginning of the industry dates back to 1871 when John Westley Hyatt produced and patented celluloid. Today this product is wound by machinery into bristles for all kinds of brushes and the acute shortage caused by the war has been met by scientific research.

Rev. G. N. Maxwell moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Dr. Watson moved, seconded by Mr. Denyes, that $25 be placed to the credit of the Rotary Relief Fund. The club welcomed its newest member, Bud Davidson.

Oshawa Resident To Build Cottage

GORE'S LANDING, May 16 — (ENS)—The sale of a lot on the lakefront to Mr. Johnson of Oshawa has just been concluded by Fred Harris. The property faces on the bay and the large stable formerly belonging to the Rice Lake House is at present on this ground.

The stable is a landmark in this village and a great part of it was associated with pioneer days here. The front part was the driving shed where farmers left their buggies while picnicking on Rice Lake. Behind this shed is a huge stable with room for many cattle and horses. The granary housed the foxes which were an attraction of the old pioneer Rice Lake House.

The large sloping roof of this structure has been the target of generations of stone-throwing village boys. A cottage is to be erected by Mr. Johnson in the near future on this lot.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid, and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

R.C.A.F. Officials To Review Air Cadets Here

It is expected that a large crowd will visit Confederation Square Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock to see the second annual inspection of the smart appearing Air Cadets of the 164th Squadron, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Peterborough.

Headed by the inspecting officer, G/C R. C. Ripley, Commanding Officer of R.C.A.F. Station, Mountainview, many high ranking R.C.A.F. officials will be on hand to witness the review of the youthful members of the squadron, all between 15 and 17½ years of age, commanded by A. Ward Smith.

According to the senior Command Cadet Officer, Squadron Leader Currie, of No. 1 Training Command, a wave of enthusiasm has carried enrolments throughout the province to the present high total of 8,000 Air Cadets, "Within the six week period of April 25th to June 8th, the annual inspection of these Cadets will be carried out in over 90 cities and towns", he claims. "The secret of the Air Cadet movement's popularity lies in the fact that cadets receive instruction and experience that places them in a preferred status should they wish to enlist with the R.C.A.F. when they come of age. This is evident," he adds, "when one sess the precision and despatch with which squadrons carry out their drill and March Past in connection with inspection ceremonies which draw large crowds wherever they are held."

"However", Squadron Leader Currie goes on, to say, "there is additional incentive. Cadets and their parents are increasingly aware of the invaluable knowledge that will be useful to young men in a civilian aviation career after victory is won. In addition to R.C.A.F. drill, the comprehensive course covers the study of Air Navigation, Airmanship, Theory of Flight, Meteorology, Signals, Mathematics, Administration and Physical Training."

10,000 Smokes Sent Weekly By Legion

The monthly meeting of the Canadian Legion Branch 52 B.E.S.L. was held Monday evening with President George Gimblett presiding.

Property chairman Ernest Dummitt reported that various purchases had been made, to be put in use when adjustments to the buildings are commenced in the near future, a building fund having been started for this purpose. Several new chairs have been added to the recreation room for the comfort of the members.

Harold Yelland stated that twelve ailing members had been visited during the month of April. Robert Hotrum covering bingo activities showed that results continue to be satisfactory.

A considerable amount of the Wednesday night bingo goes to the aid of the British War Victims' Fund and approximately ten thousand cigarettes go overseas every week to soldiers, airmen and seamen from the other one operated on Friday night. Three members were initiated at the meeting.

Mountbatten's bulletin said that tank-supported Allied troops had cleared the enemy roadblock at Kohima junction and joined with another unit moving up from Treasury Hill on the west.

The Tokyo radio continued to broadcast glowing accounts of Japanese operations in India, claiming that Japanese forces had captured two Allied strongpoints about four miles west of Bishenpur while other units had advanced south of Bishenpur to complete the encirlement of "remnants of 10,000 men."

Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell's Chinese forces continued their southward drive down the Mogaung Valley west of river and other forces thrusting down east of the river continued to reduce Japanese pockets of resistance at Warong, which lies north-east of Gen. Stilwell's main forces at Manpin. (The Chinese yesterday said they had surrounded Warong.) Kamaing, Japanese North Burma base, lies 10 miles south of Manpin.

Allied aircraft ranged widely over all fronts, hitting with particular emphasis at targets behind the Japanese 18th Division lines below Myitkyina, where airborne Chindits have already done the groundwork of cutting supply rail routes.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM HALLERAN

BEWDLEY, May 16—(ENS)—This community has lost another much esteemed resident in the passing of Mrs. William Halleran, at the home of her brother, Albert Michels, recently.

Although in poor health for the past few years Mrs. Halleran has been active in keeping house for her brother as well as opening her own home east of the village throughout summer months, where her hospitality to neighbors, friends and various social organizations has always been appreciated. She suffered a stroke, and has been cared for by her four sisters, Mrs. Ed. Guyatt and Mrs. Daniel Graham of Bewdley, and Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. George Burns of Peterborough.

Mrs. Halleran's maiden name was Christena Elizabeth Michels and she has spent her entire life in this community. Mr. Halleran predeceased his wife seventeen years ago. Besides her sisters and brother, she leaves two nieces and nephew.

The funeral service was Monday afternoon from her own residence at four o'clock with Rev. Crisall of Port Hope officiating, with interment in the Port Hope Union cemetery.

Judge Upholds Succession Appeal

TORONTO, May 16 — (CP) — Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly says in a judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall that the estate of James D. Aberdein who died in Brooklins, Mass., in 1940 is entitled to $13,-466.78 from the treasurer of Ontario.

The executors of the estate had appealed against Ontario succession duties of that amount on 200 shares of Capital stock in Nipissing Mines and 4,000 shares of stock in the Dome Gold Mine which had been purchased in the United States and were in a Boston Bank at the time of death.

Mr. Justice Kelly held that the shares were not property within Ontario and not subject to provincial succession duties.

Plan Reception For Premier King

OTTAWA, May 16 (CP)—A motion, calling for a civic reception for Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he returns from the London conference of empire prime ministers, was adopted at last night's meeting of the city council. Arrangements were left in the hands of Mayor Stanley Lewis and members of the Board of Control.

Alderman F. M. Journeaux, who moved the reception motion, said it would be tendered "as a mark of appreciation of a fine citizen of Ottawa and will be a tribute for what he has accomplished."

Senior R.C.A.F. Officers To Be Retired

OTTAWA, May 16. — (CP). — Transfer to the reserve of R.C.A.F. officers who have reached the retirement age was announced Monday by Air Force Headquarters.

A spokesman described the R.C.A.F. retirement age as "elastic" ranging between 45 and 60 years depending on rank and duties and with exceptions in special cases. He did not say how many officers are effected nor did he name any.

A press release said:

"Among those affected will be many officers who served with distinction in the First Great War and who were among the first to return to the colors in September, 1939. Their contribution, during the time the R.C.A.F. and the British commonwealth air training plan were expanding rapidly, has been of tremendous value. Now, with plans for closing certain schools under way, a surplus of officers is imminent. As member of the R.C.A.F. reserve of officers, all will be available should their active services be required again.

"Retirement of senior officers will provide employment for younger officers returning now gradually from overseas operations. Their experience in actual theatres of war will be invaluable to a relatively young service. It will also afford opportunity for promotion for deserving junior officers whose youth will permit many years of valuable service.

"The move will also provide older men, many who have seen service in two wars, with an early opportunity to re-establish themselves in civilian life since their remaining years of gainful employment are fewer than those of the generation of this war."

them. Two churches, a hospital and a yacht club were damaged in the same south coast town.

A Berlin broadcast said the industrial and communications centres of Cologne and Mannheim were among the R.A.F.'s targets last night and that other Allied aircraft flew into the bight of Kiel.

R.A.F. crews back from Ludwigshafen said a large explosion was set off after fires sprang up in the target area. The city is Germany's largest chemical manufacturing centre and important producer of explosives, is the home of the great I. G. Farbenindustrie which stretches for nearly three miles along the western bank of the Rhine.

New evidence of the Germans' mounting tension and fear of an uprising of conquered peoples when the Allies begin the western invasion was an order broadcast by the German-controlled Paris radio that all arms must be surrendered by May 20, with the death penalty for failure to comply.

As the month advanced into its second half the German people were warned by the Berlin radio that post-invasion fighting "will not be limited to divisions on the Atlantic wall or to points under the main attack, but small waves will reach far beyond them. Then Germany will be called upon to stand her greatest and most dangerous test."

Among the targets in yesterday's daylight assaults were airfields at Creil, Gael, Chartres, and Cambrai in Northern France, and railway lines at Courtrai, Belgium, and Clermont in Northern France. Two fighters were lost and one German plane was shot down in these attacks.

A small force of American fighters strafed an enemy airfield at Agen on the Garonne River less than 100 miles from the Spanish frontier, destroying two planes on the ground. The American fighters were not challenged during the 450-mile penetration and all returned.

Winchell Case Angers Ralston

OTTAWA, May 16—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston, acting House leader, said in the Commons yesterday he would expect an opposition member "to hang his head in shame" at a question on whether Walter Winchell, United States columnist, had been paid for an article in which he praised the Canadian war effort.

On the House order paper was a question by Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce (PC-Toronto Parkdale) asking whether Mr. Winchell recently visited Canada, whether the Wartime Information Board furnished him with material for recent articles and broadcasts, and what reunmeration he received from the Canadian treasury for his services.

(Informed of Dr. Bruce's question, Mr. Winchell said in New York it was the first time he had received "a kick in the britches" for doing someone a good turn.)

Answering Dr. Bruce, Resources Minister Crerar said the government had no information on when Mr. Winchell had visited Canada, but the commentator had said it was in 1914. The W.I.B. did not furnish the information on the Canadian war effort directly but distributed much information in the United States and it might be presumed Mr. Winchell received his data from the Board indirectly.

"May I add that it is unfortunate this question was asked," added Mr. Crerar, amid applause from government supporters.

Mr. Winchell had voluntarily paid a generous tribute to the war effort of Canadians.

Mr. Hanson interjected "to the government, not the Canadian people."

Irate Reader Sues Author

NEW YORK, May 16—(AP). — Old Ephraim Tutt, silk-hatted lawyer of fiction created so vividly by Arthur Train that the author took the trouble to deny he was genuine, was tangled up in a real battle today.

A Philadelphia attorney, Lewis R. Linet, charged in a Supreme Court suit that Mr. Train's book, "Yankee Lawyer: The Autobiography of Ephraim Tutt," was a "deceit and fraud" and constituted a hoax upon readers.

Mr. Linet asked a rebate of 50 cents to $1 on the $3.50 purchase price for himself and approximately 50,000 other purchasers. He also sought to enjoin the publishers, Scribner's Sons, from further publication and sale of the book, but this was denied by Justice Lloyd Church April 28.

The suit, making as defendants the author, Scribner's and Maxwell E. Perkins, vice-president and editor of the publishing house, complained the autobiography was a hoax because it portrayed Tutt as a real person.

WITH THE CHINESE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE ON THE SALWEEN FRONT, May 16 (AP)—The big object of the current Chinese offensive across the Salween river is to secure a land route to bring in heavy war equipment which will permit a military showdown with Japan, a Chinese military leader said today.

It is to obtain as quickly as possible heavy artillery, mechanized equipment and motor transport that the Chinese have launched their offensive across the Salween with 20,000 troops at a dozen points in the hope of joining up with Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American forces 150 miles away in North Burma.

Left for future decision was a motion by Mr. McGeer that while the Steering Committee considered witnesses to be called, the committee proceed with an examination of the last Bank of Canada annual report, which he said indicated that "unprecedented changes" in the Bank Act were considered necessary by Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada. Mr. McGeer said Mr. Towers should be a witness.

Finance Minister Ilsley said the committee should proceed immediately with the Bank Bill, clause by clause, and only call in witnesses Mr. McGeer had suggested when clauses were considered which would make their evidence pertinent.

The Commons already had adopted the principle of the Bill, said Mr. Ilsley. By so doing it had endorsed renewing the charters of the chartered banks which otherwise lapse July 1. It now was May 16, and it might be difficult for the committee to complete consideration of the Bill if it first considered the general economic structure of the country

Internee Beaten In Camp Members Learn

BY D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 16—(CP)—Suggestions on how the Federal government should handle persons interned under the Defence of Canada regulations were head in the Commons yesterday during study of the Justice Department's war estimates.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he believed that whenever possible persons interned under the regulations should be given a public trial.

"I have a good deal of sympathy with the point of view that we may have put into internment camps people who ought not to have been there, and we may have let out of internment camps persons who ought to be still in them," said Mr. Coldwell.

He said that men such as Alois Schneider, St. Walburg, Sask., and Joseph Farr and John Lorrimer, both of Toronto had been released from internment without an 'adequate explanation or without even an adequate trial."

The people were beginning to believe there was either persecution or favoritism and there were not public documents to prove the people wrong.

Fred Rose (Lab-Prog Montreal Cartier) said that simply because a man promised to behave if released from internment was not a sufficient reason to release him. The government was being "soft" toward native Fascists and "I cannot agree that we can afford to be sot," he said.

"If we show softness towards our own native Fascists I am very much afraid we will show it towards the Nazi enemies against whom we are fighting."

Mr. Rose said he could not understand why Farr and Lorrimer were released.

A Pro-Nazi

In internment camp "Lorrimer at all times lined himself up with the Nazis against anyone who dared to utter a word against Fascism or Nazism," said Mr. Rose. "If Farr weakened, it was not because he lost faith in the ideals of Fascism and became a great upholder of Democracy but because the ship was sinking and the rat was willing to jump off the ship."

Mr. Rose spoke sometime after Justice Minister S. Laurent said that Farr, who was interned in 1940, because he was allegedly in sympathy with the German Reich, was released from internment after he had been "pretty severely beaten up on several occasions" because of his consideration for the Allied Nations' cause.

Mr. St. Laurent said Lorrimer, who like Farr, was interned as a Partisan of the National Unity Party of which Adrien Arcand of Montreal was leader, was granted his release in 1942 after convincing a committee of his support of the war effort.

Schneider had been interned in September, 1939, and was released in December of the same year. In June, 1940, when orders for detention were issued against a large number of Canadians of German or Italian origin, he again was interned. An Advisory Committee recommended his release in February, 1944, and he was allowed to go. The Government had made no suggestion to the committee.

Political Move.

J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) said that between January 25, 1940, about the time when writs for a general election were issued, and March 26, 1940, the date of the election, 50 per cent of those interned in Saskatchewan were released. There was a feeling that other than the safety of the state had "entered into the equation."

Besides dealing with the Justice Departfent estimates, the Commons, by a vote of 93 to 20, approved an amendment by Finance Minister Ilsley referring a Bill to incorporate the Alberta Provincial Bank to the House Banking and Commerce Committee.

Mr. Ilsley moved his amendment when the Bill came up for second reading. He said it should not now be read a second time, but be referred to the committee.

Mr. St. Laurent told the House that the Government has been considering what action it should take against persons who are British subjects by naturalization and who have acted in a treasonable manner during the war. Cancellation of their naturalization papers is under consideration, the minister said.

Voluntary Effort Is Suggested In Raising Funds For Hospital

"That efforts be made to raise funds by voluntary subscription to provide adequate hospital services" was proposed in the report of its special hospital committee which the city council adopted last night.

Briefly commenting on the report as presented by Alderman Sands, chairman of the special committee, Mayor Hamilton said it embodied the suggestion which Hon. Dr. R. P. Vivian, Minister of Health in the Ontario Government, put forth at a recent meeting with members of the council.

"Dr. Vivian seemed to feel that it would be a very much better way," Mayor Hamilton said, "and that Peterborough should be able to do it. We felt that we should accede to his advice."

The Sands committee report continued as follows:

"That a meeting of citizens representing industry, property holders and other interested citizens be called to plan for such a campaign.

That it be recommended to the City Council that enquiries be made with a view to securing the services of a hospital consultant in order to plan for the city's present and future hospital needs.

That a fact finding committee to learn hospital building costs and gather other information be appointed as follows: Alderman Sands, chairman, Aldermen Glover and Ovens, John Hornal, Dr. J. S. Cameron, Mayor Hamilton and Dr. H. M. Yelland."

The committee avoids the particular designation of "civic hospital" which was previously considered when the council set out to explore possibilities after a gradually emerging conclusion that Peterborough needed a modern hospital adequate in capacity for requirements of an extended span of the fuutre.

Mayor Hamilton affirmed last night that Hon. Dr. Vivian did not encourage the "civic hospital" plan of approach to the problem which the council has been pondering. A civic hospital contemplates financial support chiefly from the tax funds of the municipality, and it is understood that the Minister of Health pointed out that the comparatively few hospitals operating on that basis in the province did not recommend the method to other communities, and especially a city, county and district like Peterborough.

Manifestly the alternative is the idea projected in the committee's report, the raising of funds by public subscription. The amount of money required for a new hospital will have to be determined by the "fact finding committee," and it was suggested last night that this committee add somewhat to its membership, at least by inviting some contractor or others acquainted with building costs to assist in the preliminaries.

From the Minister's outline of a provincial plan of assisted hospitalization, announced some months ago, Peterborough's main problem would be to finance and erect a modern hospital with sufficient bed capacity to qualify for full maintenance of the hospital by the province.

Hon. Dr. Vivian, as a resident of neighboring Port Hope, has stated that he knows the public spirit of the people of Peterborough and their ability to undertake substantial community projects. He expressed confidence that his city could raise the funds that would be necessary to build a hospital of certain accommodation, and that appeal for subscriptions would succeed.

Property owners would thereby be relieved of hospital costs in their taxes, public interest and support would be focussed on such a hospital, and the initial cost would also be the final, because the Provincial hospitalization plan would cover the cost of maintenance and operation.

Plainville WMS Meets With WCTU Group

PLAINVILLE, May 16.—(ENS).—(ENS).—The joint meeting of the Plainville W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. for the month of May was held at the home of Mrs. Grant Carruthers. There were 23 members and four visitors attending.

The report of the work of the Coboung Presbyterial for 1943 was given by Mrs. Louis Buttar. She also reported the amount raised in the Easter Thankoffering to be $24.50. Mrs. Bert McKinley, as group leader, was in charge of the program. Miss A. Moffat gave a splendid devotional, two methods of instructions on teaching in the Bible, 'positive and negative.' Prayer was offered by Mrs. Edgar Buttar. Miss Evelyn Carruthers presented a chapter from the study book, 'All of Life for Christ,' and Miss Doreen McKinley played a piano solo.

The W.C.T.U. then held their meeting. Mrs. William Herriott has been the capable president of this society. Readngs from the 'Tidings' about Miss Edna Grant, national secretary of the W.C.T.U. were given and the announcement was made regarding the W.C.T.U. convention to be held on May 19 at Cobourg Baptist church for the counties of Northumberland and Peterborough, when Miss Edna Grant will be the special speaker.

The election of officers was held and resulted in the following officers: President, Mrs. Frank Westington, who is also counties' president; recording secretary, Miss Ewart King; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. F. Ames; treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Cole; Little White Ribboners secretary, Mrs. Earl Joyce, and press secretary, Mrs. Clifford Manley.

The secretary gave a review of the year's activities. She reported 23 members, five of these new in 1943. Two interesting special meetings were held, one a Little White Ribboners' meeting when four babies were made L.W. Ribboners, making a total of 22 on the roll.

In the three nearby schools, Plainville, Gore's Landing, Bewdley and No. 17 near Harwood, thirty-three children wrote essays on scientific temperance instruction. Each one receleved a reward.

Mayor Is Seeking To Improve Pt. St. Charles

A proposal to persuade the Beaver Lumber Company to vacate their present factory on the east side of George street, opposite Rink street, and move to another site, possibly the city's property on the west side of Park street, south of Chamberlain street, was tentatively outlined by Mayor Hamilton at last night's council meeting.

Change of location was suggested to a visiting executive of the company meeting last week, His Worship said in a request to the members to consider the idea, "and if you think agreeably of it we might open negotiations with the Beaver Lumber Company and see what we can do."

If a deal could be arranged involving the Park street lot, which extends westerly to abut on the C.P.R., the council could regain possession of the land on the north side of Romaine street, immediately west of the C.N.R. to Port Hope, and make use of it as a substitute playground for children.

"We sold that land to the Utilities Commission for $1,000, and we can get it back from them for the same sum," Mayor Hamilton said.

The Utilities Commission bought the Romaine street lots at the beginning of the war in the expectation that it would be needed for increased Hydro-Electric transformer capacity when the eventual power requirements of the city's wartime industries were being estimated.

"The representative of the company suggested that we might buy for them the property on the west side of George street as far as Olive avenue, and south of Rink street, but there are some good houses in that area, and that was out of the question," Mayor Hamilton reported.

"What do the Beaver Lumber people value their property at?" Alderman Glover asked.

"I really don't know," His Worship replied, and said "the engineer" considered the old box factory of the former McDonald Lumber Company in a state of dubious safety.

Referring to the Romaine street property, Alderman Dutton said he would be inclined to buy it back from the Utilities "in any case."

"I think the company would be willing to move if they can get a location that suits them. We might get the short end of it; we usually do," Mayor Hamilton remarked.

The proposal was left to the members to consider in the meantime, and to acquaint themselves of the exact features of the several properties.

Off the record, it may be that Mayor Hamilton desires to rid the prospective park at Point St. Charles of the old remnant of the former lumber mill.

In his aldermanic days he was actively interested in that beautification scheme overlooking Little Lake with the background of the treed shore line of Little Lake cemetery across the water. During the initial stage, before the line of elms was planted along the water front and broad hollows were filled in and seeded with grass, it was said that the plan would never be complete until the last of the old lumber mill vanished, and the park's frontage on George street was broadened to enhance the attraction of a sweep of lawn leading toward the lake from the city's main street.

Exploiting the natural asset of the lake for the future beauty of the city was mentioned at the time as a probable objective. Probably Mayor Hamilton's interest in that project has been only quiescent while the water front park was slowly establishing itself with nature's help, and that it has finally broken through a long silence in his present expression.

4 Denominations Urge Prayer Crusade

TORONTO, May 16 — (CP). — Leaders of four Christian denominations Monday issued appeal for "united prayer" in behalf of Canada and the United Nations and their cause on the battlefront. The appeal urged the clergy to provide opportunity for prayer.

It was signed by Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto and Primate of the Church of England in Canada; Rt. Rev. Beverley Ketchen of Hamilton, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada; George Adam of Montreal, President of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, and Rt. Rev. J. R. P. Sclater of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people are working harder, worrying more, sleeping less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living lowers resistance—increases body and mental fatigue. Overwork; hasty meals; irregular hours; worry—any of these may upset proper kidney action.

When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and poisons remain in the system. Then backache, headache, rheumatic pain, disturbed rest or that "tired-all-the-time" feeling may soon follow. To help keep your kidneys in good order—to help guard against physical let-down—use Dodd's Kidney Pills, for over half a century a favourite remedy for faulty kidneys. Cobourg, 108.7 per cent; Hamilton Township 114.4; South Monaghan Township 79.7; Haldimand Township 82.0; Alnwick Township 66.4; Percy Township 80.14; Cramahe Township 118.43; Colborne village 140.43; Brighton Township 109.6; Brighton Village 130.2; Murray Township 68.6; Campbellford 77.8; Seymour Township 76.1.

Observe Mother's Day At Sunday School

PLAINVILLE, May 16 (ENS) — Mother's Day service was observed during the Sunday School hour in the auditorium of the church, with the theme, "Homes Make a Nation." The superintendent, Kenneth Curtis, presided and the order of worship for a Family Day in the church was carried out.

A duet was pleasingly sung by Misses Margaret and Marian McKinlay and Gerald Lander read the story, "A Christian Home and a New China." There was a splendid congregation at this service as well as the regular church service following.

The Victor Mission Band held their May meeting in the church basement during the church service with the leaders, Mrs. Edgar Buttar and Mrs. Fred Bowman in charge.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buttar of Warkworth spent Mother's Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buttar.

Mrs. John West of Coldsprings is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer West.

The Baltimore Young People are presenting their play at the Plainville church Friday evening.

Draws $10 Fine

COBOURG, May 16.—(ENS). — William Milco of Port Hope, was fined $10 and costs in police court on Monday morning. Milco was arrested in front of a store on King street during the height of the Victory loan ceremonies in front of the town hall on Saturday night. Milco, police said, resisted arrest. He was charged in police court with causing a disturbance.

Airman Says Thanks

COBOURG, May 16 —(ENS)— Andy Poulous, local Greek restaurant proprietor, has received a letter from a fellow-countryman now prisoner of war in Germany, through an unusual chain of circumstances. Mr. Poulous is a good friend to the hundreds of airmen who come through town at nights and usually stop off at his lunch counter while waiting a lift towards their destination. Many trucks stop there too and the genial proprietor arranges many a lift for his airmen patrons.

One of his former R.C.A.F. customers was taken prisoner recently and while in prison camp ran across a Greek from the island of Crete and the airman happened to mention that he knew one of his countrymen in Cobourg. Lonely, the Greek prisoner dropped Andy a line and said that he was not looking for a parcel but would like to hear from one of his own nation. Andy is writing to him and incidentally is sending him a nice big parcel.

Edward E. Turner Heads Chain Store

ROSENEATH, May 16—(ENS)—A recent copy of "Industrial Retail Stores," a publication for industrial store executives, published in Washington, D.C., carries an article of interest to folk in this district.

It is a story of promotion of Edward E. Turner to manager of one of the Union Supply Company's stores in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Turner was born at Roseneath a son of Mrs. Lily Turner and the late Frank Turner of Roseneath. For some years he was an employee of the late Charles Brown, general merchant of this village. In 1934 he went to Pittsburgh to work for the Union Supply Company of that city. In 1938 he was advanced to assistant manager of one of the company's stores, and his present assignment is manager of a branch in an exclusive residential district in Oakland, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

The Union Supply Company is owned by the National Mining Company, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corporation.

Mr. Turner is a brother of Sgt.-Maj. George Turner of Roseneath, at present posted at Kingston, and a nephew of L. E. Turner, 395 Monaghan Road, Peterborough.

Suckers Who Play Slot Machines Contribute 3 Millions Annually

BY RALPH HYMAN

TORONTO, May 16 — The illegal part of the slot machine business in Ontario, handling close to $3,000,000 of the public's surplus nickels, dimes and quarters, is about to receive a blow in the cash register which is likely to prove fatal.

On June 5 Bill No. 63 comes into operation in the Province, and its provisions will enable Inspector E. T. Doyle's anti-gaming squad to seize these gaming machines without having to obtain evidence. The mere presence of such a machine in a store will be sufficient. The act says that no slot machine shall be capable of ownership or be the subject of property rights.

It is going to be D-day for the slot machine distributors and the storekeepers, and right now the nickel-consuming devices are being taken out of stores and billiard parlors, and are being shipped to Quebec Province and other jurisdictions where the statute books contain no Bill 63. Storing the machines won't prevent the Ontario Provincial Police from seizing them. The legislation covers this point. Each machine represents an investment of about $200—some of them cost as much as $800—and the big distributors are gloomily removing them to safer climes. On and after June 5 there'll be no future in this phase of the business.

Pinballs Are O. K.

Pinball machines are not covered by the Blackwell act. The police will still have to get evidence of gaming in connection with the operation of this type of device. It is possible that pinball machines are for amusement only, and to make them liable for seizure might create an injustice.

The operation of slot machines in Ontario has been a gold mine to the distributors and the individuals who give the machines floor space. After June 5 the gold mine will produce just half as much. The other 50 per cent comes from pinball games.

Slot machines are sure-fire revenue producers. In any other kind of gambling game the element of luck is always to the fore. But the Ontario Provincial Police have uncovered some interesting facts about these machines which take $3,000,000 a year in nickels and dimes from the "jackpot" seekers. In the first place the manufacturers of the machines fix the mechanism to control the payoff. And this payoff is most generous—but not to the public. The distributor and his agent split between 70 and 80 per cent of all the revenue deposited in the slots. The suckers can have the rest.

Can Prevent Jackpots

But if bigger profits are desired, well that can be arranged, too. There is a little metal device that looks like nothing in particular, and it is a handy little gadget. It fits into the mechanism and acts as a control to prevent the jackpot from turning up. The slot machine manufacturers don't make this gadget, but an enterprising soul down Chicago way thought it up all by himself. It does a very neat job of cheating. In fairness to the storekeepers and others who keep the machines, most of them know nothing about the controlling agent. All they know is that they split 50-50 with the distributor. Little of what goes in comes out, and that represents solid business achievement.

Three or four big companies blanket Ontario with machines. Inspector Doyle thinks these distributors long ago reached an agreement to divide Ontario into territories, with each distributor having a territory or territories for his exclusive benefit. When the fifth day of June arrives they will have to concentrate on the pinball games.

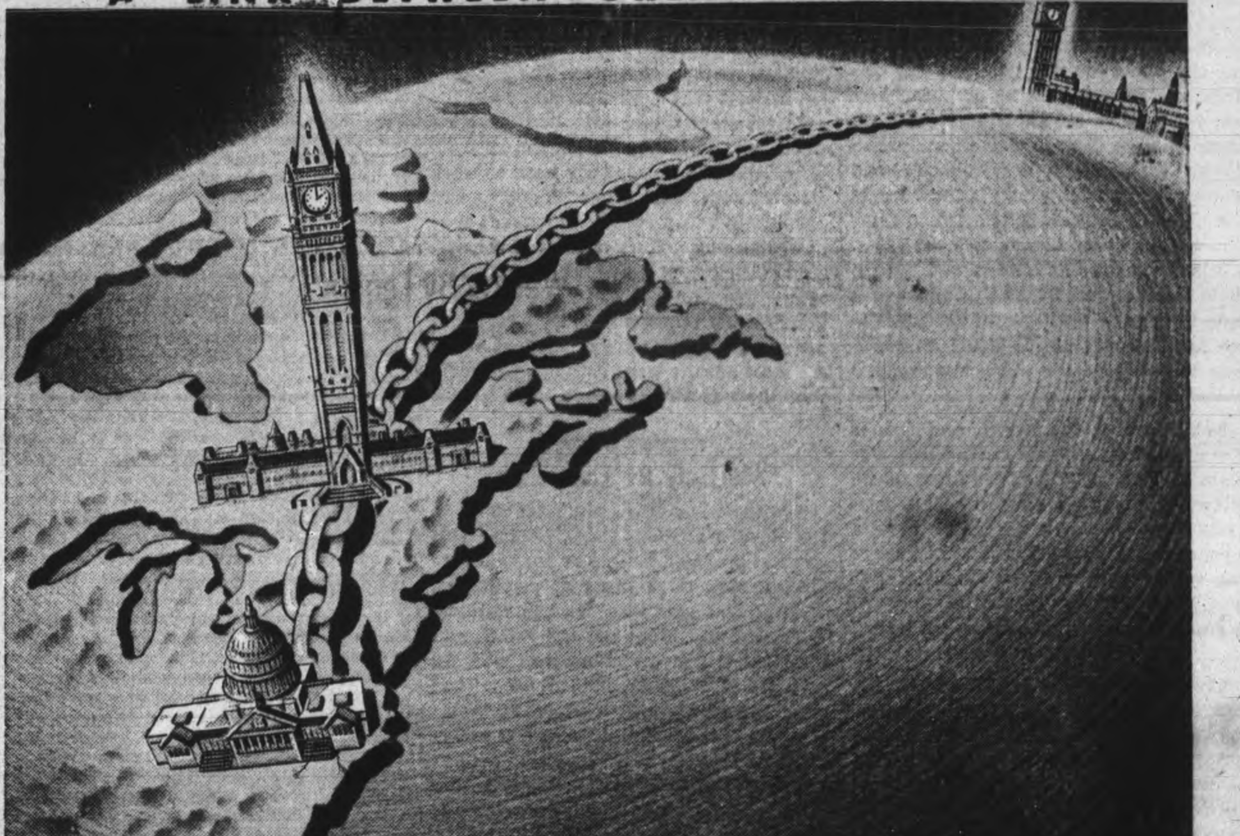
739 Machines Seized

Inspector Doyle, a most conscientious and able officer, is tickled over the Blackwell legislation. It is going to make the work of his anti-gaming squad a lot more satisfactory. The anti-gaming squad was formed May 1, 1942. To date the officers have seized 739 slot machines exclusive of others taken by officers not on the squad.

Last August the squad took in the scvenic beauties of the Muskoka district, and that wasn't all they took in. Twenty-five machines were collected and in them the officers found a total of $1,000 and some odd nickels.

That is the kind of Big Business the Ontario Government is putting away, permanently it is hoped. Founded on the lowly nickel, it pandered to the very human desire to get a lot for a small investment. But whether the machines were "liberal" ones or specially fixed, the result over a period of time was the same. The player got the works and the machine got his money.

A LINK BETWEEN GREAT NATIONS...



EVERY single one of us wants a just and lasting peace.

But, one of the first essentials to a lasting peace is continued understanding and unity between the present great comrades-in-arms ... Britain and the United States. Canada is the link between these two great nations ... a member of the British Commonwealth and the long, inseparable friend of the U. S. A.

Yes, we, of Canada, know both these peoples ... like them both so well that we are the link that joins ... the bond of understanding. This is our natural birthright ... let us serve it well.

Peterborough Is Slow In Post-War Planning

The need for a really aggressive policy of post-war planning in Peterborough is becoming more apparent every day. For over a year committees have discussed and have been working on several projects but there is nothing concrete yet and no plan is approaching a stage where action could be taken if the war were to end in three months. Peterborough as things stand today would not be ready to go ahead with one single project.

Ontario has taken a lead among the provinces in setting up a Department of Planning and Development but if this department is to function properly and successfully the majority of the plans must originate with the municipalities.

Premier George Drew has said that post-war plans of the municipalities should go to the limit of imagination, so taking Premier Drew's advice we are going to let ourself go on this subject.

First there is going to be a new City Hall. We are fortunate that the money is ready for this project, thanks to the generosity of the late George Morrow. Usually obtaining the money is one of the heaviest items in planning. A site must be secured, but more important than the site at the present time is to get the plans for this new building underway. They cannot be prepared in a few months, so an immediate start on these is necessary. The City Council knows what space will be required, and whether an assembly hall is included in the plant or not can be decided in relation to the amount of money available. A site must next be chosen and with a little serious thought on this question—especially as a town planning committee has been set up—it would be available long before the plans are ready.

Next there is the Arena, and this is one of the bright spots on the post-war planning horizon. The committee set up a few weeks ago is making excellent progress, plans will soon be available and a questionnaire prepared that will answer the enquiries of every ratepayer. But here the money has to be raised and this is going to take a lot of time and effort.

Then there is the hospital need. A new hospital has become an absolute necessity and whether it is to be a civic hospital or a general hospital still must be decided. Changes are going to be required in the Nichols Hospital Act and now is the time to get these underway rather than next January, a few weeks before the Legislature opens. The erection of a hospital and the creating of a suitable organization to operate it is a big question and is going to require plenty of driving power to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Improvement of our parks and especially the land along the river is another post-war plan to consider. We have the river with all its natural beauty, but this beauty is lying dormant, unappreciated and inactive because of the apathetic attitude of our citizens. It is time Peterborough did some sprucing up and took on a more modern aspect.

The Board of Education has a duty to perform in this post-war planning. Three of its schools have practically reached the limit of their capacity and in only two of the public schools in the city are there available rooms for expansion. But every school requires extra rooms for assemblies. There is no handicraft class for girls, as there is for boys—and this has been one of the most progressive steps made by the Board in recent years—because there is not a room available. A second handicraft class is required for boys. With the addition of the annexed area, where the schools already are overcrowded and classes established in a hall and the taking in of pupils between the ages of five and six the Board is going to have a real accommodation problem in the public schools. But the Board's duty simply does not rest there for the day is rapidly approaching when there is going to be a secondary school problem.

Another post-war plan might be a new Masonic Temple, but this is only offered as a suggestion for it does not fall in the realm of public buildings.

All these are going to require serious thought and planning. The only way to get them underway is to secure men and women who are interested and put them to work just as has been done in connection with the Arena committee.

In the past we have been poor planners; plenty of mistakes were made. In planning no city can be narrow; it must take a broad view or else it will be found that in a few years additions and changes are required.

A North Sea Republic

The parliament of Iceland, the Althing, is unanimous in its agreement to terminate the union of Iceland and Denmark, and the Icelandic people will have an opportunity to express their opinion by vote some time during this month. It is expected that all but a tiny minority of the population will declare their approval of the measure, and that the formal break will come on June 17, an Icelandic national holiday celebrating the hero Jan Siguardsson. Thus a new republic with a population of about 130,000 people will arise in the North Sea.

In the opinion of the people of Iceland it will not be the creation of a new republic, but the revival of an old one. Iceland first set up a national parliament in the year 930, and maintained it until the year 1261. For the succeeding twenty years Iceland was a prize which all the Scandinavian peoples sought to win, but it finally came under the crown of Denmark in 1280. And there it remained, with a great measure of government in the hands of the Icelanders themselves, until 1918, when Iceland was declared an independent and sovereign state owing allegiance to the Danish King. It has been apparent for some years that Iceland would eventually wish to break this tie, which imposed no restraint upon it, but which allied its foreign policy with that of Denmark.

Nazi occupation of Denmark has brought matters to a head. The Icelanders make it very clear that they have the greatest respect and affection for King Christian, and for the Danish people. When the war is over they want to work closely with the other Scandinavian peoples. But they cannot at present acknowledge any influence from a government which does not speak with its own voice. Therefore they mean to break off their formal relation with Denmark and set up as an entirely independent state. We must admire their courage, and hope that their move will prove to be a wise one.

Multiply By Forty-Five

Peterborough is deeply interested in the Royal Canadian Navy, because this city has provided more men for that service, judged on a basis of population, than almost any other city in Canada. When the war broke out the R.C.N. had about 1,800 men in its service; now its strength is approximately 80,000. That is to say, the Navy with which we began the war has been multiplied by forty-five. In 1943 the naval strength of Canada was increased by 27,000 people, and it is expected that this year will see 12,000 more in the service. A little thought on these figures will give the reader an idea of the astounding job that Canada is doing in this respect.

A table from the publication Canada At War, gives official figures regarding enlistments as they stood on December 31, 1943:

Prince Edward Island	1,263	1.59
Nova Scotia	6,255	7.83
New Brunswick	2,243	2.81
Quebec	10,499	13.15
Ontario	32,002	40.07
Manitoba	6,241	7.81
Saskatchewan	5,133	6.43
Alberta	5,974	7.48
British Columbia	9,740	12.19
Other sources	515	.64
	79,865	100%

As would be expected, the coastal provinces have contributed substantially to the Navy. But look at the figures from the prairie provinces; more than twenty per cent. of our sailors come from those lands where the most pressing yearly problem is rainfall. What is it that draws these men and women so far from everything that they have known, to sail the seas?

These figures show us how truly representative our Canadian Navy is. The war has forced us to become an important naval power, and we shall not retreat from that position.

It is reported that there will be little change in men's clothing this year. Except for a little cleaning and pressing, perhaps.

Compulsory Voting In Australia

A complete explanation
by
CHARLES IRESON

THE very low percentage of voters who exercised their franchise at the last Municipal Election (32.2 per cent) and a similar state of affairs in other municipalities (Toronto 36 per cent) excites unfavourable criticism and reference was naturally made to the fact that compulsory voting was in force in Australia, and the question was raised as to using the system in Canada.

The fact that voting in Australia was compulsory was generally known but there was a general ignorance as to the methods and procedure adopted. It was understood that it was used in Commonwealth and State elections, corresponding to our Dominion and Provincial elections but nothing seemed to be definitely known as to the Municipal field.

To obtain definite information a request was made by the writer on that point to the Australian Trade Commissioner in Toronto and a very courteous reply was received giving facts and data as to political elections and these were given in a letter to the Examiner of January 11; but the letter closed with the statement, "As to compulsory voting I feel sure it does not apply to Municipal Elections in Australia."

HOWEVER to get absolute assurance on the matter, an application was made to the Australian High Commissioner at Ottawa for particulars as to compulsory voting in general and as to Municipal Elections in particular and a letter was received in reply from the High Commissioner's office concluding with the statement, "As regards municipal elections, so far as we are aware, voting is not compulsory but we have addressed an enquiry to Australia on this point."

In due course the writer received a letter from the High Commissioner's office enclosing a long memorandum just received from Australia prepared by the Chief Electoral Officer and dated at Canberra, Feb. 14, 1944. This gives a long detailed account of the methods used leading to compulsory enrolment on the Voters' lists and compulsory voting generally but states in a closing paragraph, "Generally speaking voting is not compulsory at Municipal Elections in Australia except in Queensland and even in this state, although the law provides that voting is compulsory up to the present the law in that respect has not been enforced.

IT IS thus definitely settled that there is no compulsory voting in Australian Municipal Elections.

However the very lengthy memorandum referred to contains full information as to the compulsory preparation of the enrolment lists (our Voters' lists) which are of great interest, as it is generally admitted that our system of preparing Voters' lists by enumeration by amateur officials, when an election is pending, is very unsatisfactory. Particulars of the Australian procedure is given at great length in the memorandum but exigencies of space will only permit of a very brief resume of them. The potent point is that it is declared to be the duty of qualified electors to see that their names are on the roll. Copies of the latest lists are displayed at all Post Offices and there are available at these offices forms to be filled in by qualified voters who are not on the list. These are called "Enrolment Claims cards" and there are available at Post Offices addressed envelopes for transmission of these cards to the necessary officials post free.

TO maintain a check on the roll various methods are employed for the production of an accurate up-to-date list. One of these is the "Habitation Index System" used in cities and the larger towns. This contains a card for each habitation and is received half-yearly by that useful public servant, the postman. In rural districts there is the "Agency System." Persons such as Postmen, Police Officers and Shire Clerks are appointed as electoral agents and their duties are to see that the Electoral Roll is accurate so that when an election is called a completely up-to-date list is available. Primarily however it is the duty of every qualified voter to see that his name is on the list and he is not absolved from his responsibility by the helpful method just described. If in spite of all these preliminaries there are persons who fail to register, punishment is provided for by a small fine, but this is not pressed in many cases especially of indigent persons. Every effort is made by the administration to extend helpful co-operation to the public and avoid hardship. There are approximately 4,500,000 qualified voters and taking a general average of recent years less than 2 per cent have been fined for failing to register.

Compulsory voting was introduced into the Commonwealth laws in 1924, and is generally popular. The effect has been to increase the percentage of those voting from 64 per cent to approximately 96 per cent. The actual proportion of enrolled electors who voted at the last pre-war election in 1937 was 96.11 per cent. In 1940 the proportion was 94.75 per cent, the fall in percentage being mainly due to war services.

THE Commonwealth Electoral Act states that "it shall be the duty of every elector to record his vote at each election. At the close of each election it is the duty of the Returning Officer to prepare a list of names of electors enrolled for his division who have not voted and to certify that list by statutory declaration. This list so certified constitutes prima-facie evidence that the voter herein named did not vote. These electors are then called upon to give, within 21 days a valid, truthful and sufficient reason why he failed to vote—of the replies, the records show that 95 per cent show a sufficient reason for not voting. Of the remaining 5 per cent more than half give reasons which are not entirely satisfactory—but a formal warning is given—a case of a verdict of "Not guilty but don't do it again." In only about 2 per cent of the reasons for not voting, is the reason given, if any, was deemed to be unsatisfactory and a price is inflicted of not less than $2.50, or more than $10.

The memorandum of the Chief Returning Officer stated that compulsory enrolments have been operating for more than 25 years, and there is every reason to believe they will be retained. It also stated that compulsory voting in generally popular and apparently has the support of the bulk of the responsible element among the Australian people.

THE WORLD'S BEST KEPT SECRET —By Rube Goldberg

Fifty Years Of The Portraitists

ALL the great names in the history of British painting appear in the long reign of George III....It was the fashion for young gentlemen, before settling down to a life of ease, to take the Grand Tour; that is, to ramble through France to Italy, absorbing culture on the way and collecting pictures at bargain prices. They were particularly fond of Venetian pictures, as was natural in young men of aristocratic pretensions; and, on their return, gave their support to native artists who would paint the gentry of England in the refined and charming style of the Venetian masters. The Royal Academy, the bulwark of British painting, was founded, with Sir Joshua Reynolds, a Grand Tourist, as first President. Students with scholarships went to Italy to acquire the grand manner, just as students, in the next century, went to France for graduate courses in culture—and painting began to make up for lost time.

In fifty years Great Britain boasted of more portraits than the continent of Europe had produced in three centuries! Reynolds painted more than 2,000; Gainsborough at least 1,000; and Rommey's notebook listed 9,000 sittings in twenty years. The brush took the place of the modern camera, but with this difference: the purpose of the British portraitists was to make the Englishman, and his wife and children, the purest, the noblest, the most enviable, and the most charming people in the world....Hoppner, in portraying a lady, made as beautiful a face as he could, and then altered the face very cautiously into a slight resemblance to the sitter. Prices were low, top-notchers like Reynolds and Gainsborough charging from two to five guineas a head for their first commissions and from seventy-five to one hundred for choice things done at the height of their popularity. With the King and the court to be served, and every family of means clamouring for portraits, a condition arose in art which has not happened again—the demand was greater than the supply.

Sir Joshua Reynolds, head of the Academy and in his day the most esteemed member of his profession in England, was ambitious and immensely talented. He was a real scholar, with a veneration for the Italians, and his lectures to his pupils are still good reading... Sir Joshua, always striving to be classical and impressive, had "fancy poses" for his sitters, who were flattered to be presented not as English folk, but as muses, goddesses, or heroes....Children tumbled him from his high horse, and he depicted them without ceremony or heroic gestures. His children are pictures of health and truly British, not little dummies cast in antique roles.—From "The Story of Painting: from Cave Pictures to Modern Art", by Thomas Craven.

Good Sense And Good Nature

FROM the time that you have had life, it has been the principal and favourite object of mine to make you as perfect as the imperfections of human nature will allow. In this view, I have grudged no pains nor expense in your education, convinced that education, more than nature, is the cause of that great difference which you see in the characters of men. While you were a child I endeavored to form your heart habitually to virtue and honour, before your understanding was capable of showing you their beauty and utility. Those principles, which you then got, like your grammer rules, only by rote, are now, I am persuaded, fixed and confirmed by reason.

My next object was sound and useful learning. All that remains for me then to wish, to recommend, to inculcate, to order, and to insist upon, is good breeding, without which all your other qualifications will be lame, unadorned, and to a certain degree unavailing....

A friend of yours and mine has very justly defined good breeding to be the result of much good sense, some good nature, and a little self-denial for the sake of others, and with a view to obtain the same indulgence from them. Taking this for granted, as I think it cannot be disputed, it is astonishing to me that anybody who has good sense and good nature, and I believe you have both, can essentially fail in good breeding. As to the modes of it, indeed, they vary according to persons and places and circumstances, and are only to be acquired by observation and experience; but the substance of it is everywhere and eternally the same. Good manners are, to particular societies, what good morals are to society in general; their cement and their security. And as laws are enacted to enforce good morals, or, at least, to prevent the ill-efects of bad ones, so there are certain rules of civility, universally implied and received to enforce good manners, and punish bad ones.

Mutual complaisances, attentions, and sacrifices of little conveniences, are as natural an implied compact between civilized people as protection and obedience are between kings and subjects; whoever, in either case, violates that compact justly forfeits all advantages arising from it. For my own part, I really think that, next to the consciousness of doing a good action, that of doing a civil one is the most pleasing; and the epithet which I should covet the most, next to that of Aristides, would be that of well-bred.

I will conclude with these axioms:

That the deepest learning, without good breeding, is unwelcome and tiresome pedantry, and of use nowhere but in a man's own closet; and, consequently, of little or no use at all.

That a man who is not perfectly well-bred, is unfit for good company, and therefore unwelcome in it; will consequently dislike it soon, afterwards renounce it, and be reduced to solitude, or, what is considerably worse, low and bad company.—From Letters of the Earl of Chesterfield to His Son. (1749.)

Trillion-Dollar War

By the end of this year the cost of the war to all the belligerent nations will be near the almost unimaginable total of a trillion dollars. The bill will pass the trillion mark in 1945, according to figures compiled by the Tax Institute of New York. A trillion dollars is a million million or a thousand billion—a sum never used in human history before to reckon the cost of war or any other activity.

The Tax Institute calculates that the Axis so far has spent about the same amount on the war as the United Nations. But the balance of expenditures is now shifting rapidly and this year the United Nations will spend $150 billions as against an estimated total Axis expenditure of $50 billions. It must be remembered, of course, that a dollar will buy more in the Axis countries than in the Allied countries, where wages and living standards are higher. — Winnipeg Free Press.

General Franco Holds a Fair

Spain's General Franco, of all people, has chosen the present, of all times, to hold what he calls an "international trade fair" in Barcelona. What is almost as odd, the United States Government has decided to have an exhibit, with the State Department asking book publishers to submit material for display.

The Saturday Review of Literature, interested in the book angle of the thing, is not impressed. Remarking that the sending of anything to the Fair preclaims to the world tacit approval of the Franco dictatorship, it adds:

"If you believe that the Franco regime will allow a public display of any book that condemns or even questions the fascist ideal of government ....you are falling into the dangerous old trap of underestimating the intelligence of your enemy."

The Saturday Review concludes:

"The 'best possible showing' we could make before the Spanish people would be to cut off diplomatic relations immediately with Franco and his out and out fascist government and to exhibit no American books or goods of any kind in Spain until the present government is thrown out on its ear, and the will of the majority of the Spanish people be allowed to prevail."

We confess to sympathy with this view; and would like to see its advice followed by the British Commonwealth.

HE-MAN FLATTENED

Life is not easy for a he-man movie star. First, the papers got hold of the story about another actor being injured while carrying Errol Flynn's double across a stream in a not-so-dangerous film scene. Now, he has been flattened by one punch from a non-professional who has never laid any claim to outstanding masculine prowess. It seems that Mr. Flynn needs, instead of press agents, experts who can keep his name and "exploits" out of the papers.—Windsor Daily Star.

MORE FREQUENT EMPIRE PARLEYS

There is much to be said in favour of the proposals advanced by Prime Minister Churchill in the British House of Commons that the leading officials of the Home and Dominions Governments participate in an Imperial Conference at least once a year, the conference to alternate between the Mother Country and the Dominions.

The leaders of the United Nations have found direct talks invaluable in wartime and surely the Imperial leaders could gain proportionally in arguing peacetime problems. — Sherbrooke Record.

FROM A GERMAN'S DIARY

A friend sends me this translation of a revealing extract from the diary of a German officer captured in Italy:

"Yesterday evening, during the retreat, I broke finally and irrevocably with my old life. Gone are all the old values, all that was precious to me. In my soul only one thing remains, a hatred for the bestiality of the German Army. What have we to fight for? Every one curses the Nazi Government, but few have the courage to turn against it. Why? Because the brutality and the power of oppression are still so strong. If opportunity offered, I would help strengthen the thousands who long for final collapse. If I survive to leave the field alive, at least I shall have seen through the tawdry facade of Nazi politics. I shall know the points at which the Nazis are weakest.

"Why was I born a German? I feel myself always a slave".

My friend vouches for the authenticity of this document. The writer, I am told, was at one time a keen Nazi.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

A Bible Message

My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God.... For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84: 2, 11.)

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith. (Rom. 12: 1-3.)

What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. (I Cor. 6: 19, 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Father, will you give me ten cents for a poor man who is outside crying."

"Yes, son, here it is. What is he crying about?"

"He's crying 'Fresh roasted peanuts, five cents a bag'."

He was undersized, meek, diffident, subdued, and he had applied for a job as night-watchman.

"Yes," said the manager, dubiously, "but the fact is we want someone who is restless and uneasy, especially at night. Some one who sleeps with one eye open. Someone with remarkable hearing who starts at the slightest sound. Someone who is always listening, thinking there are bad characters around. We want a large, aggressive, intrepid, and dangerous person, bad-tempered and revengeful. In short, the kind of person who, when roused is a fiend."

'All right," said the little man as he walked away, "I'll send the wife."

White, Silver Bridal Gown Worn by Noreen Fitzgerald

Rev. William McDonald officiated at the ceremony in Trinity United Church Monday afternoon, when (Noreen) Eleanor Deering Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzgerald, 282 Sherbrooke Place, became the bride of Donald Richmond, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond, St. Mary's street. Miss M. Clarry was at the organ, and Mr. Jack Gibson sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white brocaded bengaline in torso style, with a tight-fitting bodice, long sleeves coming to points over each wrist, and a full skirt. Her floor-length veil of white net fell from a Queen Anne headdress, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Fitzgerald, as maid of honor, in floor-length white chiffon, on similar lines to the bride's, and a shoulder-length veil, falling from a Juliet cap of matching material. Miss Thelma Howell was bridesmaid, and wore a floor-length frock of blue net, similar to that of the bride, and a matching shoulder-length veil falling from a Juliet cap of blue net. Both attendants carried nosegays of pink and red carnations.

The groomsmen were Allen Richmond, and Harold Richmond, brothers of the groom. Both are in the R.C.N.V.R.

At the reception, held at the Hollywood Cafe, the bride's mother received the guests in a powder blue dress, and a corsage of roses and sweet peas. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in powder blue, with a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

For travelling, the bride wore a beige dress, brown accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

IF YOUR CHILD IS THIN and NERVOUS

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in the diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B_1, and D, and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins — all for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, why not start giving New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get Ovaltine at your drug or food store.

MARMORA, May 16 —(ENS) — A pretty wedding took place recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard McGarvey, when their daughter Eileen (Goldie) became the bride of Private Frank Moore, son of Mr .and Mrs. Thomas Moore, of Springbrook. Rev. James Stephenson officiated and the ceremony was performed beneath an arch, decorated in pink and white and wedding bells. The wedding music was played by Miss Anne Stephenson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length dress of white satin, silver slippers and finger tip veil with coronet, and a corsage of red and white roses.

Mrs. Margaret Davis of Belleville was matron of honor, wearing a street length dress of blue sheer, white slippers, a shoulder length blue veil, and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groomsman was Eldon McGarvey, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents with fifty guest present, fifteen of whom were from Belleville.

The bride's mother was wearing a lowered dress with redingote, and the groom's mother wore a navy suit. The bride and groom left on a short honeymoon, the bride wearing a navy blue tailored suit, light blue box hat with veil and matching accessories .They will take up residence in Belleville.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Cottons and rayons in the smart style dresses will be worn from coast to coast this summer, for any time of day or evening, for young and old. Pick a bare-back cotton if you want to catch the sun, and when you have caught enough, put on a little bolero jacket. Pick a flowered print for that informal dinner party. If you are young and slight choose the tight- fitting bodice and full skirt as the style to have it made up in. For dinner at the country club choose a smart blue chambray, for dancing a blue and pink flowered print, made with very full skirt and tight fitting bodice with square neck and narrow shoulder straps. For a little buffet supper on your own terrace, choose a pink chambray, trimmed in white rick-rack braid, or a lime green spun rayon. If you are going down town in the morning you will look very smart in a black gabardine skirt and turquoise blue jacket, a blue felt country club sailor, and black gloves. If going to a luncheon, or a little evening, you would attract a great deal of attention in a red and white checked gingham.

Note here that flat-heeled shoes are worn with all cottons, whether to afternoon or evening functions A sort of dressed up cotton, made in white eyelet pique. This has full skirt, and bodice showing the new low-neckline in front only, with black velvet laced around it, and tied in bow at the left side front. A frill of the pique goes around the neck, and small cap sleeves.

A long dreamy evening dress, that the younger set have always loved, and have never really given up. This dress is made in white marquisette. The long full skirt, the bodice showing the new horseshoe bend neckline, which is outlined with a fluted frill of the same material. A very smart outfit for the formal dress of the young girl.

A very new style is called the bustle, prophetic of the shape of summer dinner, gingham takes a bustle, prophetic of the shope of clothes to come. This one is made of the black and white checked gingham dress with the V-ripple of red and white check gingham at the back. Wear it for summer cocktails, or dinner on the roof, and with this dress which is buttoned right up to the neck, with narrow turnover collar, be sure your hair is brushed coolly off the neck, and for back interest wear a jewel in it, to match your ear jewels. A silk shantung in white afternoon suit, short collarless, sleeveless jacket, with rhinestone buttons, plain skirt, and off the face turban made of the same material. Small hats of many shapes are shown with all the cotton dresses this summer and many are made of the same material as the dress.

WAR TESTS "TRIAL DIVORCES"

Wives, Husbands Bored With Each Other, Find Love Rekindled by Enforced Separation.

I HAVE long contended that the great need of this country was not for a good five-cent cigar, as Vice-President Marshall said, but for trial divorces, and the war is furnishing a shining example of the truth of this theory by bolstering up thousands of tottering marriages that were on the verge of collapse.

And if anything could mitigate the horrors of war, it is this, for more homes are sabotaged by husbands and wives than are wrecked by the enemy in blitzkreigs, and anything that can save this tragedy and keep little children from being half-orphaned is a blessing however disguised.

The curious service the war is performing for thousands upon thousands of disgruntled married couples whose romance had petered out and who thought that their love was dead. They bored each other to tears, and their only conversation was a series of cat and dog fights. They had gotten on each other's nerves, so that the way John ate made Mary want to scream, and John felt that if Mary told him once more about what Mother said he would take the carving knife to her.

And both had found the Other Woman or the Other Man who, they were sure, had none of the peculiarities of their present mates. And both were secretly dreaming of Reno and a decree absolute.

Husband's View of Wife, Home Changes

Came then the war, as the movies say, and the husband was inducted into the service. And the old miracle of blessings brightening as they fade began to work itself on both of them. The home that the husband had dreaded to come back to at night became the one place on earth he longed to be most. His wife no longer was a fat, middle-aged woman. She was his heart's desire. He forgot her nagging and remembered only how she had nursed him back when he was sick, and how she had stood by him through thick and thin in all his struggles, and was the one person in the world whom he could absolutely trust.

Same way with the wife. Her husband hadn't even gotten to his training base before she began to miss him and feel that life was cinders, ashes and dust without him, and wonder why she had ever objected to his scattering cigarette ashes and papers all over the house, or why she had ever taken his grumbling seriously. His absence turned him into a glamor boy again and made her see him through rose-colored spectacles in which she beheld only how good and kind he was and how comfortable he made her, and made her blind to all of his irritating little ways.

Temporary separation is the shot in the arm that many a marriage needs to bring it back to life when it is about to die of anemia, and this treatment the war is administering to many husbands and wives who thought they had fallen out of love with each other. And this remedy would be equally effective in times of peace if it took the form of the trial divorce. For somehow marriage seems to agree with us best when we take it in broken doses.

Beauty Tips Help Smooth Rough Hands

The end of winter used to mean the end of worry about rough, red, hands, but, since Miss Canada has gone to war with a will and is working in a factory, her hand troubles are still present. Grime is just as much an enemy of beautiful hands as cold weather. Hard scrubbing dries out the natural oils in the hands, and gives them a "sandpaper" appearance. Also, grime under the nails is difficult to remove.

For hands that are not afraid of work, but which look lovely after a quick clean-up, here are a few tips. First of all, to eliminate rough, dry texture, always give the hands a thorough creaming after each washing. In this way, the natural oils are replaced immediately. The method is simple, just wring it in in the same way as soap and water are worked into the hands.

Peeling cuticles is another problem to be faced. A drop of oil pressed in every day or two will help keep them soft and manageable. Another way to keep them soft is to give them a coating of cuticle oil before retiring. In this way, the nails have several hours to absorb the helpful oils. Never use scissors to clip cuticles. Always soften them with cuticle remover, and press back with an orange stick.

Helps Nails.

To eliminate rings of grime packed tightly under the nails, try packing a little hand cream under the nails before going to work. Although it won't keep grime from getting under the nails, it certainly will keep it from becoming packed too tightly and will make removal much easier.

For "polishing up" on polishing aids, here are a few ideas. Try buffing the nails before putting the polish on. This simple tip makes nails much smoother, and gives a better finish to hold the polish. Always use an extra coat, to seal on the polish. This extra protection can be another coat of polish, or merely a layer of polishield. If two coats of polish are used, the first should be allowed to dry thoroughly before the second is applied. Another good plan, to keep polish from chipping, is to remove a hard-line of polish along the edge.

It is also wise to remember to 'smooth" the polish on with the brush, so that a sleek flowing finis his obtained.

Here's an extra tip; to keep polish from gumming up and putting up a battle every time you try to take the cap off, smooth a little cold cream around the thread of the bottle.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mary Moore: You gave me the idea of using my jams and jellies for desserts and I found a recipe for Strawberry Jam Cake and after I made it, used the method as a basic recipe for using up my red currant jelly etc., in the same way. Your readers might have some surplus jams and jellies they would be glad to put to good dessert uses.

Strawberry Jam Cake (Emily Baker)

One-quarter cup each butter and good quality shortening, ½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, ¼ cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup strawberry jam. Cream the shortening and butter very well, and add the sugar gradually creaming it in well. Now add the eggs one at a time being sure to beat in each one well as they are added. Dissolve the soda in the sour milk and add it to the egg mixture. Measure, mix and sift the dry ingredients and add to the batter alternately with the jam. Beat the mixture only until smooth and then turn it into 2 buttered layer cake tins. Bake at 375 deg. F. for 20 minutes. Turn out on cake racks to cool and frost with any desired frosting, — chocolate is good. Use frosting as filling too. (Emily Baker)

P.S. If you want to use up your grape jam it is better if you add cinnamon and nutmeg—⅛ to 1 teaspoon of each with the dry ingredients.—E.B.

They're TALKING ABOUT... a Ten-Cent Dollar!

They speak of it glibly...but what does it mean? It means that every pay-day if your boss paid you in crisp new one-dollar bills each of them would buy only a measly ten-cents' worth of goods All those savings you've made with ten dimes to a dollar would shrink to the size of one (10¢). That's inflation! So we're lucky in Canada that price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept our dollar value HIGH. In fact, a dollar goes further to-day... buys more goods than the dollar of 1918. Look at these prices, a pound of cocoa to-day (34¢ lb.) compared to the (64¢ lb.) it was then. The same quality towels, ($1.00 pr.) now, were ($1.98) then. Yes, we get a good dollar's worth to-day. And remember - you protect your dollar value when you refuse to pay more than the ceiling price... denounce black markets... buy Victory Bonds ..save.. pay off debts and help keep the cost of living down!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. NEW YORK, May 16 — (AP). — Remember way back when horsemen used to talk hopefully about a $1,000,000 day at the races?....On the basis of last Saturday's 39,293 fans and $3,369,385 handle at Belmont Park, the figger filberts have doped it out that the betting will pass $4,000,000 the first time Belmont entertains 50,000 customers, which may be Memorial Day, May 30, if not sooner.....Mike Jacobs estimates that he lost about $10,000 promoting fights at St. Nick's through the winter....Bill Brandt's exhaustive search of the statistics reveals that Jim Tobin is the only major league pitcher who ever turned in a no-hitter and socked a home run in the same game.

A refreshing yarn:

Colleague Russ Newland passes along this tall baseball yarn, told by Harry O'Dea, retired San Francisco police captain and quite a ball player in his day....Back in 1887 O'Dea, playing for the Sacramento Atlas, came to bat against Stockton with a runner on third.. ..O'Dea bunted down the first base line and First Baseman Charley Selna fielded the ball...."I dodged, ran out of line, hurdled the low fence and dashed into the saloon in the corner of the grounds," O'Dea recalls. "Selna chased me into the place. I said: 'I'll take a beer.' Selna said: 'I'll take one too.' Meanwhile the man on third had scored. Rules were different then."

Beyond adding Infielders George Hawks and Jack Tucker and Pitcher Terry Wood of last year's Genelecs to their squad and replacing Centrefielder Joe Stewart, now in the Navy, with Joe Blewett, recently discharged from the Army, it looks as if the Plazas who played under the 4th Battery title last season are standing pat on last season's team to repeat in the City League race this season. The Plazas who meet Switchgear in the opening game of the league Thursday night have not definitely announced their lineup but it is known that they have Dave Wilson and Terry Wood as pitchers, Eddie Starr to do the catching, Jim Ellis, Art Heal, Bun Kingdon, Bill Jones, George Hawks, Jack Tucker and probably Ned Vitarelli as infielders and Les Burton, Joe Blewett and Phil Pryde in the outfield. The Ellis-Starr outfit have lost Bob Crowe and Joe Stewart of last year's team to the R.C.N.V.R. and Honey Tompkins is lining up with Switchgear. Otherwise Plazas are carrying about the same battle array as in the 1943 campaign. They have a lot of power in the lineup, sparked by Starr who hit safely in every game last season and Joe Blewett who was the home-run king of the 1942 campaign and really takes that ball for a ride when he gets hold of one.

From the camp of the Westclox, perennial champions of the Girls' Softball League something in the nature of a distress signal is being sounded these days. Earlier it looked as if the Big Bens would be able to start this campaign with practically all of last season's team with the exception of Outfielder Doris Walker who is with the women's division of the R.C.A.F. Later however it was found that Eunice Armstrong, first base for the last couple of years, Beryl Dobbin who starred at shortstop and behind the bat when she acted as battery mate for Isobel Bullock, and Marg Watson, reliable pitcher would not be available this season. With the latter not playing the pitching duties will fall on the shoulders of "Tommy" Bullock and that of course will leave the Big Bens short the services of their reliable catcher. The club is in the market right now for a catcher and a couple of outfielders and news from the Westclox camp is that there will be a welcome on the mat for new players who wish to try out with the champs. The team will practice tonight and Thursday night at the Bowl and new candidates will find themselves warmly received if they drop around to these workouts.

It Has Everything

Whipper Billy Watson, who wrestled Wild Bill Longson to a sensational draw in Toronto the other night in a battle for the world championship will be back in action at the Brock Street Arena tonight when he clashes with Vernon Baxter of Oregon. Watson eked out a win over the Coast battler a week ago when he took the only fall in an hour's torrid tussle but Baxter argued successfully with Promoter Frank Tunney that his showing against the British Empire champion entitled him to a second shot at Watson. Baxter's contention was that in spite of the fact that the Whipper managed to get the only fall the bout could easily have ended the other way. The Oregon grappler who is big, fast and rough, admits that he outsmarted himself. He tried a sneak attack on Watson, ran into a punch that knocked him dizzy and before he could do anything about it the Whipper struck swiftly with his Canadian avalanche and it was a fall for the British Empire champion. Baxter says he is willing to leave it to the fans who saw the contest whether he didn't have a distinct edge on Watson for the balance of the bout. "I think I have found the way to stop the Whipper," the Oregon husky said yesterday, "and I may spring a surprise." Watson is not worrying about the outcome, declaring that it is just a case of beating Baxter all over again.

The fans will see a new wrestler tonight and one who promises to be a sensational addition to the Tunney entourage in the person of Don Evans who hails from California and is said to know all the angles of the wrestling game. He made his first Canadian appearance in Toronto last week and in spite of the fact that everything on the bill that night was over-shadowed by the Watson-Longson bout the Californian made a great impression. He is up against one of the strongest men in the wrestling game in John Arthur of Chicago whom he meets in a semi-final encounter. Arthur is power plus and this Evans person will have to be good to tackle him. As for the opening bout two of the fastest performers on the circuit will be battling it out with Nick Elitch the short but powerful and fast New Yorker clashing with the always-moving Joe Maich of Brantford. Those speedsters should start the card off at a mile-a-minute pace.

Stealing Pitching Honors

It looks as if the National League is out to garner all the 1944 pitching honors. A short time ago the veteran Jim Tobin pitched the first no-hit game for several seasons in the majors, Sunday afternoon Bucky Walters, dean of the Cincinnati Reds twirling staff came within an ace of duplicating the feat, pitching to only 28 Boston batters and allowing only one single. And then yesterday comes another veteran Clyde Shoun, tall left-hander of the Reds' pitching staff to pitch the second no-hit, no-run game of the season. Shoun, formerly of the St. Louis Cards and nine years in the big show shut out the Braves 1 to 0, threw to only 28 batters and didn't allow anything that looked like a hit. Strangely enough Shoun's opponent was none other than Jim Tobin, hero of the other no-hit game of the season. Tobin pitched a grand game himself, allowing but five hits but one of them was a homer by Chuck Aleno who drove the ball into the left field stands to win the game for the Reds. Outside of the no-hit feat of some days ago, Tobin's luck has been mostly bad. He has been beaten several times in games in which his teammates failed to produce any runs upon which to work; some of the best pitching of the season, in fact, has being lost in just that way.

* * * * * *

Shoun's performance stole the show in the big leagues yesterday but there were some other features. One was the onslaught made by the St. Louis Cards upon the Philadelphia Blue Jays who had been doing quite nicely until they ran foul of the champs. The Cards opened yesterday's battle by scoring nine runs in the first frame and won the engagement 11 to 6. Another highlight yesterday was the feat of Catcher Frankie Hayes of the Philadelphia A's who came up in the ninth inning with the score tied and the bases clogged and promptly slapped the ball out of the park to enable the A's to beat the Detroit Tigers 6 to 2. It was Hayes' fifth homer of the season and it completely wrecked Rube Gentry who happened to be pitching for Detroit at the time. The New York Yanks, rambling along in their customary spot at the top of the heap had a field day at the expense of the Chicago White Sox in a battle of rookie pitchers. Walter Dubiel, last season with Newark started for the Yanks and Ed Lopat, a left-hander up from Little Rock was the Sox choice but only Dubiel was in there at the finish, the Yanks, sparked by Savage's two-run homer winning 10 to 2.

All Saints' Wins Church Fixture

All Saints defeated Mark Street in a Church League juvenile game last night when Mark Street fielders got up in the air and started throwing the ball around unnecessarily.

Both pitchers played good ball with McDougall having the edge with strikeouts, and well supported by his fielders. A. Menzies, catcher, was exceptionally good, and made quite a spectacular one-hand catch of a foul ball, retiring the side and ending a Mark Street rally.

Picture Play Finishes First

NEWMARKET, England, May 16 — (C P) — H. Joel's Picture Play raced to a surprise four-length victory to-day in the 1,000 Guineas, classic test for Fillies, at odds of 15 to two and was followed home by two other longshots in the mile race.

Grand Corniche, at 100 to six finished four lengths behind the winner and Superior, at 100 to nine, came in two lengths behind Gand Corniche.

Picture Play took over the lead the field of 11 in the last quarter and finished in one minute, 40 1/5 seconds.

It was Picture Play's first time out this season and she was superbly ridden by Charlie Elliott who rang up his fourth 1,000 Guineas victory. Picture Play also in entered for the Oaks, The Derby and The St. Leger.

Loses Pudding In 1918 Gets New One In '44

HOLLYWOOD, May 16—(AP)—This is the way producer Walt Disney tells it:

Serving with the Red Cross Ambulance Corps at a base hospital near Paris in 1918, Disney baked himself a big custard pudding one day and put it on the window ledge to cool.

Returning a few minutes later he saw several British fliers polishing off the last of his pudding.

Disney was visited yesterday by Wing Cmdr. L. V. Harcourt of the R.A.F. and Dr. J K. S. St. Joseph of the British Air Ministry, who said they'd heard the story

They brought with them three puddings, on a platter inscribed: "From the Royal Air Force in lend-lease payment from World War 1."

THE DERBY AS IT IS RUN AT ITALY BEACHHEAD—The "old firm" has set up its bookmaking stand and fighting Tommies are eager to lay a bet on the outcome of the "running" of wooden horses at the Anzio turf club. The club, a mile behind the fighting lines on the Anzio beachhead, was set up for the amusement of British and American soldiers. This betting stand is typical of British racing.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, May 17

LUNAR ASPECTS for this day may incite a determined and concentrated use of resources, initiative and mental and physical energies, in a program of major constructive importance, even though all along the way there may be obstruction, limitations, delays and varied forms of impediment and disappointment. But determination, skill, practicality and ingenuity are likely to successfully route all opposition and frustrations. Aggressive and even strenuous effort of individual force, with but little aid from others, may bring about a turn in the tide to concrete success and good fortune.

Those whose birthday it is may have an opportunity to attain definite culminations of success, progress and personal satisfaction, by the use of its excellent skill, ingenuity, enterprise and persistency. This may be against tenacious obstacles, static situations, delays, postponements and disappointments. There initiative, practical ideas and workable programs, should win out against all limitations, want of approval and discouragements. Persistent and resourceful attack should prove invulnerable.

A child born on this day may have much solidity and endurance of purpose with ingenuity, skill, determination and initiative to win against all obstacles.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Declaring "it very seldom rains in Madison Square Garden," Promoter Mike Jacobs announced last night the adoption of a policy of indoor boxing show and the dropping of an outdoor program for the summer season. He qualified his statement at New York by adding he would stage an outdoor bout if something big developed in the fight game. The next show, dated May 26, will bring together Lee Eavold of New Jersey and Joe Baksi, Pennsylvania miner, in a 12-round heavyweight go. Scheduled for June 2 is a 10-round welterweight scrap between Tippy Larkin and Freddie Archer, the latter from Newark. In all, Jacobs has five bouts carded for June, he said.

The 14-day meeting at Sportsman's Park, Chicago, came to a close yesterday to record average daily wagering of more than $600,000, representing a 30 per cent increase over one year ago. Attendance averaged better than 10,500 each day. The scene shifts to-day to the Hawthorne one-mile course for the opening of the 29-day Lincoln Fields meeting.

Al (Bummy) Davis, New York lightweight, is taking on 18-year-old Aaron Perry of Washington in Gotham on June 9 after the youngster clashes with "Hammerin' Henry" Armstrong in Griffith Stadium, Washington, May 26. Last night Davis at New Haven scored a technical knockout over Julio Gallucci of Hartford in the second round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Trains On Fruit.

After losing 20 pounds in weight and training on fruit, Roberta Estalella, Cuban centre-fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, was rated yesterday by Connie Mack as the "most improved" player in major league company this season. Last years as an infielder, Roberto batted .259, but now he is clouting .343.

Member of the Berlin (Kitchener) team which won the Western Ontario Hockey Association title several years in succession prior to the First Great War, Oliver Seibert, 64, died at his Kitchener home yesterday. One son is Earl Seibert of Chicago Black Hawks.

The city council at Niagara Falls, Ont., decided last night to cancel any sports events scheduled in the Oakes Stadium on the evening following the invasion of the continent of Europe so that a public service of prayer can be conducted in the park.

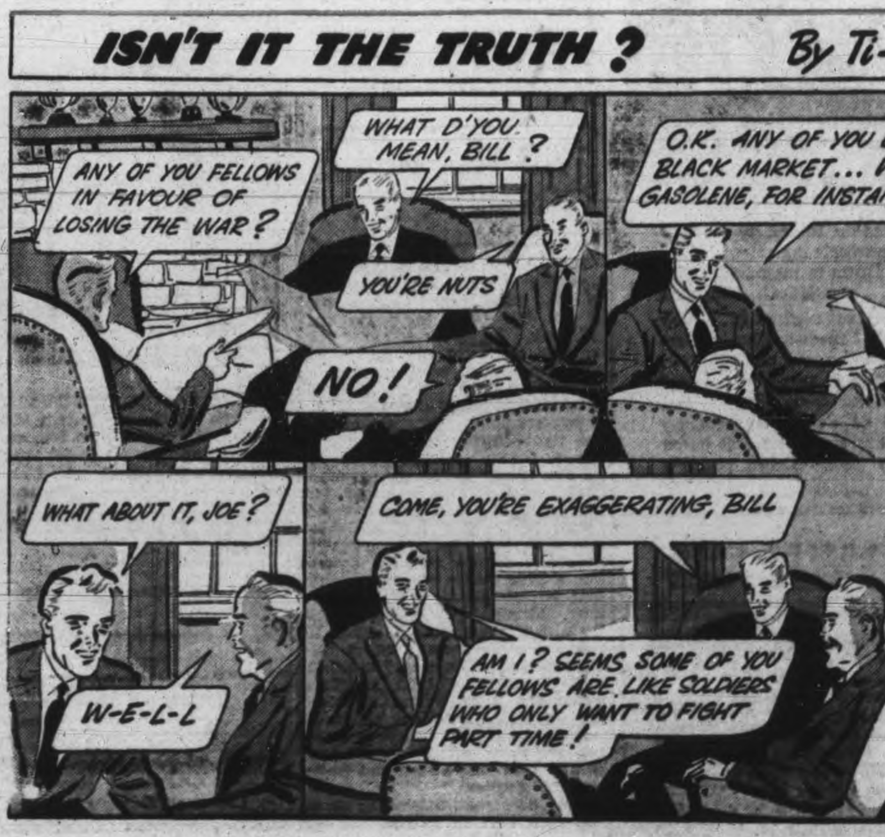
ISN'T IT THE TRUTH? By Ti-Jos



PATRIOTISM CAN'T BE PART TIME

Chiseling a little, on some regulation that seems irksome, may not appear very serious to us. But just the same, it is putting our convenience ahead of the safety of Canadians overseas. To keep them supplied with all they need to win this war, needs careful large scale planning of all our resources. The little bit of something extra one man chisels multiplied by thousands of other part-time patriots throws all this planning out. Patriotism must be an all or nothing affair.

Rochester Wings Wallop Jersey City

By the Associated Press.

Tongues wagged around the International League to-day following Rochester's 20-10 walloping of Jersey City, but the record books revealed it was far from a new high.

Ten years ago the Baltimore Orioles overwhelmed Buffalo 23-0, and way back in 1893 Springfield scored 16 times in one inning, but lost to Wilkes-Barre 27-22.

Yesterday's 20-10 "basketball" score will do for 1944. It was a ball game until the Red Wings' fourth when they went to bat trailing 7-6 but scored 10 runs to make it a farce. Kemp Wicker, Rochester's starter, had been batted out in the top of the fourth. Six Jersey City errors helped blow up the count.

Burleigh Grimes got the heave-ho by Umpire Fowler in the 10th inning of Toronto's 11-frame 4-3 loss to Newark. Ken Holcombe halted a Maple Leafs rally one run short in the last frame after Arky Biggs had won the game on his single with the bases loaded.

The other clubs were not scheduled.

MAIRZY DOATS ALSO HAVE COLTS—The milk drivers along Chicago's North Side were concerned the other day when "Babe," a veteran milk route mare, refused to go to work after several months of constant service. Hastily diagnosing the case as horse colic, they called a veterinarian. Before he arrived, however, "Babe" had given birth to the colt you see her with in the photo. One of the drivers still expresses surprise over the incident.

TORONTO, May 16 — (CP). — Now that the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association in the East has agreed to carry accident and death benefit insurance on jockeys and exercise boys, the situation is fairly well stabilized across Canada British Columbia horsemen have had insurance in effect several years now.

The owners on the coast are said to be watching the situation in the East closely to see just who will pay for the insurance in the long run. Out West the owners pay by deductions from purses. Apparently the owners of turtles don't have to worry much about their deductions.

Wot a fizzle:

Everyone had been all keyed up the last few weeks and months, waiting for the annual National Hockey League meeting when, 'twas said, things would really start popping. Chief on the agenda, those "in the know" had forecast, was to be a little mixup between Art Ross and T. P. Gorman over Ross' alleged slanderings of the high-flying Canadiens. But nothing happened. Shucks, it's a dull world.

Incidentally:

Petty Officer Teddy Morris, the coach of the football squad at H.M.C.S. York, Toronto, chips in on the argument between upholders of the game as played in Eastern Canada and the Western variety. (The former Toronto Argonauts star says that aside from the West's forward pass from the line of scrimmage, there isn't much reason for changing the Eastern rules to conform with the West's "Yankee" style of ball....Ken Lindsay, Canadian bantamweight boxing champ now in the R.C.A.F., is talking retirement out in Vancouver. At least he hasn't any fights in prospect right now, aside from the main fight all the R.C.A.F. boys are in....Boxing commissions are always catching the deuce from someone, and the Saint John, N.B., version of the ring maestros is no exception. A bout was stopped there the other night before the fighters, professionals at that, had become the least bit bloodied, according to reports. Ralph Costello of the Telegraph-Journal commented afterward: "We feel that professional boxing is a game that should be played for keeps....Fans ......go to a professional boxing program to see blood. They are disappointed if mayhem is not committed." Br-r-r-r, how gruesome. You cant expect them to fight for keeps, Mr. Costello?

Clyde Shoun, Reds—Pitched no-hit, no-run game against Boston, beating Jim Tobin. Only man to reach base, walked and died on first.

Frankie Hayes, Athletics—Clouted grand slam homer with two out in last of ninth, driving in four runs for 6-2 win over Detroit.

Dixie Walker, Dodgers — Boosted batting average to .415 with three of Brooklyn's 17 hits against Cubs.

Phil Weintraub, Giants—Collected four hits in four at bats for perfect day as Giants clubbed Pittsburgh hurlers for 15 blows.

Walt Dubiel, Yankees—Spun five-hitter, batted in one of New York's scores in 10-2 edge over Chicago. For second big league victory.

Mike Guerra, Senators—Hit two-run homer in last of ninth to tie Cleveland; scored winning run in 11th on Hillis Layne's single as Nats soared into second place.

Shoun Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Beats Boston

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's bull pen has yielded a pitcher in Clyde Shoun to equal Jim Tobin's no-hit, no-run job and baseball today is beginning to wonder whether the pitching is good or the hitting bad. Two near-perfect games have been tossed within a month where none was recorded in the last two years.

While Shoun was blanking Boston, 1-0, on Chuck Aleno's home run and showing Tobin how it feels to be on the receiving end of a no-hitter, St. Louis Cardinals broke out with nine runs in the first inning, Brooklyn levelled Chicago with a 17-hit attack and the New York Giants gave the hitting profession another boost with 15 safeties at Pittsburgh.

When Shoun turned back Boston without a hit, on top of Bucky Walters' one-hitter Sunday, it was the first time since 1917 that a club has been so completely stopped on two successive days.

Walked Only One

Shoun's job topped Tobin's because he walked only one and Tobin passed two. After Tobin strolled in the third and died on first, not a Boston batsman reached base.

Chet Covington, who pitched baseball's only perfect game in 1943 for Scranton, Pa., in the Eastern League, was one of the victims as the Cards paraded over the Phillies, 11-6. Emil Verban had a triple and a single in the first big inning.

Dixie Walker paced the Dodgers' attack as they scored seven runs in the sixth frame in swamping Chicago. Walker upped his average to .414. The New York Giants got partial revenge for Sunday's double loss by edging the Pirates 8-7 after a rocky start.

The Yankees made eight hits count for a 10-2 triumph over Chicago with Walt Dubiel showing good stuff as a starting hurler in a five-hit job.

Frankie Hayes clouted a bases-loaded homer with two out in the last of the ninth to climax a Hollywood ending for the Athletics' 6-2 triumph over Detroit.

In a night game, Mike Guerra's homer with one on sent Washington into overtime and scored the winning run in the 11th on Hillis Layne's single for a 4-3 edge over Cleveland boosting the Nats into second place. Boston and St. Louis were not scheduled.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

SCOUTERS CLUB

A successful meeting of the Club was held Wednesday in the Y. M. C. A. Alley bowling was played after which members adjourned to a brief business session and lunch. It was decided to hold the next meeting out at the Scout grounds with the members taking supper out with them. Full details will be given later. The matter of Gibor Park Gilwell Course was brought forward by Commissioner Wolff. Any officer planning to attend the course this year, should submit applications to the local Association at once.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

The regular meeting of the executive committee of the Local Boy Scout Association is scheduled for this week and all members are urged to reserve Wednesday evening to attend this meeting.

MURRAY ST. SCOUTS

This week the Troop met in the Oval and took a hike over the canal where a camp fire program was held.

ST. JOHN'S PACK

Bats and balls were prevalent at the Pack meeting this week so immediately following the opening ceremonies, the Pack went to the diamond on the park and two games of softball were played. In the first game Drew Buckland and his Peewees beat Albert Cunningham's Smoke Eaters by 11-5 the game being called to allow the second game to be played. In the second game Don Ferguson's Flaming Torches nosed out an overtime win from George Hall and his Mohawks 5-4. On returning to the Pack quarters Billie Cummings was invested as a Sixer of the Red Six and also received his Artist badge. Bobby Rogers passed Cleaning boots and folding clothes.

8th. PETERBOROUGH CUBS

The weekly meeting of St. Andrew's 8th Peterborough Cubs was held in the Sunday School Hall. The meeting opened with the Grand Howl led by Greer Elcombe as Baloo, Bill Frisken as Bagheera the Do of The Woods Bob Hutchinson.

During the meeting a new Six was formed and named the Blue. The new Sixer is David Shanty, Seconder Howard Harrison. The Tawny Six now has a new Sixer Fred Russell and Seconder Bob Reader; Grant Reader is the new seconder of the Green Six. At the same time we were glad to welcome five new cubs, George McLellon, Bob McDonald, Jack Ferren, Douglas Ham, and John Hewitt to the pack and hope they will enjoy the cub work.

After the inspection and announcements the pack played Jungle Play and Jungle Bag lead by Baloo. Before the Jungle Tale Akela explained to the pack that he would have to leave the leadership of the pack to the present Baloo. Baloo will be Akela and Rann will be members of the Cub Committee and present Akela.

2nd. Armour

The Cubs and Scouts held their annual Parents night Monday. A good attendance of Mothers' and Dads' were present. The Cubs opened the program with the Grand Howl followed by marking attendance, collecting fees, inspection.

Repeating of the Laws and Promise was done by Ronald Fuller, Hugh and Peter Rose, Kenneth Pammett, Norman Thomas, Ross Withers, Billy Minnie and Douglas Baptie. Alistair Fettes then took over as Master of Ceremonies. Bobby Payne and Harold Burns tied the 4 cub knots. A neat demonstration of skipping was done by Jack Bertrand and Doug Britnell. This was followed by a demonstration of how the Union Jack was made and how to fly it by Malcolm Sadler, Bob Harvey, Norman Thomas and Doug Baptie. Somersaulting was then done by the Pack. Some of the 2nd Star tests were done. Jack King drew the compass and marked in the 8 points, Lynn Thain and Billy Davis did a good job cleaning and polishing shoes.

A going up ceremony was held, Alistair Fettes and Gerald Stock left the pack and went to the Scouts. The program was turned over to Scouter Nokes. The Scouts opened their program with the Troop repeating the Scout Promise. The Scout Law was repeated by the following Scouts, Ernie Ferguson, Brian Wade, Allan Payne, Bill King, Malcolm Van Allen, Rudolph Pollock, Stewart Wigg, Allan Northcott, Bob Thomas. Scout Signs was demonstrated by Brian Wade; Union Jack by Gerald Hillis; Uses of the Scout Staff by Grant Burns. First Aid (2nd class) was done by Brian Wade and Allan Payne; Compass by Rudolph Pollock; First Aid (1st class) by Allan Payne and Ernie Ferguson; Cooking of steak, onions and potatoes was done by Bill King and sampled by Assistant Commissioner Mr. Hope. Rev. Mr. Arthurs then presented the shield to the Beaver Patrol, Allan Payne received a cup, and two other prizes were given by Scouter Nokes to Brian Wade and Bill King. A Cub trophy was presented to the Brown Six for competition. Service stars were presented to the following Scouts: Ernie Ferguson 4 years, Bob Thomas 3 years, Russ Andrus 3 years, Rudolph Pollock 3 years, Allan Payne 2 years, Brian Wade 2 years, La Vergne Butcher 2 years, Bill King 2 years, Stewart Wigg 1 year, Allan Northcott 1 year, Ron Kelly 1 year, Grant Burns 1 year, Wayne Ferguson 1 year.

The president of the Mothers' Auxiliary welcomed the parents. The draw for the Afghan and Maltese table runner was made and the door prize was won by Mr. Townsend, sexton of the church. The Parents' Auxiliary served refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cookies and chocolate milk.

The leaders thanked the parents for coming out and Akela King thanks the Auxiliary for their support and explained about the Cub camp this summer. Mr. Thomas extended congratulations to the leaders for the splendid work being carried on.

All Cubs are requested to be present on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock. Next Sunday being "Youths" Sunday Cubs are asked to meet at 10.30 at the church for Divine service.

St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary

The semi-monthly Chins-up Tea will be held in the home of Mrs. Fred Ford, 744 Armour road on Wednesday afternoon, May 17. All Scouts and Cub mothers cordially invited to attend.

Science Needed To Avert 3rd World War

HAMILTON, May 16 —(CP)— In the light of its present knowledge science is certain that the United Nations cannot look forward to a complacent peace but must "heed the rumble of a distant drum." Wallace P. Cohoe of New York told graduates of McMaster University in a convocation address here today.

Mr. Cohoe, president of the Society of Chemical Industry, added that scientists know now that the third contest between the nations "would be still-more terrible than the present struggle" and that "our ability to survive this war depends upon our determination, our common sense and our technologies."

"A ministry of science should be an integral part of the house of peace in the comity of nations after this war," Mr. Cohoe said. He advocated an international police force to compel the keeping of international agreements.

While it was impossible now to disclose future dangers in such fields as the development of sub-atomic power, Mr. Cohoe said: "agencies such as these, useful though they may be, should not be released to the public domain except under strictest control."

The degree Doctor of Laws was conferred on Mr. Cohoe, and T. B. McQuesten, K.C., former Ontario Minister of Highways, while the degree Doctor of Divinity was conferred on Rev. Ralph E. Smith of Simcoe, missionary under the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board in India, and Rev. Kenneth Scott Latourtette, professor of Oriented History and Missions, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

Saving Money

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP).—The average defence worker has accumulated enough cash to tide him over three months of unemployment without having to redeem his war bonds, Representative F. A. Harness (Rep., Ind.) said today he had found in a poll of workers in 50 plants. Harness made the survey for use during forthcoming House of Representatives Military Committee hearings on surplus property disposition.

Mail Car Burns Letters Lost

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 16 — Nearly all the contents of a mail car attached to a Canadian Pacific Railway train was destroyed by fire early to-day as the train was approaching Holeb, Me., en route to Saint John from Montreal, postal officials reported here.

The car carried letters, parcel post, newspapers and magazines from Quebec, Ontario, and Western Provinces. They ere destined for the Maritimes and overseas. Only registered letters were saved, it was reported before the train's late arrival here.

Postal officials said the fire was believed to have started in inflammable material in a parcel addressed for overseas. Clerks in the car, C. G. Day and G. A. L. MacLeod, both of Saint John, fought the fire and MacLeod suffered slight facial and hand burns.

Holeb is 31 miles east of Megantic, Que. The mail clerks halted the train by pulling the cord, and the flaming car was quickly shunted to a siding. Later, with the wooden parts of the steel-enforced car still burning, it was taken back to Megantic where the fire department extinguished the blaze.

Urge Postponing Religious Teaching

TORONTO, May 16.—(CP).—The English and History Teachers' Association of Toronto and district has passed a resolution urging postponement for one year of the operation of the Ontario government's plan for religious instruction in the schools of the province, Secretary Gordon Alderson announces.

The resolution, passed at a meeting of the Association Saturday, said: "The sinister growth of religious and racial prejudice is liable to be increased rather than diminished if the new proposed course in religious education is given in the schools. The course will be especially dangerous from this standpoint where the minority is a small one."

Prize Shorthorn Reaches Canada

GUELPH, May 16—(CP)—Uppermill Royal, a pure-bred Shorthorn bull, purchased in Great Britain for the Ontario Agricultural College, has arrived safely in Canada, it was announced today. It will be held in quarantine for a month before being shipped to Guelph.

The animal was purchased by Pro. R. G. Knox at a cost of 4,000 guineas (about $18,750).

You can keep the youthful elasticity of your skin

Compare face with shoulder skin. You'll find shoulders look 5 or more years younger. That's because shoulder skin retains its elasticity—while facial skin pores are clogged with make-up, unable to breathe for hours at a time. And when pores can't breathe skin starts to age prematurely. But Palmolive can help retain youthful elasticity in your skin.

Look younger in 14 days! Each time you wash, (use a face cloth) massage warm, rich, vitalizing Palmolive lather thoroughly into your skin for one full minute. Now a quick rinse and pat dry. Palmolive's 60-second Beauty Massage has been scientifically tested by 2,301 women and 36 doctors. Their reports prove conclusively that . . . in just 14 days, it brings lovelier complexions.

Smith Township Leads Rural Areas In Loan

A review of the sectional subscriptions of the Sixth Victory Loan shows that Smith township finished in the front postion, which it had held at various stages of the campaign, closing its collective investment at 132.44 per cent of its objective.

From a place down in the ruck during the first part of the drive, Asphodel wound up its effort in second position with 128.95 per cent of its objective; Dummer was third with 127.17 per cent, and North Monaghan fourth at 125.37 per cent.

As previously reported, every municipality in Peterborough county completed the course above the 100 per cent level, and the total rural canvass was 113.32 per cent of its $600,000 allotment. The aggregate subscriptions by township and village citizens amounted to $681,700.

The general canvass in the city struggled over the top with 101.34 per cent. The urban total was $1,570,750 a sagainst its objective of $1,550,000. And the total general canvass, city and county, closed at 104.77 per cent, the total being $2,252,450 as compared with the joint objective of $2,150,000.

Payrollers On Top

The highest divisional percentage is credited to "payroll savings, including the Armed Forces and civil servants," at 116.38 per cent. Their quota was $950,000, and they came through with $1,105,650. "Payroll Savings" division set out with hopes of rolling in one million dollars, and although toward the end of the three weeks' campaign these hopes were being trailed at times by little rumblings of doubt, the division "came from behind" at the end to wind up with $1,105,650 to their credit.

Special Names with $1,440,000 as their total subscription, as against an objective of $1,400,000, had completed their combing out resources before the third week ended, and coasted in with a percentage of 102.86.

And in the final synthesis, the County Grand Total stood at $4,798,100, or 106.62 of the Peterborough objective of $4,500,000.

The Rural Percentages

The subscription percentages of the county constituent municipalities were as follows:

Smith 132.44; Asphodel 128.95; Dummer 127.17; North Monaghan 125.37; Ennismore 115; Havelock 113.69; Belmont-Methuen 111.8; Douro 110.71; Norwood 107.67; Otonabee 102.69; Lakefield 102.27; and the northern townships, Harvey, Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther 101.33.

Financial Final

The amounts of the group subscriptions as listed in the ultimate returns at headquarters were:

	Objective	Secured To Date
City of Peterboro (general canvass)	$1,550,000	$1,570,750
N. Monaghan	40,000	50,150

Chinese Drive

Once armed with this equipment the Chinese hope to conduct the inland phase of a drive on one of the Japanese-held ports on the China Sea, making the setting for a decisive test of Japan's military power.

This broad outline of strategy came from the hard-driving Chinese Gen. Hsiao I-Hsu, chief of staff for Marshal Wei Li-Lung.

Gen. Hsiao acknowledged Japan would be hard to whip. He sees eye to eye with Brig.-Gen. Frank Dorn, Gen. Stilwell's chief of staff for the Y-force (American Liaison force with the Chinese) who has been helping prepare the Chinese expeditionary force to accomplish the first phase of this strategy by breaking the Japanese blockade of the Burma-Ledo road.

Barring the possibility of a Russian move into North China against the Japanese, Gen. Hsiao gave the opinion that Japan herself intends to make China the last big battleground of the Oriental war. Obviously Japan's position in China would be untenable, or nearly that, if the Russians should move against her.

The Y-force, sometimes called Yoke-force, was grafted on the C.E.F., China's Southwestern Army. Essentially an organization of soldier-teachers, the Y-force now continues as tactical advisers to their pupils in action.

SEVEN FIGHTING SHIPS CHRISTENED IN QUEBEC CEREMONY—With more than 10,000 workers, 14 berths and a large outfitting yard, the Quebec City area is Canada's largest naval shipbuilding centre, having delivered more than 50 escort vessels, in addition to some 22 cargo ships, since outbreak of war. Pictures above illustrate the district's striking contribution to Canada's shipbuilding record. Top photo shows six units, five corvettes and one frigate, blessed and christened in a Quebec city shipyard. A second frigate was launched in another section of the shipyard. Sponsors were wives of mayors of the cities which gave the ships their names. Bottom Left, Mrs. Anne Shipley, Reeve of Kirkland Lake, prepares eo break bottle on prow of frigate H.M.C.S. White Bean Surplus Wanted By Britain

OTTAWA, May 16 — (CP). — Arrangements have been completed for export to Britain of the 1944 crop surplus of Canadian white beans, the Special Products Board announced Monday. The export price will be based on a price of $3.00 per bushel to the grower for No. 1 beans. This will mean that beans exported will be worth 50c a bushel more than beans sold at the prices established for the domestic market. It is hoped to provide at least 500,000 bushels for the export market.

All beans available for the United Kingdom will be exported by the Special Products Board, and will be purchased in areas which normally supply white beans for export.

Wipe Out Liri

Frenchmen pushed the enemy off Monte Castello and Monte Fammera.

Gen. Alphonse Juin's troops captured the commander of the 194th German Grenadier Regiment, with his whole headquarters, including both battalion commanders. As a result, this regiment also was considered eliminated as a fighting force.

Allied naval forces gave their support to the gronud offensive for the fourth successive day yesterday, bombarding heavy concentrations of anti-aircraft and long-range artillery in the hills around Formia and Itri behind the fighting front where the 5th Army is inching forward.

A U.S. cruiser escorted by two destroyers carried out a bombardment on May 14, reporting hits on to ammunition dumps in the target area, the Allied communique disclosed.

Yesterday a British cruiser and two destroyers pumped 800 rounds into the target areas. There was some erratic retaliatory fire from enemy shore batteries which caused no casualties or damage to the Allied force.

Sharp tank and artillery duels as well as steady infantry fighting roared around the British-Indian bridgehead over the Rapido River, which officially was reported to be now nearly two miles deep in the direction of Pignataro, the enemy strong point in the centre of the mouth of the Liri Valley.

The so-called "Liri Appendix," where the Liri and Rapido Rivers join, was mopped up and counter-attacks driven off. In the northern part of the valley the enemy was reported covering highway 6—the road to Rome—with tanks plus many small units, some of which were hastily scraped together, as well as elements of the 1st Parachute Division.

Fairmount Service

Mother's Day was observed at Fairmount Church Sunday with quite a large attendance, Rev. J. F. Everson, giving the special message "A Christian home, Homes make a nation". The printed program was followed with Mr. R. K. Earle in charge. An act of appreciation "Mother's Of Canada," was taken by Miss Marie Hooton. Eleanor Downes, Marie Ballantyne, and Audry Fair, and a solo was sung by Mrs. L. A. Hooton.

Obituary

JOSEPH HADDON.

BETHANY, May 16 (ENS).—Funeral service for the late Joseph Haddon, who passed away suddenly at Cobourg in his 88th year, was held here Friday with interment made in the family plot at St. Mary's Cemetery.

An esteemed resident of Bethany for many years, Mr. Haddon sold his home here to Lloyd Kennedy over a year ago, and since that time had lived in Cobourg. He was postmaster of Bethany for a number of years, and previously had operated a general store in Franklin, where he also managed the post office. Last member of a family of 11 children, he is survived by one brother, who lives in Ireland. He was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Pall-bearers were Walter Rowan, Lloyd Kennedy, Herbert Lee, Robert Morton, James McKinnon and Ernest Cavanaugh.

Damage 14,000

LONDON, May 16—(CP).—Of Britain's 14,000 churches destroyed or damaged by bombings, only those of historic interest or special importance will be rebuilt, according to proposals published yesterday by the War Damage Commission and a committee representing the Christian churches.

Premier King To Visit Canadian Troops

BY FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 16 — (CP-Cable) — Commonwealth Prime Ministers met today for the last business session of their first wartime conference. Official ending of the meeting is fixed for tomorrow and will consist of a formal session, with short speeches made for the record.

A good part of today's meeting is being devoted to the joint statement to be issued at the close of tomorrow's meeting and the remainder of the session today is being devoted to brief discussion of several scheduled topics not yet reached.

Means of consultation between the commonwealth governments is the principal untouched topic and in the time remaining it may receive only brief mention. The Canadian and New Zealand Prime Ministers have expressed satisfaction with present arrangements in talks outside the conference and the Empire secretariat proposal of Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia will not be deeply explored.

Before returning to Canada, Prime Minister MacKenzie King is planning a few visits to the Canadian forces in Britain and expects also to keep a number of private engagements.

Parliamentarians were represented as gratified by the meetings and the Prime Ministers seem entirely satisfied with Allied Military plans. The British government was said to be impressed with the eagerness of the Dominions to participate after the war in the fullest economic cooperation.

Commenting on the talks, the Sunday Times said the Commonwealth Prime Ministers "all are as one in the resolve to prosecute the war till a just and honorable peace can be made."

Britons were deeply impressed by Mr. Mackenzie King's Westminster speech last week and it was considered a frank and free discussion of Empire problems.

Mr. King spent the week-end quietly in London.

DROWNED IN CLYDE

GLASGOW — Six sailors were drowned when a liberty boat returning to a corvette was swamped and sank in the Clyde. Two other men swam to safety.

June Banquet Planned By Warsaw Institute

WARSAW, May 16—(ENS)—Miss Edith Young, Supervisor of Nurses of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, was guest speaker at the Women's Institute meeting, held in the Institute room recently, Mrs. Stewart Clysdale presiding.

The decision of removing water pipes for Memorial Plot was left to the committee of Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. Thomas Cooper, with Mrs. H. G. Digweed to assist with flowers for the beds. It was decided to make "Citizenship in Rural Communities" the choice for the co-operative program. Arrangements for transportation to the District Annual was made and names of those going are to be given to Mrs. H. G. Digweed.

The treasurer reported a balance at the end of the year of $50.93, and a donation of $5 was made to the Jam for Britain fund. Final arrangements were made for the banquet on June 7 and committees were appointed.

Miss Young in her address made an urgent appeal to all young women to enrol as student nurses, not only as a civilian occupation, but to help with the war as well, and gave an interesting account of a nurse's work from student days to graduation. She said nurses had accepted as their slogan "Help to Win the War, and Prepare for Peace."

Edna and Doris Clysdale sang several selections with guitar accompaniment. A motion of appreciation to Miss Young and the Clysdale sisters was given by Mrs. Weller. Lunch was served by Mrs. Clysdale, Mrs. Luther Payne and Mrs. H. G. Digweed.

Needless to say, every tea consumer in Canada will welcome the increase in the TEA ration and will lose no time in resuming some of the pleasant habits he was wont to enjoy in pre-ration days. What a treat it will be for the tired housewife to have her tea again in the mid-morning or afternoon when its delicious refreshment means so much to her.

You may depend on it, to the best of our ability, every grocer in Canada will be kept supplied with a fresh stock of delicious SALADA to meet these added needs.

Main Street Topics

SERVING OVERSEAS

Pilot Officer Jack Sullivan, Jr., whose wife lives at 226 Brock street, is serving overseas with the R.C.A.F. Before enlisting he worked at Atlas Steels, Welland, and he is the son of Alderman J. E. Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan, 468 Gilmour street.

118 FIRE ALARMS.

April's fire alrms rang a new high of 118 or eleven more than in March, and that month's 107 were a new record of calls at the Aylmer Street station. The April fire loss was $2,065, as reported by Chief Gimblett to the council.

THREE AIRMEN GRADUATE

Two airmen from Peterborough and one from Lakefield have graduated recently from R.C.A.F. stations across Canada. At Mont Joli, Que., Sgt. M. A. Graham, Lakefield, graduated as an air gunner, while Sgts. L. R. Stover, 364 Simcoe, and F. M. Banks, 274 Braidwood avenue, have graduated as pilots, the former at Brandon, Man., and the latter at Gimli, Man.

CASES WITHDRAWN

Charges against a member of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve, of failing to attend drills of the unit were withdrawn in police court this morning when Major V. M. Eastwood announced that the man had been re-examined and as he had been placed E category would be discharged from the unit. Similar charges against another member were adjourned pending the results of another physical examination.

BLOOD DONORS

Blood donors were 69 in number at the Clinic on Monday, with 28 from the C.G.E. and Genelco and groups also from J. J. Turner & Sons, the Outboard Marine, Quaker Oats, Westclox, and Canada Packers. From out of town contributors came from Buckhorn, Lakefield, Keene, Birdsall and Omemee. Eighth donations were made by all of the following: Norman Hayes, Bruce Fowler, Donald Brooking, James O'Detter, and William Glover.

MUST CARRY LIGHTS

A drive on bicyclists is announced by the police department. Orders have been issued to check up on all dangerous riding practices and particularly on the cyclists who are riding at night without lights on their wheels. Police say the number of wheels without lights has been growing and they are determined to stop the practice. The drive will be carried on not only in the city but in North Monaghan township where Constable Bruce Menzies has announced a similar checup.

SERVING OVERSEAS

Fourth member of his family to be in active service outside of Canada, Pte. E. O. (Eddie) Dorrington, whose wife lives at 262 Westcott street, is now serving overseas. Prior to enlisting in October, 1943, Pte. Dorrington worked at the Canadian Sealright Co. and at the Outboard Marine. He took his training at Barriefield. Two brothers, W. E. Dorrington and D. K. Dorrington, are chief petty officers in the Royal Canadian Navy, while another brother, C. P. Dorrington, is an army sergeant and is also overseas. They are the sons of Mrs. W. E. Dorrington, Sr.

SOFTBALL PRACTICE

The United Electrical Workers Softball team will hold practice at Riverside Park tonight and Wednesday night.

NOW OVERSEAS

Pilot Officer D. M. Rennie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Rennie of Keene, is serving overseas with the R.C.A.F. He is a brother of the late Sgt. Pilot Roland Rennie, who lost his life in England three years ago.

BEAR GIVEN TO CITY

The Paris Humane Society has donated a one-year-old bear to the city, to take the place of the one that died earlier this year in its den at the Filtration Plant. The new bear arrived today.

LOANS COMPARED.

Peterborough 106.62 per cent. subscription of the Sixth Victory Loan invites comparison with the 102.19 per cent. of the Fifth last fall. And total applications increased from 15,319 to 15,692.

GRENFELL BALE

The local Grenfell Mission will soon be sending its bale of good used clothing and old silk stockings to Labrador. If you have anything for the society please leave it at Grafton's store.

OFFICE IS ROBBED

The office of the Consolidated Optical Company, 169 Charlotte street, was broken into early Monday evening and the thieves forced a cash drawer and got away with $20 in bills and a few cents in change. Nothing else in the place was taken.

ONE WAR WORKER LESS

A war worker recently met a very untimely end according to a story told by John Meehan, 481 Albert street. It appears that Mrs. Meehan had purchased a chicken for the Sunday dinner and when drawing the fowl found one complete egg and seven yokes graded in size down to one a little larger than a pea.

A QUEER IDEA OF FUN

There is some one in Peterborough with a queer idea of fun. This individual has been dialing various numbers at all hours of the day or night and then hanging up as soon as the other party comes on the line. Half a dozen citizens within the last couple of days have complained about being disturbed by this puckist personage.

BOY IS INJURED

Robert L. Lowes, 14 Brown street, reported to the police department Monday that as he was driving his car north on Armour Road, between Douro street and Carlisle avenue, the right rear hub cap of the vehicle came off and struck a boy who was on the sidewalk, cutting his lip and hand. The driver did not know of the accident at the time but learned that a boy had been hurt after he had gone back to look for the missing hub cap. He had been unable to learn the boy's name but discovered that the injuries were not serious, he told the police.

LEND-LEASE IDEA

Reciprocal 'lend-lease' by the Dominion government when the war is over and emergency buildings and equipment are to be dispersed is proposed by the council of London, Ontario, in a circular letter which Peterborough council endorsed last night. London reminds the federal authorities that provinces and municipalities placed at the national use various public buildings and equipment to promote action of war. And its council is suggesting that municipalities should receive prior consideration when properties and equipment are being disposed off, with a broad hint of a "lend lease basis".

LIONS HIT SNAG

Lack of hospital accommodation in Peterborough has thrown a monkey wrench into plans of the Peterborough Lions Club to have 25 tonsil operations carried out. The club has selected and authorized 25 cases, which should be put through as soon as possible as the tonsil conditions are contributing to the poor health of the individuals concerned. However despite the fact that the money is available, the patients have been investigated and found worthy of attention, the whole plan must be shelved indefinitely because the operating rooms of city hospitals cannot take care of these operations, and bed space in both hospitals is at a premium.

FLIES AFTER JAPS—The man with the big grin is Flight Lieutenant Alex. MacDonald of Cornwall. Mac has been overseas since July, '41. For a while he flew Spitfires in England, then went to Rangoon. He and the rest of his squadron flew throughout the whole campaign and evacuation, then went to a new base in China where they operated against the Japanese. He's meeting Japs again as they try to cut off Imphal, not far from the squadron's new base in the Naga hills.

Approve Widening Of Reid Street

Removal of the boulevard on Reid Street as a means of widening the traffic leading down the incline from Hunter Street to Charlotte Street was suggested to the council Monday night by Alderman Herbert Bradburn, and it was approved, too.

But, that undertaking does not necessarily imply action this side of victory and the end of the war. The council could recall last night that when Fred L. Roy was one of its members he proposed a similar widening of Rubidge Street south from Charlotte Street, and it went into the pickle barrel of projects, and it is still there, and likely to stay there until City Engineer Parsons can enlist some able bodied men for all this heavy work of improving the city.

Want Free Port

QUEBEC, May 16 — (CP) — About 6,000 residents here have already signed a petition asking the Federal government to make this city a free port, and twice that number were expected to sign within the next few days, it was said last night.

HONORED BY UNIVERSITY

DUBLIN — (CP) — Sir Thomas Maloney, vice-chancellor of Dublin University, has been presented by the board of Trinity College, Dublin, with a gold medal to commemorate the completion of 25 years service a visitor and vice-chancellor.

BACK FROM OVERSEAS—Sgt. R. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, 263 Engleburn Ave., is expected home Wednesday, having been invalided home from overseas. He is a brother of Chief Petty Officer Kenneth Williams, reported missing following the sinking of the Athabaskan.

Walter Metheral Tops Salesmen

The final report on the salesmen for the sixth Victory Loan which was issued from headquarters on Monday afternoon shows that the team of Walter Metheral, Jim Juby and Vic Tully headed the list with 315 sales for a total of $131,550. Next came A. J. McClellan, A. E. Cauley and Stan Darling with 316 applications for $122,150.

J. E. Curtis, Bruce Sargent and Jim Harkness on 295 applications sold $80,000; R. Irwin, J. D. Anderson and Fred Revoy on 211 application sold $72,800; S. G. Cole, John Lee and W. P. Kinlin on 240 applications sold $57,800; Rufus Payne, Lou Brooks and W. Roberts on 325 applications sold $50,050; J. Mackness, George Heron and W. S. Rose on 218 applications sold $41,500 and C. A. McFadgen, C. A. Gallagher and A. Smith on 218 applications sold $38,400.

Walter Metheral was top salesman with 76 applications for $62,300. Art Cauley was second with $48,500 on 109 applications; Bruce Curtis on 95 applications had $44,550; Vic Tully on 132 applications $40,450; R. Irwin on 79 applications $38,400 and A. J. McClellan on 102 applications $37,700.

Stan Darling had 105 for $35,950; Jim Juby 107 for $28,800; W. P. Kinlin 93 for $22,150; Rufus Payne 78 for $20,500; C. A. McFadgen 78 for $19,250; John Lee 71 for $19,000; Jim Harkness 93 for $18,850; Lou Brooks 158 for $18,750; J. D. Anderson 68 for $18,100; Bruce Sargent 107 for $16,600; Fred Revoy 64 for $16,300; S. G. Cole 76 for $16,650; J. Mackness 88 for $15,550; W. S. Rose 70 for $15,250; W. Roberts 91 for $10,800; A. Smith 51 for $9,900 and C. A. Gallagher 89 for $9,250.

YoungTorontoWoman Beaten Near Park

TORONTO, May 16—(CP).—City police today conducted an investigation into an attack on a 24-year-old woman who was found this morning on Lakeshore Boulevard near the Princes' Gate to the Exhibition Grounds. Her name was not made public.

Police said the woman was unconscious when found and was taken to hospital, where it was reported she had a fractured wrist in addition to facial injuries. It was believed she had been unconscious most of the night.

Counsel Claims Prosecutions Harm Militia

Warm exchanges between W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, and Major V. M. Eastwood of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve, featured a case in police court this morning in which R. L. McIntosh, 33, pleaded not guilty to nine charges of failing to attend drills of the unit.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter finally declared that he did not want a dog fight in the court, and he preferred not to try these particular cases.

The trouble started when Major Eastwood, who was prosecuting the charges, called Sergt.-Major Miller to the witness box to prove the attestation of the accused as a member of the Rangers. The witness produced an attestation card, but said that he did not know McIntosh personally and could not identify his signature.

"What is your attitude in regard to that point?" asked Magistrate Baxter, and Mr. Fair replied that he wanted the prosecution to prove its case in a legal manner.

"It is a pity that this man should be haled into court to face a lot of charges many months after he had reason to think he was out of the army," said the defence counsel. "We are not going to lose the war just because he is not up there for a couple of hours once a week."

"There have been a lot of these cases," continued Mr. Fair, "and it seems to me a pity that the militia should be hurt by these prosecutions, which are bound to do it harm even after the war."

"Harm will be done to recruiting by statements such as Mr. Fair has made," retorted Major Eastwood. "I can tell him that the Rangers are getting new recruits steadily, men who are willing to play the game and live up to their obligations."

Major Eastwood asked for an adjournment in order that he might produce evidence to prove that the accused had been attested as a member of the unit, and the cases were finally adjourned until next Tuesday, after Mr. Fair had remarked that his client was on war work and was doing more good there "than marching up and down." "He's not physically fit," he added.

During the hearing Major Eastwood stated that notices had been sent to the accused about his absence from drills.

Ontario Booklet Omits Peterboro

A booklet issued by the Provincial Government, entitled "Ontario, the Heart of the World," publicizing the province generally and mentioning many of its cities and towns, omits reference to Peterborough, Alderman Bradburn told the Council last night in moving a resolution of protest to be sent to Premier Drew.

Reportedly it is an attractive publication, but with one glaring defect.

Alderman Glover question the Bradburn word "protest," advising the euphemistic "express our disappointment," and Alderman Mark mentioned "regret."

"Quit pulling your punches," Alderman Sands interjected, and if City Clerk Outram follows precisely the text of the motion the word to assault Premier Drew will be "protest."

Award Is Offered For Convictions

For information effecting the conviction of persons sending in false fire alarms and others who mutilate the traffic "stop" signs, the Council decided to offer twenty-five dollars in an effort last night to put some rigor into municipal discipline.

Some overgrown hooligan with strong arms and weak mentality just about wrecked the signs along the east side of Rubidge street, south from Charlotte street, and got away with it.

Alderman Sullivan said the fire department is being pestered with an average of one false fire alarm a week, and if any citizen knows anything for sure that will get some corrective action in police court there is twenty-five dollars for him or her at the city hall. And for the present there is no limit to the number of applications that may be accepted.

Lewis Parks Wins 1st Prize In VON Contest

A picture illustrating child care taken by Photographer Lewis Parks of Peterborough for the Victorian Order of Nurses, has won first prize in the Dominion-wide contest sponsored by the Order. Entries of pictures and publicity dealt with education of the public in V.O.N. activities. Results announced in Ottawa gave Peterborough first place for pictures and put it in a tie for highest honors with Orillia, Toronto and Halifax for stories and various publicity material.

The prize-winning picture taken by Mr. Parks is of 3-year-old William Bowler, the son of Lieut. Norman and Mrs. Bowler, 531 Douglas street. He is shown in his crib at home, with his mother on one side of him and Miss Helen Furlong, Victorian Order nurse, on the other. The boy's father, a member of the Regina Rifles, has been on service overseas for some time, but is back in this country.

Branches of the Order throughout Canada are all invited to contribute pictures illustrating a part of their work; and the Peterborough branch's entry led London, which was second, and Picton, which was third, in the committee's judgment. Honorable mention went to Winnipeg, Hamilton and Windsor, N.S.

The series of broadcasts for which the Victoria Order in Peterborough also won an award was written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Examiner, and directed by Brenda Davies, and was in the form of playlets in which a number of local people performed parts. They sketched in dramatic form various advances in medicine and nursing services as contrasted with the last century, and gave wide and deserved publicity to the work of the Victorian Order in Peterborough.

Brown-Welsh Estate Bought In Roseneath

ROSENEATH, May 16—(ENS)—The Brown and Welsh estate in this village has been purchased by Kyle Brown. The estate was owned by the late Charles Brown who operated a general store for over forty years. He bought it from William Harstone.

After Mr. Brown's death the property was known as Brown and Welsh. The property includes a general store and stock, two vacant lots, two dwellings, one in connection with the store; store houses and the building housing the post office. Mr. Brown, the purchaser, is a local man and a farmer. Battersby and Williams, real estate dealers, Campbellford transacted the business.

Wanton Waste

ATLANTA, May 16 — (CP) — One thousand gallons of Georgia milk was poured into a sewer here yesterday because, said James D. Gay, General Manager of the Georgia Milk Produces Confederation, the office of Defence Transportation "won't let us deliver milk on Sunday."

CHICAGO, May 16 — (CP) — President Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union stated yesterday that President Roosevelt would be renominated, and told the Organization's convention "it becomes our responsibility to see to it that he is elected."

Salary Boost Is Given To Police Force

Acting upon the recommendation of the salary committee of the City Council and a notice from the Council that $1,500 had been added to the police estimates for the purpose, the Board of Police Commissioners authorized an upward revision of the salaries of the police department at the regular monthly meeting on Monday.

All the members of the force with the exception of Acting Chief John Thompson share in the salary boosts, which were made retroactive to May 1.

The increases decided upon were $100 a year in the case of first and second year constables, sergeants, Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher, Inspector James F. Reid and Police Matron Mrs. D. M. Maguire, and $150 a year for constables with three years' training and first-class constables. There are nine in the $150 group.

As a result first-year men will be paid $1,300 a year; second-year men, $1,400; third-year men, $1,550; first-class constables, $1,650; three sergeants, $1,700; Inspector Reid and Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher, $2,000, and the police matron, $900.

One Year's Service

Acting Chief Thompson reported that Constable Reg. McMillan had completed one year's service on the department, and recommended that he should be promoted accordingly to the status of third class. The commission authorized the promotion as of May 1.

It was decided that henceforth the regular meeting of the commission will be held on the second Monday of each month, instead of on the third Monday. This change was made so that the meeting would not fall on the same day as the Council meeting.

It was also decided, on motion of Judge S. L. Smoke, seconded by Magistrate E. A. Gee, that after the June bill the commission would cease to pay for telephones in the homes of Inspector Reid and Detective Sergt. Meagher. It was pointed out in the discussion that these were the only phones paid for by the city in the case of civic employees.

Permission was given the Soldiers' Auxiliary to hold a tag day for the purpose of raising funds for the organization.

Present at the meeting were Judge S. L. Smoke, chairman; Mayor James Hamilton and Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Firm Spends $20 To Have Dust Removed Dust Stays—Grass Preparations Wasted

Somebody caught the wrong bag by the ear in a job Sunday on the yard at the rear of the Kingan hardware store, Simcoe Street. It is a broad area behind the buildings both on Simcoe and George Street, and the neighborhood traffic begets dust from spring until fall unless somebody does something about it.

So, the time, the place, and the man were all arranged for that something last Sunday, a dust-laying job with calcium chloride or some such absorbing and binding material. As the story is told with glee and gusto by some of the main streeters, the head of the Kingan firm directed some employee to spread the stuff on Sunday when the yard would be free of trucks and cars, and there would be no interference by internal traffic.

And the work was done, and the material was spread generously over the yard, twenty dollars worth of it, but Monday examination discovered it to be a mineral fertilizer instead of the granular chloride. In fact the two materials look much alike, and there is some excuse for for the mistake. If it would only produce as much grass as it has humor and laughter down at George and Simcoe Streets probably the house of Kingan would feel thoroughly compensated in the long run. But the consistency of that yard surface is only less fertile and productive, of anything but dust, than a concrete parade gorund or the asphaltic top of Simcoe Street.

And Harold Fry didn't lighten the loss of that load of fertilizer by issuing an ultimatum to Bob Kingnan that "if you want any 'keep off the grass' signs stuck up out there you can do it yourself, and that goes for the season's lawn mowing, too."

STRIKE OVER HIM—A 10-cent-an-hour wage cut imposed on Albert Stonert, a trucker at the Dodge main plant in Detroit, when he was transferred to an easier job following blindness in one eye caused a strike of mechanics and truckers at the plant, throwing 5,000 men out of work. The strike was soon ended, however.

Fisherman Slips And Falls Into Water Comes Up With Pickerel Clutched In Hand

Sitting in the water, a Peterborough fisherman took a 4 lb. pickerel out of the Otonabee River with his hands Saturday night. This unusual feat, quite unpremeditated on the part of the agile angler, Eric Howard, 120 Morrow street, occurred about seven miles south of here and was witnessed by a number of spectators, his friends.

It happened this way. Mr. Howard was coming along fine and in a quite respectable and orthodox manner was hauling in his catch while he stood on the shore. But when he got the pickerel nearly to the edge of the water, the thing slipped off the hook. The angler's reaction was instantaneous, and he jumped for the fish as it floundered in the shallow water. But he slipped himself and sat down in the sand. Then he brought his hands up out of the water and in them was the fish that had looked like a sure bet to get away.

WITH LARGE HOSPITAL — Major R. K. Magee is serving overseas with a 1,200-bed hospital unit in which he is acting as surgeon-specialist. Major Magee joined the R.C.A.M.C. in 1942 and since his enlistment he has been chief surgeon at the Kingston Military Hospital and the Rideau Military Hospital, Ottawa. In Peterborough he was a member of the staff of the Peterborough Clinic.

City Interested In Road Plans

"They're a Commission, just like the Utilities Commission, and they can make their own decisions," was a comment at Monday night's council meeting in a passing mention of the Suburban Area Commission for which the county council has planned $10,000. That action automatically imposes a similar requisition upon the city council, and the provincial government contributes "dollar for dollar", a total of $40,000.

One of the members said he was wondering what work the Commission was planning for this season, if any, depending on the labor supply.

"It is whatever they decide," Alderman Dutton said, and later seconded a motion by Alderman Bradburn requesting Commissioner M. H. Gainey to attend the next meeting of the Board of Works.

There was no note of criticism of the Commission or interference in its affairs. In fact it was recalled that Mr. Gainey some weeks ago appeared before the council and touched upon some of the work that might be blue-printed for this season, including the Chemong Road and Wolsley Street.

Alderman Glover said that Mr. Gainey had spoken so rapidly on that occasion that some of the details of the plan were indistinct.

May 24 No Holiday Councillors Decide

"It is all right for the merchants to close next Wednesday, May 24. That only means the morning because they would be closing in the afternoon any way," said Mayor Hamilton last night as the Council frowned on a Victoria Day shutdown.

A civic holiday resolution failed to get any sign of support, not even the mover and seconder. It was put forward "to clear the air," Alderman Swanston explained, as seconder to Alderman Dutton's motion.

Mayor Hamilton said he understood that the Department of Munitions and Supply had requested industry generally to maintain operations May 24, and all Government branches of employment were remaining at work.

"It would not be consistent on our part to declare a holiday at this time when labor is so scarce," Aldman Sullivan said. "Some of our industries are still so busy that they hardly have time enough to keep their equipment in shape."

The resolution met the unusual oblivion in municipal recording of being torn up.

"If the schools want to close, it ought to be all right," Alderman Swanston suggested, closing the incident.

A Bridge Club Makes $24 For War Victims

Pleasure that is planned for one's own enjoyment, becomes richer beyond measure when enough forethought is given so as to make it the means of giving pleasure to other people, and particularly is this so, when it embraces an opportunity such as exists today, to do good for those whom the misfortunes of war have affected in such an adverse manner, as to destroy their homes or cause bodily injury through enemy air raids over Britain.

About this time last year, a group of eight ladies who had formed themselves into a social group for friendly bridge games throughout the preceding winter months, turned over the proceeds of a self imposed assessment per evening (this in order that they could make their pleasure an opportunity to help in the war effort) to the secretary of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, from when it was sent on its mission of helpfulness to assist in the objectives for which the fund particularly operates.

Repeat a Good Act

That this caused them considerable satisfaction is evident from the fact that this group composed of Mesdames A. Malby, F. Tarr, O. Price, E. Dorris, E. Thompson, D. Gardiner R. Philips and F. Stokoe, arranged their bridge club operations for the past winter on the same basis, assessing themselves 25 cents an evening, deducting only 50 cents of the collective evenings return to pay for two war savings stamps as prizes (itself an assist to the war effort) and this left them with a balance of $24.00 after sixteen evenings had been spent in this manner, which comprised two visits to each of the homes of those named in the group.

It can be readily appreciated that a further contribution was made by each in their turn by the providing of refreshments, and when the final meeting of the group was held last week, it was again voted by the participants that the money so raised should again come to the fund, today's report seeing it listed to their credit through Mrs. F. Stokoe, who acted this year as the treasurer for them.

When a person is intensely concerned over the success of any effort such as this for the good of other people, a grand and glorious feeling is engendered by having someone voluntarily accost him and hand over a gift for the fund when same was not expected, and this happens to be the case in a personal donation that is listed today to the credit of J. H. Brown, who gave this to the secretary of the fund in such a manner recently.

Interment St. Peter's Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Hannah Culling, 563 Albert Street, wishes to thank all those who so kindly remembered her during her recent expended treatment and care at Nicholls Hospital for an injury caused by an accidental fall, especially the hospital staff, Rev. W. A. Filer and the members of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Church, and many other friends of her neighborhood and elsewhere in the city for flowers and other expressions of their sympathy.

Mr. John Ridge, Millbrook, wishes to extend his sincere thanks to the attending Doctor, Sisters and Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital who were so kind and helped restore him to health. Also the many kind friends who visited him during his illness.

The family of the late J. E. Calberry Sr., wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation for messages of sympathy, acts of kindness and for the beautiful floral tributes extended by the many kind friends, neighbours and relatives, and to the members of L. O. L. No. 558 of which the deceased was a member, also to those who kindly loaned cars, in their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a dear father.

Obituary

HARRY PATTERSON.

MILLBROOK, May 16.—(ENS).—The death of Harry Patterson, which occurred during the early hours of Monday morning, in his eighty-sixth year, removed one of the oldest residents of Cavan township, and one well known as a noted breeder of pure-bred Clydesdale horses. Probably his brother, John, who predeceased him by some years, had even a wider experience along the line of the purchase and sale, as well as the breeding, of fine Clydesdale stock, the farm homestead, south of the village, having for many years been widely known as a centre for this special business.

He was a son of the late John Patterson, and his wife, Elizabeth Lang, and was for twenty-two years on the farm of the late Joshua Whitfield, while since that time his life has been spent on the Patterson farm, Lot 13, Concession 4, Cavan township. In politics he was a staunch Conservative and in religion an Anglican. The late Mr. Patterson was also a member of the Masonic Order, and one of the oldest directors, and a past president, of the Millbrook Agricultural Society.

Immediate relatives surviving include three nieces, Mrs. Charles W. Walsh, of Vancouver, B.C.; Miss Florence Patterson, Reg. N., and Mrs. Bert Dawson, of Port Hope.

The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday at 2 p.m., under Masonic auspices, the service for the church being conducted by Rev. A. E. Chevis, rector of Cavan parish, with interment in St. Paul's cemetery, 4th Line, Cavan.

Violence Flares On Strike Front

DETROIT, May 16—(AP)—The first disturbances incident to the strike of war-plant foremen here were reported to police today as Andrew F. Jackson, president of the Aeronautical Products Company, told men he had been chased across the plant yard and a window in his automobile broken by pickets.

At the Murray Corporation of America main plant, police broke up a demonstration after a group of striking foremen surrounded a scout car into which two of their number had been taken for questioning.

Jews Only Hope

TORONTO, May 16 — (CP) — Dr. Nahum Goldman of New York, chairman of the executive of the World Jewish Congress, said here last night the only salvation for those European Jews who survive German barbarism and the only way to settle Europe's Jewish problem is to settle the majority of European Jews in Palestine "and declare that country self governing state." He was addressing a meeting of the Canadian Palestine committee.

STEWARD R. G. WHITE

Although he has never been torpedoed himself, Steward R. G. White, of H. M. C. S. Stadacona, formerly of H. M. C. S. Cobalt, has had several opportunities during his 1½ years in the Navy to see its affects on other boats. One instance in particular remains in his memory.

The Cobalt heard an S. O. S. from a tanker which had been torpedoed and within five minutes they arrived on the scene. The German torpedo had left a gaping hole in the side of the ship, large enough for a truck to drive through, he recalled. An added danger facing the tanker's crew was that of the engines being out of order. Two small tugs made their way out from shore to do a rescue job.

"My hat's off to those fellows. They took the chance of being torpedoed, or being sunk. When they attached their lines to the stricken boat, there was the possibility that it would drag them down. But they went methodically on with the task, while we kept on watch for U-boats, which might be lurking to do the final job."

Man Overboard

Another memory which is etched in his mind, is of a dark stormy night, when one of the crew, Mike Wyhmark of Lindsay, was lost overboard. During bad weather the lifeboats are taken in. Whymark was fixing one up, he said, when a beam swung in behind him and knocking him overboard.

"He was wearing a new life jacket and that plus his whistle saved him. After some time we located him half a mile away and five of the crew were lowered in a small boat to pick him up. Just as the boat pulled alongside to make the transfer, a huge wave threw the boat against the larger ship, knocking the men into the water again. But they were finally taken aboard."

Steward White, Burnham street, who enlisted in the Navy in October 1942, served as a steward in the officers mess aboard H. M. C. S. Cobalt. When the crew were ordered to battle stations, when on convoy duty going into action, his job was to help man the pompom gun, a protection against enemy aircraft.

'Agreeing with other sailors, Steward White declared that one of the greatest hazards ship encountered in winter time was the ice. He described the snow and ice as "appearing to run to the ship and coating on her." Then every hand turns to and chips away until the captain thinks the boat is not weighed down too low in the water.

The young sailor, also expressed his gratitude to the Legion and the Navy Auxiliary for the cigarettes and other remembrances he received regularly. When a box arrives for a man, everybody on board shares it. They all know when it arrives and almost before the owner can carry it to his bunk, the crowd is there waiting to watch the opening ceremony. It's share and share alike, he declared and it makes for better co-operation.

"Meals at sea are good, and I have no kick, Steward White declared. "There is lots of everything and a good variety. We probably have the same thing each week, but there is variety seven days a week. For example, we usually have the same thing served each Monday, but something else every day during the rest of the week."

Message From Germany

Mrs. C. H. Rose, 423 Driscoll Terrace, received a surprise message from her son, L-Cpl Vern Rose, a prisoner of war in Germany, over the week-end. One of the listening posts in the United States picked up the broadcast from Germany in which the following message came through:

"I am safe and well in a German prisoner of war camp. Give my love to Dad and all the family friends. Don't worry. Love—Vern." Two or three words were indistinguishable, the card accompanying the report said.

The young soldier, who was serving in Italy with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, was reported missing October 16 and early in January he notified his parents he was being held in the Reich.

A brother, Cpl. Edward Rose, was wounded in battle and has been eight months in a hospital in Italy. He is unable to write letters and no word has been received from hospital attendants or chaplains as to his condition. The only word the parents get is through another Peterborough boy, in the same hospital, who writes his people. Cpl. Rose has shrapnel wounds in both legs, is suffering from severe shell shock and is having recurring bouts of malaria fever.

"He is a pitiful sight, as he lies on the bed shaking with fever," his hospital comrade writes.

Loves Country

The section of Italy where he is now stationed has made a deep impression on Pte. Earl Hope son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hope, 319 Stewart street. He writes:

"I've seen the beauties of our small part of Canada and a good many of those in England, but at the moment we are in what I believe to be the prettiest spot I have ever seen. It is quite a large valley with its many colors, greens, browns and whites. The trees and flowers are beginning to bloom, and surprising for Italy, we have had four out of six days of bright sunshine.

"From where we are camped in the centre of the valley, we can see five small towns, three of which are on the side of the moutain. Since they are, like most other Italian towns, of a white paint or plaster, they look something like what you read about Swiss towns in their mountain settings.

"The people are extremely friendly and as a matter of fact, I had supper in one of their homes. This particular chap had been in America and spoke English quite well with the usual Italian habit of tacking so many letter "As" on the end of every word.

He told us of the Canadians coming over the mountains and driving Jerry out of this valley, and has a few gruesome stories to tell. If you have any doubts as to why the war in Italy seems to be very slow, just take my word for it that mountain climbing is in itself extremely hard work (I've tried it in a small way), and to combine it with fighting is no mean task in itself—win or lose."

Awaits Posting

LAC JAMES ROGERS, of Havelock, who recently finished his training at I.T.S. Belleville is waiting for a posting to a new school. He is training to be a pilot with the R.C.A.F. and had formerly been a corporal in the Army before transferring.

In Italy Now

PHIL THORNE, 56 Aylmer street, was discharged from his unit shortly before it went overseas, but his comrades have not forgotten him. Recently he received a letter from a pal, CPL. KEN. KAVANAGH, now serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy. The letter, a blue air mail form, has been burned in spots, from an air crash, but still got through.

'Cpl. Kavanagh is a 100 per cent soldier, whose wife and two children live in Norwood. He enlisted in June, 1940, and later transferred to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. I would like to say hello for him to his former pal, SGT. KEN THOMPSON of Norwood, who has just been invalided home from overseas. These two men were real pals and were together all their lives. Their army numbers were C53072 and C53073."

The Norwood soldier writes that he has seen plenty of action, but is feeling fine, so far having escaped without a scratch. Familiar scenes of bare-footed, ragged, starved Italians are common and it is a country which has to be seen to be believed, he writes. He left his original unit overseas in December, 1942, and went into the hospital. When he was released, he ended up with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Fast Service

A letter was received recently from SPR. LESLIE BLAKELY in Italy, which took exactly nine days to travel from there to his home in Gore's Landing. He writes that Italy is a backward country, where women do all the work, carrying 100 pound weights on their heads in baskets or bags.

"The houses are mostly of stone and we frequently see a cow and a mule hitched together. The soldiers get plenty of oranges and nuts and will soon have grapes. But bread is dear, costing 70 lire or 70 cents a loaf. You should see Naples now. It is anything but a beautiful city.

Enjoys Course

Mrs. Harry Edwards of Hastings, recently received a letter from her son, WALTER EDWARDS, who is serving in Italy. On the day he wrote, he had received several parcels from home and was in fine fettle.

"I have just returned from a course which I found really good. The best part of it was the food, as it was also a cooking school and could they ever dish it up. I must have gained pounds while I was there.

"The weather has changed for the better and from now on it will likely be quite nice. Have just finished lunch which consisted of spam, bread and tea. We didn't bother having any eggs as it is getting rather late."

On Active Flying

Al Clark, son of Dr. D. W. Clark and Mrs. Clark, Stewart street, is now a Flying Officer. At present, he is on operational flying with the Bomber Command.

Earns Promotion

One of the earlier recruits of the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., Marie Van Allen, has been promoted from Section Officer to Flight Officer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Van Allen, 566 Armour road. Flt. Officer Allen has a brother and a sister, also serving in the R.C.A.F.

PTE. JESSIE STEVENS, C.W.A.C. is serving overseas. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor of 553 Harvey street, and was formerly stationed at Kingston, where she was a driver for Brig. Logie Armstrong. Before going overseas she held the rank of sergeant, but had to revert. Pte. Stevens is the daughter of Mrs. A. Stevens, formerly of Peterborough.

No Ill-Treatment

OTTAWA, May 16 — (CP) — In answer to inquiries to opposition members, Defence Minister Ralston said yesterday in the Commons an inquiry had found there was no ill-treatment of members of the Jehovah's Witnesses Sect held in detention barracks at Winnipeg.

YOU MUST TAKE CHANCES

TAKING sound chances—that would be as good an answer as any to a question about what characteristic usually marks the winning bidder in contract. If you sit there looking only for sure things, and assuming no risks voluntarily, your head will be beaten off by players who know when and how to take a chance. So don't let yourself be scared into timidity if some properly bid contract goes askew through bad luck. You are bound to find the breaks against you part of the time.

Everything looked pretty good to North after East led the club K. With only one sure loser in sight, in diamonds, it appeared easy to get rid of his losing clubs by ruffing them, and using two diamonds to discard a couple of spades, so that he would not even have to try the spade finesse.

Winning the first trick with the club A, he immediately found himself up against it by leading just one round of trumps. With East holding all four, ruffing out his own two club losers in dummy was out of the question, since that would require one of the four top trumps and thereby build a trump winner for East. There was still another chance, however, the spade finesse and discarding one club loser on a diamond.

With that in mind, he led toward his diamond K. West came in with the A and returned a club, which had to be ruffed in the dummy. The heart K and J were scored, the diamond Q and J used for discarding the last club and one spade, a spade led to the K, the heart Q led to settle East's final trump, then the spade finesse tried. If it had worked, the contract would have been made, but West took the J with the Q, beating the contract.

Y.M.C.A. Set Up Residential Clubs Accommodate Soldiers In London

"After having been in touch overseas with Canadians from every part of this country, from every walk of life and from cities, towns and villages everywhere I am feeling very proud of my native country," said Miss Jean McPherson, formerly chief hostess of the Y.M.C.A's residential hotels in London, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club Monday on that phase of Y.M.C.A. work overseas.

Miss McPherson who was introduced by Rotarian George H. Roper said that the residential club service carried on by the Y.M.C.A. was a story that ought to be told for she had found since returning to Canada that very few people here knew anything about it. The name of the Beaver Hut was well known but what had been done in providing a home and Canadian atmosphere in the residential clubs established by the Y.M.C.A. was something about which most Canadians were ignorant.

The speaker told her audience that in the early days of the war accommodation for Canadians coming to London on leave was bad. The hotels were crowded and expensive and many a Canadian had to spend his first night in London in an air raid shelter because he could not find a place to sleep.

Realizing the need the Y.M.C.A. had secured a number of residential hotels, small comfortable places, with 100 to 150 beds and these had been made available to Canadians on active service. The first of these residential clubs was opened on September 29, 1941. The Y.M.C.A. had endeavored to make the clubs a home-like place with as many Canadian touches as possible. Even such things as peanut butter and maple syrup had been added to the menu for that purpose, she said. A Canadian in the armed services could secure a comfortable bed and as good a breakfast as could be found in London, Miss McPherson said, for 60 cents, whereas the hotels were charging $4 and $5 a night.

The speaker told of the many services that the hostesses in these clubs, of which there were now four in London, were able to render the Canadians who took advantage of the accommodation.

"We don't fuss over them," said Miss McPherson. 'That is the last thing they want. But the men like to know that we are there at their service. There is nice linen on the tables and good china, and the bedrooms are furnished in a homey fashion. We have sought to get away from the barrack atmosphere so that when these boys step across the threshold they know not only that they will get a warm welcome but that they will find those things that they associate with home and from which they are separated when on active service.

The speaker told of an hour's visit from the King and Queen and how she had been kept busy after Their Majesties had left in describing the Queen's costume so that the boys could write home and tell their mothers all about it. She also told of being asked to accompany one soldier to Buckingham Palace to act as the soldier's family while he was being decorated by the King.

Miss McPherson said that the money and effort that had been put into these residential clubs had been repaid a thousand times. Soldiers came back to the clubs time after time and some of them spent all their leaves in the institutions.

President George A. Gillespie expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker.

At Monday's meeting Rotarian Ward Smith in announcing the annual inspection of the Peterborough Squadron Air Cadets on Friday night introduced the two latest members of the squadron to enlist in the air crew of the R.C.A.F. The two, Sergt. George Green and Corp. Jack White were presented with idenification bracelets, President Gillespie making the presentations on behalf of the Rotary Club.

Partisan Youths Forfeit Lives To Attend Tito's Conference

(The following stories concerning Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), Yugoslav Partisan Leader, are the result of a Cairo military headquarters arrangement whereby Stoyan Pribichevich, American correspondent of Time and Life magazines and John Talbot of Reuters News Agency were chosen by lot to make a trip into Yugoslavia.)

By STOYAN PRIBICHEVICH
Distributed By The Canadian Press

SOMEWHERE IN YUGOSLAVIA, May 8—(Delayed)—A few weeks ago a high Allied official in the Mediterranean zone expressed doubts as to whether certain territories of Yugoslavia could be called "liberated" in the strictest sense of the word.

Well, I entered the Partisan territory safely 10 miles behind the fighting line. I travelled 25 miles on a Partisan railroad. I passed Partisan patrols along the road. I watched a procession of two dozens of German Ustachi and Chetnik prisoners and I visited the last session of the anti-Fascist Youth Congress.

All this in three hours. This was liberated enough for me.

Meets Major Churchill.

Upon my arrival in Yugoslavia on a vast mountain field under a starry sky I met Maj. Randolph Churchill (son of the British Prime Minister), a number of Partisan officers and soldiers and groups of peasant men and women with ox carts to carry my luggage.

A captured German "people's car" then took me, my British colleague, John Talbot, of Reuters News Agency, and Gen. Streten Zujevich, a member of Tito's (Marshal Josip Broz) supreme staff, for a ride through the night.

The automobile descended into a town and stopped before a blacked-out building. Talbot and I entered an illuminated huge hall with Partisan, British, American and Russian flags and packed with more than 800 uniformed young men and girls.

Enthusiastic Reception

Tremendous applause burst forth mingled with the shout of "Savez! Savez! Savez! (Alliance! Alliance! Alliance!")

We proceeded to the front row facing the speaker of the second Anti-Fiascist Youth Congress of Yugoslavia. From a chair arose Marshal Tito and shook hands with us in a storm of applause and shouting.

"I have been waiting for you," he said to Talbot and me.

The more than 800 delegates, almost half of them fighting young men and women, represented a youth organization of more than 500,000 registered members 15 to 25 years of age.

This is the spine of Tito's Army, 75 per cent. of it more than 25 years old.

There were long speeches and longer resolutions and the delegates took an oath to Tito pledging their lives and their honor in the struggle for liberation.

Conference Ends

BY JOHN TALBOT
Distributed by The Canadian Press

SOMEWHERE IN YUGOSLAVIA, May 8 — (Delayed) — Yugoslavia's great youth rally, held in a smashed and almost deserted village high up in the mountains, has ended after five days of enthusiastic debates, singing and dancing.

Now these young men and women must find their long and perilous way back through their own districts. For some it means more than 25 days of marching through wild mountains, with stiff battles against German and Quisling troops.

Many Killed

A number of the youthful delegates lost their lives in an effort to fight their way through the enemy lines to reach the rally and others will die fighting as they head toward their homes again.

The meeting has given them their first chance in nearly 15 months to meet other young folk from the other ends of the country, to exchange with them their experiences and to discuss all manner of questions regarding their various organizaions.

Marshal Josip Broz(Tito), in a short speech closing the business of the Congress, expressed his overwhelming confidence ie the future generations of Yugoslavia.

No Mystery Ship

HALIFAX, N.S., May 16—(CP)—Waterfront rumors that a crewless "mystery" ship had been towed into port from the high seas were dispelled by authorities last night. They said a freighter, abandoned by its crew for a passing ship after it had developed mechanical trouble, had been brought in by salvage tugs advised of its position.

Alderman Cotton On Sick Leave

Alderman R. S. Cotton was given three months' leave of absence by the council last night, and for that period Alderman Ovens was appointed chairman of the finance committee.

"There is nothing serious wrong with me," said Alderman Cotton in an appreciation of the council's action and sympathetic wishes, "but my digestive system has been on the hummer."

The resolution by Aldermen Glover and Sullivan granting leave expressed hope that a well earned rest would have beneficial results, "and that it will restore him to his usual robust health."

Mayor Hamilton said he regretted that Alderman Cotton found it necessary to suspend his usual activities for a time, and "the rather prolonged holiday" with the relaxing effect of rest and some fishing would fully repair his health.

Cadet Corps Event

The council accepted an invitation from the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Howe" to attend its annual inspection on the market square Friday at 7:45 p.m. by Lieutenant Commander H. Plaxton, Officer Commanding the R.C.N.V.R., Kingston.

Canada's Merchant Adventurers

We sailed wherever ships could sail;
We founded many a mighty state;
Pray God our greatness may not fail
Through craven fears of being great.

Tennyson: "Hands All Round"

● In the post-war world, Canadians will have need for that spirit of enterprise which they inherit from their forefathers.

Like the merchant voyagers who carried Britain's trade across the world, like the Gentlemen Adventurers who opened up the treasures of Canada's virgin northland, Canadians must find a market, under greatly changed conditions, for the surplus products of our farms, forests, mines and factories.

Only thus is it possible for Canada to enjoy the progress and prosperity inherent in her resources, but so vitally dependent upon export trade.

In servicing the complex mechanism of this trade, The Dominion Bank, as one of the Chartered Banks of Canada, is prepared to fill efficiently the important role it has played in the past.

BUILDS TELEPHONE PLANT

In peace times telephone service must be quickly available for all who apply for it. Money must be found to provide new telephone plant — instruments, wire, cable, conduit, switchboards.

For providing this money, investors in Bell Telephone stock —the shareholders—receive a reasonable return.

Conservative capitalization, careful management and efficient operation have all worked to the public's benefit, as is shown by the fact that here in Canada more telephone calls per capita are made than anywhere else in the world. Good service at reasonable rates has promoted rapid growth. Users get ever-growing value for what they pay in the always-increasing scope of their service.

THERE IS A HUNGER FOR THE EARTH

● In the hearts of tens of thousands of Canadians now serving overseas, there is a hunger for the land, for the feel of the plow and the rich smell of good, turned earth. A starvation for the sight of growing things, instead of things destroyed. A gnawing at the vitals for the lights in the window, and cattle in the barn, and hay in the mow.

But that hunger cannot be satisfied, until they have travelled far in strange lands in search of the Beast that would destroy Freedom. When the Beast is slain, then the hunger will be so deep as to reach right into the soul of each Canadian who loves the land, a hunger that will be stilled when he stands again waist-deep in the waving grain, and gathers to himself the strength and the goodness and the plenty of the land.

To those of our finest citizens who want to return to the land after Victory, Canada Unlimited can offer what they have paid for so dearly . . . the broad fields of West and North and East and South, the untouched valleys, begging for the hands that can love, nurture and develop them, the limitless plains beckoning on and ever on.

Then will their hunger be satisfied.

It is ours to see that the land is theirs by our continued buying and holding of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, which are, in reality, shares in the vast natural resources of "Canada Unlimited".

Liri Valley Strewn With Abandoned German Equipment

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Asociated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY IN THE LIRI VALLEY, Italy, May 17 — (AP). — Hundreds of British guns opened up this afternoon and sent thousands of rounds of shells screaming into the Benedictine Monastery above Cassino.

For sheer concentration of shelling, the barrage probably surpassed that of Thursday night when the Allies opened their offensive with the greatest hail of explosives yet seen in Western Europe in this war.

The bursting shells could not be seen as a low haze which has hung over the battlefield for days persisted.

The monastery, once wrecked by a heavy Allied air bombardment, could not be seen from the valley floor.

Parachutists Threatened.

The 8th Army's bridgehead across the Rapido River had bulged out until it appeared that Lt.-Gen. Richard Heidrich's crack parachute troops at Cassino, who hung on even after the great aerial bombardment of March 15, faced the danger of winding up their careers in the dusty ruins of the forsaken town.

The bright poppy fields of the Liri Valley are strewn, with abandoned German equipment.

The 19th Motorized Grenadier Division, torn to shreds last December during the 8th Army's Sangro River offensive in the Adriatic sector, again was suffering under powerful blows from Lt.-Gen. Sir Oliver Leese's men.

The dusty roads south of the Rapido gave striking evidence that the Germans had been struck a blow harder than they expected. Here and there were abandoned tanks, guns, rifles and other assorted equipment of the army that has stopped the Allied advance in this area for months.

Display White Flag.

Chinese Gain Steadily In North Burma

Jap Supply Route Severed In Mogaung Push

KANDY, Ceylon, May 17— [illegible] Strongly supported from [illegible] elements of the Chinese 22n[illegible]sion advancing down the Mogaung Valley in Northern Burma have cut the main road to the Japanese base of Kamaing, Allied headquarters announced today.

A communique said the Chinese troops forced their way across the route directly south of Malakawng, further tightening a pocket around Japanese in that area.

"The Japanese fought stubbornly and when forced back left numerous casualties and much equipment," the announcement said.

Meanwhile Allied bombers and fighters struck the enemy's north Burma troops and gun positions north and west of Myitkyina in a gathering blow aimed at full extermination of the Japanese 18th Division.

East of the Mogaung Valley forward units of the Chinese 38th Division fought through artillery fire and closed from the southeast on Warong in the Kumon Hills. Other advances were reported in the Manpin area and west of the Mogaung Valley. Allied troops driving due south toward Myitkyina continued to assault the entrenched enemy at Tiangzup, the communique said.

In sweeps over the Notrheast India battle areas, R.A.F. and American medium bombers started a landslide by blasting a hillside above the Riddim Road, blocking the highway and cutting off the invaders from their sources of supplies from the south.

The communique said 300 enemy dead were counted and three guns captured near Potsangbam, village outpost of Bishenpur on the Tiddim Road southwest of Imphal.

The Allied communique reported there had been no majority activity around Kohima, Indian frontier post 65 miles north of Imphal, but said that newly won positions have been consolidated under cover of patrol operations and now are firmly held.

Fall Of Cassino Is Imminent In British Drive

Germans Fail To Hold Their Positions Across Gun-Studded Liri Valley In Great Tank Battles Along Whole Line

By NOLAND NORGAARD—Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 17—(AP). — British units drove northward into the Liri valley toward Highway No. 6 behind Cassino today and the fall of that stronghold at last appeared imminent. Front line dispatches said crack German parachute troops which long had defended that bloody bastion appeared in danger of winding up their careers in the forsaken town.

The Germans have been thrown out of most of their positions across the pillbox and gun-studded Liri valley in swirling tank battles and the entire Gustav Line south of that avenue toward Rome has been overrun, Allied headquarters announced.

The 8th and 5th Armies are plunging on close to the Adolf Hitler Line, the main defences barring the way to the Anzio beachhead below the Italian capital, and Allied commanders appeared to have won the chance at which they aimed — the destruction of the German forces in Italy.

Forced From Original Positions.

The Liri valley floor spread out west and south of Cassino reaches northwestward for 20 miles before it is traced through a bottleneck in the mountains at Caprano, 55 miles from Rome. It represents the right Allied flank of a 25-mile front stretching inland from the Gulf of Gaeta.

"In the Liri valley the enemy has now been evicted from most of his original positions by British and Indian troops," said the Allied communique.

"The enemy is resisting our advance from further prepared positions in the rear. South of the Liri River all positions in the Gustav Line have been overrun," it added.

(The German communique reported a great "battle of attrition" was raging and admitted that German troops were falling back before the onslaught.)

Americans fought their way into Castellonorato, heavily fortified town less than four miles from Formia, finding ruined pillboxes and the streets littered with enemy dead. They also occupied the village of Scauri, on the Gulf of Gaeta coastal road 4½ miles from Formia, after a light fight.

Nearly all of the original German positions in the Liri valley now are in Allied hands, an Allied communique announced today, adding, "The battle continues without pause."

Fearing the complete outflanking of Cassino, to which they have clung for so long, the Germans threw tanks and what reinforcements they could scrape together into an effort to save the town, now menaced by the capture of Pignataro.

(A London dispatch Tuesday said veteran Canadian tank units were believed to have been in the forefront of the Allied advance south of Cassino. While dispatches from Canadian correspondents in Italy made no specific mention of Canadian troops, observers believed Doug How of The Canadian Press was referring to Canadian tank units when, in a delayed dispatch, he described the crossing of the Gari River by a "veteran formation" last Friday. The Gari is a tributary of the Rapido.)

Wiping Out Enemy

The communique reported the Americans and French were charging forward to "gain contact with the Adolf Hitler line," now roughly 4½ miles ahead of the French who are wiping out the remaining enemy south of the Liri River.

American forces now hold high ground in a triangle formed by Castellonorato, Spigno and Monte San Angelo, another one of numerous mountains in the battle zone bearing the same. In winning the heights six out of seven howitzers in a single enemy artillery unit were destroyed.

The French continued their spectacular advance, driving 2½ miles southwest from San Giorgio in the southern part of the Liri Valley against determined resistance.

Other French forces moving westward from Ausonia seized elevations 2½ miles south of Esperia and prepared an assault on that apparently doomed town.

Pignataro was taken by British and Indians who thrust westward from their enlarged bridgehead across the Rapido River and encircled this key position in the Gustav Line in the centre of the Liri Valley protecting Cassino's flank. Official reports disclosed belatedly that Pignataro fell Monday night.

Strike Has Threatened War Effort

Arnold Tells Foremen U.S. Air Force Given Serious Setback

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(AP)—Leaders of the Foreman's Association of America called off a strike today at 13 Detroit war plants, which General H. H. Arnold had termed "one of the most serious setbacks the air force has had since its inception" which, if continued, might enable the German air force to "recover just when it is reeling under our blows."

The union acted within 90 minutes after the chief of the army air forces said this strike "may even affect our invasion operations" and after War Labor Board Chairman William H. Davis declared that a war-time strike against the government "can't win."

Statement Issued

The Foremen's Leadership issued this statement:

"The national executive board of the Foreman's Association of America in extraordinary session at Washington, D.C., unanimously directed officers of the six chapters of the association now on strike to at once call meetings of their members for the purpose of immediate return to work."

Gen. Arnold told the hearing that the strike might require him to change his time-table for destruction of critical industries in Germany and might cost the lives of bombing crews through lack of sufficient fighter plane protection.

"We of the military forces," he declared, "are not interested in the relative merits of the dispute, but it is inconceivable from our point of view how you can have strikes which stop war production on materials which are so essential they may even stop operations in connection with the bombings in Germany."

Must Change Plans

The general said the war production involved was so essential the strikes might even affect invasion operations.

"These strikes make it impossible for me to meet my obligation," Gen. Arnold declared. "How can I furnish fighters where they are needed

Canada Needs Foreign Trade

Curtailment Of Export Trade Would Be Invitation To Disaster And Ruin

HAMILTON, May 17—(CP).—Serious curtailment of Canada's export trade would be an invitation to "disaster and ruin," Trade Minister MacKinnon said today, sketching his recommendations for a broad, long-term program for trade expansion in a spirit of co-operation with other countries. In an address prepared for delivery at a Foreign Trade Conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Mr. MacKinnon outlined in the fundamentals of the trade policy he advocated.

Main points were:

1. Precedence to the preservation of the United Kingdom as a main outlet for Canadian products.
2. Increased efforts to broaden the scope of Canada's trade with other countries.
3. Provision of an adequate Canadian merchant fleet.
4. Establishment of a system of export credits, particularly for manufacturers dealing in heavy capital equipment.

"Every aspect of our national life rests on our foreign trade," said Mr. MacKinnon. "That trade could not be abandoned or even seriously curtailed without inviting disaster and ruin."

Cause Unemployment.

At another point he said:

"Canada can never have too much foreign trade. Cut down that trade and you lengthen the lines of unemployment all across Canada.

Scherf Downs Five Germans Damages Two In One Day

WITH A CANADIAN FIGHTER WING SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, May 17—(CP Cable). — Sqdn. Ldr. Charlie (Last Trip) Scherf, an Australian with the R.C.A.F. City of Edmonton Mosquito Intruder Squadron, raised to 14½ his score of German planes destroyed in the air when he downed five yesterday and damaged two others.

This was the major portion of the seven-plane bag reported by R.C.A.F. headquarters to have been collected by Canadian Mosquitoes on an offensive patrol over northern Germany yesterday at the cost of one Canadian fighter.

Headquarters did not disclose who downed the other two enemy aircraft.

Scherf's feat, carried out with Flt. Lt. Colin Finlayson, Victoria, B.C., was something of a holiday affair because he completed his tour of duty two months ago but goes on operations whenever he gets a day off from present work. Each trip is described as his last, hence the nickname.

The latest rampage, in the Stettin area of Germany's Baltic seaboard, resulted in downing a Focke Wulf 190, a Heinkel 177, a Junkers 86, and two unidentified planes. Scherf and Finlayson also damaged an HE 111 and a Dornier 18 flying boat, the entire action taking just 15 minutes.

As a result, the City of Edmonton Squadron's score of planes destroyed in the air stands at 54 and the total destroyed in the air and aground is 118½.

Waiting Period To Be Short

LONDON, May 17 — (CP) — European radios rumbled steadily today with talk of mighty United Nations' offensives in the offing from the west and east while Berlin announced Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had completed what may be his final checkup of the German Atlantic wall.

Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, Nazi radio commentator, acknowledged that Hitler's legions might be thrown back on both sides.

"We know only too well the elements of uncertainty that are factors of war," he said. "There is no such thing as complete preparedness."

A dispatch from Stockholm said it was reported there that the German preparations included the designation of Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt as Supreme Commander of the anti-invasion defences, with Rommel and Col.-Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz heading army groups. Rommel previously had been reported in Supreme Command.

Chinese Forces Widen Breach In Japanese Held Railroad

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, May 17—(AP)—Japanese vanguards, throwing a huge loop 125 miles west of the north-south Peiping-Hankow railway and 40 miles south of the Lunghai line, appeared to be fashioning a vast trap today for Chinese forces fighting bitterly in the city of Loyang in northern Honan province of Central China.

If the enemy penetration west of the Peiping-Hankow and south of the Lunghai railways continued it clearly threatened Tungkwan at the elbow of the Yellow River where the Japanese would be in position to strike into China's great northwest.

Despite this development, however, a government spokesman confidently declared that the "battle of Honan is not lost."

Chinese Central News Agency dispatches said counterattacking Chinese had reocuppied the entire 22-mile stretch of the Peiping-Hankow railway in Honan province, between Kioshan and Mingkiang behind the Japanese spearhead by taking another station, the third since the Chinese began attacking.

To the northwest furious fighting was reported "both inside and out-Loyang," the Agency said, an indication that Japanese troops again had gained a foothold in the ancient city from which they had

Full Russian Participation

Allied Diplomats Are Pleased With Events

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Full Russian participation in political arrangements for the final military drives into Nazi-controlled Europe appear today to be an accomplished fact.

Ranking diplomats regard the three-power collaboration thus achieved as a considerable step toward harmonious co-operation among Britain, the United States and Russia for creation of a permanent United Nations organization in the reasonably near future.

Disclosure of agreements between the Allied powers and the exiled governments of Norway, Belgium and the Netherlands for civil administration of their European areas furnished the latest example of Russian co-operation in pre-invasion diplomacy.

In substance the agreements provide that the Allied military commanders shall have full authority over civil affairs of invaded and liberated territories so long as required for war purposes, but as soon as the necessity no longer exists they must turn administration over to the respective governments.

The underlying policy still is that the peoples of the occupied countries shall have an opportunity to create their own governments, either accepting the exiled rulers or setting up new ones, as soon as possible after order is restored in Europe.

BARCELONA, May 17.—(AP). — The diplomatic exchange ships Gripsholm and Gradisca arrived in Barcelona today bearing approximately 1,600 Allied and German war prisoners and civilians.

The Gripsholm carried 338 wounded German prisoners and 375 civilians. Aboard the Gradisca were 814 wounded British and Canadian and 18 American service men and 67 civilians, including some women and children. The civilians are all from North and South America.

Each vessel carries about 200 stretcher cases.

Returned Soldiers Will Demand Much More Than Bonuses And Jobs

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 — (AP) — A warning that neither bonus money nor jobs will be enough to satisfy soldiers after this war was delivered to the American Psychiatric Association here today by Maj.-Gen. G. B. Chisholm, director general of Canada's medical services.

He said the returning boys will have changed their ideas and will demand that the community live up to the changes.

"For some years," the General said, the soldier will have been accustomed to regarding himself as important, as a great asset to his country, and highly valued by his associates. This was not true of a very large number of young men immediately preceding this war.

"The most dangerous thing that could happen to the returned soldier and to the community would be for him to find himself not wanted and not regarded as a valuable asset to his community.

"To give him money or even provide him with a stop-gap job will fall far short of these requirements. In order for him to become a useful citizen it is very necessary that his own individual value to the com-

TORONTO, May 17.—(CP).—C. L. Snyder, Deputy Attorney-General of Ontario, said today a charge of manslaughter has been laid against Joseph Festa, 24, of nearby Oakville in connection with the death May 8 of his two-year-old step-daughter, Anne Marie Madigan.

The announcement followed a conference at Queen's Park this morning when officials discussed the verdict of a coroner's jury which decided at Oakville last night that the girl died of injuries suffered when she was beaten by "a person or persons unknown."

Mr. and Mrs. Festa were escorted to Toronto early today by military and provincial police, who had joined with Oakville police in protecting the couple from an angry crowd which swarmed around the town hall after the inquest.

$15 Set As Maximum For Embarkation Leave

OTTAWA, May 17—(CP).—An Order-in-Council published today in Canadian War Orders and Regulations provides that members of the armed forces on annual leave, embarkation leave or disembarkation leave will pay no more than $15 for transportation. However, the arrangement will not become effective until negotiations are completed with the railways.

Under the present arrangement, the servicemen pay a third of the round trip cost, with the defence departments assuming a third and the railways a third.

This means that some personnel pay considerably more than $15. Under the new plan the Government will assume responsibility for payment of the amount in excess of $15.

The concession will cost the Navy $85,263, the Army $187,150, and the Air Force $125,000 annually, it has been estimated.

U.S. Pressing Sweden Hard

Stern Handling Of Sweden Demanded By States

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The United States War Department was reported to be pressing for stern handling of Sweden as negotiations over shipments of Swedish ballbearings to Germany took on an urgent tone today.

A day of feverish consultations among governments and communications with Sweden wound up with a single announcement last night which amounted to the treasury and the alien property custodian, after a two-week inquiry, giving a pat on the back to the American subsidiaries of SKF, the Swedish ballbearing firm.

They said SKF Industries of Philadelphia and SKF Steel of New York were playing a vital role in the Allied war effort and that any serious loss of production at those companies "would have an immediate and serious effect on the production of war munitions needed for planned operations."

While reassuring the workers in those plants, the statement failed to dispose of the question whether seizure of the Companies by the United States was in prospect.

The newspaper Aftonbladet in Stockholm reported that a formula has been found for settling neutral Sweden's dispute with the Allies over shipments of Swedish ballbearings to Germany, a Reuters News Agency dispatch said.

50,000 Nazis Die 61,587 Prisoners In Sebastopol Fight

LONDON, May 17—(CP)—German broadcasts indicated today the Nazis are expecting an early resumption of large scale Soviet attacks on the Lowow-Kovel and Northern Romanian fronts, where the Russians were reported massing strength, but a Moscow communique told only of localized action on the lower Dnestr and in an undisclosed sector.

A military correspondent for D.N.B. said the Soviet attacks could be expected "in the very near future."

Much of the comunique was devoted to refutations of Nazi claims that evacuation of Sevastopol was accomplished with a minimum of loss. In the storming of the Sevastopol defences from May 8 to May 12 the Russians killed more than 50,000 Nazis and took 61,587 prisoners, the communique asserted.

The Berlin radio said Russian bombers and torpedo planes attacked a German convoy between Havningberg, Norway, and Varde, Denmark, last night. The Nazis claimed 25 Russian planes were shot down, and said a German ship was damaged but remained navigable.

Civilian Letters Go Overseas Quickly

An improved Trans-Atlantic Air Mail service to the United Kingdom, whereby citizens are assured of service several times a week, is now in effect and available for civilian mails at the regular prepaid rate of 30 cents per ½ ounce, it has just been announced by O. Lacheur, Postmaster.

Because the service has been operating with schedule regularity for the past few months, the Post Office declares it is now fully justified in recommending its use to the mailing public, and particularly to local business firms who conduct business with firms in the United Kingdom. It is noted, however, that wartime restrictions prohibit the publication of the dates and times of departure and arrival of the Trans-Atlantic planes.

In preparing overseas air mail the use of lightweight stationery, not only to save the sender money but to save valuable cargo space on Trans-Atlantic planes, is stressed to the public; and it is suggested that air mail to civilians in the United Kingdom bear the usual Air Mail sticker and be endorsed "Via Trans-Atlantic Mail."

Bowling League Holds Banquet

Another enjoyable season of bowling was brought to a close Tuesday evening, when about 46 members of the Ladies' City Bowling League gathered for their annual banquet at the Empress Hotel. Presentations to the winning teams and players were made by Mrs. James Elliott, treasurer of the League.

The three winning teams were Westclox, Outboard Marine, and Commandos. Since the teams all shared in the prizes, extra gifts were given to the winners. Miss Marion Timm was the winners of the high average for the season; Mrs. Pearse won the high three for the season; and Miss Betty Castle was leader in the seasonal high single division.

The 1944 executive: President, Mrs. Maurice Holt; secretary, Mrs. W. Milliken, and treasurer, Mrs. J. Elliott, were presented with gifts from the league, by Mrs. Harold Lowes. The 1945 executive is: President, Mrs. Maurice Holt; secretary, Miss Betty Castle; treasurer, Mrs. J. Elliott.

Surely that lesson has been burned into our memory and our conscience by the tragic years of the depression.

"It is simply absurd to believe that Canada can be enriched by any policy which seeks to impoverish other countries. Those who preach such a misguided doctrine are guilty of something far worse than believing in an economic myth. They are building a highway which leads straight to economic disaster for all Canada."

Mr. MacKinnon sketched the growth of Canada's trade during the war. He said it put her into third place among the trading nations of the world and was reflected in every barometer used to measure national prosperity.

"It will be our hope and ambition, when peace comes, to see that the markets of war are replaced in the largest possible measure by the more enduring markets of peace," he said.

Canada's trade with the United Kingdom and the United States had dominated her participation in International commerce. In the United Kingdom Canada had a customer able to buy without regard to what Canada bought from her and able to pay in readily convertible cash.

A Canadian Anchor

The United Kingdom had been the "sheet anchor market" for many Canadian goods and her import policy of the future might have a radical effect on these prospects or sale of many Canadian products.

"There are some who say that we will be able to make good any possible loss of trade with the United Kingdom by increasing our exports in the United States or other markets," he continued. "There is much to be said for this view; but we cannot afford to accept it as a guide to practical policy only as and when we see real progress being made in the world-wide reduction of trade barriers of all kinds.

". . . We have everything at stake to spur us to do all in our power to promote conditions that will facilitate our commerce in every direction without weakening it in any way with the United Kingdom . . ."

While emphasizing trade with the United Kingdom and the United States, Mr. McKinnon said there would be no discounting of Canada's stake in commerce with all countries.

One of the most promising fields of the future was Latin America, where, at the end of 1943, 16 countries had built up reserves of almost $3,000,000,000 United States dollars. Great opportunities would also be found in China.

been dislodged. The agency said the second enemy break-through occurred Monday.

The third station which the Chinese claimed to have taken on the north-south Peiping-Hankow railway was situated south of Chumatien, previously recaptured, the News Agency said. North of Chumatien the Japanese that were dislodged from Suiping, the first railway the counter-attack engulfed, were retreating northeastward.

Meanwhile the Chinese vice minister of Foreign Affairs, K.C. Wu, told a press conference that the new Chinese offensive in Western Yunnan far to the south was a factual rebuttal of any statement that China was lagging in her war effort.

A 14th Air Force communique said American fighter - bombers are steadily hammering Japanese positions in the path of the Chinese forces sweeping forward in the new offensive.

There was no suggestion that the Germans have been put to disorganized rout, but after the slow slugging of the first five days the picture appeared much brighter for the Allies.

It would appear that the Rapido bridgehead may expand to a point where it covers Highway 6 and comes up against the base of Monastery Hill and the mountain mass behind it. This possibility, which, if realized, would place the Germans in Cassino in a difficult if not impossible position, appeared within grasp in the near future.

The improved outlook was apparent in many ways along the dusty roads of the front. German shelling is much less intense. The flow of stretcher cases to the rear is on a reduced scale. Many gun positions are surrounded by Tommies taking the sun on their bare backs.

If that does not occur, Gen Chisholm predicted the soldiers will withdraw into groups and feel themselves in conflict with civilians. Particularly, he declared, these returning soldiers will demand certain ideals.

The ideals will require civilians to show "unselfish devotion to the good of the group, willing self-sacrifice and the ability to be dependent on, and not take advantage of one's own people."

He added that "it is of the greatest importance that it should be thoroughly appreciated that soldiers cannot be bought off by grants of money. retreat for the Cassino garrison, was quick and violent.

The enemy massed tanks and all the units which could be scratched together and began a hurried series of counter-attacks. Deadly 88-mm. guns helped them carve a path through British and Indian lines.

But the effort failed and the British forces drove ahead, inflicting substantial losses.

Their heavy losses compelled the Germans to rush forward even troops which had been in rear training centres and throw them in alongside beleaguered units of the 1st Parachute Division between Cassino and Pignataro.

The 90th Panzer Grenadier Division—one of the most famous of Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps, which was reformed after the bulk of its veterans were lost in Africa—also was thrown into the fight ahead of the Hitler line and lost many prisoners.

The enemy has been cleared from the area south of Pignataro and the bridgehead over the Rapido now is 5,000 yards deep.

Although heavy bombers were grounded by the weather yesterday for the second successive day, the Mediterranean Air Force managed to fly 1,800 sorties in support of ground operations. Mediums attacked Piombino harbor and the Voltri shipyards while light bombers and fighters continued their blistering attack on gun positions, troops, roads, bridges and motor transport in the battle area. Last night R.A.F. Wellingtons continued the assault, hitting Piombino again as well as Santo Stefano on the Italian west coast and Portoferraio on the Isle of Elba.

The enemy's heavy shelling of the Rapido bridges decreased after a concerted blasting of his artillery positions by Allied guns and warplanes.

Hinged to Gustav Line

The Hitler Line—next formidable objective—was described as hinged to the northern end of the Gustav Line in the high, almost impassable mountain mass north of Piedimonte, four miles west of Cassino.

The fortifications extend thence three miles west - southwest to Aquino, thence three miles southwest to Pontecorvo. In this vital sector across the Liri Valley the line comprises a series of concrete and steel pillboxes in the usual German pattern.

Strongpoints are interlaced with wire entanglements across the whole valley. There are minefields and deep anti-tank and anti-personnel ditches.

These supplement natural tank obstacles, notably many wadis, creeks and transverse identations. Guns set into small gullies on both sides of the valley are able to lay a cross-fire over the approaches.

Against the Hitler line fortifications, however, the Allies will be able to mass the weapons which paved the way for cracking the Gustav Line: an immense concentration of artillery of all calibres including long-range 155 and 240-millimetre rifles as well as the self-propelled tank destroyers whose three-inch guns possess terrific pointblank force.

The present Allied front ranges 4½ to six miles from the main Nazi bastions.

Territorial gains from the offensive now in its sixth day have been slight compared to the total ground that must be covered to reach Rome or any other particularly significant point.

Airmen Develop Queer Sense Feel Guilty

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 — (AP) — The queer feelings of guilt which afflict some of the best combat fliers were described to the American Psychiatric Association Tues. by Lt.-Col. Roy R. Grinker and Maj. John F. Spiegel of the United States Army Air Forces.

The first is the feeling about a lost buddy—"I should have got it instead of him."

"The second," said the report, "begins as the flier approaches the end of his tour of duty. He becomes intensely anxious feeling he will never reach his goal. This is the manifestation of guilt over anticipated desertion of his squadron.

"Often when the orders arrive the immediate reaction is depression. Many indulge in alcohol at this point. Others develop gastro-intestinal pains and vomiting. One pilot vomited for 10 days on journey home because 'the food was too rich, I was used to C rations.'

Some cannot bear to eat thinking how the boys back in the squadron are living. They feel their real self, the essential person is back overseas.

"The third sources of guilt develops on returning home to a community which welcomes our hero. The flier receives newspaper publicity, ovations, makes speeches. But his conscience is not fooled. No quarter is given by this inexorable part of his personality which cannot forget the terrific fears, the longing to escape danger, the ever first thought of self preservation, no matter how well these were repressed or that in performance the man actually had been courageous and even daring."

These men are given a sedative so that they will listen to the doctor's explanation that they aren't really guilty. More than half of them return to combat.

"Must I cut down on the strength of bombers sent into Germany and change the timetable for the destruction of critical industries in Germany? Must I tell the bombing crews that I cannot furnish them fighter protection they must have with their bombers? Fighters determine the life or death of crews of bombers. . . .

"How can I explain to the relatives of those killed the lack of fighter aircraft which I do not have to send in for protection of bombers and protection of lives?"

The hearing adjourned shortly after Union President Robert H. Keys agreed to call the meeting immediately with his executive board to give W.L.B. Chairman William H. Davis an answer "as soon as possible" on the question of calling off the strike.

Earlier, Mr. Davis told Union officers they "can't win" a war-time strike against the government.

50,000 Workers Idle

Mr. Davis told Robert H. Keys, president, and the other Foreman's Association officers that the way to handle their problem was to call off the strikes and come before the Board. The work stoppages have left nearly 50,000 war workers idle.

charge of manslaughter was laid and a warrant issued."

The crowd gathered at Oakville immediately after the inquest and eyewitnesses said threats were made against Festa who, with his wife, was given immediate police protection. The crowd thinned down to 50 or 60 persons by 1.30 a.m. and then the couple was brought to Toronto.

Dr. I. Erb of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, where the little girl died, testified that death was due to hemorrhage of the brain and that her injuries probably were received in a beating. He said the position of the bruises indicated it was unlikely that they were received in a fall.

Festa testified he had never beaten the children with a belt and had not touched Anne Marie for some time. When asked by Mr. Dick who caused the bruises on the child as described by Dr. Erb, Festa said: "It was done by the person who looked after her."

Festa and his wife, employed at a New Toronto war plant, hired James Hawke 14, to look after the children while they were away at work. Hawke testified he had seen Festa strike the girl "two times" with a belt and later denied he had beaten the children when they refused to go to sleep.

Thomas Madigan, uncle of the children, said at the inquest that Patsy, four-year-old sister of the dead girl, had told him: "My daddy Vince never beat me. My daddy Joe did." He added that Patsy had a black eye May 8.

A juryman asked Dr. Erb if a parent administering "ordinary corrective punishment," could cause injuries such as he described.

"None as severe as these," Dr. Erb replied.

ADDRESSED CHAMBER — Sir Robert Appleby, K.B.E., chairman of the Board of the British Empire Chamber of Commerce in the U.S.A., who addressed the third foreign trade conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Hamilton, on Tuesday on "Great Britain Looks Ahead to World Trade." Sir Robert is a well-known merchant banker, and was created a Commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1937, and was raised to the knighthood in 1942 because of his contribution to Anglo-American relations. He has recently returned from a visit to Great Britain.

213 Officers On The Way Out

OTTAWA, May 17—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston, in a reply tabled yesterday in the Commons for D. King Hazen (PC-St. John Albert), said 213 officers of the Canadian Army overseas had been returned to Canada with a recommendation that they be discharged. The recommendations had been acted upon in 71 cases.

Of the total recommended for discharge 12 were lieutenant-colonels, 31 majors, 64 captains and 106 lieutenants.

Recommendations were made in the case of 10 on the grounds of intemperance, 16 for inefficiency, 48 as unsuitable, 47 for lack of leadership, 47 as unreliable, 17 for lacking initiative and 20 as unadaptable.

Durham County Makes Its Loan Objective

MILLBROOK, May 17 (ENS) — Durham county, as a whole, went well over the top in the recent Victory Loan campaign, though some of the townships, including Millbrook and Cavan, failed to quite reach their objective of $115,000. However, final figures are not yet available, but, on Saturday night, the county, with an objective of $1,450,000 had topped that figure by totalling $1,630,000.

This has since been increased, as have local subscriptions to the purchase of bonds, that will bring higher up the Cavan percentage which, by Saturday night, with some sales yet to be reported, showed the municipality between 75 and 80 per cent of its complete allocation.

Kinettes Decide To Have Bridge

The Peterborough Kinettes decided to sponsor a travelling bridge at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. King. The bridge will be held Wednesday afternoon, May 31, and tables will be played throughout the city, with tea served in the recreation room of the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. J. Nornabell was named general convener, assisted by Mrs. W. Osborne, Mrs. L. Bateman and Mrs. J. King. Mrs. W. J. Gordon will be in charge of decoration and Mrs. Maurice Holt will be in charge of prizes.

The treasurer, Mrs. W. Langan, reported the sum of $95.49 on hand on May 16, and was instructed to forward a further cheque for $100 to Milk for Britain headquarters, making a total of $800 sent from the Peterborough Kinettes. For the milk bottle collections, Mrs. W. J. Gordon reported the sum of $63.79 on hand on May 16.

A further donation of $20 was acknowledged from Mrs. Elizabeth Hurry for the Milk for Britain Fund. This amount represented the proceeds from the sale of a doll which she made and raffled herself. A donation of $1 from Mrs. Nellie Childerhose was also received. Mrs. Fred Ash was welcomed as a member. The next meeting will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Maurice Holt.

Obituary

JAMES HICKS

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17 (ENS) —A life-long resident of Northumberland county passed away on Sunday in the person of James Hicks, in his eightieth year.

Mr. Hicks was born in Cramahe township, November 24, 1864. At an early age his family moved to Percy township and later took up residence on the homestead where his son now resides. He married Charlotte Ireland in 1885 who predeceased him in 1927. To this union was born six children, three of which are now living, namely, Alice (Mrs. George Seymour of Toronto), Rev. William Hicks, Percy township and Alice (Mrs. Elgie Warner of Oshawa).

He farmed for a number of years before moving to Campbellford where he worked 30 years for the Campbellford Cloth Co. The late Mr. Hicks was a devoted husband and father and leaves to mourn his loss 3 children, 15 grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren. The funeral was under the auspices of the L.O.L.

Education Plan Requires Youth Leaders

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 17—(CP)—A call for between 5,000 and 6,000 full-time workers as leaders in the youth movement and for about 70,000 teachers to operate the government's new Education Bill was made by a committee formed 13 months ago under Sir Arnold McNair, vice-chancellor of Liverpool University, to inquire into the educational set-up.

Under the bill, now in the course of passing through parliament, the title president of the Board of Education will be replaced by that of Minister of Education. Thus R. A. Butler, who heads the department, will acquire a new title when the measure is enacted.

The education experts headed by Sir Arnold called for big increases in teachers' pay; complete revision of recruiting and training methods for teachers; removal of the ban on women teachers marrying; a national training system for teachers; and that "nothing but drastic reforms involving the expenditure of considerable sums of public money will secure what the schools need and what the children and young people deserve."

Before the war, the report said, work among young people was a little-known career offering poor prospects, low salaries and no pension. It was recommended that there should be enrolment of one youth leader for every 300 boys and girls between 15 and 18 or a total of between 5,000 and 6,000 full time workers.

It was recommended that the salaries of youth leaders should be comparable with those of teachers.

Training of teachers for young people's colleges—20,000 would be needed with a replenishment rate of 1,000 annually—should be undertaken by area training services.

It also was recommended that the Board of Education ensure that maintenance allowance are sufficient to prevent children being withdrawn from school prematurely solely on economic grounds. Salaries of teachers in secondary and primary schools should be substantially increased.

Coldwell Denies CCF Pressure On Newspapers

OTTAWA, May 17—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, and Tom Reid (L.—New Westminster) yesterday were the principals in a sharp exchange in the Commons over C.C.F. relations with newspapers.

Mr. Coldwell said that Mr. Reid had said in the House last week that Vancouver daily papers had been told that if they did not give kindly treatment to the C.C.F. subscriptions of that party would be withdrawn.

Mr. Coldwell quoted from an article in the Vancouver Province saying that newspaper had never been approached by the C.C.F. with any suggestions of penalties. The newspaper said Mr. Reid should produce proof of his statement.

Mr. Reid replied that he had made clear in his speech that he had no direct proof that the C.C.F. had approached the Vancouver dailies, although it had been reported on good authority, but had had direct proof about those in the Fraser Valley.

"He (Mr. Coldwell) has got away with a lot, but not with me as long as I have breath in my body," he continued as government members applauded vigorously.

The C.C.F. had gone through the Fraser Valley with "a reign of terror" in 1936 and had threatened newspapers with loss of business.

Mr. Coldwell rose to reply amid cries of "order!"

Deputy Speaker Joseph Bradette said that Transport Department estimates were before the House, and discussion should be confined to the item.

Mr. Coldwell said he would abide by the ruling, but he turned to government supporters who were calling "order!" and said:

"You can't shout me down."

Nazi Consulate At Tangier Closed By Spain

LONDON, May 17 — (CP) — The Spanish government has taken definite steps to close the German consulate at Tangier, Spanish zone in North Africa, in compliance with an agreement with Britain and the United States, foreign secretary Eden told the House of Commons today.

Mr. Eden announced also that Spain had given instructions for release of the remaining Italian ships interned there and regarding departure of German agents from Spain as provided for in the agreement.

The Foreign Secretary said the German government has accepted the Spanish decision regarding closing of the Tangier Consulate.

"His Majesty's government, who are fully alive to the importance of avoiding undue delay, have no reason to suppose the Spanish government do not share their desire to dispose of this matter satisfactorily in the near future," he added.

Mr. Eden said it was obvious that reciprocal obligations contained in the recent agreement, whereby Spain undertook to curtail Wolfram shipments to Germany in return for a resumption of British and American Oil shipments to Spain, "hang together and no one undertaking can be carried out without the other."

Expel Axis Agents

The agreement, announced May 2, provided for reduction of Spanish exports of Wolfram to Germany from a normal volume of 1,000 to 280 tons for the rest of the year. Spain agreed to expel designated Axis agents from Tangier and the Spanish mainland, to close the German consulate at Tangier and release five interned Italian merchant ships, leaving two others for arbitration of their ownership. GYPROC
Fire Protective WALLBOARD

WHERE was the fire? How serious was it?

Those were terrifying moments. After the excitement, the value of fire-protective "GYPROC" Wallboard was amply demonstrated. The walls and ceiling lined with "GYPROC" Wallboard had checked the fire long enough to permit it being put out. "GYPROC" Fire-Protective Wallboard won't burn—it is a barrier to spreading fire. A fire that might have spread quickly through the whole house was confined to one room—extinguished—and the house saved.

When buying wallboard demand "GYPROC"—the kind that won't burn. Build fire-protection into your walls and ceilings with "GYPROC" Wallboard. Write for free booklet.

Complications Arise In Loan Competition Port Hope, Cobourg Both Claim Title

COBOURG, May 17 — (ENS) — Whenever there is any kind of competition on between the rival towns of Cobourg and Port Hope, complications can be expected. The mayor of Cobourg challenged the mayor of Port Hope on behalf of ex-mayor Jack Ewart, now in Italy, to a race in connection with the Victory Loan campaign. The Cobourg mayor declared that Cobourg would finish the campaign with a greater percentage subscribed than Port Hope.

Mickey McBride, organizer of the Victory Loan in Durham County, Saturday evening, gave out Port Hope's total as 104 per cent. As Cobourg had around 109 per cent. on Saturday evening, Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg claimed the victory for Cobourg.

Campaign headquarters in Port Hope announced Tuesday morning that the figures given out on Saturday evening were in error as they did not include final bank returns and other items and that the correct figure was 113 per cent. which was higher than Cobourg's percentage.

Local opinion on Tuesday was that Port Hope had not expected Cobourg, which up until Saturday morning lagged far behind, to top its rival's figures, and when it was learned by Port Hope that Cobourg was ahead, some extra sales were quickly lined up and a new total announced.

Mayor Jack Burnet's comment was as follows:

"We accepted the figures from their office on Saturday night at the termination of the Victory Loan campaign, as being correct and we see no reason why they should not be accepted as official and correct. Anything which has happened since the end of the campaign should have no bearing on the results," said Mayor Burnet.

Do What Your Doctor Does If Child Is Listless

Because the tongue is the upper end of the stomach and bowels, it is usually the first thing a doctor looks at when he examines a sick child. He knows that a coated tongue and bad breath is a danger signal — a warning of an upset condition below, which may lead to real illness.

VANCOUVER, May 17—(CP). — Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, general officer commanding, Pacific Command, announced yesterday in future all officers and N.C.O.'s within the command will give periodic talks to their men on just why this war is being fought and just what it means to be a Canadian citizen.

Northumberland Reports Loan At $1,622,400

COBOURG, May 17 (ENS) —The Sixth Victory Loan campaign came to a close in the County of Northumberland Saturday night when last minute sales rolled in to put the objective of $1,600,000 over the top. With only a few sales to be yet officially reported the final figure on Tuesday rested at $1,622,400 or 101.2 per cent of the objective.

After three weeks of intensive canvassing, during which it appeared at times that the objective for the county would not be obtained, Victory Loan officials expressed satisfaction with the final results. Only seven of the fourteen canvassing districts set up in the county for the purpose of the drive managed to exceed their respective quotas. The highlight of the campaign was the splendid response given to the loan by the people of the town of Brighton and Colborne which obtained 130 per cent and 140 per cent of the objectives respectively. Other districts which went well over the top were the Town of Cobourg, Hamilton township, Cramahe township, Hastings village and Brighton township.

Following are totals for the canvassing districts in the county:

	Objective	Results
Cobourg	$ 400,000	$ 440,250
Hamilton Twp. .	140,000	160,150
South Monaghan Township ..	40,000	34,400
Haldimand Twp.	95,000	77,900
Alnwick Twp. .	35,000	23,250
Percy Twp.	110,000	88,150
Cramahe Twp. .	70,000	82,900
Hastings Village	45,000	45,250
Colborne Village	70,000	98,300
Brighton Village	145,000	188,800
Brighton Twp. .	70,000	76,700
Murray Twp. .	80,000	64,400
Campbellford ..	175,000	146,650
Seymour Twp.	125,000	95,200
	$1,600,000	$1,622,400

There were over 4,800 individual sales made during the campaign and it was estimated that every fifth person in the county purchased Victory bonds.

Carbide Tools Boon To War Industry

Superiority of carbide tools in the operations of heavy industry and the savings effected by their use, along with incidental views of the importance of this remarkable alloy in today's war production, were described to a gathering largely composed of C.G.E. engineers at the Paragon Hall Tuesday night. The speaker was W. T. Muirhead, vice-president and general manager of A. C. Wickman of Canada, Ltd., Toronto.

Moving pictures of the operations involved in the manufacture of high-speed carbide tools and their precision performance in shaping numerous articles, including aircraft parts and armor-piercing shells, were thrown on the screen and accompanied by an illustrative running commentary by the speaker. For the benefit of the audience a large display of carbide products was arranged at one end of the hall; and these exhibits were examined with interest by those who attended the meeting.

Mr. Muirhead's talk, for the most part of a highly technical vein, was devoted in its opening portions to a sketch of the development of tungsten carbide cutting tools. Discovered in 1870 by a Frenchman, tungsten carbide was first used in the form of dies to replace diamonds in Germany, where the patents on it were assigned by its inventor to the Krupp plant about 1924, the speaker said. Thereafter, further improvements in its versatility had been brought about by alloying with other materials; and different experimenters had strengthened it by adding, first, cobalt, then titanium, and eventually tantalum. The patent position of the Austrian refugee who was responsible for the carbide component as it was used at present was so strong, Mr. Muirhead indicated, that Krupp was finally compelled to pay him royalties.

Saves Material

"Most people think that the main saving in the use of carbide tools is because of the quicker cutting," Mr. Muirhead stated, "and to a certain extent they are justified in that view. But this is ot the only significant saving effected. The saving in material would alone justify the use of carbide, since patterns can now be cut with a fraction of the waste before encountered; and another aspect that should never be overlooked is the savings effected in over head costs."

With regard to the part that Tungsten carbide plays in the manufacture of munitions, Mr. Muirhead said it was probable that by this time all shells were being turned out by carbide tools. "If there are any exceptions, they are certainly no more than isolated instances," he remarked.

The performance of carbide bullets, first used by Germans with devastating effect and a distinct advantage to them in the big tank battles of the Libyan Desert before the Allies managed to produce a similar bullet, was almost phenomenal, Mr. Muirhead told his listeners. Their armor-piercing qualities, and those of the Piat bomb, surpassed any other product yet turned out.

2 Farmers Undertake Experimental Fields

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17 (ENS) —Farmers of Campbellford district are interested in the four experimental fields to be established by the recently formed Crop Improvement Association of Northumberland of which R. C. Banbury, Agricultural Representatives is secretary.

These vary from three to five acres and are located on the Allan Curle farm west of Campbellford and the John Rannie farm to the east. Each are near the road so the farmers of the community can easily see them. The mixture features Brome grass which stands dry weather particularly well; Orchard grass which has a much better second growth than timothy; the old reliable alfalfa and timothy; meadow fescue which does particularly well in moist places; the giant Dutch clover developed in the United States; and Kentucky and Canadian blue grasses commonly found in pasture fields. Twenty-four pounds of the mixture is sown on an acre and it is preferred that a nurse crop of a bushel and a half of oats be also used for pasture. The entire crop is planted with the idea of having a field that will give large production for at least 10 years. It has an important part in the supply of dairy products as many pastures dry out or fail to supply feed at critical times and production of cows consequently fails.

Much discussion has been heard about permanent pastures but few evidence of value have been demonstrated.

4 Babies Christened At United Church

GORE'S LANDING, May 17. — (ENS).—A christening service was held Sunday afternoon at the United church in this village when four babies were baptized by the Rev. M. C. Fisher.

Two girls and two boys were brought into church by their parents, including Barbara Carol Harris, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harris; Frederick William Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Pratt; Ronald Gary Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harris, and Bonnie Heather MacFarland, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. MacFarland. During the service Misses Margaret and Marion McKinley, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke McKinlay sang a duet.

Teachers At Clinic

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17 (ENS) —Another step was taken to ensure the welfare of pupils of the Public, Separate and High schools of Ontario, when the Department of Health held a free chest clinic Tuesday in Warkworth Public School. Each teacher in this inspectorate was required to attend as the possession of a certificate from the Department of Health showing freedom from chest ailments will be a requirement in order to teach in the province of Ontario. The teachers glady co-operated for in their daily contact with the pupils, they appreciate any advance made on the road to health for the rising generation.

Red Cross Planning Appeal For Russia

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17. (ENS) An appeal to local citizens on behalf of Russians who are still badly in need of supplies was contained in the weekly report of the Campbellford and Seymour Branch of the Red Cross Society which met Tuesday afternoon.

Latest word from Moscow tells of an acute shortage of household linens, such as towels, sheets, pillow cases, blankets, and quilts. According to local officials of the Society, a drive for these materials will be launched here next week, and it is felt that a deep sense of satisfaction should result from knowing that, vast quantities of warm clothing have been reaching them from their friends in Canada.

"If there is to be peace between nations, we must do all in our power to make Russia want our friendship so we can work side by side with her." A towel or pillow case will make life worth living for someone.

Did We Tell Walter Winchell?

Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, the M.P. for Toronto-Parkdale, wants to know who told Walter Winchell about Canada's war effort. It is quite possible that we did so.

A fortnight or so before the Winchell broadcast in which so much was said in praise of Canada we wrote an editorial—as we often do—saying that the Canadian war effort was something to be proud of; a reader of this paper clipped the editorial, and sent it to a friend of hers who lives in the American city of Rochester; this lady, who is a friend of Walter Winchell, sent the clipping on to him, as she thought that he would be interested in it. We do not believe that the few facts which we gave could possibly have provided all the material which the broadcaster incorporated in his radio talk, but as our Wartime Information Board has an office in Washington we think it very likely that Winchell got a lot of his information there; that is what the Washington bureau is for. And thus, we believe, the broadcast grew which has aroused such dark suspicion in the mind of Dr. Bruce. No servile party hack begged and bribed Mr. Winchell to boost the Mackenzie King government; it all happened in a perfectly natural and innocent way.

We do not presume to lecture a politician of Dr. Bruce's experience and years on such a matter, but we think that he has rather missed the point of the Winchell broadcast. It was not praise for a government, but for a people; it drew the attention of Mr. Winchell's large audience to the achievement of a whole nation. Reading it over we feel that only a very petty man—and we are sure that Dr. Bruce could not be so described—could interpret it as an endorsement of a leader or a government.

But within the past week the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, the world's foremost Conservative, has endorsed a man and a government, and so far no member of Parliament has so far lost his senses as to hint that Mr. Churchill did so at the request of party propagandists, or that the CBC revealed itself as a Government tool by broadcasting Mr. Churchill's words all over this Dominion. But we live in an age of wonders, and we shall not be much surprised if a member of the Opposition gets to his feet and asks what Mr. Churchill received for the boost. Possibly Dr. Bruce himself will do it.

A Poet Falls In Battle

It is one of the weary commonplaces of war that many young men of brilliant gifts fall in battle before they have time to show us the full store of their minds. The First Great War cost us many poets, of whom the best-known was Rupert Brooke; since his death the estimate of his talents has been considerably reduced, but even at that we could ill spare him.

Alun Lewis's death was reported about a month ago; he died on active service. It may be that no readers of this column have ever heard of him, for he was very young and his work had not been appearing in print for very long. But he was a writer of true poetic inspiration. This is what was said of him in The New Statesman, a British journal in which much of his work appeared:

"There are two sides to his verse—the lyrical and descriptive (owing a natural debt to Edward Thomas) and the romantic: it is the latter, at the moment, that comes uppermost. Even in a war as annihilating as the present one, many readers still turn to poetry for romantic consolation—the sort of light consolation which soldier-poets, except in moments of self-pity, should be the last to provide. Alun Lewis's gift lay in a realism that animated the flatness of the early war years like headlights along a road:

"All day it has rained, and we on the edge of the moors
"Have sprawled in our bell-tents, moody and dull as boors. . .

"Every mood of the soldier under training—boredom, a hardening anguish, thoughts of death, relaxation, cool observation—will be found in the verse of Raider's Dawn, and behind the easy diction one feels a continual and patient stocktaking. He possessed the ability, rare among writers in wartime, of going on through thick and thin, and his more recent work from India showed that in prose as well as verse he had a remarkable gift for reporting. Some of the young poets tragically cut short by war—Sidney Keyes is an illustrious example—seem already to have attained full stature, so that we find it difficult to imagine a further development. Alun Lewis had a more fluid talent, and in one of several directions—verse, stories, autobiography—he might have gone far. He will be remembered as one of the first poets who have made an honest and adequate response to the crushing routine of war".

It was Edgar Allen Poe who said that he knew of no fitter subject for poetry than the death of a beautiful young woman. Perhaps as an alternative we may suggest the death in battle of a young poet who has had little time to reveal himself. In a welter of individual bereavements his death is a loss to all mankind.

Murder In Russia

When official Russia writes about official Germany it does not mince its words. A special Soviet committee has been investigating the conduct of the Nazi invaders, and has made public a report which fairly sizzles with anger. The Germans, it is declared, disregarded all the conventions of warfare, and murdered at least two million civilian Russians in cold blood, as well as a staggering number of prisoners of war.

It seems paradoxical that there should be any conventions whatever governing the conduct of so brutal a thing as a war, but conventions do exist, and most civilized countries abide by them. The treatment of war prisoners, for instance, is fully laid down in the Geneva Convention of 1929, and the Germans have been great sticklers for it in the Canadian prison camps where they happen to be. But in Russia they have shown no scruple about murdering and ill-treating wounded and disarmed men.

The Russians claim to have found documents in Nazi headquarters at Kiev which give authority for brutal treatment of all Russians. One of these papers is quoted as saying, "The Bolshevik soldier has lost the right to be treated as an honest soldier in accordance with the Geneva Convention". Other documents give orders for the summary execution of all state and party officials, all former Soviet officials, the leading workers in state institutions, leading economic workers, and all writers and editors. The evidence regarding these documents is given at great length by the Russian committee; nevertheless it may be that the documents were fabricated for purposes of propaganda. But this must be said: they are strikingly German in tone and they fit perfectly with German actions in Russia.

The Germans do not want to abide by any rules save those of their own making. In every country which they have invaded they have murdered civilians, maltreated prisoners, and otherwise shown a complete contempt for decency as civilized people show it toward the conquered. The report of this Russian committee shows what hatred they have aroused. Soon they will discover what that hatred means, for it can scarcely be expected that the soldiers of occupied lands, when once they invade Germany, will miss the chance to pay off old scores.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is some dispute about the origin of grapefruit. But its career teaches us that the most offensive squirt can make good if he tries.

A scientist announces the discovery of creatures so small that a thousand of them could sit on the head of a pin. But are they that silly?

Father James Gillis, who edits the Catholic World, says that civilization is being driven back to the jungle. The way we saw things in 1939-40, it looked as though the jungle had suddenly blossomed forth in the midst of civilization.

Recently the well-known screen actor, Errol Flynn, was hit on the head with an egg. The Detroit News wants to know whether this is part of the campaign to use more eggs, or the campaign to hit Errol Flynn. Both movements have their keen supporters.

"We have known Mr. King a long time", says Winston Churchill; "and the longer we have known him the more we have loved him". This testimonial from the World's Leading Conservative is going to cause some heart-searching in Canadian circles where the flame of love for Mr. King burns low.

"What wholesome purpose", asks the Toronto Telegram, "is served in wartime by allowing unwashed gypsies to leer at pedestrians from vacant stores downtown?" No wholesome purpose, probably, but we should hate to see the gypsies go, all the same. We have long believed, with Augustus John the painter, that a good look at a gypsy, back or front view, is worth a little money any day. They may not be wholesome, but they are certainly picturesque.

The Problem Of Germany

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

AT present our chief concern is to defeat Germany. But when we have defeated her, what are we going to do with her? Very few among the United Nations, if any, would be content to draw up a scheme of reparations and restitutions and leave them to Germany to fulfill. Only a few pathologically trustful people think that a defeat will teach the Germans that war is an evil thing and that they should avoid using it as an instrument of policy. Most people regretfully accept the belief that Germany will plan another war if we do not prevent her from doing so. It is plainly to be seen that Germany will be as much a matter of concern to us after we have beaten her as she is now. What are we going to do about her?

ANSWERS to that question are provided in two books, both of which I recommend to you. One has been greeted with great acclaim in the U.S.A.; it is "What To Do With Germany" by Louis Nizer (Ambassador). The other has been denounced by the intellectuals of Britain, though it has met with the approval of countless ordinary citizens; it is "Lessons Of My Life," by the Rt. Hon. Lord Vansittart (Ryerson). There is a striking similarity between these two books; indeed, one suspects that Mr. Nizer has cribbed heavily from Lord Vansittart; however, this may be an unjust accusation; perhaps Mr. Nizer and Lord Vansittart are affinities and cannot help reaching the same conclusions.

BUT as "Lessons Of My Life" is the better written book of the two, and as Lord Vansittart's approach to his subject is vastly superior to Mr. Nizer's, I shall deal with that book first. It is the Bible of Vansittartism. Vansittartism is a name, applied in derision, to almost any extreme opinion favouring the punishment of Germany. Now although Lord Vansittart is vehement and uncompromising in his attitude toward Germany he is not, in the opinion of the present writer, extreme. Since 1902 Lord Vansittart has been in the diplomatic service of Great Britain, and he says: "I have seen all the democracies, and especially the great ones, lose the instinct of self-preservation". Lord Vansittart has had unusual opportunities to study German aggression. He is thoroughly convinced that Germany, as she has been for the past seventy years, is an enemy of civilization, and must be radically changed if civilization is to survive. Can Germany reform at seventy-five? Lord Vansittart thinks she can.

IN explaining why he considers Germany an enemy of civilization Lord Vansittart does not mince words. But he does not fulminate; he presents hard facts. The Myth of Two Germanies he disposes of very briefly; it simply is not true, he says, that the majority of German people are enlightened democrats who want to live at peace with the rest of the world but who have been victimized by unscrupulous leaders. Bismarck, Wilhelm II and Adolf Hitler are the leaders whom Germans admire, and whom they freely choose to follow. There may be a few democrats in Germany; there may be some bands of workers who believe in the brotherhood of man; but they are very few and utterly powerless. The dreams of racial superiority and world domination are very clear to the German people, and they understandably follow the men who promise to make those dreams into realities.

WHAT then is to be done? Lord Vansittart's answer is the obvious and hard one; we must re-educate the Germans. He estimates that it will take fifty years to do so. The problem is, can we stick to the job for fifty years? Will coming generations take on a task of that sort? Who can say? But this author insists that if we do not undertake the task we must expect another desperate war just as soon as Germany is able to prepare for it. After the last war we took an attitude which made it easy for the Germans to lay their plans. How easy will it be for them this time?

MR. Nizer's book has the virtue of presenting an explicit plan, which the reader may accept or reject in favour of a plan of his own. Germany must be deprived of national sovereignty for an indefinite period, he says, and all her functions placed under international control. Her industry, operated by Germans, must be supervised by boards of international responsibility. Her education, administered by Germans, must be under the supervision of an International University. No final authority must be left in German hands. And, he insists, the punishment of war criminals must be of a kind that Germany will remember with fear for a thousand years. After the last war we committed the folly of handing German war criminals to German courts for trial; we must not make that mistake again. But Nizer or Vansittart, the conclusion is the same: Germany as it has been must be destroyed utterly, and a new Germany of our making set in its place. Otherwise, we must be ready for more wars.

Bock Beer

Einbecker bier—bock bier—bock. So runs the origin of the brew that flows in the Spring. It all goes back to the little German town of Einbeck, where every Spring for nearly 600 years brewers have tapped the Winer's brew of lager.

Einbeck is in the Prussian province of Hanover, in North Central Germany, near the Leine River, about fifty miles south of the much-bombed Hanover, says the National Geographic Society. Nearly 900 years old, the town had much to show pre-war visitors—the ancient town hall, the wooden Northeimhaus, the choir stalls in the Alexander kirche, walls and towers that had survived time and change, the apothecary's shop, where Friedrich Serturner is said to have discovered morphine in 1805.

If the traveller was interested in industry, 10,000 burghers could point out factories turning out linens, carpets, felt, bicycles, chemicals, sugar and tobacco products. Einbeck's way with barley-malt, hops and yeast was something special. The story goes that the Duke of Brunswick sent Martin Luther a jug of Einbeck's best to refresh him after his speech to the Diet of Worms in 1521. A hundred years later the Duke of Bavaria summoned an Einbeck brewer to Munich to establish the Hofbrauhaus.—Kansas City Star.

A Detroit man is said to have been slain by his daughter as the result of a quarrel which ensued when he criticized her cooking. In this country the gals don't shoot their critics. They just make 'em eat the stuff, and that gives them at least some chance of survival.—Toronto Star.

GROWING TIME IN EUROPE

Inner Aspects Of English

ENGLISH is a vernacular of vernaculars. It began in the eleventh century as the lingo used between the Norman-French conquerors and their Anglo-Saxon serfs, and though it became a literary language in the fourteenth century has never crystallized in the way that Italian, French and Spanish have done. A proof of this is that no writer of English would be credited with a perfect literary style merely because he had exactly modelled himself on some native paragon—say, Addison in England, or Emerson in the United States—as Italians, Spaniards and Frenchmen might be after modelling themselves, respectively, on Boccaccio, Cervantes, and Bossuet. To write English well, it is generally agreed, is not to imitate, but to evolve a style peculiarly suited to one's own temperament, environment and purposes. English has never been jealously watched over by a learned Academy, as French has been since the seventeenth century; nor protected against innovations either by literary professionalism, as with Italian, or, as with Spanish, by the natural decorum of the greater part of those who use it. It is, indeed, an immense, formless aggregate not merely of foreign assimilation and local dialects but of occupational and household dialects and personal eccentricities.

The general European view is that English is an illogical, chaotic language, unsuited for clear thinking; and it is easy to understand this view, for no other European language admits of such shoddy treatment. Yet, on the other hand, none other admits of such poetic exquisiteness, and often the apparent chaos is only the untidiness of a workshop in which a great deal of repair and other work is in progress: the benches are crowded, the corners piled with lumber, but the old workman can lay his hand on whatever spare parts or accessories he needs or at least on the right tools and materials for improvising them. French is a language of fixed models: it has none of this workshop untidiness and few facilities for improvisation. In French, one chooses the finished phrase nearest to one's purpose and, if there is nothing that can be "made to do," a long time is spent getting the Works—the Academy—to supply or approve a new model. Each method has its own advantages. The English method tends to ambiguity and obscurity of expression in any but the most careful writing; the French to limitation of thought. . . .English writers seldom have any feeling for purity of literary form in the Classical sense: it is both their strength and their weakness that imaginative exuberance breaks down literary restraint.—From "The Reader Over Your Shoulder—A Handbook for Writers of English Prose," by Robert Graves & Alan Hodge.

Facts About The Early Primer

ONE of the most popular books of devotion in medieval times had been the "Book of Hours," which contained (in Latin) certain prayers and meditations and Scriptural selections prescribed by the Church for use in its regular services or at the conanical hours for daily worship. Designed for laymen rather than the clergy, these compilations might include various features — almanac, matins, evensong, litany, dirge, and so on—that would be helpful in public or private devotions. The general name which the English gave to such a book was the Primer, derived presumably from the Latin word primarius as applied to the first or earliest of the "hours" of morning prayer. Since the Primer was couched in simple language and was one of the commoner household books in an age when books were few, it was often used to teach children to read and say their prayers; and in this way the word acquired its modern sense of an elementary reader.

As early as the fourteenth century we find a few manuscripts of the Primer translated into English; but on account of the ban put upon the translation of Scripture, no English version of the Primer seems to have found its way into print before the reign of Henry VIII. When at length it was officially allowed and published, the Primer flourished for a while until the days of Queen Elizabeth, by which time its functions had been taken over by the Book of Common Prayer. In the meanwhile it helped to make the people familiar not only with the prayers of the Church but also with the accompanying biblical selections, which were drawn very largely from the Book of Psalms.—From "Literary Lineage of the King James Bible," by Charles C. Butterworth.

Fie! Mr. Hanson

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

NO two citizens of this Dominion have served their country more diligently and honourably in their respective terms of office as Minister of Finance than the Hon. Charles Dunning and the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, and it is a pleasure and a privilege for The Spectator to bear this testimony.

The Hon. R. B. Hanson, Progressive Conservative for York Sunbury, did no credit to himself or his party in Monday's debate on the bill to amend the Bank Act when he wondered, in the light of Mr. Dunning's present employment, what had become of the principles Mr. Dunning had brought down from the West and whether Mr. Ilsley had it in mind "to ingratiate himself into the hearts and pocketbooks of the so-called big business interests." We have, unhappily, become accustomed to cheap innuendo of this type from our political demagogues, but we don't look for it from Mr. Hanson. It comes with particularly ill grace from a man who has been leader in the House of Commons of a party which has consistently stood for the same non-political and fundamentally sound concept of banking which appears to underlie the Government's attitude towards the chartered banks and the revision of the Bank Act.

Going back through the record for years, the story of our Ministers of Finance has, with sad consistency, been the story of plain, capable, honest men broken in health by the weight and responsibilities of their task, and the politically-inspired heckling which they have had to take. The roll call of the Ministry of Finance for the past thirty years is a proud and impressive one and a credit to our political system. White, Drayton, Fielding, Robb, Dunning, Bennett, Rhodes, Hart, Ralston and Ilsley have all in their day faithfully upheld the best traditions of their high office, and none more so than Charles Dunning and James Lorimer Ilsley. When the story of what Canada has contributed to the winning of this terrible struggle becomes written into history, one of the most impressive parts of it will be that relating to the financing of her tremendous effort under Mr. Ilsley's leadership, and the measures he took to stabilize the country's economy and reduce want and suffering to a minimum by the equitable distribution of consumer goods.

We would suggest to Mr. Hanson that in wondering about Mr. Dunning and Mr. Ilsley the only fear he should have is lest Mr. Ilsley should break down physically under the load he is carrying, as Mr. Dunning did.

Alas Poor Minnie

Minnie the Moke is a donkey. She came around a military camp in northern Australia and she was adopted as a mascot.

As a donkey Minnie did not rate very highly but as a mascot she had her points. She was a gastronomic wonder and within her almost boundless limits she kept the camp as clean as a new pin. She loved a nice glowing cigarette butt; she liked dead matches but preferred lighted ones.

But now something is wrong with her. She is merely picking at her daily newspaper and has even turned down a nice succulent plug of native tobacco.

Her owners have an uneasy suspicion that Minnie has at last over-rated her powers of absorption. A serviceman went for a swim the other day and left his false teeth (full upper and lower) on the beach. The teeth were there when Minnie wasn't but they weren't there when Minnie was.—Australian News Letter.

CLEVER NAZIS

The Nazis boast that they have a projectile which, after exploding, will freeze to death everybody within a radius of five hundred yards. The clever fellows may have found a way to make use of all that cold they found in Russia. — New Yorker.

HEALTH EDUCATION NEEDED

It is announced that curriculum of the public schools will be enlarged to include more health and physical education, to be combined with cadet training to meet the needs of the three armed services. Considering the large percentage of men refused enlistment in the armed forces through physical disabilities this reform of education comes none too soon.—Chatham News.

MISTAKEN POLICY

The St. Marys Journal-Argus recently did a distinct public service in calling attention to the number of boys leaving school to enter highly-paid positions that will cease when the war is over. High wages now will not counterbalance the loss of a high school education. Many of the boys will not want to return to school and they will not be qualified for the positions.—Porcupine Advance.

WOOL SURPLUS

Evidence of returning freedom of the seas may be found in the news that the United States is being swamped with wool. Ships returning from Australia and New Zealand are carrying wool as ballast, and now there is a stock-pile of approximately 300,000,000 pounds. Still, wool is a good thing to have about in this variable climate.—Moncton Daily Times.

WHO, INDEED?

Thirty-three New York restaurants have been restrained by the OPA for violating ceiling prices, almost all small fry; and typical violations cited are "raising the price of ham and eggs from 40 cents to 45 cents a plate," "increasing the price of a roast beef sandwich to 40 cents" and charging 30 cents instead of 25 cents for two eggs." Well, if you've done any dining out in New York, you just look at these complaints in complete befuddlement. For you know, as everybody else does, that there are hundreds of restaurants all over the city where an order of ham and eggs will set you back $1, where roast beef sandwiches were upped 75 cents months ago, and where eggs are apparently considered worth their weight in pure gold. Who's kidding whom?—H. I. Phillips in N.Y. Sun.

A Bible Message

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven: if so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked. For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.

Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: (for we walk by faith, not by sight:) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. (II Cor. 5: 1-8.)

Parents Told Child Training Important Job

MILLBROOK, May 17—(ENS)—Special features of the Mother's Day service in St. Andrew's United church on Sunday morning included solos by Miss Margaret Lang, of Toronto. The distribution of awards won by the Young Worshippers' League members was made, 14 having been present 26 Sundays and over, the two leading, Anne Dawson and Gerald Hubbeard, having 51 Sundays to their credit, sickness in each case having prevented a perfect record. The others were: Yvonne Richards, Leona and Dorothy Ball, Alice and George Hawken; Jessie Lunn, Barbara Bannister, Tommy and Margaret Aiken, Mary Fallis, Edith Elson and Robert Simpson.

The rite of baptism was administered by the pastor, Rev. A. L. Sisco, to three children, Ralph Hilliard, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lang; Sharon Esther, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Ball; and Joan Elizabeth, whose parents are Sgt. F. Tickner, C.A.S.C. and Mrs. Tickner.

Parents Place

The minister preached from the text: "How is the lad to be trained, and what is he to be?" emphasizing the three main sources which influence young lives: the world, the church, and, most important of all, the home, and laying squarely upon the parents the responsibility which is theirs, and for which God Himself will hold them to account.

Preceding the church service, the Sunday School held a "Family Day" session, with choruses by Velma Thornton's and Mrs. D. L. Lunn's classes; a pageant by Mrs. Franklin Bannister's young ladies' class, "Appreciation of Mothers," those taking part being: Indian, Margaret Elson; Pioneer, Miss Betty Lunn; New Canadian, Miss Francis Tickner; and a Mother of Today, Miss Kathryn Elson. The primary department joined the larger school, its contribution being "A Christian Home," the story of the gifted Chinese Soong family told by the teacher, Miss Jean Burnham. Responsive readings in which all took part completed the service.

Joint Service

Grace Presbyterian church observed Mother's Day by having a joint service for the Sunday School and the congregation, the superintendent, Joseph Burns, being in charge, and the minister, Rev. Walter Patterson, giving the address. Pupils of the school taking part were Betty Wright, who gave a synopsis of the life and work of John G. Patton, and Norma Ball, whose recitation was on a mother's value.

Paul's advice to Timothy was the basis of Mr. Patterson's sermon on "The Christian Home," the preamble dealing with juvenile delinquency, so prevalent today that church and state are united in an endeavor to secure results. The films glorifying crime, pernicious literature, and neglect of proper training in the home were pointed out as contributing factors, the address being under three heads: 1. the Christian home, in which both father and mother are definitely dren follow in their footsteps; 2. The Christian, the result being the chilinfluence of the Christian home; and 3. The benefits conferred on the church, the community, and the nation from a Christian home.

Cadets At Service

The Millbrook Cadet Corps, No. 348, attended divine worship at St. Thomas' Anglican church on Sunday evening, the Company under Cadet Adjutant-Capt. Donald McKnight and Cadet Capt. Ted Stinson, turning out about 30 strong for the parade from the Armouries to the church.

The rector, Rev. A. E. Chevis, gave the visiting Corps a warm welcome, and regretted that, not having been notified in time, his sermon was not specially prepared for their benefit. However, these being Rogation days in the Church of England, when special prayers are offered for crops, and seed-growing, the sermon followed that line, with particular emphasis upon the practical value of prayer in the individual life, and its collective value as well.

Cadets George Lowery and Lyle McMahon took up the offering.

SKIN BLEMISHES RESPOND TO VITAMINS
Science shows that many skin troubles due to lack of vitamins

Lemon and lime juice were once used on long sea voyages to offset the dread scourge of scurvy. Today we know the merit lay in the vitamins these citrus fruits contain. Now, for many skin and complexion faults, science says—take vitamins daily. "ALL-in-ONE" Vitamin Tablets give not one vitamin alone, but 5 vital vitamins. Each helps the other to function. Fortify your daily diet with "ALL-in-ONE" Vitamin Tablets. The cost is only $2.15 for a month's supply. At most drug stores.

Garden Path Captures Derby

NEWMARKET England, May 17—(AP)—The Earl of Derby's Garden Path, the favorite, today won the classic 2,000 Guineas at odds of five to one and became the first filly to capture this traditional Derby test in 42 years. Growing Confidence was second and Tehran third.

Garden Path, a brown filly and the only one of her sex in the field of 26, took the lead a quarter-mile from the finish and under the skilful guidance of Harry Wragg staved off the challenge of Growing Confidence to win by a head in the good time of 1.39 3-5.

Lord Derby held his sleek brown filly out of the 1,000 Guineas yesterday to make a bid for the bigger prize and Garden Path in the last few hours before the start today drew so much support that she became the favorite, although a filly has won this only six times since it was inaugurated in 1809.

Orestes and Happy Landing, who previously had been the most heavily backed, ran disappointing races, Orestes running out of the first 10 and Happy Landing winding up sixth.

The crowd was about 7,000.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Thursday, May 18

THE PRESAGE is for a day of surprising opportunity for putting in force cherished ideas and plans of a rather revolutionary or startling way of procedure, either in launching new programs or in an effort to break up old and outmoded means and measures for accomplishing old objectives. There should be broad scope for attempting such ambitious ends, although there may be much financial hazard and uncertainty, together with an undercurrent of duplicity, trickery and other manifestations sinister and of evil purpose. Nevertheless, originality, fresh ideas, even erratic schemes or ideals may win out if they prove workable and of enduring merit, to the point of gaining public aid or approval. Dare to be original and adventurous and let novelty and innovation win.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which they may successfully put over, and attain public assistance and approbation for cherished ideas of a perhaps radical, irregular and novel character, swerving far from the beaten path or the outmoded manner of doing things. It may be that such an attempt may incite opposition of a subtle, treacherous and sinister character, from those finding lucrative the work and ways of the old order. Beware entanglement and intrigue. Be alert to treachery or suspicion in domestic or romantic affairs.

A child born on this day may have much originality, ingenuity, with a fresh and novel manner of improving outgrown plans and ideas, attaining the support and approval of the public or community, although beset by craft and treachery.

Gallant Fox, winner previously of the Preakness Stakes, clinched the elusive double when he rode home an easy winner in the Kentucky Derby 14 years ago today. The three-year-old went down in history with the Canadian-owned Sir Barton who accomplished the feat in 1919. Burgoo King, Omaha, Bold Venture, War Admiral, Whirlaway and Count Fleet have since duplicated the trick.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Sport-hungry fans in droves will doubtless wend their over to Riverside Park tomorrow, Thursday night to see the lid pried off the softball season with the opening game of the City League. There has been such a long lull in sporting circles that the reopening of activity on the softball front comes as a welcome relief. The City League, with five teams lined up, three of them members of the loop last season and two new squads, the U.E. team and the St. Peter's Catholic League outfit promises to offer plenty of entertainment for the next few months with games scheduled for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of each week to provide excitement for a community that had to wait since last fall for anything in the line of team competition. Just how some of the teams will shape up only the test of actual play will determine but the five managers have been on a still hunt for players and it is probable that they will all come up with good teams and that the competition will be keen throughout. Anyway the league gets under way tomorrow night at 6.45 o'clock and there will be a real crowd on hand when the umpires send the teams off on the long grind for the league title.

* * * * * *

The opening game looks like a natural for it brings together the Plazas (champions last season under the 4th Battery banner) and the Switchgear who have built up a strong combination made up of players from their own club of last season along with three players each from the Genelecs and Combines. On paper the two squads look very evenly matched and the initial encounter should start the season off at a fast tempo. Either Ron Akers of last year's Genelecs or Bud Harrison will do the pitching for Switchgear with Holly Mowry behind the bat while Plazas will pin their hopes on big Dave Wilson or Terry Wood, the latter with Genelecs during the 1943 campaign. Eddie Starr will do the catching. In the infield Switchgear will have Ashmore, Padget, Nicholls, Holmes or Tompkins, with Carpenter, Playford, McCormick and Brockley in the outfield while Plazas have Ellis, Heal, Kingdon, Jones, Tucker and Hawks for infield posts and Burton, Blewett and Pryde patrolling the gardens. It looks like an even break and the two teams should provide an opening attraction worthy of the occasion.

Musial Drafted

Most important news from the National League yesterday did not come from the ball yards but in the announcement that Stan Musial, star outfielder of the St. Louis Cards and one of the greatest batters in the game today, has been called for service by Uncle Sam's navy and will be inducted some time in June. Musial led the National League in hitting last season and was a logical claimant for the batting title in the current campaign. Always a dangerous hitter and at his best in the clutches, Musial is in addition a very classy outfielder and there isn't the slightest doubt that his departure for active service will leave a wide gap in the ranks of the National League champs. We still think that even without him the Cards are powerful enough to gather in the pennant again this season but their job will certainly not be so easy. As for the baseball played in the National loop yesterday the pitching battle that marked the game between the Boston Braves and the Cincinnati Reds was the big feature. The Braves finally took the verdict 1 to 0 with each club held to five hits. The two outfits have had an unusual series. They have played four games in a row and each of them was a shutout with the teams splitting even in the matter of games won and lost. Andrews got credit for the win yesterday, with Javery finishing for him.

* * * * * *

As for the American League the most important development of the day was the fact that the Chicago White Sox kicked the Yanks around to the tune of 10 to 4 and thereby put an end to Hank Borowy's long winning streak, which started out with seven straight wins to windup the 1943 campaign and had been extended by four triumphs in a row this season. The Pale Hose had had their batting togs on yesterday, made 18 hits altogether and Borowy never at any time looked like a winner. Bill Dietrich threw a couple of home run balls to Hemsley and Metheny but outside of that kept the Yank attack under control. The Philadelphia A's with a fighting finish that must have gladdened the heart of ancient Connie Mack scored two runs in the ninth inning of their battle with the Detroit Tigers to tie the score and then pushed the winning run over in the tenth. The final count was 4 to 3 and the win went to Berry who has garnered four wins this season, all in a relief capacity. That wasn't the only extra innings game of the day for the Brownies defeated the Boston Red Sox 7 to 3 in 12 innings. The St. Louis club chased four runs across after three extra frames to win the argument.

Should Pool Players

George Campbell suggests to the Oshawa Minor Baseball Association that they should follow the plan that has been followed for years in minor hockey there of pooling the players and then allocating them by having their names drawn. Says the Oshawa sport scribe: "After all, the Oshawa Minor Baseball Association was formed with the prime objective of providing baseball for all young boys in Oshawa—the greatest good for the greatest number—NOT to provide one or two certain groups the chance of winning a championship. It should also be remembered, too, that the Oshawa representative in the O.B.A. playoffs will be an "all-star" selection. That provides the incentive for individual players. As for the league itself, we contend that the objective should be "number of teams" not "quality of teams." Back in 1939 there were 11 Juvenile softball teams in Oshawa, in 1940 the figure was out to 6, in 1941 there were 3 and in 1942 there were 2 and last year there wasn't a Juvenile team in Oshawa. That proves our point. On the other hand the "City League" hockey men have operated successful on the other system for nearly 10 years now and there used to be only 6 teams in two groups. Now there are 12 teams in three groups. We "came up" in the softball booms and have always been keenly interested in that sport but we will willingly admit that there "softball" in Oshawa made a big mistake. There's only one way to keep a sport alive in a community and that's keep as many as possible playing the game—not gradually assemble the best talent on one or two teams. May we point out that right today in Oshawa there isn't a single Juvenile or Junior softball team operating!"

* * * * * *

"Jim Tobin, who recently joined the no-hit, no-run pitching ranks, claims he has used only two fast pitches this spring," says the Ottawa Citizen. "The Boston Brave right-hander is being bothered by a lame arm. He claims that if he cut loose with the ball his arm would be bad enough to keep him on the shelf for a week at the very least. That's why he specializes in butterfly balls. While he has uncorked his fast one on only two occasions, Tobin admits the second one had him really worried. The first fast pitch was delivered to Mel Ott. It was a three-two pitch and the Giant manager belted it for a home run. The other was tossed to Luis Olmo of the Dodgers in the no-hit job at Boston. Tobin held his breath while the Puerto Rican struck out. Tobin now smiles when he mentions that Olmo might very easily have changed the no-hit shutout into a one-hit, one-run effort."

Whipper Watson Upsets Verne Baxter

Whipper Billy Watson defeated Verne Baxter, the Oregon bad man, by taking the odd fall in three in the main bout of the Tunney wrestling show at the Brock Street Arena Tuesday night. The British Empire champion also had the satisfaction of cracking the heads of Baxter and Referee Bert Maxwell together and of helping to pull the shirt off the official to make it a big night for the idol of Toronto.

It was a lively battle, with Baxter restoring to a lot of skulduggery in an earnest effort to knock off the Empire champ. Watson went back to the days of Frank Gotch for a surprise move that gave him the first fall in 11 minutes. The Oregon grappler evened it up after 14 minutes with a toe hold, despite the vehement protest of Whipper and all his friends in the audience who argued that Baxter used the ropes to get leverage. Watson came back strong to revenge himself on both his opponent and Referee Maxwell and wound up taking the deciding fall in nine minutes.

Plenty of Action

There was plenty of action from the opening minutes. Baxter, a hard-hitting hombre who was not awed in the least by the fact that he was battling the No. 1 claimant for the world's championship carried the fight to Watson whenever he got an opportunity and he was more than a bit careless about what methods he used. Hair pulling, kicking, the odd punch were all employed by the tough baby from the Coast and Watson retaliated in kind with the result that it was lively going in the early stages with neither battler having much of an edge.

Finally the Whipper got his chance. He clamped a full Nelson on the battling Baxter and when the latter tried to make a sudden grab at Watson's feet to break the hold the Whip was ready for the move and turned Baxter over and pinned him for the fall with a surprise manoeuvre that used to be a favorite with Frank Gotch in his palmy days as world champion.

In A Dour Mood

Baxter came back in a dour mood after the rest and he immediately proceeded to make things lively for the Whipper by repeatedly working on the Watson underpinnings with a series of toeholds that had the Empire champion in difficulties. The Whip finally had to roll out of the ring to escape and once out he had a lot of trouble gettting back in again because Baxter kept knocking him off the apron of the ring every time he tried to get back through the ropes. He finally succeeded in getting inside but that didn't do him much good for Baxter slapped on another toe hold and by propping one foot on the ropes got leverage enough to pin the Whipper's shoulders for the fall.

Watson protested the decision and was backed up by a lot of angry fans but the Maxwell ruling stood and the match had been squared.

The British Empire champ only took nine minutes in the final round to win the argument but a lot happened in that time.

Watson was on the attack but Baxter got out of several jams by going to the ropes where the Whipper was forced to break some promising holds. He got tired with the official interference and finally tangled with Maxwell, half ripping the shirt off the referee. Baxter obligingly took a hand in the strip-tease feature and between the two the official was soon shirtless. Worse was to follow however for Maxwell tried to go between the two men to break a Watson hold and the Whip with one hand on the refere and the other on Baxter cracked their heads together and both men were about out for the count. Watson picked up the dazed Baxter and slammed him down in top of the prostate Maxwell. The Oregon battler tried to fight back but the Whipper tossed him around with a series of flying mares and then dropped on him for the fall that meant victory.

Thought He'd Won

John Arthur, dour Chicago strong man lost the semi-final to blonde Don Evans of California just when he thought he had won the battle. The sturdy performer from the Cook County metropolis had pinnned Evans' shoulders to the mat all right but the Evans feet were tangled up in the ropes at the time and Maxwell did not allow the fall. Arthur jumped to his feet, believing he had won the bout and he was an easy victim when Evans suddenly pounced on him, flopped him and got the decision. The tussle was a battle of strangle holds, Arthur using a headlock that Maxwell kept breaking as often as it was applied and Evans coming back with a neck scissors that also failed to pass the official censor. Arthur, a very powerful athlete and Evans a wrestler who apparently knows all the angles of the game were very evenly matched and they staged 25 minutes of tough going before the surprise ending.

It Was A Draw

Quite a battle had Nick Elitch, the sturdy New Yorker and Joe Maich the Brantford buzz saw in going 30 minutes to a draw in the opener. Elitch, a veteran of the game and a sturdy battler found the lively Maich no bargain. The Brantford athlete used his speed to get out of jams and he also used a few well-aimed punches when he went on the attack. The crowd was all for him so no one objected when he nearly knocked the far from ornate Elitch head into the third row of seats. In fact some of the loudest cheers of the night came when Maich drove the New Yorker around the ring with a well-aimed barrage of hooks to the jaw. Both men were still going strong, however when the bell ended hostilities.

Referee Maxwell donated a lot of perspiration and a country shirt to the success of the occasion and Fred Skates introduced the battlers and clocked the bouts.

Toronto entrants skated off with the majority of honors in the Canadian roller skating championships, sponsored by the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, at Toronto last night. Due to wartime conditions the novice men's event and the intermediate competition were the only trials for male entrants.

Ronald Brown of Toronto turned back the only out-of-town threats when he won the novice men's trials with Ronald Smart and John Stephenson, both of Hamilton, finishing second and third respectively. In the senior ladies' event, Janet Morritt of Toronto defeated defending champion Lenore Kearns, also of Toronto.

Ike Williams won a decision over Slugger White in a featured 10-round lightweight battle at Philadelphia last night, the judges giving him every round. Williams thus earned himself a crack at Sammy Arnott at Philadelphia on June 6 or 12. White weighed in at 136⅛ pounds while Williams was 135¼.

The National League needed two sets of books to keep its records straight today with the first unfinished game of the 1944 season leaving Max Lanier's five-game win streak hanging on the hook until sometime in the week of June 28.

Although Lanier was belted from the hill in the fourth and the Phils led 6-4 when hostilities ceased at the end of the seventh by agreement to let Freddy Fitzsimmons' crew catch a train for Cincinnati, the game was not entered into the books. It will be completed when the Phils again visit St. Louis in June. Until then, Lanier's streak has not been snapped and the Red Birds still have a chance to come up with three runs.

There was no question about Hank Borowy's holdover 11-game string. Chicago ruined that beyond repair with a 10-4 trouncing of the Yankees as Thurman Tucker boosted his leading average to .403 with four hits.

Philadelphia's Athletics continued to blaze along with eight wins in their last nine. Jojo White's single in the last of the 10th did the trick for a 4-3 decision over Detroit.

Washington got after Allie Reynolds early, flattened him for three runs in the first and coasted through to a 3-2 edge over Cleveland last night. Lefty Vic Johnson fell apart in the 12th as St. Louis scored four times to wallop Boston, 7-3.

Although the emphasis was on hitting instead of pitching yesterday, Cincinnati and Boston concluded a all-shutout series at two wins apiece. Boston took the finale, 1-0, with Nate Andrews whitewashing the Reds but needing help from Al Javery in the ninth.

Bill Nicholson's double scoring Ival Goodman in the last of the ninth ruined Brooklyn's hopes of victory as Chicago Cubs won 7-6.

The New York-Pittsburgh game was postponed.

LOU'S COMING BACK—AND GOOD—Lou Nova, the ex-Cosmic punch kid of California, is making a successful comeback in the boxing ring after a meteoric career which took him near the top and then catapulted him into the graveyard of fighters. Lou, now weighing 208 pounds, has won eight straight fights all by knockouts, in his comeback campain.

TORONTO, May 17 — (CP). — The boys in the services would be able to settle their hot stove or ice-box league arguments a lot easier if officials of the various sport organizations adopted the excellent suggestion made by Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith.

Smitty's plan is to have copies of sport record books supplied to all the Navy, Army, and R.C.A.F. camps both here and overseas. For instance, the N.H.L. might provide its new yearbook, and other sport bodies or publishing houses could kick in with their publications. The boys have an intense interest in all sports and questions about the best pitcher, the highest goal scorer, and so on are always cropping up in their discussions.

That's a suggestion that if followed would be appreciated by the servicemen. And as a morale-builder what could be more valuable than a quick reference library to settle that side-bet on how many goals Charlie Conacher scored in his peak year?

Who's muscle-bound?

It seems that the weightlifters in Montreal are just a little irked at the humorous way their "Mr. Montreal" contest the other night was handled by sportwriters.

The boys objected to their display of muscle-tensing being referred to as a male beauty contest and the undue emphasis placed on their classic Greek god posing. But what really put the heat under their collars was when someone unwittingly referred to some of the contestants as being muscle-bound from hoisting those big barbells. They might be a trifle overtrained, but muscle-bound, never.

Midweek meanderings:

Remember Turk Broda, you followers of service hockey teams? It is reported the ex-Maple Leaf is on his way to Britain with the Army....The Quebec Rugby Football Union probably will operate this fall with four teams back in the loop, R.C.A.F., Lachine, Navy, McGill and Verdun Grads. Huntingdon Army is a doubtful entry.. ..Hap Day, Toronto Leafs' coach, say there is no truth in the rumor he threatened to fine some of his players during their disastrous last game against Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup semi-finals. Hap says his boys had just played their hearts out against the superior Habitants, and that he is just as proud of them as if they had won. At least, they never quit trying....Two prominent Winnipeg athletes are missing after the sinking of the frigate H.M.C.S. Valleyfield They are Able Seaman Ritchie McDonald, 20, who played with Winnipeg Rangers, last year's Memorial Cup junior hockey champions, and Stoker Gordon Barefoot 20, of the 1942 St. Boniface Athletics.

FeminineCrowds Boost Senators

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(AP)— The ladies, bless 'em, are bringing a new era of prosperity to Washington's surprising second-place Senators, who loom as the capital's best pennant contenders in years.

Wacs, Waves, Spars, Girl Marines and government Kitty Foyles by the thousands are flocking to Griffith Stadium nightly to watch the Washington contingent of over-agers and Latin-Americans perform.

Since they started playing exclusively after dark, except on Sundays, the Senators have been attracting crowds unequalled since the championship days of 1933. And about 40 per cent of the fans are feminine.

NEW YORK, May 17.—(AP). — Since its part of the Navy's program to teach every sailor to swim, the Bainbridge, Md., naval training station is whopping it up with an invitation swim meet May 29....Adolf Keifer and Bill Smith will provide the home talent; Joe Verdeur will come from Philadelphia and the Commodores are hopeful that Yale's Alan Ford will join in.... John Glaab, Notre Dame's frosh tackle who looked good in spring drills, is a dead ringer (facially) for Albie Booth, former mighty mite of Yale fame. But Glaab is more than six feet and weighs 200.... The way Young Griffo, the famous old-time lightweight, used to work that stunt of standing handkerchief and betting you couldn't knock his hat off was to place the handkerchief in a doorway and then shutting the door in the bettor's face.

A Rookie a Day.

Mike Molosevich, Yankees' shortstop: Another wartime anomaly—a player who never showed promise of becoming a major leaguer in seven years as a Yankee farmhand now is the one who makes the world series champions click. Mike was hurriedly summoned from Kansas city this spring to replace Frank Crosetti....He broke into the line-up after Oscar Grimes was benched and turned out to be just the steadying influence the infield needed.... And no wonder—he was a steel pudler and soft coal miner before he was a ball player and those aren't flighty trades.

Bonus To Grooms Is Voted By Tracks

TORONTO, May 17 — (CP). — A meeting of horsemen and the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations decided at a meeting last night that race tracks in Ontario will pay the bonus to grooms leading horses to the paddock for the races. This decision replaces a recent ruling of the I.O.R.A. that horsemen pay a bonus of $5 to the grooms for this work.

The meeting agreed that the plan of having the tracks pay a fee would become effective at the four Toronto tracks—Woodbine, Thorncliffe, Long Branch, and Dufferin—and that the I.C.R.A. will confer with the Hamilton, Fort Erie, and Stamford Park tracks on a scale of bonuses these three feel they can pay.

Two sets of fees were set for the Toronto tracks. When the purse is more than $1,000 the bonus will be $3 to each groom with an additional $12 to the one leading a winner. When the purse is less than $1,000 the fee will be $2 with $8 additional for the groom leading a winner.

Evans Settles Fly Ball Rule

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 17—(AP). —When does Pete Gray, Memphis' one-armed outfielder, legally catch a fly ball, and when doesn't he?"

This question, cause of a heated field debate in a recent contest, today became the subject of a special 1,200-word ruling by Southern Association President Billy Evans.

In a recent game, a Birmingham player was on second when a fly was hit to Gray. The one-armed flychaser stabbed the ball and, with the runner speeding to third, rushed the intricate manoeuvre necessary to make the throw.

In placing the glove under the nub of his right arm in swift arc-like motion and letting the ball trickle onto his wrist and into his hand for the throw, Gray dropped the pellet.

Umpire Paul Blackard allowed the out, drawing vigorous protest from the Birmingham team.

In a bulletin to league managers and umpires, President Evans upheld Blackard, insisting at the same time: "Gray, despite his handicap, must be treated as any other ball player."

Evans' ruling on the legality of a catch by Gray said in part:

"Once Gray describes an arc with the ball in his gloved hand that carries ball and glove under the nub of his right arm Southern League umpires shall rule that the catch has been completed and the batter is out the moment this happens, even though in hurrying preparations for the throw, the ball is dropped to the ground.

"When there are no runners on the bases and no necessity for preparation on the part of Gray for a hurried throw, it is a different situation."

TRENT RIVER, May 17 (ENS).— Pickerel fishing opened on Saturday and fishing was very good from the piers over the week-end. The largest pickerel to date was a 6½-pounder landed by George Wannamaker on Monday evening.

Lollar Smacks No. 3 Home Run

By the Associated Press.

Sherm Lollar, Baltimore's 17-year-old kid catcher, to-day appeared to be a factor with Otto Denning, Joe Cicero, and Eddie Kobesky in the International League's home run chase.

Lollar smacked No. 3 last night as Baltimore and Montreal wallowed through three hours and two minutes of baseball and thundershowers before the Orioles took an 11-10 win in the 10th.

Montreal didn't go down without a struggle, coming up with three runs in the last of the 10th after Baltimore had scored four in the top half. With the trying run on second and the winning tally on first, Ed Stevens ended the spurt by lining into the hands of Stan Benjamin for the final out.

The Syracuse-Buffalo, Newark-Toronto, and Jersey City-Rochester games all were postponed on account of wet grounds.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Bill Nicholson, Cubs — Doubled with two out in last of ninth to score Ival Goodman with winning run, homered in second inning and batted in three runs against Brooklyn.

Thurman Tucker, White Sox — Poked two doubles and two singles boosting league leading average to .403 as Chicago ended Hank Borowy's victory streak at 11 in a row.

Ron Northey, Phils — His fourth homer of year gave Phillies winning runs in a 6-4 triumph over Cardinals.

Mickey Haefner, Senators—Held Cleveland to six singles, fanned three and handled three fielding chances for third victory.

Commons Seeks To Speed Up 1944 Estimates

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 17 —(CP)—The Commons, with its leaders prepared to speed up the work of the session, may possibly complete study of the war appropriation estimates this week and pave the way for the introduction of the budget next week.

The war estimates of only five departments remain to be studied as a result of a productive day yesterday. The war estimates of four departments—public works, fisheries, secretary of state and the Canadian postal corps—were disposed of during the day.

The busy sittings followed the announcement of Defence Minister Ralston, acting government leader, that he would meet House laders of the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties today to see what can be done to hustle the work of the session.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, said the Commons had sat for 59 days since January and had only 43 days until Aug. 1.

Several weeks ago, Finance Minister Ilsley said the budget likely would be ready for presentation about the middle of May. However, government officials have expressed their desire to see the war appropriations bill, which was introduced Feb. 11, disposed of before the budget is brought down.

Still to be studied by the House are the estimates of the Departments of Trade and Commerce, Pensions and Health, Mines and Resources and Finance. There are also a number of unadopted items in the Department of Agriculture war estimates.

The Commons stands adjourned today to allow various House committees to meet, but it is believed that the remaining estimates can be disposed of Thursday and Friday.

The variety of discussions on the estimates was preceded by an announcement by Pensions Minister Mackenzie that allowances payable to discharged service personnel under the post discharge re-establishment order will be increased by between $16 and $18 per month, beginning July 1.

Finance Minister Ilsley said a new civil service board of 16 members to deal with conditions of employment and grievances in civil service has been established.

Price Paid For Airport.

The price for the land at the airport in Gimli, Man., was a topic revived during study of the transport estimates. Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) said 724 acres of farm land had been bought in 1942 for $52,150 or $72 an acre, when the average purchase price to the farmers owning it had been less than $16 an acre.

Munitions Minister Howe said the airport had proved to be one of the cheapest R.C.A.F. fields of its type, although the price paid for land had been questioned. He said he took full responsibility for the transaction and was prepared to give evidence on the purchase before any inquiry board.

W. H. Golding (L-Huron Perth) said the Munitions Department stated that the value of the land was $45 per acre; the buildings were valued at an average of $20 per acre; the forced vacating was valuel at 10 per cent. or $6.40 per acre, which made a total of $72.

The transport estimates also gave members the occasion to pay tribute to the merchant marine. Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre), Hon R. B. Hanson (PC—York-Sunbury), Clarence Gillies (CCF—Cape Breton), and J. R. MacNicol (PC—Toronto Davenport), urged that merchant seamen be granted the same benefits as members of the armed forces.

Transport Minister Michaud said several government departments were working together preparing a plan of compensation for Canadian seamen who meet with accidents on the high seas.

Not Employees of the Crown

The seamen, unlike members of the armed forces, were not employees of the Crown. They were employed by private companies, although they were recruited by the government.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF — York South) said he had never seen human beings required to live under conditions such as these prevailing on the Canadian Government Ship Dollard when he visited her at Saint John, N.B., last fall.

Mr. Michaud said the men were responsible for the quarters in which they lived almost all the year around. When the department was informed of conditions, the men responsible were told they should change the bedding and fumigate the boat, and he believed this was done.

Postmaster-General Mulock had little trouble getting his estimates, totalling $385,000, through the committee. Not a single question was asked as the appropriation passed shortly before the adjournment.

GLACE BAY MINERS GET BACK PAY—Leo McKellop, a miner for 20 years, received $126 in back pay, when $730,000 was distributed in Glace Bay, N.S., to 5,000 miners. He plans to repair his home. The lady with the groceries is making sure her family can celebrate at dinner, following the pay distribution.

C.N.R. To Arrest Bothersome Boys

LINDSAY, May 17—(ENS)—"I can't understand the minds and the attitude of parents these days," remarked Ray Morden, C.N.R. special investigator, stationed at Lindsay, whose territory extends north to Haliburton and to Midland and east to Belleville.

The wanton destruction of railway property carried on by mere boys and older boys is hard to believe and parents seem to hold up their hands helplessly when asked to keep their children away from railway property."

Detective Morden reports that boys have been particularly destructive at the overhead bridge, which crosses the Scugog river, just east of the town. It took railway employees days to build up a steep bank, with large white stones; work that was absolutely necessary in order to make the tracks safe for traffic. The big stones were imbedded and terraced, but dozens of them have been deliberately pried out and rolled down the bank into the fence 75 yards away.

On the opposite side of the tracks boys have carried large stones from a pile, up to the tracks, on to the wooden span and deliberately tossed them into the river, just to hear them splash.

Detective Morden has decided to bring boys into court, to teach them and others a lesson. "Parents won't look after these boys, so there is nothing left to do, but exercise the law," said the officer.

Members of train crews have had their hair turn grey, so to speak, as they have seen the boys dash off the long overhead bridge, to places of safety, in order to escape oncoming trains. Boys even drag their bicycles up to the bridge, thus endangering their own lives.

Wanton destruction of property, and loitering on the property of the railway will not be tolerated in the future, according to Detective Morden.

Mr. Eden added that the Spanish government "also recently requested the Japanese government to arrange the early departure from Tangier of a member of the staff of the Japanese Embassy in Madrid who has been residing in Tangier in recent months."

Capt. Leonard Gammans, Conservative, asked if, when the German Counsul has left Tangier this would mean no German Nationals are left. Mr. Eden replied: "The position is that the list of German agents and German personages whom we wish to see removed is being given Spanish authorities. I think the answer to the question is yes but I would like notice."

Sir William Davidson, Conservative, asked: "Do I understand there is a danger of these German officials moving out of Tangier to somewhere along the coast and carrying on their machinations outside?"

Mr. Eden replied that the questioner "may imagine that these problems have been a little bit in our minds."

Although Dittmar said that "the question of when and where the blows will fall both east and west still is evading" as far as the Germans are concerned, other broadcasters expressed the view the period of waiting would not be long.

In Britain three Poles who recently escaped from Europe said at a press conference that a well-trained Polish underground army is ready to strike at a signal from exiled government in London.

In a move seen both as a security measure and as a double-check against absentees and deserters, military police at midnight completed a mass check-up of every man wearing the United States Army uniform in Britain.

All units except those in transit were confined to barracks for the previous 24 hours while credentials were scrutinized.

NAZIS ARE WARY

LONDON — (CP) — More than 50,000 persons have been forcibly evacuated from a town near Amsterdam as part of invasion preparations, says Vrij Nederland, Netherlands newspaper. The Germans left just a few Netherlanders behind in the hope that it would discourage the Allies from bombing the town.

I WANT 2000 PEOPLE TO TRY SYNTONA FOR ONLY 25 CENTS

SUFFERERS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE, WEAK KIDNEYS, LAZY LIVER, NERVOUSNESS AND GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION

EVERY PERSON who suffers can have a special introductory bottle of SYNTONA to try for ONLY 25 CENTS.

Simply read the offer below. Do this in your own interest.

This new and scientific medicine, known as SYNTONA, has helped so many people whom the readers of this page know personally. Therefore, we offer the first trial bottle at 25 cents, because we believe the people who are benefited will keep on using it. The offer is good for Friday and Saturday of this week only.

Science brings us methods of preparation and preservation which enable us to bring this famous medicine within reach of all sufferers. Permits hundreds to get away from the habitual use of nerve-deadening pills and harsh drugs.

What It Is!

This is no salts or pill, nor is it a powder, capsule or tablet.

SYNTONA is an advanced medical compound of 12 of the finest medicinal herbs, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts within ten minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness, bloating and belching. At the same time SYNTONA drives the poisons from the kidneys and relieves headaches, bladder irritation and weakness.

NOW, whether SYNTONA will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25 cents, only a fraction of its worth. This introductory offer is good Friday and Saturday ONLY, so read the rest of this announcement and act at once. Do this in fairness to yourself and your family.

What It Will Do!

SYNTONA will cleanse your bowels (gradually — not drastic or severe), and tone them into daily action.

It will bring out awful gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been inside of you a long time, causing you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions and lazy, drowsy, tired feeling.

SYNTONA will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and give grand relief from acid indigestion, bloating, sour stomach, shortness of breath and dyspepsia.

IT WILL improve your appetite and promote proper assimilation of food for ENERGY and RESISTANCE.

SYNTONA will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

It will make your liver more active, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Relieves those with rheumatic and neuritis pains, by ridding the system of excess acidity and irritating waste matter.

IT WILL clean up skin eruptions caused by the impurities in the organs, will overcome the sallowness or "muddiness" that is due to sluggish liver.

SYNTONA will make your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels more active, build you up in general and make you FEEL like a DIFFERENT MAN or WOMAN, younger than you may have felt in YEARS.

Are You

Receiving the benefits of LOW-COST life insurance?

HISTORY HIGHLIGHTS

. . . important to every life insurance buyer

Just 75 years ago the first Mutual Life of Canada representative began assisting his neighbours to gain the benefits of low-cost life insurance protection afforded by his Company.

Since then The Mutual Life has grown steadily and surely. Insurance protection provided for Canadians has advanced from $500,000 in 1869 to over $700,000,000 in 1944; and in the intervening years over $85,000,000 have been paid in death and disability claims, $120,000,000 in matured endowments, annuity payments, etc. and an additional $89,000,000 in dividends to policyholders.

At the present time 180,000 Canadian families are enjoying the benefits of low-cost life insurance in this "mutual" company . . . The Mutual Life of Canada.

ALIKE . . . yet different

Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company. Evidence of the satisfaction of Mutual Life policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life, and each year about 35% of the new business comes from our policyholders.

Have a Mutual Life representative explain the special features of this Company . . . and let him help you select a policy adapted to your particular circumstances.

FARMERS NEED HELP!

Canadian farmers for five years have responded splendidly to Canada's urgent need of food.

This year the need is greater—and workers available on the farms are even fewer.

City, town and village folk must help the farmer to give us the food we need.

For our Armed Services—
For our home population—
For the United Nations—
For rescued peoples.

If you can spare your holidays, or odd days, or even half days to assist farmers, don't fail to do so this year.

If you can take steady work on a farm, by all means do so.

Your services in the farming industry are this year vitally necessary to victory.

PARKING FINES

Three motorists who entered written pleas of guilty to breaches of the parking bylaw were fined $2 and $1 costs in police court today. They were H. B. McInnis, Michael Quinlan and A. L. Morton.

MAJOR BYGOTT BEREAVED

Mr. and Mrs. Alpine MacNab, 494 Weller street, were called to Campbellford today because of the death there this morning of Miss Kathleen Bygott, daughter of Major and the late Mrs. J. M. Bygott.

CASE ADJOURNED

A charge against Harold Sholer, of failing to provide for his children since January 1, was adjourned for a week in police court this morning at the request of W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for the accused. Mr. Fair suggested that the matter might be cleared up if the adjournment were granted.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

Cars belonging to John Elliott, R.R. No. 5 and Arthur Parker, Omemee were damaged Tuesday in an intersection accident at Reid and King streets. Parker was driving west on King street and Scott south on Reid street and the two vehicles came into contact at the intersection.

DURHAM SUBSCRIPTIONS

With 147 per cent of its objective, Hope township led the municipalities of Durham in carrying the county's Sixth Victory Loan to success. Some of the others were: Darlington 112; Bowmanville 113; Cartwright 109; Manvers 90; Clarke 82 and Cavan 72, according to Port Hope residents. The county's total was 107 per cent.

NOW OVERSEAS

Pte. Richard M. O'Brien, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O'Brien, Union street, is serving with the R.C.O.C. overseas. He worked at the Outboard Marine before enlisting in April, 1943. The family formerly lived in Norwood where he attended High school, and one brother, Dvr. W. G. O'Brien, is with the R.C.A.M.C. at London. Another brother, Kenneth, has received his medical discharge from the R.C.A.F.

A COSTLY FIRE ALARM

Some one sent in a false fire alarm Tuesday night and it was an expensive prank so far as Howard Hewitt, 223 Prince street, was concerned. Police investigating the false alarm questioned Hewitt and in doing so discovered he had half a mickey mouse of liquor in his pocket. Hewitt pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having liquor in a place other than a residence and Magistrate Langley imposed a fine of $15 and $2.50 costs.

In WAR ZONE

Pilot Officer Leslie Graham, R.C.A.F. who trained as a pilot, is serving with the Air Force overseas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham, 599 Harvey street, and attended the Collegiate Institute where he was active in football.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Charged with creating a disturbance, Harold Churnsides, Bridgenorth, who returned from overseas late last fall, entered a plea of not guilty. "I was not swearing, fighting or screaming," he told the court. The crown was not ready to proceed this morning and accordingly the case was adojurned until tomorrow.

WANT MARKET CLEARED

Because of the inspection of the Howe division, Sea Cadets, on the market square Friday evening, the police department is asking motorists to keep the square and the market laneway free of cars from 5 o'clock on. By acting on this order car owners will contribute to the success of the ceremony and facilitate the work of the police.

DAMAGES WHEEL, DRIVES OFF

Police will probably lay a charge against an Emily motorist who is said to have driven off after his automobile had become entangled with a bicycle parked at the curb outside a George street store. The bicycle was dragged some distance by the car and then dropped under the rear wheels and damaged. When witnesses of the affair called to the driver to stop he merely shouted back that the bicycle had no business to be there and drove off. The damaged wheel belonged to Robert Carney, Kenneth avenue.

WRETCHED MIGRANTS

As an allusion to the present season of migration it may be reported that two coaches filled with bedraggled "birds of prey" passed through Peterborough Tuesday morning as part of the C.N.R. train arriving from Belleville, and heading north. As sons of the single headed black eagle, if you know your heraldic and national symbols, their wings have been clipped for the duration; and if you feel about them as some folks do you would heartily agree that their brief and transitory presence was a contamination of the community that remained unaware of their passage. The prisoners have been taken to Chatham.

Obituaries

WILLIAM ROGERS.

Supervisor of Stores at the C.G.E. prior to his retirement due to ill health in April, 1941, William Rogers, 6 Aberdeen avenue, passed away at Nicholls Hospital Tuesday. He was in his 66th year.

Temple Service Held For Brig. A. J. Smith

The funeral of Brigadier Arthur J. Smith of the Salvation Army, whose death Saturday at his home in Toronto came in his 66th year, was held from the Peterborough Temple to Emily Cemetery Tuesday afternoon. The service was conducted by Col. G. W. Peacock of Toronto, chief secretary of the Salvation Army for Canada, who referred to Brig. Smith as "a princely man", and praised him for his long years of tireless social work in the interests of the unemployed and unfortunate.

"His work was widely known and widely launched," the speaker said, "so much so that his efforts were once the subject of special commendation from a former Cabinet minister."

Brig. Smith's principal work had been at the Sherbourne Street Hostel in Toronto of which he was in charge the past 13 years, said Sgt. Major Frank Robinson of Peterborough, who also recalled the fire of 1923 that gutted the Temple at a time when Brig. Smith had been in command here, and his fine work in restoring things to order after that disastrous loss.

Speaks of Father

Benjamin Smith of Peterborough, one of the Brigadier's four sons, spoke of his father's influence and particularly of his musicianship. During his career he had trained 18 men who were now bandmasters either in the Salvation Army or in Canada's Armed Forces, Mr. Smith said.

Among the tributes received was a cable from Gen. George L. Carpenter in London, head of the world-wide Salvation Army. His message said: "Mrs. Carpenter and I held Brig. Smith in true affection. His faith and compassion for the friendless and wandering brought unfailing joy and inspiration to us. Praise God for his triumph and passing."

Another message was received from Benjamin Orames, territorial commissioner of the Salvation Army in Canada.

Maj. J. Wood, commanding officer of the Peterborough Temple, offered prayers, and Adj. Cyril Everett of Toronto read from the scriptures. Hymns that were favorites with the late Brigadier Smith, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and "Near To The Heart Of God", were sung by the Songster Brigade and a male quartet. The last song heard by the dying man over the air, "Wonderful Story Of Love," was played by the Salvation Army Band. The closing prayers were offered by Ralph C. Braund.

Pallbearers were the four sons of Brig. Smith, Benjamin, Bernard, Bramwell and Wycliffe, and two grandsons.

Three Months In Jail For Beating Wife

Three months imprisonment in the county jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on Charles David Baker, Rink Street, who pleaded guilty previously to assaulting and beating his wife, Audrey Baker.

Giving evidence in the case this morning Officer C. J. McGillen stated that when he and Constable H. Mesley had arrived at the Baker home in answer to a call, Mrs. Baker, her arms covered with blood was waiting for them on the verandah. Afterward they had discovered the blood came from a very bad cut on the back of the woman's head.

Baker, the officer said, admitting hitting his wife and said that in falling the woman had hit her head against a chair breaking off the arm.

"I would say that both Baker and his wife had been drinking", the officer stated.

Mrs. Dorothy Maguire, police matron, also testified to the nature of Mrs. Baker's injuries. The woman had been taken to the hospital she said and nine clips had been used to close the cut in the back of her head.

READY FOR BATTLE—Pte. Wellington Wood of R.C.A.M.C. is serving overseas. He is the son of Mrs. M. Wood, 735 Aylmer Street. Enlisting in March, 1942, with the Prince of Wales Rangers (C.A.), Pte. Wood later transferred to the Medical Corps. Before joining the Army, he worked at the Western Clock Company.

INSPECTING OFFICER—Among the many high-ranking R.C.A.F. officials visiting Peterborough Friday for the second annual inspection parade of the 164 Air Cadet Squadron will be Group Captain R. C. Ripley, C.A., of R.C.A.F. Station, Mountainview, who will take the salute. The parade, which will be held on Confederation Square, will get under way at 7.30 p.m. sharp.

Two Soldiers Sent To Jail

Two soldiers who had pleaded guilty last week to assaulting Constable Andre Dalton in the execution of his duty in a fight in the Mayfair restaurant were given jail sentences by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Corp. Cecil Lefranier was sentenced to one month's imprisonment, to date back to May 11.

"This is the man who broke the constable's nose," commented Magistrate Langley.

"It is my first offence and I am very sorry it happened," Lefranier told the court.

Corp. Roderick McGinnis was given 20 days in jail, dating back to May 11. It was stated that he had held the officer's arms when Constable Dalton was attempting to arrest Lefranier.

"I am very sorry," McGinnis said when asked by the court if he wished to say anything.

"Unfortunately you have got yourself involved in the kind of offence that we will have to stop," said Magistrate Langley. "We cannot have the police assaulted while they are carrying out their duties."

Miss K. Bygott Dies In Sleep

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17 (ENS) —Death came silently in her sleep during the night to Miss Kathleen Bygott, daughter of Major J. M. Bygott and the late Mrs. Bygott, who was found dead in bed this morning.

Miss Bygott was employed on the ledger records of the Bank of Montreal, of which she had been a member of the staff for fifteen years, and had attended to her regular duties on Tuesday. She is survived by her father; one brother, Major Jack Bygott overseas, and two sisters, Mrs. J. E. H. Free of Smith Falls and Mrs. W. A. Nelson of Campbellford. Funeral arrangements had not been made this morning.

Make Exchange

DURBAN, South Africa, May 17 —(CP)—More than 1,500 German civilians interned in south and south-west Africa are about to be exchanged for a simliar number of British civilians in Germans, it was announced yesterday. The Swedish liner Drottnigholm will take the first 900 from Port Elizabeth to Lisbon next month.

Defers Sentence On Soldier

After Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had read a record produced by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., he decided to postpone sentencing Pte. Hubert Frank Wright, 38, R.C.A.M.C., who had pleaded guilty to assaulting Mrs. Hazel B. Downer, Bolivar street, until tomorrow morning.

Wright had been remanded until today for sentence but when the magistrate discovered that the man had a previous conviction for a somewhat similar offence in 1928, he stated that he wanted a little more time to think the matter over and he accordingly remanded the soldier until Thursday.

Plan Review Of Sea Cadets

Lieut. Commander Hugh Plaxton, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Cataraqui, Kingston, and area C.O. for the Sea Cadet Corps in this district, will conduct the first annual inspection of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Howe" in the Market Square Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. He will be accompanied by the Sea Cadet liaison officer.

Following the formal inspection there will be a demonstration of company drill by the entire ship's company, and a demonstration of its musicianship by the cadets' band. A unique and interesting feature on the parade grounds will be the formation of "human letters" by picked divisions of the local corps.

The ship—which is Victoria Hall —will then be inspected by Lt.-Com. Plaxton, and there will be demonstrations of signalling, bends and hitches, and various other activities in which the boys take part.

No Shortage There

PHILADELPHIA, May 17—(AP).—Agents of the U.S. alcohol tax unit raided the Little Rathskeller here yesterday and seized whisky, wine and beer valued at $45,000, two days after they seized 484 cases of liquor from a roller skating rink in the same building.

When Lumber Mill Burned In 1896 Illumination Seen For 20 Miles

A fire which illuminated the county for miles and which at a distance of 20 miles appeared as if the whole town of Peterborough was on fire occurred on Sunday, October 29, 1896. An old copy of the Examiner now in possession of Gordon Munro of the Peterborough Lumber Company tells about this fire on the banks of the Otonabee in Ashburnham which partially destroyed the Dickson Lumber Company's mill and completely wiped out the Donel Planing Mill, Green's Pump factory and a million and a half of shingles. G. Walter Green had just recently moved to Peterborough and was also operating a factory in Millbrook. The story of the fire is as follows.

A large portion of the Dickson Company's milling property lies devastated as the result of a disastrous fire, which burned furiously for five hours.

Wind Saves Other Mills

The direction of the wind was all that kept the fire from spreading and destroying the contents of the big lumber yards, and the many valuable mills belonging to the estate, and situated on the raceway.

The fire was the hottest and brightest that Peterborough has ever known, and the citizens had an opportunity of judging for themselves the competency of the fire brigade, which did such magnificent work in confining the flames. The wind blew the sparks directly across the river, threatening buildings on the west side. Thousands of citizens crowded the river banks to watch the flames, and the entire shingle mill was soon a burning mass.

Green's Pump Factory, also part of the Dickson estate, was the next building to become prey of the flames, and then followed Donel's Planing Mill. The Consolidated Milling Company was also threatened, but its fire proof protection of sheet iron stopped the flames from spreading further along the river.

Bucket Brigade Formed

While the firemen were busy fighting the flames, a bucket brigade was formed, and did a grand service between the mills and the river, by keeping the ground saturated with water.

The Dickson Company's loss was about $25,000, and the loss in shingles and wood amounted to $7,000 more. Mr. Donel's loss was estimated at $7,000, and G. Walter Green's also several thousand.

One of the firemen who got special mention for his work was the late Archie Moore, who in later years was County Constable of Peterborough County. S. Monro of the Consolidated Milling Company, was also a tireless worker, along with R. Neil, and Mr. Parker of the Ontario Bank, C. K. Martin, P. Begley, William Lang, Edward Sutton and George Robinson.

Small Boy Is Crushed By Wagon Wheel

His head crushed by the wheel of a wagon laden with slabs, seven-year-old Robert David White, son of Walter White, 427 Braidwood Avenue, North Monaghan, died in an ambulance Tuesday afternoon on his way to hospital.

The accident happened in the yard of a wood-sawing plant at Braidwood Avenue and Monaghan Road, operated by Charles Wood on a contract for the Scott Lumber Co.

Lloyd Robinson, foreman of the plant and Charles Dew, Edison Avenue were using a truck to haul a wagon carrying slabs. The White boy, with another little fellow, were playing in the yard and the victim of the accident climbed up on the step of the truck, unknown to the occupants.

Apparently he was jolted off the step as the truck travelled over the rough ground. The wagon, towed behind the truck passed over the boy's head.

Robinson picked up the badly injured boy and carried him to the lad's home across the road from the scene of the accident. Medical aid was called and the victim was being moved to hospital when death came.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Price Morris, Constable Bruce Menzies, North Monaghan and Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton.

Victory Gardens Will Be Judged

Victory gardens and plots are being included in the Horticultural Society's lawn and garden competition, entries for which must be with the secretary by June 1.

There are four classes: (1) best vegetable garden, lot over 20 by 30 feet (more than 600 square feet); best vegetable garden, lot under 600 square feet; the best vegetable plot not situated on home grounds, over 600 square feet; and vegetable plot not situated on home grounds, under 600 square feet. First prize in each instance will be a $4 War Savings Certificate; second, $2 in War Savings Stamps; and third $1 in War Savings Stamps.

This competition is open to the general public. There are five classes in the lawn and garden competition; two are confined to amateurs, "no professional help to be employed, and there are two classes for rock gardens.

W. C. Wilks, 584 Chamberlain street (phone 7788) is the secretary, and Mrs. G. K. Fraser is president.

The Society's flower and vegetable show will be held in the market hall in August. The prize list has been issued showing nearly twenty classes comprising a section designated, Victory Garden Special. Prizes are offered for collections of vegetables and for a range of products from potatoes to peppers.

Fireman Nearly Hit Motorist Fined

"He narrowly missed hitting a fire truck and a fireman had to jump out of the way to avoid being struck," said Inspector J. F. Reid in police court this morning after Aaron Niemen had pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. The inspector said that the fire department had been called out to an alarm box at Hazlitt and Douro street and that Niemen had driven his car so fast that he nearly ran into the fire apparatus, standing on the street.

"Too much speed under the circumstances," commented Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

"I didn't see the fireman until I was nearly on top of him," the accused stated.

"You are supposed to see," said the court in imposing a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs.

Missing Girl Sought By Her Mother

Mrs. Mary Scott, Toronto, is in the city for a few days trying to locate her 14-year-old daughter, Doreen, who left her home in Toronto nearly three months ago and is thought to be located here. Her mother has had several letters from her, bearing a Peterborough postmark.

"I am staying with friends at 320½ Charlotte street," Mrs. Scott told a reporter this morning, "and I would like to hear from any one who may have seen my daughter. She could be very easily identified because she has a bad scald mark on her left arm all the way from her shoulder to her elbow."

Doreen is described as being big for her age, blonde and blue-eyed.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

MAY 17, 1940—Belgian government moved to Ostend from Brussels which Germans claimed to have entered; British withdrew to west of city. Germans took Louvain and Malines and aimed at splitting British and French forces in battle at Avesnes, north of St. Quentin.

OVERSEAS TOO—Pilot Officer Grattan (Barney) Dundas of the R.C.A.F. is another Peterborough airman serving overseas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dundas, 536 Downie Street, and is a former employee of the payroll staff at Genelco. PO. Dundas enlisted in March, 1943, and received his commission as a navigator at London. A brother, AC.2 Donald Dundas, is stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Edmonton.

Brinton Carpet Reaches $950 For War Victims

Considerable activity by air raid forces of the enemy was reported over Britain on Monday, leaving in their trail a number of people who would be injured. Even if they return to normal health, they will, in all probability, have to start life a new as far as setting up their homes are concerned.

After nearing of this type of atrocity to a civilian population for almost four years, there is such a thing that one may become hardened to it, and lose that truly sympathetic feeling that seemed to be so tremendously widespread when this first began. If these conditions were of such a nature as to strike a sympathetic chord in people's hearts in 1940, they should be no means be any the less capable of doing the same thing in 1944.

Constant Need Kept In Mind.

One group in this city has particularly shown that they not only catch the vision of their potentiality for doing some good in helping these stricken people but could follow it up and never lose sight of the need that still prevails. This is fully evidenced by their repeated gifts for that purpose through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund.

Then it would seem that if anything, they were even stepping up their help in this direction, for today sees this group of employees at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., Ltd. credited with a much larger gift than has appeared for some time, their 72nd donation amounting to $25 which brings them within $50 of attaining the $1,000 mark in total aid that they have so far given to this one fund up to the present time.

When the final story of the history of this fund and war assist comes to be written, their record will be such as to cause them to look back on their achievement in this respect with justificable pride, and feel that they had a real hand in this morale uplifting and humanitarian assist in the war effort.

The penny box on the counter in the Examiner Office has once again come through with more help for the fund, this time the amount it contained standing at $1.05.

GORE'S LANDING, May 17.— (ENS).—A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Clare Harris this week in honor of Rev. Alan Johnson and Mrs. Johnson of Brampton, who are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Harris. Mr. Johnson was moved from the Perrytown parish (which includes Gore's Landing) nearly two years ago, to Brampton. Members of the congregation of St. George's-on-the-Hill were present, including Mr. and Mrs. T. D. McGaw, of Toronto, who are spending a few days at the Rice Lake House, opening their summer home.

St. Catharines Arena Suggested Model

In the course of their hockey arena enquiries, the local committee which has undertaken the preliminary of obtaining information was impressed by results demonstrated by the Parks Commission in St. Catharines.

Peterborough has for years looked at the idea from time to time, but succeeding councils decided in turn that satisfactory results were yielded by the local system of leaving the administration of parks to a committee of the council. The essential advantage of that plan was the retention of expenditure in the hands of the council. Parks Commissions are authorized to make certain requisitions on municipal funds for their operations.

Peterborough's aldermen have invariably decided the Commission plan would involve considerable increase in the appropriations for parks purposes.

An instance of successful financing and extension of parks use was afforded by the St. Catharines Parks Commission in promoting lacrosse accommodation. In that respect it should be emphasized that St. Catharines has been one of the little group of Ontario cities which have kept lacrosse alive and flourishing, in a league with Mimico, Brampton, Brantford, Hamilton and a few other centres.

Increased Reenue

At the beginning of 1935, lacrosse was played in a bowl which consisted of an open air skating rink and a few "open bleachers" from which the Parks Board took 10 per cent of the gate. The Board, at the request of the Lacrosse Club, installed flood lights that year costing $869.93, and increased the percentage of the take at the gate from 10 to 25 per cent for the rest of the year. Further improvements were made during 1936-37, '38, and '39, for a total expenditure of $8,233 by the Parks Board.

Total receipts for the same period amounted to $17,556.63.

"The statement of receipts indicate that the 25 per cent levy on receipts by the Board continued until 1940, and with the original outlay recovered the Board reduced its share to 20 per cent of the gate money.

From this one source, and apart from its hockey arena, and any other sources of revenue which it may have, the St. Catharines Parks Commission received in those years $9,323.63 from that investment in a lacrosse bowl. Trees were planted around its exterior, eventually obscuring the tall board fence, and the whole arrangement was raised to a striking level of improvement.

Improve Playgrounds

The surplus funds received from the lacrosse venture were expended by the Board on its playgrounds system. The series of playgrounds were even drained, and the Peterborough deputation on its visit to St. Catharines was sharply impressed by the city's parks enterprise based on the Commission plan. The facts elicited on that point demonstrated the capability of the Parks Boards of St. Catharines to supervise its park investments with profit.

Furthermore, the Parks Board also operates the hockey arena.

New Day Opens For Farm Hands

Advertisements for farm help are undergoing a radical change if one of them in to-day's Examiner is a straw in the wind. "Holidays with pay" is casually mentioned in this "ad" although it must be sounding a new note in the quest for worthwhile workers.

Windswept Farms, in the lake country up around Bobcaygeon, needs an experienced and capable poultry man, and they are raising the ante to get the man they want. And it is none of the old stereotyped "hired man wanted" that is dangling this job before the thinned ranks of the men who know what to do with a lot of chickens.

"Separate house, electricity, telephone, opportunity to participate in the farm profits, holidays with pay, garden."

The hired man who gets that job should take over with some sense of ordinary human dignity which never obtains any kindling and uplift from the agricultural estimate of the worth of hired help. And that's not critical of farmers as a whole, or individually either. They have maintained all along that they are willing to help to pay what their farm proceeds warrant; and beyond a certain peak they cannot bid without impairing thir own estate.

Rev. F. Craik To Be Delegate Children's Aid Convention

The first meeting of the new board of directors of the Children's Aid Society took place Tuesday afternoon in the society's rooms. No progress was reported on the problem of securing adequate office accommodation for the Society, but inquiries will be continued. The chairman, Alderman James Dutton announced the conference of Children's Aid Societies being held in Toronto, June 1 and 2, and asked members of the board to attend if at all possible. Rev. F. Craik was named as one representative from Peterborough, and the matter of the second delegate was left in the hands of the chairman.

Mrs. G. R. Marshall gave the report of the sewing committee, which showed a total of 64 articles mended. She also reported the results of a personal canvass to get good used clothing and other needed supplies for the shelter. She said that she had called Mrs. H. Mason, Mrs. H. Martin, Mrs. A. Sollitt, Mrs. M. Breckenridge, Mrs. R. Rose, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. Robertson Davis, and Mrs. F. Hills, and that all ladies had responded with generous donations of clothing, draperies, and toys, which would be of invaluable aid to the shelter. The sewing committee will disband until fall, and Mr. Dutton expressed the appreciation of the board to the committee, for the time and effort spent in a a worthy cause.

The problem of the distinction between the respective powers of the house and property committees was brought up, and a suggestion that the chairman of the house committee be a member of the property committee, was adopted. Members decided that an increase in salary of $100 a year be granted Miss E. Elliott.

Need Cooperation.

In the absence of Miss R. Young, superintendent, who is attending a bi-annual conference in Winnipeg, Mrs. J. Wharry read the superintendent's report. A total of 364 visits was made during the month of April, and 158 office interviews conducted. The report stated that better results could be obtained in the work with children if parents recognized the problem, and were prepared to cooperate for the betterment of the child. Mention was made of an idea put forth by the Hamilton Children's Aid Society. This Society felt that there was a need for a provincial institution for the difficult teen age girl," who was not getting along in the community because of delinquent tendencies, but who had not appeared before a magistrate. The report expressed agreement with this plan, since "too frequently, by the time any child reached court, the chances for helping him are much less, than if he had been looked after earlier."

Forty-seven cases were brought to the attention of the Society. Of these, 40 were families, and six, unmarried mothers. Plans for the summer are under way, and the difficulty of obtaining new foster homes in the city was stressed. It was stated that it was hoped that some of the children would be able to enjoy a camp holiday as in other years.

New Employee.

Mrs. J. H. Vernor gave an account of an executive meeting of the Red Cross, and said that it had been decided to employ a qualified, experienced person, who would be classed as a "social service worker," and who would be under the direction and prepared to work with all welfare organizations in the city, but would be paid by the Red Cross. She said that it was expected that a worker could be engaged by Fall. Mr. Dutton expressed the appreciation of the board to the Red Cross, and said that he felt that the Council would help if any assistance were needed.

The shelter report, given by Mrs. J. S. Fanning, said that eight children remained under care in the shelter, and that the garden had been planted. The June meeting of the Society will be held in the shelter.

RECENT BRIDE—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Joseph Lillico, who were married recently in Murray Street Baptist Church, are pictured above after the ceremony. The bride, the former Anna Doreen Kidd, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kidd, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Lillico.

Mrs. E. Chambers President Of H.S. Council

Mrs. E. Chambers was re-elected president of the Home and School Council at the annual meeting and election of officers. Other members of the executive are as follows: Vice-presidents, Mrs. C. Crowe and Mrs. H. H. Graham; recording secretary, Mrs. L. Vass; corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. Laderach; treasurer, Mrs. J. J. Craig; executive members, Mrs. A. Ellis, Mrs. L. Hale, Mrs. G. Robinson Mrs. M. Parry and Mrs. A. Nelson. Mrs. R. Parnall, a member of the Board of Education, and a past-president of the Council, presided for the election.

Annual reports given showed that progress had been made in two matters of vital interest to the Council; the raising of the standards of films shown at children's matinees, and the introduction of "health education" teaching in the schools. In connection with the films, a resolution forwarded to the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations was carried at the recent convention and the support of the whole organization will be assured.

The resolution for sex education to be given senior pupils by "youth guidance leaders," which met with the approval of all educational leaders at the Ontario Educational Association convention, and also with ministerial group meeting for a conference, is still under consideration by the Department of Education. The members, in sending this resolution, said that, although increased interest has been promoted regarding health education, and the prevention and treatment of communicable diseases, further education is vitally necessary. Appreciation for the help received in this connection from Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., and Dr. Robert Nott, was voiced by the group.

Mention was also made of the assistance given by K. Wightman, school inspector, when he was asked about the need for special classes for retarded girl pupils, so that they could be offered the same advantages given to boys. Playground supervision and the use of radios in the schools were also discussed.

Mrs. E. Chambers presided and Mrs. C. Crowe and her committee from the Queen Mary Association, served refreshments.

Boys Overseas Find Hotels Second Homes

The longing for a pleasant, homey atmosphere, felt by Canadian boys overseas, and their pleasure at being able to meet other Canadians in comfortable surroundings, was stressed by Miss Jean McPherson addressing a group in the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening. Miss McPherson said that the Canadians were the finest boys in the world, and that she was proud to be able to help in some small way, to make their leaves more pleasant.

She was formerly chief hostess of the Y.M.C.A.'s residential hotels in London, and explained her duties, and the comforts which were offered to Canadians on leave. She explained that on their first furlough, the Canadians usually spent their time seeing London, but on subsequent leaves, they remained at the hotel, and joined in the various activities offered for their amusement.

Mrs. McPherson assured mothers that their sons were being looked after, and told of the numerous letters she had written to mothers in Canada when she had returned, and of several she had contacted with special messages from Canadian soldiers she had known in England.

Second Home

The speaker said that the soldiers particularly liked the homey atmosphere of the hotels taken over by the Y.M.C.A., and spent all their leaves there. She explained that in the early days of the war, Canadian soldiers on leave in London often could not find suitable accommodations. Therefore, the Y.M.C.A. took over four hotels, complete, with staffs, and, with very few changes, operated them on a basis which was easily accessible to any soldier. A comfortable bed and complete breakfast, without, however, the "old-fashioned eggs—the ones with shells on," was available for about 60 cents.

Miss McPherson began her talk with a description of a town preparing for war, and of the changes which took place in a remarkably short time. She had been spending her holidays in a little town in Brittany when war was declared, and said that within 36 hours every man had been mobilized, telephone and telegraph communications barred to civilians; and blackout regulations were in force. She explained that she had decided then to become a welfare worker among army men, and described her first position, with the British Leave Club in Paris. Shortly after, she joined the Canadian Y.M.C.A. War Services in England, and took over the job as hostess.

One Her Toes

"I was really a one-woman information bureau," laughed Miss McPherson, "since I had to know where the best concerts were playing, as well as the most exciting wrestling and boxing matches." Her description of the boys' preparations for the first dance when Canadian service women were to be present, was particularly heart-warming.

The Y.M.C.A. had asked the Women's Voluntary Services to take charge of the evening, and Mrs. N. D. Seaton, chairman of the W.V.S., presided and introduced the speaker. Mrs. W. E. Fanning moved the vote of thanks, and Miss Roberta Keifer was at the piano. The Y.W.C.A. offered the rooms.

Thirty Friends Attend Party

Approximately 30 members and friends of the Eastern Gladioli Society gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Hall, 577 Bethune street, for a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Hall. Mrs. Hall received several lovely gifts from her friends, and, when lunch was served, cut two birthday cakes, one decorated in pink and green, and the other, a chocolate cake, decorated in white. The tea table was centred with a large blue hydrangia plant.

The evening was spent in playing cards, and five tables of progressive euchre and one table of whist were played. Winners of the euchre were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Clarke, first; Mrs. J. Howard Hall, second; and Mrs. Donald Carter, consolation. Whist winners were Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Piercey, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ball, Mr. and and Mrs. A. Maynard, Mrs. Donald Carter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Business Women Hear Rev. E. Whan

The new Canadians, and the part present Candians must play in helping them to re-adjust themselves to a new way of living, was stressed by Rev. J. Whan, in his address to the supper meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Rev. Whan warned against the danger of these new groups living in segregated districts within Canada's borders, and apart from the rest of the country.

He reminded the group that many of the newcomers were people of high intelligence and great technical skill, and stressed the responsibility towards these people, which every present Canadian must feel.

Since the meeting was the first of the fiscal year, the business period was devoted to organizing committees, naming group leaders and conveners. It was decided that in future, all the activities of the club will be in the hands of groups, which will be responsible for the Red Cross work, club programs telephoning, social activities and federation matters. The members again voted a sum of money, to send two girls from the Children's Shelter, to the Y camp for one week during the summer.

Correspondence dealing with the proposed arena and recreational centre was discussed. The members felt that some plan to provide wholesome and supervised recreation, to offset the spread of juvenile delinquency, was certainly needed, but decided that such an important matter required more discussions. It was hoped that a speaker, with accurate knowledge of future plans, could be secured, to address the fireside group meeting on June 5.

Misses Marie Derry, Marilyn Pomeroy and Willa Wright played several piano trios. The new president, Mrs. Bertha Austin presided. Miss Anne Jamieson, retiring president, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by Miss M. Dawson, on behalf of the club. The supper tables were decorated in patriotic vein. The north-end group will be in charge of the June meeting.

Trinity Sunday School Has Special Service

APSLEY, May 17—(ENS).—Mother's Day was observed by pupils of Trinity United Sunday School with a suitable service. "Mothers of Canada" were taken by four girls. An Indian Mother represented by Margarite McColl; a Pioneer Mother represented by Norma Hales; a New Canadian Mother, Erma Elliott, and a Mother of Today, Marilyn Windsor.

The story, "A Christian Home and a New China" was told by Mrs. Arthur Earnshaw. This is a story of the life of China's first lady, "Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

The senior girls sang an anthem, "What A Friend We Have In Mother." Miss Olga Whitmore led in prayer.

A beautiful potted plant was placed on the altar by Mrs. Freddie Mann in memory of her grandmother, Mrs. Buchanan who passed away last July and who had taken the part of mother in a short service last Mother's Day. Mrs. Esau Tucker took the part of mother this year and gave candy to each child as had Mrs. Buchanan last year. While grouped around her the girls sang.

Mrs. D. Newberry announced the hymn; Mrs. Joseph Tucker took the prayers and her daughter, Myrtle Tucker, read the Scripture; Miss Gladys Langton of Peterborough gave a splendid talk on "Mother's of the Bible." The choir sang two anthems. 'Faith Of Our Mothers" and "Will My Mother Know Me There."

Beef Hakkebøf

You've never tasted real "HAMBURGER" until you've tried this "hakkebøf" (Danish).

Cook 4 cups of sliced, pared potatoes in boiling, salted water for 10 minutes. Drain and arrange in a greased 1½ quart casserole. Melt 4 tablespoons of shortening in saucepan. Stir in 4 tablespoons of flour slowly. Add 2 cups of milk, stirring until thickened. Add pepper and 1 teaspoon of salt to the sauce. Pour sauce over potatoes. Mix 1 pound of ground shoulder of beef, 3 tablespoons of chili sauce, 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce, 2 tablespoons of minced onion and 1 teaspoon of salt. Form into balls, about 10, and place on top of sauce. Bake in an uncovered dish in a moderate oven 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

H. P., the good old English type sauce, adds an appetising flavour also to meats, fish, stews, salads and sandwiches.

Lindsay Airman Rescued In Time For Party

LINDSAY, May 17 (ENS)—Flight Lieutenant Gordon Frederick, of Lindsay, is a young officer of the R.C.A.F., who has had his share of thrills and spills in the present world war. A few months ago he was invalided home as he had been severely burned about the hands when the plane in which he was a crew member crashed in England, after it had succeeded in getting its target and afterwards being peppered by Hun anti-aircraft guns while on the way home. He was in the hospital for some time before he returned overseas.

Now comes another story from London, in which Flight Lieut. Gordon Frederick, of Lindsay, is again mentioned, after having a thrilling experience. The story in part is as follows:

The City of Edmonton Squadron called off its private war against the Luftwaffe as it celebrated the Squadron's 100th victory and the safe return of the English commanding officer, after 24 "dinghy hours" in the English Channel.

"Commanding officer of the squadron Wing Commander A. Barker, an Englishman, who joined the R.C.A.F. in Canada, and his navigator, Flight Lieutenant Gordon Frederick, of Lindsay, were missing for almost a full day after a night patrol over enemy territory.

"At squadron base it began to look as if the party to celebrate the 100th victory would be cancelled. Then came the phone call to the mess from an English port. It was from Barker and Frederick. They reported they had to "ditch" their plane in the Channel and take to their dinghy, but had been rescued and safely landed. The party was on again."

"This famous R.C.A.F. Mosquito squadron has run up the score of 11½ enemy aircrafts, destroyed in the air and on the ground, since it was formed two years ago. But the celebration was primarily to mark the reaching of the century figure in destruction of Nazi planes.

"Airmen of the squadron have been such hot fliers recently that of their total 91 planes were chalked up this year.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

To-day we have a few recipes that can be used for the warmer days that are ahead of us. In warm weather we need lighter foods, but they must also be nourishing as well. So below you will find recipes that will be of great help to you for summer meals.

Ham a la King.

Half pound mushrooms, butter or bacon dripping, 4 tablespoons of flour, 2 cups scalded milk, 2 cups finely diced cooked ham, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 12 thinly sliced stuffed olives, 2 hard boiled eggs.

Peel mushroom caps, and scrape stems, slice thinly. Cook stems first until nearly tender in a little hot butter or bacon dripping, then add sliced caps and cook until tender. Drain from the fat. Measure fat and add enough to make three tablespoons. Blend in flour, then stir in scalded milk slowly. Continue to stir constantly and cook until smoothly thickened. Add the cooked mushrooms and ham. Season to taste. A few minutes before serving time add green pepper, sliced olives and hard cooked eggs, which have been sliced and cut into small pieces.

Shortcake Rings With Chili Sauce

Three cups once sifted pastry flour, 6 teaspoons of baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ cup shortening, 2 eggs, 2-3 cup of milk. Measure and sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in the shortening finely, Beat eggs, add milk. Gradually add liquid to dry ingredients and mix lightly. Knead about 10 seconds on lightly floured board and roll to ½ inch thickness. Cut into rounds using a 3-inch cookie cutter. Cut the centres out of half of the 3-inch rounds. Brush one side of the rings with cold water and place dampened side down on rounds. Place on greased cookie sheet and fill cavities ith drained chili sauce. Bake in hot oven 450 degrees about 15 minutes.

Orange Fluff.

Three cups milk, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 5 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup orange juice, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 2 egg whites, 2 tablespoons fine granulated sugar. Bring to scalding point in double boiler. Combine the 1-3 cup of sugar, salt and cornstarch very thoroughly. Gradually stir in scalded milk, return to the double boiler, stir and cook until smoothly thickened, then cover and cook with occasional stirring until no raw flavor of starch remains. Remove from the heat and mix in vanilla, orange juice and rind. Cook to lukewarm Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry, and gradually beat in the two tablespoons of sugar, fold into lukewarm pudding, Turn into dish and chill. Serve with pouring cream or chocolate sauce.

Four Teachers Leaving School

LINDSAY, May 17.—(ENS). — G. W. Keith, acting principal of the Lindsay Collegiate, announced Tuesday that four of the teachers on the staff have accepted positions elsewhere, resignations to take place with the close of the present term.

O. E. Cameron, teacher of Agricultural Science, who has been on the temporary staff, filling the position occupied by R. L. Patterson, now overseas, goes to Cobourg Collegiate.

Ollie Flint, also on the temporary staff, because of the enlistment early in the war of W. S. W. Breese, has also resigned, to accept a position in Chatham Collegiate Institute. Mr. Flint has been teaching Junior Mathematics, Junior History and Prysical Training which included the work of cadet instructor.

Mr. Howard Moebus, who has been a permanent member of the Lindsay Collegiate staff for a number of years, as head of the Commercial Department, has resigned to accept a position as teachers of the new department of Vocational Guidance in Peterborough Collegiate.

Miss A. M. Muckle, for several years on the permanent staff as head of the English and History Department, has accepted a position as a teacher in Havergal Girls' College at Toronto.

The only teacher accepted thus far to join the Lindsay staff in the summer is Miss Ruby Ferguson, a daughter of Ald. C. E. Ferguson, for some time a teacher at Brockville. Miss Ferguson will teach English and French.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

GIRL MUST CONTINUE CAREER

If Husband Failed to Return From War, Doctor's Income Would Be Needed For Home.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married a little over a year and expect my baby in the summer. My husband is fighting overseas and he wants me to give up my work. Last year I graduated from medical school and this June I will finish my internship. I spent many years and a great deal of money in acquiring my profession and I love my work as only a doctor can. My husband may not come back and with a child to rear I think I should have a way to support myself and the child in case anything happens to him. Don't you think I am right?

WORRIED YOUNG DOCTOR.

Career Problem For Girl

ANSWER—Careers and marriages don't seem to mix very harmoniously for women but under the circumstances I think you are quite right in not wanting to give up your profession. Because, as you say, your husband may not come back from the war, or he may come back wounded and need time and care and the comforts and ease of mind that money brings to enable him to recuperate, and it will save the situation for you to be able to shoulder the family support, instead of being a burden upon him.

One of the greatest drawbacks of being a woman is that if she has talent and ambition and has spent years of hard work fitting herself for a career, she nearly always has to give it up when she marries. Marriage is an asset to a man if he marries the right sort of wife, because she gives him the happiness of love, the comforts of home, and draws about him the people who are a help in his climb up the ladder. But when the woman with a career marries she falls between the stools of her work and her home and generally makes a success of neither.

And it can't be helped, because no woman can give all of her time to her husband, and all of her time to her career. And both demand it.

Boy Should Tell Parents of Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a boy in my teens and go to a military school. Last Christmas holidays when I went home I got married. I knew it was against the regulations of the school, but I didn't think it would matter if we kept it secret. But now the girl wants to announce the marriage and, if she does, it will mean I will get kicked out of school

I have tried to explain to her what it means to me to keep our secret but she insists on telling. Says if she is willing to quit her education at high school I should be willing to quit mine at the military school.

What should I do: If I don't announce it, my wife will be mad at me and there is no telling what she will do. And, on the other hand, I am an only child and it will nearly kill my parents, and they have given up so much for me I feel that I just can't hurt them.

BOBBY D.

ANSWER—You poor little kid, having to wrestle with the problems of grownups when you ought not to have anything more serious than football on your mind. My heart bleeds for you. But take my advice in this. Go at once to your father and mother and tell them just what you have lone, and how you came to do it, and ask them to help you out of the mess you have gotten yourself into. You will never know how much they love you until you throw yourself upon their mercy. Don't delay in doing this. Beat the girl to telling about the marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX—What age is suitable for a girl to attack the problem of marriage. My parents want me to wait until I am 20, but I think 18 is long enough to wait.

CAROL.

ANSWER — Statistics show that girls who marry in their teens fill the divorce courts far oftener than those who wait until they are 20 or over. It takes more experience and self-control than most adolescents possess to make a success of marriage. Marriage is for grown-ups, not kids.

Hastings C.W.L. Names Officers For The Year

HASTINGS, May 17 (ENS)—The annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League of Hastings was held in the vestry of Our Lady of Mount Carmel church recently. The reports presented showed a fine response of League and War Work for the year.

The League work during the year covered a wide expanse of spiritual and charitable assistance, donations to different Catholic activities, the Red Cross and an active part in all social events of the parish. The war work consisted of filling ditty bags, making numerous articles, of sewing, knitted garments and quilts, sending cigarettes to the boys overseas. It also included many prayers and masses offered for the safety and welfare of the men and women on active service.

At a special meeting the election of officers took place as follows: Chaplain, Rev. J. J. Garvey; past president, Mrs. J. Gorman; president, Mrs. J. MacDonald; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. A. O'Shea; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. M. Herr; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. E. Clancy; recording secretary, Mrs. J. V. Gallivan; corresponding secretary, Miss A. Coughlin; treasurer, Mrs. T. A. Walsh.

IN MEMORIAM

McGEE—In loving memory of our dear father, William McGee, who passed away one year ago, May 17, 1943.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near,
Days of sadness will come over us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Ever remembered by Sons and Daughters.

NAPLES—In loving memory of Mrs. Robert Naples who passed away, May 17, 1941.

—Sadly missed by her sorrowing husband and family.

McGEE—In loving memory of my dear husband, William Alexander McGee, called home one year ago, May 17, 1943.

Blessed hope that in Jesus is given,
In our sorrow, to cheer, and sustain
That soon with Our Saviour in Heaven,
We shall meet our dear loved ones again,
"Until the day break, and the Shadows flee away."

—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his Wife Dora.

Guidance Officer For Schools Is Urged By Premier Drew

ST. CATHARINES, May 17 — A major step toward the goal of adjusting the educational course as far as possible to the needs of the individual pupil has been taken with the creation of an educational guidance branch of the Provincial Department of Education, Premier George Drew announced last night.

Addressing the Urban School Trustees' Association, the Premier, in his capacity as Minister of Education, disclosed some details of a far-reaching program to stress the needs of the individual pupil on the basis of his particular abilities, instead of imparting a broad, general education without specific regard to individual requirements. Every effort must be made to fit the pupil for future life, the Premier declared. Education must not only be good, "but good for some definite purpose."

An amendment to the High School Act passed at the last session of the Legislation, permits a local board of education to appoint a guidance officer to head this type of work in the schools under the jurisdiction of the board. The present plan in co-operation with the officials of the proposed educational guidance branch in putting the system into effect in the schools.

Educational guidance is carried out in some centres on an unofficial basis, it is recalled. Work of this nature is performed in Toronto and Hamilton and in some smaller areas.

The educational guidance branch will be supervised by trained departmental officials and will come into operation during the coming school year, it was stated. The Premier declared that Ontario lagged far behind the United States and some other English-speaking countries in the matter of educational guidance.

"The three R's are just as important as ever, but there has been too noticeable a tendency to be satisfied with imparting a broad general education and then trusting to luck that the children would find out what use their education had been to them," the Premier said.

Every effort must be made to fit the pupil for future life, the Premier declared. Education must not only be good, but good for some definite purpose, he asserted.

"It is our belief," said Mr. Drew, "that pupils should understand why they are studying particular subjects and that they should know what bearing their studies will have on their opportunities afterward. In other words, education not only must be good, it also must be good for something definite. There is no suggestion that educational guidance can provide any tragic formula for success. It is not a mould into which the pupil can be poured and from which the graduate will emerge in a fixed pattern. The most it can do is to adjust the educational course as far as possible to the particular needs of each student to make the best of his own ability in preparing himself to make a living afterward.

"There are more than 10,000 different occupations by which the people of Canada earn a living. It is the purpose of educational guidance to give the pupils some idea of the opportunities to make a living in this country and help them as much as possible to prepare for the particular vocation or vocations for which they seem best suited.

"By way of comparison may I point out that in England and Wales today there are 315 local education authorities. After the new education bill, now before Parliament, is passed there will be about 120 local education authorities for more than 40 million people, as compared with more than 6,000 local authorities in Ontario for fewer than 4,000,000 people. This is one phase of the whole question which is of the utmost importance in planning the future of education in Ontario.

"Something else very closely related to it is the question of whether under modern conditions we can expect actual equality of educational opportunities in one and two room schools. The most recent figures I have show a total of 7,489 elementary and secondary schools throughout Ontario. Of these 5,277 are one-room schools and 684 two-room schools. Thus we find that even including our secondary schools nearly 6,000 out of a total of approximately 7,500 schools, of all kinds, are one or two-room schools."

"I believe that this new part of our educational program is of very great importance," continued the Premier. "In these past few years we have seen dictators rise to power on the shoulders of misguided youth. It must be our purpose to preserve the freedom and security of our people by guiding our youth along the right paths.

"Fortunately now we have in Ontario some highly qualified experts who have been preparing themselves for this work. We have also learned much from the experience of the war itself. Particularly in the Royal Canadian Air Force, systems have been devised which have been extremely successful in guiding our young men in the particular branch of the service for which they were best suited. Thus we have saved tremendous amount of time in training and also assured efficient personnel.

"The details of the plans for educational guidance in our schools will be announced shortly. I ask for the co-operation of trustees, teachers and parents in producing the best possible results. The future will belong to those who have prepared to meet it, and this new part of our educational effort will be designed to prepare our youth for the great future before them. Above all, may I ask that there be no hasty opinions formed.

"May I ask that, even if the questions or procedure may seem strange at first, no one jump to the conclusion that anything startling or unsound is being attempted," said Premier Drew. "Everything which is done will be based upon the accumulated experience of many years of effort in this field and I trust that it will only be one more step in giving to the people of Ontario an educational system of which we will have every reason to be proud."

Horse-and-Buggy Relic.

"The little red schoolhouse, which has played so vital and essential part in our history, is today a relic of the horse-and-buggy age, and cannot provide that equality of educational opportunity which we must promise to our children, no matter where they live.

"Ontario alone in the English-speaking world has done very little to follow the trend of larger units of administration," continued the Premier, who spoke in his capacity of Minister of Education. He pointed out that 6,000 of the 7,500 public and secondary schools in Ontario were one and two room schools.

Judgment Reserved In Oshawa Appeals

TORONTO, May 17—The Ontario Labor Relations Board yesterday reserved judgment in the applications of three locals of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) for certification of collective bargaining agreements with three Oshawa companies—Ontario Malleable Iron Co., Ltd.; Fittings, Ltd., and Pedlar People Limited.

Union spokesmen told the board the employers would not accept proposals for a closed shop and check-off of dues.

TWO ERRORS ON ONE PLAY

GENERALLY, if a player makes two errors in the play of a hand, it is by means of two different plays. On some occasions, however, it is possible for one to slip in such a way that a single mistake violates two important principles. The hand may be of such a nature that violation of one of them would not be enough to beat the contract, but that the two together can ruin it.

West followed two club tricks with the heart 9, which South won with the K. The spade A and K were taken, and South, without stopping to think, led a third spade to the Q. When West returned the club 4, South realized all at once that he had ruined his chances, for there was no trump in dummy to ruff that trick and East took it with the club Q, setting the contract.

Two kinds of safety play, each of a very simple nature could have been combined to prevent that defeat. The first is the principle governing what to do when the high trump remains out, in the hand of one defender. The customary practice is to remove it by making that opponent use it to ruff a card of some side suit, thereby conserving the declarer's own trumps. The second is that, if you have to lose the lead to the defenders midway in the play of a contract, you should try at that time to leave one trump in the dummy to stand as a sentinel to ruff a lead of some side suit in which the dummy is shorter than the declarer.

The declarer could have used both of those principles on a single play. After winning the third trick and dropping two trumps, he should not have led the third, but should have fed out a heart. If West refused to ruff, hearts should have been continued until he did ruff. That would have made the contract easy.

Millbrook W.I. Elects Officers

MILLBROOK, May 17—(ENS)—The May meeting of the Women's Institue included the election of officers, and was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Edmund Ball, with the president Mrs. Delbert Olan in the chair. The report of the secretary, Mrs Henry Blakely, showed nine regular meetings, bad weather during the winter preventing monthly gatherings on more than one occasion; five papers on educational topics had been read; one demonstration had netted the society $3; money had been raised by euchres, receipts from a luncheon set donated by the president, and by cash donations. A bank account had been started for a new baby in a member's home, a delegates had been sent to the provincial convention, and a layette had been given the local Red Cross.

Mrs. J. W. Hilton presented the treasurer's report showing a total raised of $99.14, expenditures $71.40, balance in bank $27.74. A donation of $8 had been given the Red Cross, $5 toward prizes for the War Stamp drive, $10 paid toward the delegate's expenses to Toronto, and $27.45 given to the local fund for sending cigarettes overseas.

For the war work accomplished besides $7.53 at present in the fund, members had knitted, sewed, quilted, and some had become blood donors at the Clinic in Peterborough.

Will Attend Meeting.

Arrangements were made to have two carloads attend the annual district meeting at Elizabethville on Tuesday, June 6. The five cents per member [illegible] toward district expenses will be paid at the annual gathering, and the request for the questions to be placed in the box for that purpose, asking information on W.I. work, will be complied with.

The election resulted in the officers for last year being re-elected as some, including the president, had only served one year, the list including: Honorary president, Mrs. John Allen, Sr.; president, Mrs. D. Olan; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. M. Trick and Mrs. D. L. Lunn; secretary, Mrs. H. Blakely; treasurer, and treasurer of war work funds, Mrs. J. W. Hilton; district director, Mrs. T. G. Harkness; auditors Mrs. J. L. Byam and Mrs. Trick; assistant for war work, Mrs. Lunn. Among conveners of standing committees appointed were: Home Economics, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong; Agriculture, Miss Mary Widdis; Social Welfare, Mrs. David Lunn; Publicity, Mrs. Edmund Ball. Mrs. Will Armstrong was appointed delegate to the district annual.

Fire Victims Given 2 Red Cross Quilts

HASTINGS, May 17 — (ENS) — The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church met in the Sunday school rooms for their May meeting. Mrs. W. McMillan presided and in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. H. Johnston was appointed to act for the afternoon. Mrs. S. Whitred was appointed as treasurer for the remaining year in place of Mrs. McEchnie, who has moved to Pickering recently.

There were two Red Cross quilts quilted during the afternoon, which are to be given to Mrs. W. Warner and Mrs. James Ryder who were burned out recently. Lunch was served by Mrs. J. McMillan, Mrs. B. Johnston and Mrs. W. McMillan.

Churches Have Special Service

HAVELOCK, May 17 — (ENS) — Mother's Day was observed by the congregations of Knox Presbyterian, St. John's Anglican and the United Churches.

The former congregation joined with the Sunday School in a joint service. A piece "Mother's Love" was recited by Jean Kennedy, Marilyn Brunton and Dorothy Graham. The choirs anthem was "Mother of Mine", and the Scripture Memory Work was given by Joan Graham, Shirley Bennett and Elaine Graham. The Pastor, Rev. John Davey, B.D., gave a talk on "The Christian Home."

Rogationtide Sunday was observed at St. John's Anglican Church, when the rector, Rev. R. E. Lemon, divided his sermon into three parts—Prayer, Rogation and Mother's Day. The choir sang as an anthem "A Flower Within Iur Hearts".

Special Music

At the United Church the white-robed Juniaor Choir had charge of the musical portion of the service, and sang three anthems, "Blessings From Above", "There Is Only Just One Mother", and "A Flower And A Kiss For Mother". Miss Elaine Iles recited a poem "In Remembrance", and Misses Dora Ketchen and Ruth Wilkinson sang two duets " A Song For A Sabbath In May" and "My Wish For You". At the close of the service twelve of the elderly ladies of the congregation were asked to come to the front of the church and were presented with flowers—namely: Mrs. Jessie Campney, Mrs. T. Easterbrook, Mrs. T. Forsyth, Mrs. M. Haryett, Mrs. H. Williams, Mrs. J. Wright, Mrs. J. Kinnaird, Mrs. J. Freeman, Mrs. A. Malcolm, and Mrs. D. VanSickle. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson gave a splendid message "To Mothers", paying a special tribute to elderly mothers, those who have given a lifetime in love, and service.

Confirms Class

At Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, the sacrament of Confirmation was administered to a class of six candidates by the Most Rev. J. R. MacDonald, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough. Following an oral examination in Christian doctrine by the pastor, Rev. Father Carroll, the class was presented to the Bishop to be confirmed. Rev. Father Marroceo, of St. Peter's Cathedral accompanied and assisted the Bishop.

Horse Steaks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 17—(AP).—Visitors to the Harvard Faculty Club were surprised to see on the dinner menu: "Horse steak with mushroom sauce, potato salad and beverage ...75 cents." But Club Manager Eugene Gieringer declares that the dinner is not only popular but that members devour between 80 and 100 pounds of horse meat steaks a week.

Shortage Looms

MANCHESTER, May 17—(CP-Reuters).—A world wheat shortage may develop next year, the Manchester Guardian said today in an editorial. The newspaper commented: "In Canada, the world's largest wheat-exporting country and our own main source of bread, the day of the great wheat glut is definitely over. That is a striking change, and its effects may spread far...."

Observe Mother's Day At St. Andrew's Church

HASTINGS, May 17—(ENS)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was beautifully decorated for the Mother's Day Service on Sunday morning with potted plants in full bloom cut flowers and ferns. Members of the Sunday School with their teachers occupied the front seats, while the remainder of the church was well filled with members and visitors.

Rev. Mr. Davey had charge of the service assisted by eight of the Junior boys who recited portions of Scripture. The Junior Choir sang "Mother Dear". A reading entitled "Mother" was given by Mrs. Basil Johnston. After the address on "The Christian Home" by Mr. Davey the choir sang 'O Happy Home Where Thou Art Loved The Dearest".

There will be no service in this church next Sunday, May 21, owing to the anniversary services being held in Norwood Presbyterian Church.

Red Cross Aids Greek Relief

LAKEFIELD, May 17 — (ENS) — The executive meeting of the Red Cross was held recently. Mrs. H. Ketchum, president, presided. Mrs. W. Gillman, reporting for the sewing, said 84 garments were sent to the Greek relief, 213 pounds of fat shipped to the C.P.C., and 111 donations received valued at $19.20. Mrs. E. Edwards, convener of the knitting, reported the following goods shipped: 3 turtle-neck sweaters, 13 helmets, 11 pair of mitts, 14 pair of socks, 1 V-neck sweater, 14 pairs of gloves and 3 round-neck sweaters. During March and April 56 blood donors went into the Clinic from the village. Mrs. S. A. Gryils stressed the need of more donors.

Mrs. N. Belanger, newly appointed head of the Emergency Reserve Nursing Class, is planning a pre-natal and well babies' clinic for the fall session. There are 56 members registered. Mrs. L. Quackenbush reported $188 received from a concert given in the Town Hall. The Beaver Club is planning a sale to be held in the work rooms on June 17, and the Junior Red Cross is holding a tea and sale in the Parish Hall on May 19.

Mrs George Douglas and Mrs. C. Scollard from Young's Point, and Mrs. Stanley Higgins from the Beaver Club were present.

Bishop Confirms Ten Candidates

NORWOOD, May 17 — (ENS) — Special services were held in the churches in Norwood on Sunday in the Baptist church, Rev. Arthur Homer of Scotland church preached for a call. His scripture was the 121 Psalm which was read responsively And his text was taken from II Kings, Chapter II. A duet "Mothers' Bible" was sung by Mrs. Stockhouse and Mrs. W. Chamberlain, the anthem sung by the choir was "Where Love Is". Rev. Homer received a unanimous call to the pastorate at Norwood church and expects to begin his services here June 1.

In the Anglican Church, this being Rogation Sunday, special prayers were offered for God's blessing on the seed sown. The rector, Rev. R. E. Lemon, continued with his series of sermons on the book of Daniel emphasizing, the influence of Prayer Life and particularly a mother's prayer for the members of her family.

Administers Sacrament

In St. Paul's church, immediately following High Mass, the sacrament of Confirmation was administered to a class of ten by The Most Rev. J. R. MacDonald, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough. The Bishop was assisted by Rev. Father Marrocco of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough A procession of altar boys and servers with Rev. Fr. F. Marrocco and Rev. Fr. C. J. Carroll, pastor preceded the Bishop's entry into the church. During the procession in the church the choir sang the reception hymn to a Bishop "Excel Saierdos".

After questioning the children of the confirmation class Bishop MacDonald then addressed a short instruction to the people stressing the truth that everyone is obliged to fulfill the particular duties of his station in life. His Excellency particularly exhorted his hearers to remain on the farms and referred to it as among the happiest of earthly avocations.

In the Presbyterian church the Sunday School joined with the congregation for a Mother's Day program. The special leaflets were followed, Rev. J. Davey conducting the service. Mr. Wm. Golloher gave a reading "Our Mother" and a number of the girls of the Sunday School sang "Nobody Knows but Mother". Rev. Davey chose as his subject "Christianity in the Home."

At the close of the service a christening service was held, when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Rork was christened.

Present Playlet

In the United Church, the Sunday School attended in a body, L. C. Gunstone taking charge of the Worship Service. An "Act of Appreciation" was given by four of the girls. Greta Kirke dressed as an Indian mother spoke of the Indian customs of years ago and how the white people had taken their ways and improved on them. Helen Bailey took the part of a Pilgrim mother and Audrey Fenner a Foreign Mother. Francis Pakenham as a Canadian welcomed the others.

Rev. E. E. Pugsley took as his subject, "Homes Make A Nation". A building is not a home unless a family lives there, he said, and quoted a verse of "Home Sweet Home." He stated a nation is not made up of public institutions or places of worship but of homes. For a happy home there must be work and one dependent on another partnership is necessary and mother counts most.

Rev. Pugsley also gave a short synopsis of the life of Madame K. T. Soong and here daughter Madame Chiang Kia-Shek and the Generalissimo.

AMERICANS CAPTURE CITY OF FORMIA

Vital Airbase Captured At Myitkyina

Chinese, American Jungle Force Besieging Town

KANDY, Ceylon, May 18—(CP)—Chinese and American forces captured the airdrome at Myitkyina in Northern Burma yesterday and now are besieging the town of Myitkyina itself, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The airdrome was seized intact in a surprise attack, the announcement said.

The American engineers were landed in gliders and Chinese troops were flown in by air transports immediately after the assault.

Mkitkyina is one of the two main Japanese bases in Northern Burma and one of the immediate main objectives of the offensive.

Mogaung, the enemy's other principal base in Northern Burma, situated about 40 miles west and slightly south of Myitkyina, is menaced by a second column moving down from the north along the Mogaung valley.

Battle front dispatches yesterday said the Japanese were in a tough spot in Northern Burma and prospects were bright for reoccupation of the whole area.

Capture of the Myitkyina airdrome brought Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell's forces within 80 miles of a strong Chinese army which on May 11 swept across the Salween River in China's Yunnan province in a drive to effect a junction with Stilwell in Burma.

Myitkyina is the largest city in Northern Burma and has been in

Principals Warn Boys Leaving School Lucrative Jobs To Last Short Time Only

TORONTO, May 18—(CP)—After the war when employment returns to normal, hundreds of students will regret having left school to take attractively-paid war-time jobs before their training was completed, principals of suburban collegiate institutes said today.

Though they are now able to hold down jobs with a minimum of skill, the return of thousands of service-men to their old peace-time occupations may put these young people out of work and wishing they had completed their education while they had an opportunity, it was said.

Harold Donaldson, East York collegiate principal, reported that attendance there is now 1,100 compared with 1,700 before the war. At Vaughan Road collegiate, Principal George Evans said attendance had dropped from a pre-war figure of 1,650 to 1,200.

Germans Build Second Line Of Fortifications In France

By LARRY ALLEN—Associated Press War Correspondent

ABOARD THE GRIPSHOLM AT BARCELONA, May 18 —(AP). — Nazi Germany, apparently expecting the Allies to smash through the Atlantic wall defences, is concentrating on completion of a second great system of fortifications deep in France, and has told her soldiers that the line must be held "until the last man." As our invasion nears, Germany's vast network of communications still is largely intact despite heavy Allied bombings.

I have just come out of Germany after eight months as a prisoner of war in concentration camps, cellars and dungeons of the Greater Reich—this after spending a year in Italian prisoner camps—and en route I saw in detail how smoothly and efficiently the German communications system is working.

(Editor's Note: This is the first dispatch from Larry Allen, Pulitzer Prize winning Associated Press War correspondent, now being repatriated after 20 months in Italian and German prison camps. Allen won Pulitzer Prize in 1942 for his stories with the British Mediterranean Fleet. He was captured when he accompanied a British Commando raid on Tobruk in Libya on September 13, 1942.)

In all the heavily-bombed cities there is considerable destruction of factory areas and residential districts, but all the way from the Polish corridor to Marseille I didn't see a single roadroad station destroyed or even seriously damaged.

I passed through Poznan, Gorlitz, Drenden, Munich, Stuttgart, Karlsruhe and other points, and at some of them I was told that as many as 52 passenger trains roll through the stations every 24 hours.

(A large part of Allen's route was

Russia, Poland Make Progress

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 18 — (AP) — Russia and Poland appeared today to have made a small but hopeful start on patching up their differences.

As a result responsible diplomatic quarters in Washington are more optimistic about closing this breach in the United Nations that at any time in the past three months.

The immediate cause of this optimism was a resolution of the Polish National Council in London yesterday asking that the position of successor to the President be separated from that of Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces.

Should President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz heed this advice he would have simply to appoint someone other than Gen. Kazimierz Sosnokowski, the Commander in Chief, as his successor.

The Russians have objected vigorously to Sosnikowski because of his alleged anti-Soviet record and probably would be more willing to do business with a Polish Government in which he had no part, even though he remained as Commander in Chief.

Other governmental changes are expected to be recommended by the council which is a sort of consultative assembly to advise the government. These changes, while internal in character, may result in creating a regime of men generally more acceptable to Moscow.

Premiers Ask For Army To Police World

Conference Ends Curtin, Fraser Coming To Canada

LONDON, May 18 — (CP-Cable) — Another conference of British Commonwealth Prime Ministers was in prospect today as the war leaders of the overseas Dominions prepared to head for home after their first war-time gathering, which was widely hailed as an impressive example of Empire unity.

Informed quarters believe that a second meeting between the Prime Ministers of Britain, Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, will be held as soon as the war in Europe ends, or perhaps even earlier.

The Prime Ministers went on record in a 750-word statement issued last night at the conclusion of the talks with a demand for a post-war organization backed with sufficient power "to prevent aggression and violence."

The statement—issued jointly in London, Ottawa, Capetown, Canberra and Wellington—also said it was the aim of the British Commonwealth that the Axis-conquered countries of Europe and Asia "shall be free to decide for themselves their future form of democratic government."

The paragraph in the declaration covering a post-war security system was brief but pointed. It said: "We affirm that after the war a world organization to maintain peace and security should be set up and endowed with the necessary power and authority to prevent aggression and violence."

Under this system there will be an opportunity for members of the civil service to have their views considered and the standing of the whole service improved by their own direct contact with the Government."

Gustav Line Ceases to Exist Nazis Abandon Cassino Town

Canadian Tank Unit With 8th Army Crosses Rapido River

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, May 18 — (CP Cable) — A Canadian Armored Brigade, veterans of Italy and Sicily, played a prominent role in smashing the Germans' Gustav Line after lunging across the Rapido river the morning of May 12.

That thrust gathered momentum enough to carry the Shermans more than two miles in two days and captured the villages of Sant' Angelo and Pignataro with infantry of an Indian division that rounded up more than 400 prisoners.

The Canadian regiments faced the Germans in a hard-slugging battle after the tankmen found indications, in the scarcity of mines, anti-tank guns and tanks, that the enemy did not anticipate a crossing of the 40 to 90-feet-wide stream by Allied armor.

Smash Wedge

The crossing drove the first hard wedge into a strong line of dug-outs and entrenchments, drew the main enemy forces to their sector and allowed British formations in difficulties in the north to make their own crossing secure.

The Brigade operated with an Indian division on a 4,000-yard front from Sant' Angelo to the Liri river over sharply rolling country dotted with trees, high hay, grain and deep wadis which provided the Germans with natural anti-tank obstacles.

Casualties were light and few of the tanks put out of action by mines or bogging were totally lost. Most will see action again.

In the first action since last December's Moro Valley fighting in the Adriatic sector, the Brigade was credited with the destruction of at least six tanks, five self-propelled guns, and four anti-tank guns, but a higher toll was considered probable.

A Quick Return.

Only once was the advance stemmed and then the Canadian tanks counter-attacked the Germans who had driven them from a ridge and the Canadians had it back within an hour.

One squadron crossed the Rapido about 7:30 a.m. last Friday morning and was followed shortly

Indian Officer Lauds Canadians

With The 8th Army's Indian Troops, May 18 (CP-Reuters)—Between puffs on a captured German cigar, the commander of an Indian frontier force told last night how "our friends, the Canadian tanks," helped the Indians take Pignataro on the northern slopes of the Liri Valley Monday night.

Punjabi Mussulmans under Maj. Bakhtiar Rana, who formed the vanguard of the Allied approach to the town, came under fire from a small knoll opposite the town, but they seized it with the assistance of Canadian tanks.

"Artillery concentrations neutralized any possible enemy anti-tank guns," said the commander.

"Our friends, the Canadian tanks, rolled forward to the ridge on our flank only three hundred yards from the town.

"They sent tremendous fire into the houses and Jerry ran into caves on the forward slopes of the ridge.

"Our artillery and mortars put down a smoke screen which blew across the front of the town obscuring the view of enemy machine gun-

Germans Withdraw After Dark Monastery Taken

By NOLAND NORGAARD

NAPLES, May 18 (AP)—The British 8th Army has captured the fortress ruins of Cassino and the battered Benedictine Monastery, and American troops 25 miles to the southwest have seized the coastal hinge city of Formia, the Allied command announced today.

"The Gustav Line now has ceased to exist," the announcement declared.

The double victory toppled strong-points at both ends of the fiercely-fought Nazi line in Italy.

British troops slammed into Cassino — which had withstood siege since January — while Poles seized Monastery Hill. A substantial portion of the Elite German 1st Parachute Division—the Green Devils—was wiped out in the two strongholds, a special announcement declared.

Huns Encircled

The German defenders of Cassino were encircled by tactics which avoided heavy casualties that would have resulted from frontal assaults such as were beaten back two months ago.

A special Allied anouncement declared "the enemy has been completely outmanoeuvred by the Allied armies in Italy following the original breach of the Gustav Line by the 5th Army on May 14, and the subsequent rapid advance of French and American troops through the mountains.

American troops struck within two miles of Itri—Appian Way road junction commanding the only re-

Detroit Strike Appears Settled

DETROIT, May 18—(AP).—Michigan's major labor dispute appeared settled at least temporarily today as the first of 52,000 war production workers made idle by a strike of 3,300 foremen began receiving calls to return to their jobs.

How soon the long assembly lines at 13 affected plants would be moving at full speed remained in doubt, but preparations were being made for an early resumption of production of aircraft parts and other war materials which top army and navy officials have termed vital to maintenance of schedules on the fighting fronts.

The decision to end the three-week strike was reached last night at six separate chapter meetings of the Foremen's Association of America, with which the striking foremen are affiliated. The action was taken on instructions from Robert H. Keys, national president of the independent union.

Keys, summoned to the hearing by the War Labor Board in Washington, was warned by its chairman, William H Davies, that "if you take on the United States Government in time of war, you are licked." He urged the foremen to end the strike and then come before the board with their grievance over union recognition.

Hitler Line Is Heavily Guarded

WASHINGTON, May 18 — (AP) — War Secretary Henry Stimson said today the Allies in Italy are now beginning to come in contact with the outposts of the heavily fortified Adolf Hitler Line and cautioned that the next step of the campaign will be "exceedingly difficult."

Allied forces, said Mr. Stimson, have cracked the enemy's Gustav Line which runs through Cassino and then south and westward to the sea.

But the Hitler Line, ranging from 10 to 15 miles beyond the Gustav fortification, is a series of mountain positions which have been heavily reinforced by German engineer units, using enforced civilian labor.

Even behind that line Mr. Stimson said, mountains flank the routes to the north.

U.S. Heavy Bombers Hit Ploesti, Belgrade

NAPLES, May 18 (AP)—United States heavy bombers struck into the Balkans today, bombing Ploesti in Romania, and Belgrade and Nis in Yugoslavia.

Ploesti, the Romanian oil centre, was last bombed May 5. The heavy bombers making today's attack were escorted by fighters which helped drive off a number of enemy aircraft.

The rail yards at Belgrade and Nis were targets, with the air crews reporting good results. Weather prevented observation of the results at Ploesti, however.

Empty Hospitals For Invasion Cases

LONDON, May 18—(CP). — Reuters News Agency said today that British hospitals over a wide area have started a large-scale evacuation of "not so ill" patients in order to provide accommodation for "second front casualties."

Only patients whose condition is such that it is essential that they remain under continual observation and treatment will be allowed to stay in most of these hospitals, Reuters said.

The "clearance" of civilian patients is taking place, not only at general hospitals but in specialised institutions such as maternity hospitals where patients are being discharged from gynaecological wards.

Polish Troops Have Tough Job

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY NORTH OF CASSINO, May 18.—(AP).—The Poles are doing it the hard way—avenging the defeat of 1939 and fighting their way back home by way of the treacherous blood-stained hills north of Cassino.

They are making progress against the terrifying terrain and perhaps the toughest troops Hitler could put before them.

On a hot, rocky plateau Gen. Wladisyaw Anders' men are facing up to the deadly German pillboxes studding these ancient hills they fight over some of the most difficult ground in Italy—ground on which the British before them fought and died.

"We have had many losses," said one Polish officer, "but you only begin to think about losses when the battle is over and you begin to count the marbles."

Chinese Advance West Of Salween

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, May 18—(AP). — Smashing air attacks against mile-long columns of Japanese infantry and cavalry southwest of Loyang in Honan Province were announced by the Chinese High Command today and Chinese dispatches said the enemy spearhead threatening the isolation of the city had been blunted.

More than 200 Japanese trucks, armored cars and tanks were destroyed 40 miles south of Loyang in one attack, the announcement said.

A Chinese pincers north and south of the Burma Road west of the Salween River in southwestern Yunnan province was developing, with the Chinese seizing strategic Hpinaw Pass—15 miles east of Lungling on the Burma Road which runs to the north—and capturing Chiaotou, an important supply point on the Shweli River 33 miles above Tengchung, important base north of the Burma Road.

American airmen of the 14th Air Force are giving Chinese troops strong support in their drive across the Salween river and played an important role in capture of the town of Tatangtzu southeast of strategic Namien Pass.

Soviet Bombers Batter Rail Centres

LONDON, May 18 (CP)—Soviet long range bombers are continuing to blast Nazi rail transportation centres in White Russia and old Poland, but action on the long Eastern land front remains limited to local engagements, Moscow announced today.

The Russians declared 500 Germans were killed and 150 captured in fighting southeast of Stanislawow, in the southeast corner of Old Poland, when Soviet troops attacked and beat off two German counter-assaults.

The Russians said also that three German trawlers and two patrol launches were sunk by planes from the Red Banner Baltic fleet during an attack on a Nazi convoy in the Gulf of Finland. Sixteen defending Nazi planes were reported shot down.

Finnish Soldiers Fleeing To Sweden

STOCKHOLM, May 18—(AP).—A steady stream of Finnish refugees, many of them soldiers who say they are fleeing from the German occupation of northern Finland, have reached Sweden in the past few weeks, coming by small boats.

The newspaper Aftontidningen, reporting 85 refugees interned at Umea, quoted them as saying the Germans are taking over all of northern Finland, and that open war between the Finns and Germans was feared.

George C. Jones Is Named Vice-Admiral

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP)—Rear Admiral George C. Jones, chief of the Canadian Naval Staff, has been promoted to the rank of vice-admiral, it was announced here to-day by Navy Minister Macdonald.

Admiral Jones is Canada's second vice-admiral. The other is Vice-Admiral Percy G. Nelles, former chief of staff and now senior Canadian flag officer overseas.

Admiral Jones graduated from the Royal Naval College of Canada in 1913. He has spent the last 31 years in the service of the Royal Canadian Navy, commanded His Majesty's Canadian ships in the early part of the present war and was commanding officer of the Atlantic coats n 1940 and 1941. In December, 1941, he was promoted to the rank of rear-admiral.

He is a native of Halifax, N.S.

Aerial Forces Taking Rest

LONDON, May 18—(CP). — With English Channel skies overcast today and dark banks of rain clouds hovering over the French coast, another day of restricted aerial activity appeared in prospect for Allied air forces massed in Britain.

Some German radio stations left the air during the morning, but there were no other indications that the pre-invasion aerial lull, now in its fifth day, would end. The Ministry of Home Security reported Britain had a raidless night, and apparently the R.A.F.'s night bombers were grounded, too.

Not since the middle of February have British and American air forces been forced to spend so many consecutive days of idleness.

Prices Board Honors Women

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP).—It would be difficult to pin medals on 3,000,000 Canadian women but next week —May 22 to 27—has been set aside by the Prices Board as a time to do the next best thing—to salute "Mrs. Consumer" and to say "Thank you" for a job well done.

The Canadian housewife will hold the spotlight next week as a tribute to her fight against inflation—by millions of small acts of price-checking, conservation, and by "using up, wearing out, making do," as the consumer branch slogan has it.

It is all a part of Canada's effort to maintain a sane economic policy in spite of the rigors of war. A five-point program of economic stabilization was laid down and through a systematic campaign of public information this program has become as familiar to the housewife as to the economist.

Briefly, the five-point program covers price control, wage control, distribution controls, wartime taxation and government loans.

"Mrs. Consumer" is being honored for her whole-hearted support of this program and for her determination to continue it until peace comes again.

Parachutes Bring Supplies To Tito

By JOHN TALBOT
Reuters Staff Writer

Marshal Tito's Headquarters In Yugoslav Mountains, May 18 (CP-Reuters)—Standing on a windswept plain completely ringed by towering mountains, I spent the greater part of one night recently watching munitions and medical supplies for Yugoslavia's national army pouring down from the skies not 15 miles from German positions.

For about four hours a constant stream of giant transport planes flew over the mountains to drop nearly 25 tons of vitally needed supplies for the Partisans.

This was only one night's activity at only one of many dropping grounds throughout liberated Yugoslavia. At a neighboring locality, about 25 miles away, I was told another 15 tons were dropped.

All the planes which came to our dropping ground last night were flown by Allied pilots. Goods mostly were British, but this varies almost every night.

This service to Yugoslavia's army is governed entirely by their own requests. Whatever they need most urgently is brought to them if it is humanly possible.

Japanese hands for two years.

Taken By Surprise

Fall of the airdrome climaxed a forced march of 20 days by three columns of Chinese and Americans under direct command of Brig.-Gen. Frank Merrill, which pushed forward over rough, tortuous ground from the Dumon hills on the eastern side of the Mogaung Valley, a communique said.

The attack "apparently caught the Japanese by surprise and only slight resistance was offered," the bulletin declared.

The battle-seasoned Marauders and American-trained Chinese troops turned their mortars on Japanese positions in Myitkyina itself immediately after seizing the airdrome.

Capture of Myitkyina is essential to the success of the drive to link the New Ledo highway with the old Burma Road, thus opening a direct overland supply route into China. It appeared likely that the city would fall before the coming monsoon season bogs down major operations.

BIG PUSH CONTINUES IN ITALY—French forces eager for another smack at the traditional foe have taken the spotlight in the big Allied drive now in progress in Italy. They have struck westward from Castelforte (1) in a sensational assault on Mt. Maio and have captured the important town of Ausonia, cutting the only road through the valley and ripping a hole in the Gustav Line. To the south (2) American forces have driven the enemy from Santa Maria Infante, and northward (small arrows), the British 8th Army steadily extends its Rapido River bridgehead.

No Peace Treaty Draft Circulated To Allies

LONDON, May 18—(CP)—Asked whether the British government's peace terms had been communicated to Washington, Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons today that "no draft of a peace treaty had been circulated to the United States government nor to anybody else."

Mr. Eden said that if his questioner had in mind the terms on which hostilities are to be brought to an end, "the position is that our proposals on this subject have been submitted to the European Advisory Commission on which the United States is represented."

treat route for the Nazis in the Formia and important Gaeta areas. Itri, four miles northwest of Formia, is a port on the Tyrrhenian Sea.

French forces in the centre won Esperia, outpost of the Hitler Line, and French artillery from heights began shelling the road branching inland from Itri to Hitler Line defenses in the Liri Valley.

Itri is only 65 airline miles from Rome, and some 35 miles from the Anzio beachhead.

4,500 Prisoners.

Huge quantities of booty were falling to the advancing Allied troops and the bag of prisoners rose to 4,500, for a total of 20,000 in the Italian campaign.

The Germans acknowledged evacuation of Cassino, but said it was effected without fighting.

The Allied command said it was clear since Tuesday that the German position in Cassino was becoming untenable. The encirclement tactics pinned down a large portion of Lt.-Gen. Richard Reidrich's First Parachute Division so he could not withdraw. But the German division's headquarters and artillery were stationed farther back, and escaped.

"The German command once again has been too slow in effecting a withdrawal from a strategic position. The Fourth Parachute Regiment fell into the trap which had been laid for them, and attempted too late to break out along Highway 6 and the mountain tracks during the night," the officer said. More than 1,500 Germans were captured at Cassino, the officer reported, further explaining "The First German Parachute Division, the cream of the German Army, thus has lost over half its fighting strength."

"In addition, one regiment of the 15th Panzer Grenadier Division and 376th Regiment of the 305th Infantry Division also have been severely mauled."

A Unified Thrust.

The official announcement said all elements of the Allied armies contributed either to the preparation for the fall of Cassino or the final assault.

It credited British and Indian infantry and Canadian armor which drove across the Rapido River less than a week ago and mentioned other formations which prepared the day for the final capture of the blood-soaked town, laid in ruins by the intensive aerial bombardment of the war on March 15.

The announcement credited Americans and French in the mountains north of Cassino with establishing weeks ago the jump-off place for the pincers envelopment and New Zealanders and Indians who established new positions later in February.

Canada Is New World Of Comfort To Soldier

LONDON, Ont., May 18—(CP)—Canada is a new world of comfort and relaxation for soldiers returning after months of rigorous living under battle conditions at the Italian front.

When a troop train drew to a stop at the C.N.R. station the other day, a travel-weary private pulled his heavy kit bag over his shoulder and walked slowly to the platform.

"Here, let me give you a hand with that bag," said a sergeant-major standing nearby.

"Well, I'll be ——," was the private's awed comment. "It just aint human."

Another hardened veteran of Sicily and Italy, who confessed that he lived on bully beef and biscuits for 23 days during one offensive, spoke feelingly of the kind treatment he had received on his way to London and Halifax.

The announcement named the appointees as follows: F. G. Beardall, Miss F. Embleton and R. B. Metcalfe by the Association and C. H. Fullerton, Dr. J. T. Phair and H. A. Cotnam by the Premier. The Association members are "temporary appointments chosen by their executive until the whole Association can meet and choose their representatives by ballot."

All In Service

Mr. Beardall, business agent in the Department of Health, is president of the Association; Miss Embleton is an employee of the Department of Highways; Mr. Metcalfe is in the audit office; C. H. Fullerton is surveyor general and formerly deputy minister in the Department of Northern development; Dr. Phair is chief medical officer of health for the province; Mr. Cotnam is provincial auditor.

In addition to the council "there will also be an appeal board of three members, two of whom will be civil servants and the third the Minister of Labor.

"This appeal board will assure ample opportunity for every civil servant to have his case fully examined wherever matters of discipline or suspension are involved."

The Premier's statement described the organization as the first of its kind in Canada and added that any legislation which is deemed advisable will be introduced at the next session of the legislature.

"I feel sure that this step will give a much greater feeling of security to the civil service as a whole and it is my hope that through the opportunities which will result from the work of the council and the board, we may have in Ontario a civil service second to none in efficiency, loyalty and confidence that with good work their employment is secure."

Toronto Police Arrest Two Suspects

TORONTO May 18.—(CP).—Toronto police Thursday arrested Bernard Holland, 22, and Frank Boyer, 34 after officers had fired two shots into a car parked in a vacant lot in the west-end of the city. Both men were charged with shop-breaking, possession of burglar tools, car theft and theft of license markers.

The charge of shopbreaking was laid against the two men after a mannequin, clad in a fur coat, had been stolen from the window of W. H. Bell's fur store. A fox fur, also believed to have been stolen from the window, was found in the rear seat of the car. The mannequin and coat were found on the street not far from the store.

French Capture Outpost In Hitler Line

BY NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, May 18 — (AP) — Smashing forward along most of the Italian battle line, Allied forces have enveloped the bloody ruins of Cassino and the shattered monastry above it, have captured a lofty peak forming the northern hinge of the Hitler line, and are closing on Formia from two directions, it was announced today.

Teh Hitherto-impregnable Cassino was doomed yesterday when the British 8th Army sliced across Highway 6, two miles west of the battered town, cutting the enemy's retreat route.

A Berlin broadcast early this morning said the Cassino defenders had evacuated the town last night. Despite the enemy announcement, however, the Allied Command reported some resistance still was being encountered as a steel ring was tightened around both the town and Monastery.

The German broadcast said the Nazi troops had pulled out of the stronghold "in order to withdraw to a shorter line in connection with movements south of their sector." The evacuation, Berlin said, was carried out "without interference" and without any heavy guns falling to the Allies although German rearguards fought off Allied attacks.

The Allies had been stalled before Cassino since January. On March 15 they reduced it to ruins by a gigantic aerial bombardment and New Zealand and other troops broke into the town. But the Germans held them.

Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press war correspondent, said British big guns opened up against the ancient Monastery yesterday with one of the heaviest bombardments ever seen in the Mediterranean theatre.

Tanks supported the British troops in a stab north from the Pignataro area to Highway 6.

While British troops were striking across the Liri Valley to reach the vital route, immediately northwest of Cassino Polish troops were capturing Hills 593 and 569.

May 24 Holiday To Celebrate Corvette Coming

COBOURG, May 18 — (ENS) — Mayor Jack Burnet has proclaimed the 24th of May as a public holiday to mark the arrival here of the corvette, H.M.C.S. "Cobourg." Judge J. C. M. German, chairman of the corvette committee was advised Wednesday by the Hon. Angus L. MacDonald that the corvette would arrive here on that date. Mayor Burnet immediately proclaimed a public holiday and asked all citizens to give the town's corvette a royal welcome.

The corvette committee has been working away quietly for months arranging for this red letter day in Cobourg's history and a special program has been arranged. A garrison parade of local units, sea and air cadets and the officers and crew of the corvette will parade through the town after the arrival of the ship. Captain Dan Rooney, veteran lakes captain of Cobourg will board the ship at Toronto and will escort her into Cobourg harbor. After the ships arrival special welcoming ceremonies will be held on board and the Port Hope and Cobourg sea cadets will be given an opportunity to inspect the corvette. The mayors of Lindsay and Peterborough will also take part in the ceremonies. The ship will be dedicated by a representative of the local Roman Catholic Clergy and by Rev. S. D. France, president of the local ministerial association. Addresses will be given by Lt. Jack Raine of H.M.C.S. Peterborough, W. A. Fraser, M. P.; William Goodfellow, M. L. A., Warden L. E. Kelley and others. At the conclusion of the ceremonies and speeches, the public will be admitted to inspect the ship. In the evening a banquet will be held at St. Peter's Parish Hall and later a band concert will be presented in the park by Cobourg Kilties Band.

Loses Damage Action

COBOURG, May 18 — (ENS) — Judgment was handed down in Toronto this week dismissing the appeal of Fred L. Stockinger against the finding here of a Supreme Court judge in which plaintiff's damage action against the town was dismissed. Stockinger sued the town fol damages which he said were caused to his property through the town's sewer blocking up and flooding kack. In dismissing the appeal, the court assessed costs against the appellant.

Gustav, Hitler Lines

Naples, May 18 (CP)

THE Germans' Gustav Line originally was known only as the "G" series of fortifications and when telephoning the Nazis referred to it as "G for Gustav," an Allied staff officer said today.

Eventually the line became designated as Gustav by both the enemy and the Allies.

The next series of fortifications, however, never was known as "H" but always as the "Adolf Hitler Line," the officer said.

W.A. Planning Overseas Boxes

ROSENEATH, May 18—(ENS)— The regular meeting of the United Church W.A. was held Wednesday afternoon in the town hall.

Mrs. M. Davey opened the meeting with a devotional exercise based on the topic, "Spring." Mrs. G. L. Tucker, president, read a poem entitled Mother's Day." Letters of thanks for overseas parcels were received and read from Jack Pacey, Tony Hearns, Frank McGrath and Albert Waller. The latter's letter was written one day before he was official reported as missing.

An acknowledgment was read from the Fred Victor Mission management, Toronto, for a donation of $10 from the society. Mrs. C. Grigg, treasurer, annunced $157.39 in the treasury, and reported the purchase of a $50 Victory Bond and receipts from bazaar as $73.61. Receipts for the day included $10 from sale of a quilt turned in by Mrs. Ella Brown, quilt committee convener. Mrs. A. Nill offered her home for the June meeting and Mrs. C. Grigg and Mrs. Clark Sandercock volunteered as a program committee.

Mrs. E. Braithwaite, secretary, read the minutes of a meeting held a few nights previously by the executives of St. James' Anglican Church W.A., Centenary and Roseneath United Church W.A.'s to arrange to send overseas parcels from Alnwick township women now and at Christmas. The secretary and treasurer of each society form a committee with Mrs. Braithwaite as convener.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Frank Adams, Mrs. Clark Sandercock, Mrs. Harold Hugh and Mrs. Davey. The latter arranged a contest also.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM O. MORTON

COBOURG, May 18 — (ENS) — The funeral of William Henry Morton who died this week at his home, was held this afternoon from his late residence on Bagot street, with interment in the Cobourg Union Cemetery. Born in Hamilton township, Mr. Morton married Isabella Grieve who predeceased him on February 16, 1936. Mr. and Mrs. Morton lived for many years on a farm on the front road west, coming into Cobourg in 1928 when Mr. Morton retired. He was a member of Trinity United Church. Surviving are his son, Councillor Edwald Morton and a brother, Richard.

MRS. JOHN MURPHY

ROSENEATH, May 18—(ENS)— The death occurred on Wednesday of Mrs. John Murphy at the family residence, Roseneath, after an illness confining her to bed for ten months.

Mrs. Murphy was Margaret, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jame McHenry of Trenton. She had lived in Roseneath village for upwards of forty-five years, where she and her husband, the late John Murphy, owned and operated the Queen's Hotel, for many years. She was a faithful member of Burnley Catholic Church and a member of the Altar Society.

In her passing the village has lost one of its older and highly esteemed citizens. Her sister, Miss Nellie McHenry, nursed her faithfully through her long illness. Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Mary Demcy of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Archie McCallum of Peterborough, and Miss Nellie McHenry, Roseneath; a brother, Alexander McHenry of Toronto, and a nephew, James McHenry of Toronto. Her husband predeceased her about five years ago.

McCallum Falls From Scaffolding

MARMORA, May 18 — (ENS) — As a result of a fall sustained on Monday afternoon, William McCallum will be laid up for several days. He was engaged in shingling his residence when a plank of the scaffolding on which he was standing gave way, causing him to fall on his back on the cement stand of the well. Dr. Crawford was in attendance and after examination found no bones had been broken, although he had been badly bruised and shaken up.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning in Burnley Church. Father Ferguson will sing requiem mass. Pall bearers will be Ambrose Fanning, Peter Brahany, Edward Noonan, Jos. Kelly, J. W. Pacey and Leslie Down. Interment will be made at the Catholic Cemetery, Cobourg.

Beautifying Peterborough

On page 10 of this issue of the Examiner we print a letter from Stuart Brown of New Westminster, B.C., who visited this city last year, was much impressed by it, and would like to see it make better use of its great natural beauty; Mr. Brown's letter is not entirely disinterested, perhaps, for giving technical assistance in beautifying cities is his profession, but for that very reason we assume that he knows what he is talking about. Now it may be that some of our readers will be angry that a stranger has dared to criticize this city, for we are apt to be very touchy about criticism here; but the Examiner believes that there is great good sense in what Mr. Brown says, and recommends a close study of his letter to all its readers. We shall be glad to have your views on the Brown letter, expressed in letters of your own.

On Tuesday an editorial appeared in these columns in which the opinion was expressed that if the war were to end suddenly Peterborough would find itself without a single plan which was ready to put into action. This paper has already suggested that a Master Plan be drawn up, which would outline the improvements to be made in the city during the next thirty years. For improvements are necessary, and they might better be made in accordance with a coherent plan than permitted to happen haphazardly. There has been some opposition to planning schemes, we understand, from citizens who feel that a changed Peterborough would cease to be the town which they knew and loved; to this we can only reply that Peterborough is rather young to become enamoured of the status quo; when we are as old as London or Paris we may begin to groan about change, but at present change is inevitable, and it is only common sense to make sure that the change is for the better.

In this connection we think that it is significant that a distinguished Canadian who spent a part of his youth in Peterborough about fifty years ago, visited this city last week and remarked without pleasure that the downtown section had changed little since his young days. In the past fifty years, of course, Peterborough has become a manufacturing centre of importance, but the city lacks the dignity and beauty of appearance which that importance deserves. Are we going to do anything about it?

Peterborough is a good city to work in: that is to say, there is plenty of work at good wages, and no worker needs to live several miles from his livelihood. But is Peterborough a good city to live in? Has it any playgrounds? Has it enough parks? Has it any beautiful walks or boulevards? Has it any handsome public buildings? Has it a good arena for all kinds of sports and shows? Has it a first-rate community hall for concerts, plays and exhibitions? Do people say, 'I'd like to live in Peterborough; it's the liveliest, most beautiful small city in Ontario?' Is the city worthy of its magnificent natural setting? Are the majority of the inhabitants really happy, or are they merely resigned?

Mr. Brown's letter makes us ask ourselves these questions, and we should answer them honestly, without getting into a huff. The indications are that after the war Canada is going to make very rapid advances. Is Peterborough going to advance with the progressive communities? Contentment is undoubtedly a fine thing, but we must not confuse contentment with lethargy.

Don't Make a Martyr Of Hitler

H. G. Wells, who at the age of 77 remains one of the shrewdest and liveliest writers on world affairs, advises the United Nations strongly against executing Adolf Hitler. To do so, Wells says, would be to make a martyr of the Fuehrer, and to give the evil element in post-war Germany a memory to cherish and a name to mouth in reverence. The place for Hitler, Wells says, is in an asylum for the insane, where he can be forgotten.

But the other German war criminals should be tried and executed as soon as they fall into our hands, in the opinion of Wells. Execution is one of the quickest ways a convicted criminal may be converted to the service of mankind, says the old historian, with unaccustomed savagery, and he continues that Rudolf Hess and General Ritter von Thoma—the destroyer of Guernica—should have been tried and shot as soon as they fell into British hands. Wells has a novel excuse for Goebbels: "Lying is not a capital offense—God help all propagandists everywhere if he is to be killed". Goebbels might very well go to jail, however.

Wells' suggestions are valuable because they make us concentrate on one of the most difficult of postwar problems—the punishment of war criminals. Now, while the war is in progress, we are loud in our insistence that the men who caused it, and the men who behaved with cruelty and brutality in the prosecution of it, should pay the penalty when it is over. But what, precisely, do we mean to do? After the last war we insisted that the Germans try men who were notoriously cruel in their own courts; of course the trials were a farce, and the punishments trifling. Germany resisted the "war guilt" clauses in the Versailles Treaty with the utmost vigour, and got her own way to a great extent. Altogether, we allowed Germany to get away with murder — literally — after the last war. Are we going to do it again?

The suggestion has been made in several books that war criminals be tried before an international court. The difficulties in the way of such a procedure are many, but they could be overcome if the will to overcome them existed. But perhaps more important than that is Lord Vansittart's insistent demand that the whole German nation be indicted for causing the war, and that it be made to acknowledge and swallow the indictment. Such a proceeding would be a formality only, but it might serve as a valuable lesson to the Germans; they must not be given a chance to talk themselves out of their responsibility for this war.

Strange Bedfellows

War makes strange bedfellows. Consider the position of Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland who now find themselves lumped together by the United Nations as satellites of Germany, and who must expect the treatment due to satellites unless they quickly change their allegiance. The countries have little in common except misfortune: Hungary is virtually an occupied country; Romania has shown itself fascist in opinion, but is no acquisition to either side of the fight; Bulgaria is a Slavic nation which naturally sympathizes with Russia, but which has been forced to fight against Russia by an ill-advised and disingenuous government; Finland has been out of step with the rest of the democratic world for several years, and finds itself in the unhappy position of opposing its friends. Now the governments of Britain, Russia and the U.S.A. have given a stern warning to these countries that they must get out of the fight at once or accept serious consequences. According to the warning, the manner in which they joined the Axis is of no consequence, as compared with the fact that they "are by their present policies and attitudes contributing materially to the strength of the German war machine".

It will not be easy for any of these small nations to change allegiance. But in Bulgaria and Finland there are signs that the people are anxious to make a change as quickly as possible; the people are not sovereign, and their wishes do not chime with the wishes of their governments; therefore it will be hard for the people to make themselves heard. Still, lovers of liberty have made their voices heard in countries which are fully occupied by the Nazis, and the task should not be beyond the powers of the people of these satellite countries, if they really know what they want. This is their last chance to save themselves from the ignominy and the pain which will be the lot of all who contribute to German resistance.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Georgia Police Try To Prevent Negroes From Registering For Vote" says a headline. Democracy is on the march, but sometimes the old girl appears to have blind staggers.

A. W. Neill, M.P. for Comoz-Alberni, says that among the 245 members of the House of Commons, "there is not one bit more crookedness than anywhere else". Just a representative gathering, in fact.

The Wicked British

From the LONDON NEW STATESMAN

NO one places the British on so high a pedestal as the anti-imperialist American. It is true that the pedestal is easy to confuse with a pillory, and that sometimes its function is to be kicked away and leave the British hanging, but none the less, reluctant admiration keeps straying into the most fervid condemnation of the British Empire. British liberals visiting the U.S. and hoping to find men of like mind to themselves are often surprised at the discovery that their denunciations of British stupidity are greeted with a sly wink by those who know better. Stupidity, these Voyeurs say, has never been a British vice; look beneath the placid exterior and you will find a deep-laid plot to enslave the whole world.

TWO of the ten best sellers in America today are fugues on this somewhat wearisome theme. Pierre Van Paasen, in the preface to his latest book The Forgotten Ally, proposes to lay open the secret diplomacy of unregenerate imperialism to all men of good will without emotion or prejudice, but simply by baring the facts. In this vein of the Old Testament prophets Mr. Van Paasen seeks a good solid sin on which to pin all the evil happenings of this world; he finds British Imperialism, and its High Priests, the Colonial Office. The British "people" have merely been misled, for all "peoples" are good, and Mr. Van Paasen passed through British nationality himself on the way from Dutch to American citizenship. His prophetical denunciation is turned not against the "Fascism unmitigated and untempered" of British rule in India, but on one of its by-products, the situation in the Near East and especially Palestine. The idea that the present unhappy situation in Palestine might be the result of muddle or stupidity is scouted as unworthy of the traditions of a great and able people. Even if whatever is is not right, at least it is so because Britain so intended it. To suppose that Arab intransigence could play any part is denied by an impartial examination of past history. The Arabs, Van Paasen declares, have never in the last three centuries been a people of the slightest importance or initiative. The so-called "Revolt in the Desert" is a pleasant myth created about 1922, of the same historical validity as the Odyssey. During and after the war the Arabs willed nothing and did nothing. If any Arab movement or demand is carefully examined, beneath the flowing robes will be found the sinister figure of the Colonial Office. "For instance, the whole Arab opposition to Jewish immigration since 1920 has been a fabrication of the British Colonial Office, who feared that the freedom of one people, the Jews in this instance, in the traditional area of Colonialism would in the course of time, as a small flame lighting a huge pile of wood, set the whole Colonial world afire and ring down the curtain on the imperialistic episode of usurpation and spoliation. In this anti-Zionist policy they were loyal to the supreme interests of British imperialism." That there should be any natural source of antipathy was ridiculous for "Jews and Arabs were nowhere and never in trouble since the days of Mohammed."

THE final objective sought by this policy—more Oppenheimian than Machiavellian—is simply the wealth of the British middle classes, which is dependent on keeping India unindustrialized and poor so that she is forced to buy all manufactured goods from Britain. The Jews in Palestine introduced the threat of freedom of enterprise and industry. This the Colonial Office could not tolerate, because they argued that "Capitalism carries Socialism in its bosom" (which certainly suggests that the Colonial Office has a more literal belief in Marxism than is usually credited). The real solution which Mr. Van Paasen produces for all these problems is quite simple; it is to provide industrial prosperity for all. He quotes at length from a secret Cabinet memorandum (the stock deus ex machina of such writers) to prove that Africa will soon be the industrial centre of the world; with this to go on it would only be necessary to transfer the overcrowded Arabs from Egypt to Iraq, and national differences and imperialist fears would disappear to be replaced by "the apex of capitalist civilization. . . for the earth has not yet been scratched, and the greatest era of capitalist prosperity still lies in the future." Between us and this very new Jerusalem lies only the hand of the Colonial Office.

FOR Lin Yutang also, the devil in this war is not Germany or Japan, but the British Empire. Between Tears and Laughter has a definite list to the lachrymose side, since the author begins by considering the wrongs that have been done to China. Amongst the worst of these slaps in the face was the British decision to cut off China by intentionally losing Burma. Some bitter comfort is found in the thought that China will emerge from the war with a great experience of modern battle, for when she achieves equality in arms, and only then, will China be accorded equality of treatment by the Western Powers. "The greatest single fact of this war" is not the emergence of China alone as a great Power, but the emergence of Asia, including Russia. "The emergence of Asia simply means this: the end of the era of imperialism." While the war continues, as the war of 1812 between Britain and America continued, because the participants did not know that peace had been made at Ghent, the issue of this war has been decided. Imperialism is dead, but the Powers must choose whether to recognize his fact. "Two world leaders stand at opposite poles: Chiang Kai-shek, for whom 'patriotism is not enough,' and Winston Churchill, for whom it is. Every thinking man must choose between the two.'

THERE is much in both these books with which any liberal would agree, and which has indeed been said over and over again by liberals in Britain. But two problems emerge from reading these books and realizing that they are best sellers amongst the general public of one of our allies. The first is how much criticism is legitimate between allies, and the second how should the ally against whom criticism is directed answer the charges. Any criticism, it may be presumed, is legitimate which seems likely to have a material effect for the better on the conditions criticized. There can be no reason in the world why criticism should not come from abroad and even be welcomed. To insist, for instance, in America on a "hands off" policy towards Britain would be to lay the intellectual foundation for that state of mental palsy known as isolationism.

Unfortunately, the converse is not true; isolationism does not mean that there is a ban on criticism. In America (long before she entered the war) isolationist newspapers were very free in their criticism of Russia and Britain. The object of this criticism is not to alter the conditions criticized, but to foster distrust and dislike of other nations and so decrease the chances of any association with them. If we recognize the difference in object between these two sorts of criticism, it becomes clear that the legitimate critic is the true internationalist who wishes for greater association between Powers; the only unwarranted criticism is that designed to keep other nations at a distance.

LET those who complain that the Ministry of Information has failed in its American endeavours because Americans are still ignorant of the truth about the British Empire or the British war effort consider that you may lead a man to the purest wells of truth but you cannot make him think; prejudices are stronger than proofs.

Criticism across frontiers can always be dismissed as irresponsible by the group on whom the primary reponsibility for reform falls. Thus they argue that it is all very easy to urge racial equality on a State with a large negro population when you live in State that has no negroes. Let us frankly recognize that at present most people do not feel that a man is his brother's keeper if a frontier interposes. Let us further realize that nothing is more satisfactory to Conservatives than to be able to point at the spectre of foreign pressure behind reform. The sincere critic who wishes to see improvement, and not merely to thank God that he is not as other men, will try to find his friends within the country whose policy he criticizes, rather than build up an alien pressure group.

WHO GOES WHERE AND HOW SOON? —By Thomas

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE NEW HOSPITAL

Sir,—We appreciate your editorial of May 16th in which you say "a new hospital has become an absolute necessity"; we ministers have many contacts with sick people, and they tell us their views on this question. The consensus as we find it is that Nicholls Hospital has an excellent staff, and does fine work, but that we badly need a new building. It was expressed to me recently in these words by one of our leading ministers: "A new hospital is the most urgent social need in Peterborough at present." Let me express my thoughts in consecutive order.

(1) We are in honour-bound to carry on the fine work of Nicholls Hospital. At a meeting of the municipal council of the town of Peterborough held on February 3rd, 1890, at which Mrs. Nicholls was thanked for her generous gifts, there are those words in the resolution that was passed: "That this council feels quite confident it can assure Mrs. Nicholls of the support of the citizens at all times in supplementing the income from the endowment fund if that may prove insufficient, in order to the maintaining of the hospital in an efficient and effective condition". When an organized body accepts gifts and makes pledges as a result, those pledges have a moral obligation for all time. We cannot shuffle off this obligation and remain honourable men and women.

(2) Supposing an influenza plague breaks out at the end of this war, as occurred in 1919, and thousands of people are smitten, how would we feel if there is not sufficient hospital accommodation in the city for the serious cases? Supposing there was a bad bus or train accident near to the city and injured people were brought in for treatment, what could we do for them? We hope that these contingencies will not arise, but surely a large and prosperous city as Peterborough should be able to meet them if they did happen.

(3) Why not give the voluntary system of subscription a trial as the Hon. Dr. R. P. Vivian suggests. We succeeded with the War Loans and the Community Fund, and we should be able to complete this urgent task.

Let us ask the churches, the women's auxiliaries, the service clubs and other bodies to take part. We have had long experience now in the matter of raising money, and the public spirit of the citizens is on a high level. Let us go forward in God's name to this Christ-like task, and we shall not fail.

(4) We should not disparage a hospital because it has a deficit in its funds. If the debt was incurred by inefficient management then we might find fault; but if the deficit comes from putting high ideals into practice then it is really a credit to those that incurred it. During the years of depression that we have passed through the churches in Western Canada were kept open, although the congregations had no money to support them. Would it not have been a disgrace to the government bodies if they had closed these churches and left the people without the spiritual comforts of the Gospel! Hospitals and churches cannot be run on the same lines as factories or stores. A hospital that gives generous treatment to the poor is fulfilling its true function.

(5) We need action in this matter. Let us leave the plans and methods in the hands of the capable men who have studied them. We should not quibble about non-essentials, or drag our contentious issues into our discussions. Rather let us labour for the good of suffering men and women, and provide for their needs, in the erection of a new hospital.—I am, yours sincerely,

E. W. YOUNG.

THE TRAPPER'S CASE

Sir,—May I again trespass in your valuable space to state my views on the Provincial Park question? This time from the standpoint of the trapper.

I doubt if there is an equal area anywhere in this Province where nature originally provided better for fur-bearing animals than this county. Years ago, this district teemed with beaver, otter, mink, fisher, martin, raccoon, ermine and muskrat.

Due to the destruction of their natural habitat, and unrestricted trapping, some of these species, notably martin and fisher, are now extinct, and with the exception of muskrats the others are so depleted in numbers as to be of little value to the trappers as a whole.

There is no sound reason why these conditions should exist. Much of the area comprising this and adjoining counties is unsuited to the production of anything of value except timber, wild life and fish. I ask the citizens of this county and of the Province if a policy of exterminating the natural resources of large parts of this country, unsuited by nature to produce anything else to take their place, is sound and in the interests of the citizens individually or collectively?

I regard the harvesting of surplus timber, wild life and fur as logical and as sound in principle as similar action by a farmer with his surplus stock. I have never, however, been able to understand why a comparatively few people should be permitted to destroy resources belonging to us all, and I am sure the vast majority of the people are like minded, even many of those who take part in it. Many people who recognize the value of wild life take an active part in exterminating it. These same people in handling their personal resources frequently demonstrate sound principles of conservation. I realize that this sounds illogical but I am nevertheless convinced it is true. Why is this? It is, I believe, based on unrestricted competition for something which being public property, the individual feels little or no sense of personal ownership. He feels that if he doesn't get the timber, the game, and the fur before the other fellow, he won't get it at all. One trapper, a law breaker, will spear muskrats in their houses and will catch unprime fur out of season. Soon others are competing to get their share while the getting is good, and in a short time a vicious system is going full blast with the result that there soon is nothing worthwhile left for anyone. That is the condition that is operating in this, and I imagine many other parts of this Province in greater or lesser degree with respect to fur bearers.

Within the matter of weeks a press despatch announced that a license had been issued by the Government of this Province to the Dominion Government to live-trap—that is capture unharmed fifteen pairs of beaver in Algonquin Park, to be taken to the James Bay district for the purpose of stocking the Kesagami Reserve. This arrangement between the two governments will run for four years—i.e. sixty pairs of beaver will be captured in Algonquin Park for this purpose. "It is a well known fact that the James Bay district was one of the greatest beaver districts on this continent, yet like the passenger pigeon and the buffalo, they lost the battle with mankind and disappeared. Had it not been for the proximity of Algonquin Park I am sure beaver would long since have disappeared from Peterborough County.

How would a Provincial Park improve or remedy this situation? Firstly, a fairly largely area, splendidly adapted to the propagation of fur bearers and with well defined boundaries, would be set aside, within which all hunting and trapping would be prohibited. Secondly, regulations more strict and penalties more severe would be put into effect in the area. And thirdly, more law enforcement officers would be assigned to the district. The result would soon be a greatly increased supply overflowing on all sides to the outside areas, where hunting and trapping in season would be permitted. Wild life does not like crowding even as much as humans, and as they would be free to pass in or out of the Park, the surrounding areas would receive this overflow to be hunted or trapped. There is no guess work about this. These results have invariably followed the establishment of such protection.

Would this be detrimental to the interests of anyone, particularly the trapper? I am certain it would not.

Yours very truly,
FRED C. MARSALL.

LESS SUFFERING

New York man claims dodging conscription gave him gray hair, stomach trouble and nervous disorders. He might well have suffered less in uniform, dodging drill-sergeants.—Toronto Telegram.

BETTER BABY CARE

It is not so very surprising that Britain should have recorded last year the highest birth rate since 1926, for the stork always seems to be busy in time of war. What is more surprising is the fact that in the same year Britain set a new low record for infant mortality. This can only mean that, in spite of all the trials and troubles to which the United Kingdom is being subjected, it is looking after its babies better than ever before.—Brockville Record and Times.

WILL THEY STAY?

When girls enrolled in the army or working in war factories return to the land, how are we going to keep them there? This return to home life of soldiers and women workers appears to be of the first importance to Georges Bouchard, federal associate Deputy Minister of Agriculture, well-known writer and speaker on rural life. Compared to those which they fill now, says Mr. Bouchard, the domestic positions which women should resume after the war appear at first to be drab, monotonous and poorly paid. In reality they are infinitely preferable because they are much more healthy and are productive of more real enjoyment and true happiness. By resuming their place in the ranks of women on the farm, where their solid domestic virtues are so essential to our world in transition, these young women have everything to gain. Returning home after a long absence and an agitated life they will find a precious source of inspiration among their sisters who have stayed there.—Three Rivers Le Nouvelliste.

A Bible Message

The Lord is great in Zion; and he is high above all the people. Let them praise thy great and terrible name; for it is holy. The king's strength also loveth judgment; thou dost establish equity, thou executest judgment and righteousness in Jacob. Exalt ye the Lord our God, and worship at his footstool; for he is holy. (Ps. 99: 2-5.)

Bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name. . . .

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all. (Ps. 103: 1, 9.)

Truly God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart. . . . Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory. Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee.

My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever. (Ps. 73: 1, 24-26.)

Two fellows sat in a New York restaurant. Each had a cup of coffee in front of him and a single newspaper was spread out on the table so that both might read at the same time.

The first pointed to a picture of the Dionne quintuplets. "Look at those quints," he said. "Aren't they growing up to be charming youngsters?"

The second glanced at the photo. "Yeah," he grunted. "Sure—they're okay." He sipped his coffee and then spoke suddenly: "By the way, has Mr. Dionne become the father of any more quintuplets?"

The first man put down his cup. "More quintuplets?" he echoed. "Of course not!"

The other lighted a cigarette. "Just as I thought," he murmured. "I always imagined he was just a flash in the pan!"

Marmora IODE Plans War Work

MARMORA, May 18 — (ENS) — Marmora Chapter, I.O.D.E., continues to make good progress with its various activities. At present the members are preparing ditty bags and layettes. They also are assisting the parish relief campaign. To add to their revenue for the worthy objects they are supporting, they are sponsoring dances at Marble Point Lodge every Wednesday evening, commencing May 24th.

The membership of twenty is regular in attendance and the Regent is Mrs. D. P. Marrett, a former Peterborough girl, whose mother, Mrs. W. A. Davern, is prominently connected with the work of the Order in that city. Mrs. W. Hilton carries out the secretarial duties and Miss Miriam Savage is the treasurer.

The regular meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Rita Deacon with Mrs. D. P. Marett presiding. A letter of thanks was read from headquarters for the shipment of knitted articles sent in last week. In course of the meeting, Mrs. Gregor Murray read a paper on Newfoundland.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Graham at Deloro.

Carrier Planes Bomb Shipping

LONDON, May 18—(CP)—British carrier planes, in a foray into Norwegian waters, have scored bomb hits on German shipping and oil tanks and a fish oil factory northeast of Stadlanet, the Admiralty announced Wednesday night.

Nine enemy aircraft which attempted to interfere with the operations were shot down, one probably was destroyed and two others damaged while five British naval aircraft are missing. All the British ships returned safely and suffered no damage.

The Admiralty said Hellcat fighters equipped with bombs obtained hits on two medium-size supply ships and damaged two armed trawlers while three other medium-size supply ships possibly were damaged. Hellcat and Wildcat fighters escorted the attacking aircraft.

The striking force was under command of Rear Admiral Latouche, flying his flag in the cruiser H.M.S. Royalist (Capt. M. H. Evelegh, R.N.)

H.M.S. Royalist apparently is a new cruiser and is not mentioned in Jane's Fighting Ships.

FIRST AID AT SEA

Ban Easy Divorces

Washington, May 18 (AP)

REPRESENTATIVE Norris Poulson (Rep., Calif.) proposes a constitution amendment to ban "quickie" divorces for "rich people, particularly of the Hollywood motion picture crowd." The amendment, he declared, is "specifically aimed at people buying overnight divorces in Mexico, but also cracks down on all divorce mills and easy marriage markets." Generally it would provide for home state proceedings and would serve to make illegal temporary divorce resistances.

Mission Program Given At Y.P.U.

MILLBROOK, May 18—(ENS)—The Missionary Committee, Miss Margaret Smith convener, was in charge of the Young People's Union on Monday evening, the president, Jean Fisher, was in the chair, the regular leader being absent.

A sing-song with Francis Tickner at the piano preceded the program proper, for which Miss E. L. Hetherington played, Shirley Forsyth read the lesson on laying up treasure in heaven, and the leader gave scripture verses to prove "What God is to us"—light, bread, strength, the Way, Saviour, physician, power, host, guest, friend, guide, high priest and good companion.

The topic was taken by Mrs. Edmund Ball, and was the story of the life of Herbie Bellamy, who was born at Moose Jaw, Sask., and while never able to walk, talk, or have the use of his hands, yet did a great work for missions. With extreme perseverance, he learned to write with his foot, having a special sandal that fitted over his boot, with a pencil held firmly at the toe, and so earned money writing scripture texts and names. He also educated a Japanese boy. With other members of the Mission Band of which he was president, through their givings, they bought a piece of land and built what was afterward named the Herbie Bellamy Orphanage, at Kanazawa, Japan, which still stands and in which, after the war, the work will still go on.

During the business session, it was decided to ask a membership fee of ten cents, and to form a baseball team, the committee to look after this being: Mary Blair, Francis Tickner, Conrad Stinson and Bertram Bell. The report is to be given at the next meeting.

Nazi Prisoners Ready To Talk

AT AN EVACUATION HOSPITAL ON THE 5th ARMY FRONT, Italy, May 18 — (AP) — Some of the casualties arriving at this hospital have cards around their necks labelling them as prisoners of war.

There is a curious contrast between these prisoners and those of Tunisia. These, dazed and bewildered, have had the arrogance completely knocked out of them. They are whipped and they know it.

The mass of German material left everywhere indicates that the first big advance was a stunning victory, perhaps greater than is yet realized.

As for the prisoners, at first fear is plainly written on their faces as if they expected to be mistreated, but as this subsides they exhibit willingness, even eagerness, to talk. They babble about things at the slightest opportunity to anybody who will listen.

One prisoner wanted to know if it was true that American artillery was belt-fed like a machine-gun. He said it was impossible to describe the devastation it caused.

Larry Allen Returning From German Camp

BARCELONA, Spain, May 18 (AP)—Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner, was exchanged today after 20 months as a war prisoner of the Italians and Germans.

Allen was assigned to the British Mediterranean Fleet and was captured Sept. 13, 1942, during a Commando raid on Tobruk in North Africa when the Destroyer Sikh, on which he was travelling, was sunk.

Before his capture he had covered many battles at sea, including a particularly heavy air attack on the Carrier Illustrious in January of 1941. His reporting of the war at sea won him the Pulitzer Prize for 1941.

He was among 900 British, Americans and Canadian war prisoners exchanged for 700 Germans.

Allen's newspaperman's enterprise as a prisoner amused even his captors. His first act was to demand an interview with Marshal Erwin Rommel, then the victorious German commander threatening the British naval base at Alexandria.

Club Completes Opening Plans

The directors of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club have completed plans for their opening field day which will be held Saturday afternoon, May 20 (weather permitting). The sweepstakes will commence at 2 p.m., but it is suggested that as many members as can possibly tee off before this time do so, in order that dinner may be started at 6 p.m. Members who have not signified their intention of attending either the sweepstakes or the dinner should notify A. Rutter, Jr., chairman of the match and handicap committee, immediately. Such information is vitally important in assisting the directors to plan the correct number of meals.

The president of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club this year is Stanley G. Payne, who was club champion last year; vice-president, H. F. Waddell; chairman of house committee, R. R. Faryon; chairman property committee, G. H. Wood; chairman of match and handicap committee, A. Rutter, Jr., chairman greens committee, R. Abbott; chairman membership committee, H. F. Waddell.

The house committee has been very active this spring arranging to have most of the interior of the club house redecorated, and the greens committee has been working hard to assure that the course will be in excellent shape for opening day. Two thousand small trees have been secured and during the past week many members have spent their evenings planting these trees in selected areas which should develop very attractively in the next few years. The greens came through the winter months in excellent shape and the greens keepers report very little "kill."

The house committee have been successful in securing the services of Mrs. J. W. Devall, an experienced caterer who brings to the Peterborough Club a wealth of knowledge in preparing lunches, dinners and banquets.

The services of William Spittal will be available should members wish to avail themselves of this service.

On the opening field day members with handicaps of 15 or lower may commence posting a qualifying round for the club championship. A score of 85 or less must be posted before June 10.

The first round of the president's prize (match play), the first round of the Stratton Trophy (medal play) and the first round of the Westclox Trophy (match play) will get under way on May 27 providing there is no postponement of this week's activities due to adverse weather conditions.

Further information with regard to the 1944 program will appear in these columns from time to time and members would do well to watch it closely so that they will know which events are in progress.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

All roads will lead to Riverside Park tonight when Plazas and Switchgear will tangle in the first game of the season and thus take the lid off the City Softball League campaign. The opening of the season is always a big event and this year is even more significant than usual for Peterborough was without hockey this past winter and sport-lovers who like team games have been starved ever since the end of the last softball activity. They will probably be out in force tonight to see some action after the long lull. And at that they should see quite a ball game. Plazas, for two years winner of the league title and strong contenders for another pennant are opposing a combination of the stars of three of last year's City League clubs. Manager Murph Chambers of Switchgear has put together a formidable array of talent and on paper the club he has selected look capable of giving all and sundry plenty of opposition. Switchgear appear to be strong in every department, should be able to drive in a lot of runs and put up a good show defensively. Plazas' ability is a well-known story. The Ellis-Starr outfit have won a lot of ball games in the past couple of seasons because they have had plenty of fight.

* * * * * *

Tonight's opener will get under way at 6.45 o'clock sharp and officials and players are asked to be on hand well in advance of that hour so that the game can start at the advertised hour. While lineups have not been definitely announced the starting pitchers will be Ron Akers or Harrison for the Switchgear, with Holly Mowry in the receiving end and either Dave Wilson or Wood for Plazas with Eddie Starr behind the bat. Both outfits will be strong defensively with well-balanced infields and two of the strongest outfield combinations in the city. With Burton, Blewett and Pryde roaming around the gardens for the Plazas and Carpenter, Playford, Brockley or McCormick patrolling the outfield for Switchgear the batters will have to hit them a mile to get them away from either outfit. All of those boys can cover a lot of ground and on top of that any one of them is likely to break up a ball game with a screaming drive. Anyway the season opens tonight and from all indications a record opening night crowd will see the initial clash. Military Training Centre and the new U.E. team are billed to meet tomorrow night in the second game of the schedule.

We Jinxed Them

This column should get a vote of thanks from seven National League clubs for putting a jinx on the Cards' pitchers. A few days ago we happened to mention that the two left-handed aces of the National loop champs, Max Lanier and Brecheen had won eight straight games and neither of them had been defeated. Right away of course things began to happen to the southpaws. Lanier, gunning for his sixth victory, took the hilltop against the Phillies Tuesday and was promptly driven to the showers. Yesterday Brecheen started against the Boston Braves and had his ears pinned back, the Braves taking the contest 5 runs to 1. Barrett pitched for the winners and would have had a shutout if Walker Cooper hadn't smacked a homer out of the park. The Cincinnati Reds who look like the Cards' most dangerous opponents nosed out the Blue Jays 6 to 5 in a game that had to be called at the end of the eighth, because of rain. Rookie Bob Malloy won his first game of the season for the Reds while the loss went to Jack Donaghue, third of a trio of Philadelphia pitchers to see action. New York Giants had no trouble in turning back the Chicago Cubs. The latter had an early lead of 3 to 0 but it did not mean a thing once the Giants began unlimbering their artillery.

* * * * * *

Orval Grove, dependable right-hander of the Chicago White Sox who like Mort Cooper and a few other aces had some trouble in getting started this season is travelling right on the beam now and registered his third triumph yesterday by stopping the leading Yanks cold. Grove allowed only five hits and spread them around so well that the world champs were blanked. The Pale Hose in the meantime were chasing five runs across. Tex Hughson, top-flight Red Sox pitcher who is now hitting his stride again made his record three wins in four starts yesterday when he delivered a smooth four-hitter to turn back the St. Louis Browns 5 runs to 1. Munorief was the losing St. Louis gunner. The Brownies however turned the tables in a free-hitting second game featured by homers by Verne Stephens of the St. Louis club and Bobby Doerr and Jim Tabor of the Red Sox.

Soldier Ball Players

Down in Kingston Bill Walshe is worrying about the status of soldier ball players. Writes the Kingston scribe: "There is a report going the rounds, which has not been confirmed or denied by officials who should know, that soldier teams will be banned from baseball and softball competition with civilian clubs. The rumor probably started in Western Ontario where soldier teams had to drop out of the Inter-County Senior Baseball League while the story was circulated and published in Ottawa papers. No definite order has been issued in Ottawa and military authorities in Kingston have not announced any ban. The original air force and army ban against open sports was to save time in travel and also avoid unfavorable publicity regarding moves of star players. In Kingston, where service teams play almost within the boundaries of their own camps, there does not seem any good reason for a ban. Kingston's senior baseball and softball leagues would be wrecked by the withdrawal of soldier players who have formed teams to fill the vacancies caused when Kingston boys went overseas. Kingston leagues will continue with plans to start schedules next week in hopes that service teams will be permitted to continue."

"What happened in "shamateur" hockey during the recently concluded season apparently failed to deter the Ontario baseball bosses, at their meeting in Hamilton, Saturday, for it anything they lowered the bars more than the puck fathers ever dreamed of doing," writes Chick Appel in the Stratford Beacon-Herald. "Now it remains to be seen how their legislation will be received by fans and players alike. Certainly the O.B.A. executive didn't fool in their deliberations when they ruled that "senior clubs will be allowed five American players to commute and play during the coming summer," and apparently no strings are attached to that wide ruling, other than that "only four of the five will be allowed to play at one time in any game, and all five must be signed to contracts not later than July 15." At least they're being honest, and any resemblance to the former Ontario Baseball Association legislation is purely coincidental. In their sweeping change by opening the gate wide the fine hand of the Niagara District Baseball League can be discerned without donning glasses. It would seem, as this column suggested some time ago, that the peninsula clubs rule the roost, and the tail is wagging the dog."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Old timers heard with regret of the death the other day of William Heffernan, at one-time widely known as one of Peterborough's best short distance runners. "Billy" Heffernan won many 100 yard dashes here in the old days and his matched races with the late Lew LeBarr are well remembered....The old guard is rapidly passing....“Bill” Heffernan was one of the few that were left....Lawn bowlers will be sorry to hear that there will be no bowling until June 1....The grass on the greens was winter-killed and it will take longer than usual to get the grounds in shape....On the other hand both local golf clubs who open this week say the courses are in unusually fine shape for the opening.... Toronto Leafs and Newark Bears had a lively battle last night with a homer by Red Kress giving the Toronto gang a 11 to 10 win....Both the A's and Bobo Newsom had tough luck last night....An error on an easy bounder sent in the only two runs scored by Tigers and the pair of soft ones beat the Athletics 2 to 1.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

No doubt many members of the Lawn Bowling Club will be disappointed when they read the following announcement: "There will be no lawn bowling on the greens until the day the schedule commences Thursday, June 1."

Yes, it means no bowling on May 24, no Friday night tournament on May 26, and the president and vice-president competition on Monday, May 29, Tuesday, May 30 and Wednesday, May 31. In short, it means that the greens are not in condition for bowling. The greens committee has been working for the last three weeks trying to get them in shape for May 24 but owing to the excessive winter-kill, especially on the west square, the greens have not responded to treatment as was expected. The committee is still working and hopes with the aid of the weather man to have the greens all O.K. by June 1.

We feel sure that with the above explanation the members will agree with the decision.

In a few days we expect to hit our stride with this daily column. We will have information regarding our first tournament, and will give a summary of the season's schedule, ladies' and gent's. We will tell you when the schedule books will be ready for distribution. In fact, we we'll keep you posted on all lawn bowling activities. So in the meantime get your lawn bowls out, get them all nice and clean, get your measure in good shape, see that your bowling shoes are in good condition and then when June 1 rolls around head straight for the greens and "be on time."

Twenty 3-Year-Olds Enter Trial Run

Nominations for three of the important races on the opening day card of the O.J.C. meeting at Woodbine Park Saturday were announced yesterday. Twenty Canadian-bred 3-year-olds, all eligible for the King's Plate, have been named to start in the six furlong race. The other nominations were the Queen's Cup Handicap and the Fraser Memorial Steeplechase Handicap.

Those named for the Plate trial are: No Shoes, New Chum, Gower Mon, Cum Laude, Oblarto Gal, Sayonara, Little Storm, Broom Time, Frodo, Gypster, Korafloyd, Heysiris, Pygarg, Bold Pat, Haggarty, Pine Comb, Hemfox, Patafryn, Acara and Ompala; for the Queen's Cup, Shepperton, Sweepgold, Heulwen, Flying Giant, Mr. Infinity, Franworth, Muchy and Stoney Brush; for the Fraser Memorial Steeplechase, Admiralty, Danny Deever, Big Rebel, Wilfrid G, Glen-Na-Mona, Black Ned, Ossabaw and Mad Policy.

Wyoming Sweeps Shooting Awards

MONTREAL, May 18—(CP).—The Wyoming Rifle Club of Wyoming, Ont., made a clean sweep of five-man rifle team events conducted by the Canadian Small Bore Association, it was announced last night.

Announcing results of six of its 12 annual indoor championship matches, the association said the Wyoming Club, for the second straight year, had captured the Sir Herbert Holt trophy in the open team event, the Stoker Trophy in the railway team match and the Senator Cairine Wilson trophy in the ladies' team event.

Marie Barnes of Wyoming won the individual "members" match.

James Irvine of Vancouver's Canadian National Rifle Club captured the "any sights" championship.

Joe Bennett of Greater Edmonton Rifle Association captured the national championship and set new record in the "three-position" match with a score of 873 out of a possible 900.

St. Paul's Win Close Decision; George St. Clips St. Andrew's

St. Paul's bantams started off their season last night with a 12-11 win over St. James 1. The game was very close all the way with the exception of the second inning when St. Paul's put seven runs across home plate. St. James played much better ball after that, blanking St. Paul's for the last three innings.

The stars of the game were Eakins and Bryan of St. James and George Hall and Ross Johnston of St. Paul's. The teams:

St. James 1—Anderson, c; Eakins, p; Floyd, 1b; Hillier, 2b; Bradley, ss; Johnston, 3b; Bryan, lf; Cummings, cf; Bigford, rf.

St. Paul's: Taylor, c; Archibald, p; Finnie, 1b; Lavis, 2b; R. Johnston, ss; Beals, 3b; Curtis, lf; Howard, cf; Hall, rf; alternates, Bailey, Hill, Johnston.

Score by innings:

THE MILDEST CIGARETTE YOU CAN SMOKE

A Buckingham is the mildest cigarette you can smoke, because it is mild, where mildness counts most—in the throat. A Buckingham is "Throat Easy" because it is blended from tobaccos that are naturally cool-burning, cool-smoking.

For a milder smoke, and a more satisfying cigarette in every way, try Buckingham. You'll never again be satisfied with anything less in a cigarette.

Grove Blanks Yankees With 4-0 Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

It took Orval Grove a year to get even but the Chicago White Sox righthander today has squared his debt with the New York Yankees who broke his nine-game winning streak and ruined his no-hit bid in 1943.

Grove became the first pitcher to shut out the New Yorkers when he blanked them 4-0 with five hits yesterday. Last July Grove had a no hitter with two out in the ninth when Joe Gordon's double spoiled it.

Washington muffed a chance to go into a virtual tie for the American League lead by bowing before Cleveland Vern Kennedy's four-hit effort, 4-2.

Buddy Hall's boot with the bases loaded cost Philadelphia's Athletics a 2-1 decision to Detroit much to the dismay of 28,535 fans who were trying to root the A's home for their seventh straight.

Boston split two with the St. Louis Browns, winning 5-1, behind Tex Hughson's four-hit hurling but losing after a wild scramble in the finale, 12-8. By the split and Detroit's night victory, the Sox plunged into the cellar.

Brooklyn might be last in the National League if the Chicago Cubs weren't putting up such a strong defence, for the Dodgers stumbled into seventh position after bowing to Pittsburgh, 8-5. The Brooks came up with four runs in the sixth to grab the lead but the Pirates rallied with four in their half for an 8-5 margin before rain stopped the game.

The Braves continued to get top flight pitching as Red Barrettt rocked the St. Louis Cardinals on their heels with five blows for a 5-1 edge.

Bucky Walters turned from pitching to hitting and as a pinch batsman cracked a double that gave Cincinnati a 6-5 triumph over the Phils in a see-saw game called a moment later in the eighth inning because of rain.

Joe Medwick and Danny Gardella paced the New York Giants attack on five Chicago tossers for a 10-6 margin in a free-hitting game.

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP). — Ageing and leg-weary racehorses on the West Coast got a break when the Racing Association in Vancouver banned sprint races for the duration, with the exception of a few five-furlong events for frisky two-year-olds. A few six-furlong heats will be run off, but most of races will be of the seven-furlong variety.

The racing body wanted to take such action last year, but the owners asked a reprieve so they could get rid of their wind-broken sprinters by degrees, rather than have them left on their hands with no races to trot out in.

Riding the range:

Leo Dandurand, long associated with Montreal Canadiens during their colorful days in the N.H.L., has been touring the West and renewing old acquaintances Although hockey was his chief interest for years, along with racing, he says his greatest thrill came during the famous long-count battle beween Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Dandurand told Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith that modern playing rules are a great break for the players, and allow them to last three or four years longer in the bigtime than they would have in the old days.

Incidentally:

PO. Bill Pedlar of Vancouver, former Canadian junior tennis champion, has been posted as missing with the R.C.A.F. over Burma. Bill, when 17, became the youngest player ever to make Canada's Davis Cup teams.....That was in 1939.....The Ontario Baseball Association, fighting the manpower problem, will allow teams under its jurisdiction to import five players from the United States to bolster their lineups....Art Prince of Montreal is believed the first baseball umpire from Canada's biggest city to make the International League. He filled in at a game in Montreal.....How they can pick 'em. Two British Columbians, Stanley Dahl of New Westminster and Michael Ringrose of Vancouver, picked Pensive, Broadcloth, Stir Up to run in that order in the Kentucky Derby during a competition sponsored by the Vancouver Sun....Charlie Reith, golf professional and expert who writes a column for the Winnipeg Tribune, says that the youngest golfer in the world to sink a hole-in-one was Maurice Regimbal, nine-year-old North Bay, Ont., caddy who did the trick in 1929. Alec Duthie in 1911 played two consecutive aces at the Vancouver Country Club, the only such case on record, says Reith.

NEW YORK, May 16 — (AP). — Overseas sports roundup:

Persian Gulf Command:

Sgt. Allen Lacombe, the No. 1 boxing promoter from Cairo to Teheran, types this report....Boxing in the P.G.C. has been pretty good in the last month or so. I took 22 boys on tour of the command. The camps we appeared in did not have boxing teams before we went there, but as soon as we left all of the camps started to organize teams....There is only one place that we can fight during the summer and that is Teheran. It is nice and cool up in the mountains where the camps are, so once a month I have to put on 12 fights up there, matching boys from all over the command. The only rough part about that is we fellows that are stationed down in the southern part of Iran have to travel almost 850 miles to fight. The change of climate is murder; you can hardly breathe when you get up in them mountains. And you have to travel fourth class or ride in box cars all the way, eating C rations, but the boys do not seem to mind it very much.

New Guinea:

Recently received copies of the "Cockatoo," which describes itself as "the leading and most widely read morning nespaper in New Guinea,' include complete resumes of major league baseball performances as well as racing result at "Fresh Meadows" a track where toy horses are raced with the aid of dice.

England:

A Canadian Army cricket team will play an American team on the famed cricket grounds at Lords, on July 20....The match has led to speculation in London papers as to whether the game will help Canadians and Americans forget the more raucous game of baseball when they return home.....From this distance, it seems more likely that staid Londoners never will forget the Canadian-American game.

Basketball Rules Now Revised

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP). — D. I. Paul of Toronto, newly-appointed representative of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association to the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, to-day issued a report to all provincial branches on officially adopted rule revisions to be effective next season.

The rule changes include the following:

1. Five personal fouls (an increase of one, will be permitted before a player is disqualified in a game.

2. The National Committee unanimously voted to remove the restriction on the number of times a player might re-enter the game after substitutions.

3. The scorer is to be provided with a complete written list by the coach of all players who may participate in a game.

4. The referee is to be given discretionary power "to blow the ball dead" when a player is injured with either side in possession of the ball.

5. Two points are to be awarded on a throw for field goal if a defending player touches the ball after it has started its downward flight and is still above the level of the basket ring. (This will stop an exceptionally tall player from acting as a "goal-tender.")

6. Modifications in basket nets were approved but liberal interpretations will be permitted while the wartime restrictions are in effect. Basket nets are to hang from 15 to 18 inches.

7. Numbers worn by the players must meet required standards.

8. Referees are to adopt a set of basic uniform signals to keep spectators and scorers informed on the game incidents.

Commissioner Paul pointed out the National Committee comprises representatives from the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union, the Y.M.C.A.'s, Secondary School Associations, the National Collegiate Athletic Association in the United States, as well as the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

BROOK, Ind., May 18 — (AP) — George Ade, one of the United States' most famed authors and humorists died last night at the age of 78. He had been in a comatose condition since last Saturday when he suffered his third heart attack within a week.

Ade had been ailing for almost a year suffering a stroke last June which caused him temporary paralysis of one arm and one leg.

By HYE BOSSIN

There's a story about a Hollywood producer who was impressed with the first play he saw by Shakespeare. He wired the English agent to sign him as a writer. "Shakespeare Dead," came the reply. The producer wired back: "Sorry. Send Flowers." . . . There are 412 of Canada's 1,100-odd theatres in Ontario, according to the annual report of O. J. Silverthorne, chief censor of the Province. The report is an excellent summary of the industry as a whole and deals well with the problem of Juvenile Delinquency and motion pictures. . . . Gertrude Niesen startled New Yorkers by wearing a hat with a bird cage on top—housing a live canary! . . . Director John Farrow, who was retired from the Royal Canadian Navy because of ill health, was decorated with two service medals recently by Captain Joseph P. Connolly. Farrow can't get away from the sea, he being busy right now with "Two Years Before the Mast."

A real case of casting trouble developed with "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn." The studio couldn't find the essential Ailanthus Glandulosas, a type of tree peculiar to Brooklyn. Looks as though even the trees in Hollywood have doubles . . . Cashier of a Toronto theatre, Mrs. Ann Fritz, admired the turban worn by Gracie Fields at her Victory Loan concert and told her so by phone. The theatre was playing an old Fields film. Next day Gracie and husband showed up to see it. When she had gone it was found that the turban had been left behind for the cashier. . . . Roy Rogers, the cowboy star, a dead shot with a sling. Archie Laurie, who handles his films in Canada, let Rogers shoot the cigar out of his mouth at twenty paces. This was during Rogers' recent visit to Ontario, where he was a great hit. . . . Linda Darnell, just turned 21 and a star for six years, is of Indian ancestry.

Hollywood folk, reputed to be sophisticated in their tastes, gave a party in honor of Fibber McGee and Molly, presenting them with two heifers for their ranch. It's nice to see homey folks getting along. . . . Among the old-time stars planning a comeback is Carmel Myers. Remember her? . . . When Jesse Lasky made "Puddin'head Wilson" years ago Frank Reicher directed it. Now he's an extra in another Lasky film, "The Adventures of Mark Twain" . . . There's talk of a film about the life of Tommy Manville. Where will they get enough girls to play his wives? . . . Judy Garland will play a straight dramatic role in "The Clock." No songs. Judy and husband Dave Rose, famed orchestra leader, will separate permanently.

They pelted Frank Sinatra with pennies the other day in Philadelphia. In Rudy Vallee's day as top crooner they tossed grapefruit at him. Probably cost too much today. Nobody jokes about actors being egged any more. The throwers would probably be locked up as hoarders. . . . In "Murder, He Says," which stars Fred MacMurray, Marjorie Main will play a pipe-smoking, gun-toting gal who has put five husbands in their graves. Maybe they'll make a Western star out of Marjorie to catch the feminine juvenile trade. . . . Little Margaret O'Brien has been classified as their favorite "Safety Pin-up Girl" by soldiers in the Aleutians. . . . "Going My Way," which stars Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald, is one of the grandest sentimental films in the history of the movies.

Toronto Wins Over Newark

By the Associated Press.

Redhead Ralph Kress, Toronto's handy man who has been plaguing pitchers since 1927, is still to-day, at 37 years of age, a tough hombre at the plate.

He proved this yesterday when he stepped up to bat in the eighth inning in the role of a pinch-hitter and smacked a home run with two mates aboard to give Toronto an 11-10 victory over Newark.

Kress, a veteran of 10 years of major league ball, has appeared in every position in the Toronto lineup except catcher. Last year he won three games and lost two as a hurler and this year has appeared several times in relief on the mound.

Jersey City evened the two-game series with the Rochester Red Wings by clubbing four Red Bird hurlers for 18 hits to win 10-5. Ken Miller, appearing in relief, pitched fine ball to receive credit for the victory. Andres Fleitas, Cuban catcher, made four hits and scored four runs in four at bats.

The Syracuse Chiefs tightened their grip on third place by defeating the Buffalo Bisons 6-1. Jim Konstanty notched his fifth triumph of the season against one defeat by limiting the Bisons to six scattered hits.

The Baltimore-Montreal game was postponed.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

By winning the Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park yesterday, Twilight Tear, Calumet Farm's three-year-old daughter of Bull Lea, added $10,900 to her earnings to run up a total of $34,780 for this year and an aggregate of $69,390 including last season. She has started 13 times in two years, won 10 races and has never finished outside the money, thus establishing her claim as the outstanding three-year-old filly.

The sale of Gulfstream Park race track to James A. Dunn and associates was confirmed yesterday at Miami, the deal taking $100,000 in cash and absorption of some $750,000 in outstanding accounts.

Twenty Canadian-bred three-year-olds, both from eastern and western Canada, were nominate last night for the Plate Trial, opening-day feature at Toronto Woodbine Saturday, the event being a six-furlong race worth $2,500 in which all starters are eligible for the King's Plate one week later.

Four straight winners was the riding record of Jockey Harry Pratt of Pawtucket yesterday at Suffolk Downs, the list including two for his contract owner, Dr. Walter I. Lunt of Pawtucket, these being Patches in the Jamaica Plain, a six-furlong race, and Sporting Guy which took the second event by eight lengths.

2 Germans Killed By Prisoners In War Camp

LONDON, May 18 — (CP-Cable) — The Earl of Huntingdon urged yesterday that a commission be appointed to inquire into the administration of camps for German war prisoners and told the House of Lords there were "unpleasant" stories about them, particularly in Canada.

Lord Huntingdon added it was said that in Canada two anti-Nazis were bullied and murdered in a camp by Nazi fellow-countrymen.

The Earl, a 43-year-old artist, suggested that prisoners should be separated on political divisions rather than racial, because the war was a war of ideologists and not of races. He proposed that violent Nazis be segrated.

(In a previous Canadian press dispatch, the foregoing remarks erroneously were attributed to Lord Vansittart, former chief diplomatic adviser to the British government.)

Lord Vansittart urges segregation of Austrian and Sudeten German prisoners from Teuton-Prussians and asked whether any such "salutary measures" were being applied to German-speaking prisoners captured by British forces and held in Canada and the United States.

Replying for the government, Lord Croft, Uundersecretary for War, said the government was prepared to consider the question of segregation of Sudeten Germans. He said the Moscow declaration made clear the desire of Britain, Russia and the United States to see a free and independent Austria re-established and added the British government had considered it a logical consequence to segregate Austrian from German war prisoners.

Lord Croft said it had been suggested to the Canadian and Australian governments that they should consider taking measures similar to those taken by Britain, adding it was entirely a matter for them.

Obituary

RICHARD JOHN NURSE

The last surviving member of the family of the late Robert Nurse and Mary Smithson, Richard John Nurse of Otonabee, passed away in Peterborough on Wednesday at the age of 80.

Born in South Monaghan, the late Mr. Nurse moved to Otonabee 45 years ago and he has lived there until his removal to the hospital in Peterborough. He has had a lengthy illness, and until some years ago when he retired, he was a successful farmer. Mr. Nurse was a member of Zion United Church.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, John of South Monaghan; George of Indian River; Harold at home; four daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Nurse, Fowler's Corners; Mrs. Clayton Nurse, Ennismore; Mrs. Sydney Reid of Otonabee; and Lily at home.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. from the family residence, Lot 14, Concession 12, Otonabee. Rev. George Murray will officiate. Interment will be in Zion Cemetery.

Germans Withdraw

hinge of both of the enemy's two major defensive fortifications—the Gustav and the Hitler lines—and the Germans have been counter-attacking violently to regain it.

American troops on the 5th Army's left wing near the Tyrrhenian sea coast slashed into the lofty Aurunclo mountain pass, forming the southern end of the Hitler line, and captured 4,500-foot Monte Ruazzo, three miles north of the coastal city of Formia from the northeast.

An official announcement said the Allies were in contact with the Hitler Line at many points after driving through most of the first enemy defence—the Gustav Line.

French forces captured Esperia, an outpost of the Hitler Line in the central sector between the 8th Army and the Allied 5th Army, operating near the coast of the Tyrrhenian Sea.

American forces, sweeping at least three miles west from Castellonorato, approached to within two miles of the enemy's Appian Way stronghold of Formia from the northeast.

Some time yesterday the American troops drove the enemy from the towns of Trivio and Maranola, and reached a point only a little more than two miles from Forima. The Americans were said to be threatening the town from both the east and north.

Thus, the Allied troops were steadily driving the enemy back all along the 25-mile battle line from the sea to beyond Cassino.

New Battle Starts

"The battle for the Gustav Line is drawing to a close and the battle for the Adolf Hitler Line is about to commence," the daily communique said.

Backing up the ground troops with 2,500 sorties, mostly over the battle area, the Allied air forces yesterday blocked the main highway from Rome to the fighting front, smashed additional ports where enemy supplies were being landed, and pounded the German artillery and infantry virtually from dawn to dusk.

French troops fought into Esperia despite all efforts of the enemy troops, including the 200th motorized division rushed to the area by the Germans in a last-minute effort to hold this key point.

French artillery began to shell the Itri-Pico Road, linking the Hitler Line's Liri valley defences with other German fortifications along the west coast.

The Allied offensive now has engulfed a total of 4,500 prisoners, it was announced. This raised the total since the beginning of the Italian campaign last fall to well past 20,000.

In the air war, heavy bombers struck yesterday at the west coast ports of Pimobino and Stefano, Portofferraio on the Island of Elba, and the Adriatic coastal city of Ancona.

Heavy bombers also flew across the Adriatic and attacked Bihac, a strongly-held German position 70 miles south of Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

Many Active.

Medium bombers blocked the Frosinone road junction between Rome and the front, airmen reporting it was left impassable. R.A.F. Wellingtons returned to targets in the same area last night, as well as many of the Italian objectives hit during the day by the American heavy bombers.

Light aircraft joined in bombing and strafing attacks on a number of airports in Northern Italy, mediums banged away at a number of bridges and other planes dropped low to advance troops in one sector. Fighter-bombers lashed at a variety of targets in the immediate battle area.

One fighter formation effected 22 rail cuts.

Fifteen Allied planes failed to return. Only one enemy plane was observed during the day.

A naval announcement said Allied cruisers, sweeping in near shore opposite the 5th Army's left flank, had fired more than 3,000 rounds in the past few days against German installations along the Gulf of Gaeta. Up the coast opposite the Anzio bridgehead, a small German vessel was sunk the night of May 13.

The communique made no mention of any activity on the bridgehead.

kenzie King, Jan Christiaan Smuts, John Curtin and Peter Fraser also were made public.

It was learned that the Australian and New Zealand war leaders will proceed home by way of Canada and Mr. King in his remarks expressed satisfaction at the prospect of visits to Ottawa by Mr. Curtin and Mr. Fraser. The projected visit in Ottawa could enable the heads of the three Dominions which are especially interested in the Pacific to discuss in greater detail than was possible in London questions affecting this region.

Mr. King described the conference as "most helpful and useful" and said he left the talks aware of "our one-ness of purpose" and convinced that there is "full agreement on essentials."

He described the concluding declaration as "a clear and firm indication of what the British Commonwealth means to its members and to the world." The Canadian Prime Minister also paid special tribute to Mr. Churchill and to the people of Britain. Of Mr. Churchill he said during the talks "Time and again we have been moved and inspired by your memorable utterances." Of the people of Britain, he said: "Since that very different spring four years ago the will and spirit of the people of Britain have been a source of inspiration to all the peoples of the Commonwealth."

moving back along by-passed territory toward Nipponese reported concentrating at Wewak.

Australian troops concentrating on Wewak were last reported pushing some 150 miles beyond captured Madang in the region of Bunabun. That would place the Aussies and Americans about 200 miles apart.

The newly reported patrol fighting, over terrain squeezed between 4,500-foot mountains and the sea, is at a point about midway between Aitape and the westernmost of four airdromes in the Wewak sector.

Aitape and Hollandia, in Dutch New Guinea, 150 miles to the north-west, were invaded simultaneously April 22 at which time a spokesman estimated the amphibious operation had by-passed upwards of 60,000 Japanese.

Pay ARP Firemen For Time Lost

In accepting the voluntary services of the A.R.P. firemen, the council has decided to pay them for any time lost from work that may be incurred while helping the department fight fires.

As other protection was unavailable, the council accepted the tender of Clegg and McClellan for providing the following insurance for the staff of volunteers: principal sum, payable in the event of death or dismemberment, $3,000; weekly indemnity, for total disability, payable for a period not exceeding 104 weeks, or for partial disability payable for a period not exceeding 26 weeks, $25.

Medical and surgical fees, covering expenses of doctor, nurses, surgeons and hospital, $500. Total premium $5.75 "per man per year."

In replying to a question by Alderman Bradburn as to whether tenders were called for this business, City Clerk Outram said six agents were asked to submit tenders.

"Some agents are not given an opportunity to tender on city business," Alderman Bradburn commented.

Want To Carry On.

Acceptance of the A.R.P. firemen as an auxiliary corps, chiefly for emergency purposes, provides for the Fire Department the service of a group of men who came together when Air Raid Precautions were organized. They attended their own special drills at the Fire Hall, and they have developed a community of interest and a company spirit that wishes to survive the disbandment of the activities of A.R.P. since the British airmen clipped the wings of the Luftwaffe, and Uncle Sam's fliers arrived to complete the job of making the air safe on this side of the Atlantic.

The remnant A.R.P. men volunteered their services to the council, but the first reaction was to let them pass out of existence, as would probably have occurred if no outlet for their energies remained.

Information from Chief Gimblett through Alderman Sullivan, chairman of the light and power committee, reflected friendly relations between the city's permanent staff of firemen and the volunteers, and some public opinion that has been casually expressed seems to be approving the action of the council, on the recommendation of Chief Gimblett, in accepting the volunteers who are willing to continue their training and will be on call for duty, especially in any emergency which might threaten the city with serious loss.

The committee has also requested the Peterborough City Trust Commission to have the exterior of the fire hall painted.

Council Authorizes Use Of City Parks

Allotment of city parks for recreational uses has been confirmed by the council in approving the parks committee report:—

That the city accept the policy submitted by Hill, Weddell and Hills for public liability insurance in connection with the swimming pool to be operated in a city park by the Lions Club, premium being $25 on the limits stated.

That the following requests for the use of city parks be granted:—

C.G.E. Social and Athletic Association, use of Park street property five evenings each week, Saturday being open for the public generally; Church Softball League—diamond at Nicholls Oval; Girls' Softball League—Ashburnham Bowl; Men's Softball League—Riverside Park.

That it be suggested to H. J. Pearce, 407 Dobbin avenue, that the Industrial Softball League arrange to play its games on one of the school playground diamonds, otherwise the League may be accommodated at King Edward Park.

That the chairman of this committee be authorized to assume possession for Parks purposes of the office of the former Allin Ice Company.

Soldier Is Given 2-Month Term

Declaring that the accused was lucky that his conduct had not involved him in a much more serious charge, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning sentenced Pte. Hubert Frank Wright, R.C.A.M.C., to two months imprisonment in the county jail on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Hazel B. Downer, Bolivar street.

"You have a good record in the army," said His Worship, "and this other offence happened a long time ago. But you are lucky that your conduct did not develop into a much more serious charge being laid against you."

Wright's home is in Toronto. The offence for which he was convicted occurred last week and Mrs. Downer in giving evidence stated that the accused had followed her home and attacked her, throwing her to the ground. The woman's husband chased and caught the soldier, holding him until police arrived to arrest him.

Port Hope School Wins Shooting Prize

PORT HOPE, Ont., May 17. — (CP).—Officials at Trinity College school last night said the school's Cadet Corps has for the third successive year won the Duke of Devonshire Trophy, awarded annualy to the Canadian school ranking highest in the Imperial challenge shooting competition open to schools from all Empire countries.

Winning score was 92.803 per cent. Fort Frances, Ont., High school was second with 82.212 per cent.

Columnist's Poetry Tells Poignant Story Bonds No Sacrifice When Boys Die At Front

That Victory Bond poetry used by Sid Goldstone in his Centre Theatre advertisement during the local campaign was written by H. I. Phillips in his regular columnar work for the New York Sun. It was reprinted in advertisement display form by Gimbel Brothers of New York, and since then has had a wide publicity. It debunks any notion of sacrifice in lending money to the Government through the Victory Loans, and in Peterborough's Loan advertising it seemed to be about the most effective appeal noticed in the Examiner's columns.

In one of the verses the famous H. I. Phillips wrote that he had thought he had taken all the bonds he could until he read in the local newspaper about the youngster he used to know as Johnny Adams:

"He had brought me my paper
every night,
A child on a bike bright red;
He's riding the path to the house right now
I thought....but the lad is dead."

May be that is leaning heavily toward the sentimental, but it is also bitterly true of many a newsboy of yesterday now in the fighting services and quite a number of them dead.

Another paragraph in the "War Bond Salespoint" by Phillips disposes of any sense of glory in accumulating Victory Bonds:

"A duty? A noble and handsome act,
This taking of War Bonds? Bunk.
Since when was investment in sure things
A sacrifice? Scrap such junk."

Five Donations This Year By C.G.E. Group

For almost three and a half years the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund has operated on a daily basis, all the time and expenses necessary for its proper operation having been given as a contribution to the cause, during which period a great many other campaigns having also a direct bearing on a successful prosecution of the war effort have also been carried on, and it is a singular triumph that in spite of all the many other demands being made at these various times, the fund has so far been able to sustain its policy of placing money to the credit of the fund's account in the bank, on every day that it has been open for business.

This naturally infers that during these special periods when other claims were being made upon the individual pocket, there were still some who could keep in mind the needs for which the fund operates, and the most recent experience has proved this to still be the case.

Five Gifts In Five Months

One of the reasons why this is so can easily be guaged from the fact that there are some individuals and groups who carry on the good work on a reliable regular basis, among which the Industrial Control Department of the C.G.E. Co. Ltd. have in the past 16 months taken a leading position, for in that period of time, they have given on no less than 13 occasions, five of which have come since the beginning of this year, following a special one made on December 21 of last year.

As in all other affairs of a like nature, good leadership must necessarily play its part, and this in particular can be ascribed to Phillip Weir, backed by a keen interest of P. Killingbeck the foreman of this group, and the undoubted support of the employees of the whole group, whose record for this past year in particular is quite an enviable one.

The last of these five donations amounts to $27.72, and gives a total of $128.45 contributed this year so far, and since this is only part of the story, it should be related that since February, 1943, collectively they have a total of $283.45 to their credit, a fine record of which they may feel justifiably proud.

C.G.E.-Genelco Total $7,052.

This gift listed today marks the 4th donation to come from the big industrial plant this month, and brings their total at this moment up to the very impressive figure of $7,052.67, and another notch up the ladder towards the suggested goal of $10,000 that might ultimately be attained by them, in this morale uplifting and humanitarian assist being carried on in the name of the residents of this city and district for a successful prosecution of the war effort.

Previously acknowledged	$76,173.90
Industrial Control Dept. C.G.E. Co. Ltd., P. Killingbeck, foreman, per Phillip Weir	27.72
Total to date	$76,201.62

Scouts' Executive Reviews Craft Show

The regular meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association was held this week. Reports of the Scoutcraft Show indicated that the interest of the Scouts and the public in the show was even greater than in previous years.

The thanks of the executive will be sent to all those who helped in making it such a success. The City Trust for the use of the Market Hall, the market clerk Mr. Cowling for his help. The C.G.E. Social and Athletic Society for the loan of the public address system and particularly to Robert Hanscom for installing and operating it for the three nights. To The Examiner for the publicity they gave and to the Scout and Cub leaders.

The next meeting of the executive will be held June 14 at the Camp Grounds in conjunction with the Scouters Club. Indications point to the grounds being used frequently during the coming month. Several Packs and Troops are already planning week-end camps.

Improvements in accommodation will be made shortly and it is hoped that before the Jamboree, which will probably be held on Labor Day, facilities will be improved.

2 Rabbis Chaplains

MONTREAL, May 18—(CP).—Rabbi Human Gevantman of Oshawa, Ont., and Rabbi Arron David Monson of Toronto have been appointed to the Canadian chaplaincy, it was announced by the Canadian Jewish Congress today.

Their appointment brings to seven the number of rabbis in the Canadian Armed Forces. They are to be stationed in Ontario with the honorary rank of captain.

Larry Allen Being Repatriated

BARCELONA, May 18— (AP).—The diplomatic exchange ships Gripsholm and Gadisca docked here yesterday, and the transfer of some 900 British, Canadian and American prisoners of war for 700 German prisoners and civilians began immediately.

As Allied soldiers and civilians debarked at the bow of the swastika-flying Gadisca and walked across the pier to go up the Gripsholm gangway the Germans went aboard the Gadisca at the stern.

The Allied group was laughing and joking, in distinct contrast to the Germans, few of whom appeared cheerful. Despite their ragged uniforms, which seemed to be those in which they were captured, the Allied troops generally had a spruce appearance. Some British were wearing shorts.

The Germans, members of Field-Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps, captured in Libya and Tunisia, were greeted by a swarm of uniformed Nazi Party officials who paraded along the pier.

Among the Allied prisoners were two British generals and an air marshal. The first person to leave the Gadisca was an Irish general in the British Army named O'Carroll.

Also among the repatriates was Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner, who was captured by the Germans at Tobruk in North Africa in 1942.

To reach the dock the Gadisca had to sail alongside the Gripsholm, carrying the Germans. Allied soldiers lining the rail of the Gadisca, which brought them from Axis controlled territory, called greetings which were not answered by the silent Germans.

This was the second exchange handled by the Red Cross through Spain since the war began.

Lots Of Smiths

INDIANAPOLIS, May 18—(AP).—Mayor Robert Tyndall asked everyone in Indianapolis named Smith to contribute blood at the Red Cross centre during next week. If all the Smiths in this city of 400,000 respond, that will be 3,500 pints of blood for the armed forces.

Spring Seeding In Ontario Well Advanced

Farmers are getting their spring seeding well advanced, and some of the grain is already showing green above ground in promising growth, according to the report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture early this week.

Durham says "it wauld appear that at least 75-80 per cent of the seeding is completed". But formation in the orchards has been rapid, and it has been impossible to imply the pre-pink spray in some orchards. "Farm labor conditions could not be much worse."

In Northumberland a few farmers have finished cereal seeding and much grain is up. Spraying of orchards has been rushed with many unable to keep up to the usual spray program."

"The land worked up well in Ontario county" and some of the farmers have completed their seeding. Showers have caused some delay in York, "but a few good days will see most of the seeding completed."

"The farm labor situation is bad" in Peterborough, but a few men have been placed on farms." Hogs were held over at the local packing plant during the week-end because there was not enough man power to get them killed.

Livestock Sold

Ten cars of livestock were sold out of Prince Edward county last week. Seeding progress varies from the farmer who has finished his seeding to the man at the other extreme who has hardly begun. Carleton county reports seeding approximately 35 per cent completed with many farms reporting up to 80 per cent; and growth during the last ten days has been rapid.

Dairy cows are still selling at top prices in Dundas.

Meadows are spotty and some will have to be brokenup. Frontenac is planting more early potatoes than usually. The present stage of the spring crop in Peterborough county seems to be typical of all eastern Ontario; and the distribution of moisture seems to have been almost uniform from Toronto to the Ottawa river.

In western Ontario, Lincoln county observes "Growth has been phenomenal; early peach trees, apricots and plums are in blossom.

Farmers around Hamilton, in Wentworth county, have to face the labor competition of the city's big industries, and "very few boys are offering their services for farm labor."

Hellcats Carry Bombs

LONDON, May 18—(CP). — The Admiralty yesterday divulged the identity of a new cruiser and disclosed that the famous Hellcat fighters are being used as fighter-bombers. A communique describing a carrier-borne surprise air attack on Nazi shipping and shore installations near Stadblandet, on Norway's west coast, said the flagship of the naval force was the cruiser Royalist.

Maritime Project

MONCTON, May 18—(CP).—John Bracken, in an address here last night stated a Progressive Conservative government at Ottawa would undertake to determine the feasibility of and, if a survey warrants, the development of the Petitcodiac tidal power project.

Peterborough Requires Sprucing Up So As To Actuate The Gifts Bestowed By Nature Upon The City

BY STUART BROWN
New Westminster, B. C.

Peterborough . . . a long drawn out soft sounding word . . . unhurried and restful and therefore well suited to your beautiful city and its scenic environment. Yet, I wonder why it is, that with all the praise showered upon your citizens, they fail to realize and make the most of the innate God-given beauty bestowed upon them.

In my travels, I have seen other beauty spots such as Hamshire in England, with its old oaks, dating back to the Roman period. I know her ever unfolding kaleidoscope of greeneries and sylvan dales . . . also Bournemouth and the Hastings Country. I know the Downs of Suffolk and the Devon Hills and Clovelly. I know too, the States of New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and New York and the softer tints of Maryland. And I have seen in the West, the eerie fastnesses and grandeur of our Rockies with the green and forrested slopes reaching down to the Pacific Ocean.

I have travelled all my life and have seen much, but no one spot of my wanderings has impressed me more in the matter of intensive God-given beauty than your own little City.

But:—

I am afraid that this possessed beauty is to a very large extent, lying dormant, unappreciated and inactive, because of the apathetic interest of your citizens. I feel very sincerely that it is time for an awakening and that these same citizens should be aroused to a sense of their responsibility in this connection, and this is the reason of my letter.

Time For Sprucing Up

It is time for the "Old Girl" to spruce up a bit and assume a more modern aspect. She does not need a face-lifting, for Nature moulded her to perfection; but she badly needs to accentuate the gifts bestowed by Nature, by means of a Permanent Wave . . . Touches of Rouge . . . Lipstick . . . Pencilled Eyebrows and all the "frilly frollies" that make women so very attractive and desirable. If these items are applied with such beneficial effects to a woman . . . then why not to a City in like relation?

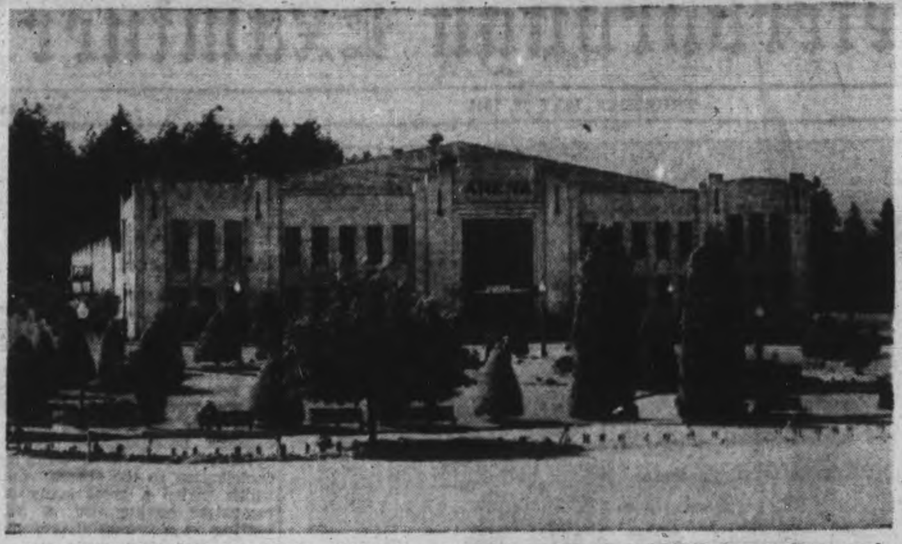
New Westminster . . . the Royal City of the West . . . and at the same time the oldest on our Pacific Coast, is the niftiest little City in North America, just because she keeps one step ahead of the rest in hear "dolling up". So, if I may be allowed, I am going to give you an abstract of what has been done here.

The history of the Parks Development of New Westminster is without parallel, and is mighty interesting as well as historical.

Back in 1859, when B. C. was but a Crown Colony, Queen Victoria was asked to name this City and she called it after her own Royal Borough of Westminster and hence it is called the Royal City.

Royal Engineer Sappers were set to work to lay out the town, and in accordance with the British practise in such matters, they left suitable areas for what are known in the Old Land as "Commons".

In this case, patches of very heavy coastal timbers. As you know the size and girth of our coast trees, you may be able to imagine to some extent the stupendous task confronting the City Fathers in transferring these areas into the present Parks.



NEW WESTMINSTER ARENA—What the citizens of New Westminster did to beautify their city and erect an arena can be done by the citizens of Peterborough. A city of 22,000 people, the arena is shown above, and in the accompanying story Stuart Brown tells just how it was built and how Peterborough could do the same.

Courage Prevailed

It is impossible to realize what a struggle it has been over the passing years, but with the indomitable courage and clear foresight that prevailed amongst our forefathers, they kept up the struggle. Now to a very great extent they have fulfilled their destiny in this regard, and have left to our generation and to the generations to follow, a heritage worthy of their every effort, and one which can be pointed to with justifiable pride.

And now a word of the Parks and Playgrounds themselves . . . the product of all this endeavour. The area of all the Parks is about 300 acres The first and foremost is Queens Park, and from the map you can guage its extent. Both ends of the Park repose in their virgin state of Forest Timberland except that they are all underbrushed to accentuate the columned beauty of the rising forest monarchs. Numerous trails thread through these woods. Also in the Park there is a splendid large playing field, all sodded and green, and completely underlaid with tile and rock drainage. There is ample grand stand space, dressing rooms, etc.

There is the huge, solid, concrete Arena . . . which I feel certain next to Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, is the finest in Canada. It has an ice area of 80 by 180 feet, seats over 5000 people, and is nicely equipped with theatre chairs and boxes. All the passabes are spacious and clear and there is a large foyer at the entrance, where a canteen is operated. The Arena is used mainly for Skating, Indoor Lacrosse and Hockey, "Artificial Ice of Course."

Arenex is next in importance and it is here that all the big dances are held, and where Badminton is played to some extent. The Arenex has a nice dance floor, 90 by 120 feet, catering facilities, dressing rooms, etc.

Other features of the Park are a very pretty artificial lake, all iron fenced and nicely landscaped, tennis courts, a swimming pool, and picnic accommodations, with open stoves, tables and all else for large community affairs.

The whole Park is most beautifully landscaped, with sunken gardens, fish pools, apiaries and many other facilities.

A Second Park.

Moody Park is next in importance and size. Here there are two splendid playing fields for football, etc. and plenty of tennis courts. Also there is a complete children's playground outfit, consisting of a swimming pool, swings, chutes, sand boxes, bars, etc. There is a very pretty lodge in the park for the Superintendent, and there are good gardens around it. This summer, a completely housed-in swimming pool is going to be built, which will be 50 by 100 feet and which will give this park two pools.

Hume Park is an improved area of ravines and ridges with full playground equipment and two swimming pools. It is all landscaped with an "Old Mill Wheel" and huge timber gateway.

Albert Crescent deserves special mention as it is the Southern entrance to the City from over the Fraser River Bridge. It is here that the American gets his first glimpse of a "dandy fine" Canadian City. And I can assure you it is an impressive sight; for outside of the Butchart Gardens in Victoria, which was built out of an old stone quarry, never have I seen a transformation of a rough unsightly hillside— into a bit of landscaped garden so superbly impressive.

It is a transformation to be proud of. Such a transformation has seldom been performed on this our North American continent. For a small town, it is the most splendid execution I have ever witnessed.

Tipperary Park is not developed to any extent, as it is so close to Queen's Park — just trees, walks, etc., but at Sapperton Park there is a splendid playing field and minor developments.

The revenue from these parks for 1943 as some........	$41,747.16
With expenditures of....	34,408.98
Leaving a net profit of..	7,338.18
But included in the $34,408.98 was:
A public address system	500.00
Electric rogan	3,450.00
Sinking Fund instalment	2,756.00
Interest on debentures ..	3,690.00
Repayment of loan	4,000.00
Total of	$14395.00

on what might be termbed capital acount.

The parks of Vancouver are the most valuable, and indirectly the most profitable of all that city's property. I state this as a fact.

Peterborough is a city of...	25,000
New Westminster is	22,000
A difference of	3,000

It is my belief that for every dollar in New Westminster there is ten dollars in Peterborough.

You have not a swing—you have nothing comparable to this city. The only attempt I ever saw back there was at Wallace Point, where they have a may pole, swings and a real diving ladder.

So, I believe that I have every reason back of me in pointing out to you the necessity of a permanent wave, rouge and all else for the "Old Girl's" rejuvenation, if she wishes to keep abreast of the times.

Liking for Peterborough.

The chief reason, however, for writing is my deep affection for your town—a town in which I lived for ten lovely months.

Besides any selfish interests I may have, I hold a brief for the child population of Peterborough. Having lived in other more progressive areas, I realize fully how recreant in its duty, to these youngsters is your adult population in having failed to provide for this generation and the generations to follow, proper facilities for play and recreation such as have been provided here in New Westminster and other places.

Your financial setup is far better than that of New Westminster. As I understand it, your net debt is at present $916,920, while at New Westminster debt is $6,000,000. Also your mill rate is 30 as compared with New Westminster's 70 Again your assessment on real property is $22,559,799, while New Westminster's is $8,000,000. There is no tax on improvements in New Westminster. In the last seven years you reduced your debt $1,838,291. This alone shows your ability to finance any such project that may be projected along the lines of those in New Westminster.

In Peterborough you have 80 large establishments worth $25,000,000, with a production of over $40,000,000 as of 1943.

To-day in New Westminster we have 84 plants with an investment of $20,000,000 and $39,500,000 production. These figures are for 1944 and include industries grouped for several miles around New Westminster and are not confined to city areas. For instance, Canadian Western Lumber Co., or Fraser Mills as it is commonly known, is in Mallairdville, which is just outside the city limits, about five miles.

Considering the tremendous war developments in Peterborough, such as the Genelco gun plant and the general increase of staff and enlargements due to war conditions, I imagine that Peterborough's output could safely be said to have increased by 30 per cent thus placing her at $52,000,000 as against New Westminster's $39,500,000.

The parks in this town were started 80 years ago and were administered by part of the City Council for the first 50 years. Then a Parks Board of three was set up, which was elected separately from the City Council, and this, I have been assured is the best method. These three men, a chairman and two others generally worked without any remuneration, men who were intensely interested in child population as well as the advancement of the city's beautification. They budget the necessary funds which are provided by the Council.

Bonds Sold For Arena

The Arena here was built by sale of Bonds and by a By-law which the Service Clubs helped to pass. The Arena was the only building upon which there was a By-law submitted to the people and that is what I am presently going to suggest for Peterborough.

As I pointed out previously, your ability to reduce your debt shows your ability to finance a Parks Development Scheme.

Although having a debt of $6,000,000, and a mill rate of 70, these New Westminster citizens intend as soon as the war ends, to set aside $11,500 for the plans alone of their future developments. Just think what these developments must run up to in money to justify these plans.

But, let me tell you that these New Westminster citizens have always placed "The first things first"; for in providing suitable recreational facilities and playing fields, they know they are rebuilding in this generation and in the generation to follow, solid, stalwart citizens, able

Millbrook St. Thomas' W.A. Finishes Year

MILLBROOK, May 18—(ENS)—The W.A. of St. Thomas' church held its closing meeting until September on Monday evening at the president's home, Mrs. Westmacott reading the lesson, and Mrs. A. E. Chevis taking the Litany and special prayers. Reports showed pledges for the half-year fully paid, though funds being low, a special effort will be necessary in the early fall, when the usual silver tea and sale of home baking will be held.

Mrs. H. J. Russell, Dorcas secretary, reported the shipment of the two annual bales in April, one going to the Blackfoot Home and School near Calgary, and the other to a needy mission in Northern Ontario. The workers had also added a goodly amount to their funds by doing quilts on order, thus meeting all their bale expenses.

No delegate having been free to attend the annual Diocesan W.A. Convention at Toronto, the secretary, Miss Rose Macnamara, read the press reports of the sessions. Since the study book on South America missions had been completed, Miss Macnamara gave an interesting account of the sixty years of work at the Indian school near Calgary where the bale goes each year. The report had been prepared by the principal, Rev. John W. House, B.A., who stated that the Indians in his territory are of a most degraded type, and hence the progress had been disappointingly slow, with tuberculosis prevalent, and the education of the boys and girls the most hopeful feature.

Years ago, before the W.A. or the Church of England in Canada had been organized, the band of women who gathered together for practical missionary endeavor, sent their first bale to this Blackfoot Home, and when doctors of earlier years and other workers voluntarily gave their services, the late Dr. Henry Turner of Millbrook, and his daughter, Miss Alice Turner, now of Victoria, B.C., were among those who so served.

Miss Muriel Smith was hostess for the social hour at the close when a general discussion of the work took place.

Need Carpenters

TORONTO, May 18—(CP)—Board of Control at a meeting last night asked National Selective Service officials to provide at least 250 men for the building trades in Toronto. Representatives of the trade told the Board the industry will "collapse" within three months unless additional help is forthcoming.

SAILOR SERVES OVERSEAS—Ordinary Seaman James Park of the R.C.N.V.R., son of Mrs. S. Duvall, 338 Stewart Street, is serving overseas. He was attending the Collegiate when he enlisted in the summer of 1943. A brother, Pte. Walter Park, is also overseas.

Lonergan Is Seeking Share Of $7,000,000

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Wayne Lonergan, serving a 35-year-to-life term for slaying his heiress wife, moved Tuesday to upset his conviction and to share in her $7,000,000 estate.

His wife, the former Patricia Burton, had changed her will a few months before she was bludgeoned to death Oct. 24, leaving her entire estate to their two-year-old son, Wayne William.

The 26-year-old dishonorably discharged R.C.A.F. aircraftman signed the estate application in Sing Sing prison, where he has been assigned to clerical work. He was sentenced April 17 on a second degree murder charge.

Defence Counsel Edward V. Broderick filed the application in Surrogate's Court two hours after filing notice of appeal from the conviction in the district attorney's office.

Secondary School Course Under Fire

ST. CATHARINES, May 18 (CP)—C. O. Carrothers, a member of the Board of Education from London, Ont., today told the annual convention of the Ontario Urban School Trustees Association that secondary schools do not teach pupils knowledge which will be useful to them after they leave school.

Only five per cent of secondary school pupils go on to university and not more than 30 per cent take technical training, he said.

"What of the remaining 65 per cent?" he asked. "These students have no intention of either entering the professions or becoming artisans. And they form the vast majority of the future citizens of Canada. What training do we provide for them? The answer is that educationally the province of Ontario offers nothing of any real value for 65 per cent of its secondary school students."

His report was applauded.

Ahead Of Time

BARCELONA, May 18—(AP)—One of the two diplomatic exchange ships which had been expected here today with approximately 1,600 Allied and German war prisoners and civilians arrived off Barcelona last night, nearly 12 hours and ahead of schedule.

Partisans Free Dalmatian Port

LONDON, May 18—(CP)—Yugoslav Partisans again have liberated the Dalmatian port of Starigrad, headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today in a communique which told of fierce fighting in other sectors of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast bulletin said the heaviest fighting was raging in the Lika sector of Croatia, but declared that Allied planes brought traffic to a standstill on the Lika road along which powerful German transports were moving.

The Partisans, on the offensive in eastern Bosnia, captured the town of Zivenica, routing a Nazi column of several hundred men, the communique said.

A Yugoslav bulletin last night said several thousand Nazis had been routed in Prijoj, eastern Bornia. The Germans were reported bringing up reinforcements in Serbia and to be initiating offensive operations in Istria.

PLASTIC WALLPAPER

LONDON — (CP) — The children can have a field day on Britain's post-war wallpaper and it won't matter. It will be made of plastic and will stand up to washing with soap and water.

Peterboro Requires Sprucing Up

to face any debts these their forefathers may contract.

I have been travelling for the past twelve years and have seen much, but I could state under oath that I have seen and heard of less child delinquency in New Westminster than in any place I have visited. The physical development of the children is miles ahead of any town or city I have visited so far. They are a healthy, lusty lot. That is one credit that is not written into the city ledgers but that does exist in dollars and cents nevertheless; and which says much for the consideration of the City Fathers here in New Westminster.

A physically fit body produces fit mind and I unhesitatingly state that it is time that your citizenry were awakened to the fact that they should snap out of their apathetic state and get busy on the matter at once.

Now, Plato wrote "The world of dreams is mere illusion."—but I take issue with Plato, philosopher though he was. There are dreams and dreams. For instance, the Canadian Pacific Railway was but a dream for many years, but the dream eventually became a reality.

Can Do Something

Ever since the first day I landed in Peterborough and parked my cabin trailer and old Buick on the grounds below the Hunter street bridge, I have been dreaming dreams. One day last July as I sat on the coping of that same bridge and gazed down upon the little beach that was being started there under the auspices of the Lions Club, I wondered if my larger conception could be realized and brought to a successful conclusion.

After a most thorough consideration of the events surrounding the development of New Westminster, I have arrived at a conclusion, namely, that the same thing could be done in Peterborough. There is nothing more necessary in your city than such a development. Consideration of all the facts will make you realize this.

Your ability to raise say, $300,000 at once is clearly shown by my previous figures. Also your ability to pay it back is most clearly defined.

It took you scarcely seven years to pay back $1,838,291, so in similar relation it would take you only a year to repay $300,000. debt. Under such conditions why hestitate.

$300,000, raised on a bond or debenture basis over a five year period would at 5 per cent interest amount to $375,000. A per capita debt of just $11.00 per person. Reduced to simpler figures, it would cost each of your citizens just $2.00 per year over the five year period.

Lives there a human being in Peterborough so mercenary, that he would not gladly give such an amount, not only for proper concrete arena such as at New Westminster, which would probably cost $150,000, but for $150,000. to spread over minor improvements and facilities.

Site For Arena

I doubt that a Town Planning expert such as New Westminster plans to get, would be necessary, as the spot for the Arena should be obvious.

The minor improvements are fairly obvious too. A proper concrete pool and dams at Jackson, with sanded areas, and so on at different parks. Also diving boards, rafts and diving ladders, swings, chutes, sand boxes and all else that goes with property playgrounds, many of which could be spread along the river and canal and put into existence this summer.

It is my belief that the Arena could be built as a combination Rink, Dance Hall and Swimming Pool. The Rink and Dance Floor would be on the same area and along the same lines of Madison Square Gardens, New York, where it is possible to skate one night and dance or hold a Prize Fight the next. The Pool could be built across the back end of the Arena as it would be quite wide enough to permit this. At present the Arena here serves as a dual purpose Indoor Lacrosse and roller skating during the summer months with Skating and Hockey during the winter. With such an arrangement the Arena would be a paying proposition, and to back my statement, there is the successful experience with the Arena, etc., here in New Westminster.

With regard to the Arena, may I be allowed to set forth a personal suggestion. Namely, that this Arena (so called for the present), be erected as a memorial to our sailors, soldiers and airmen who have served and made safe our present existence, by their sacrifices.

In this connection I have a two fold purpose in view. To the boys who do not return to our Canadian soil, may it be erected as an everlasting tribute to their valor and sacrifice, and to those who do return, it would be a token of appreciation.

Special attention could be paid to the construction of the entrance, and no expense spared to make it worthy of the boys and girls who have served. On the outside, above the entrance, (in the square as seen in the picture), a suitable, carved mural could be painted or placed. Below, and on the inside of the building, at the back of the foyers, a shrine fountain or such edifice as may be decided upon, could be constructed. The cost of the entire entrance to be by a public subscription, from the whole of the Peterborough District, and not just the city alone.

For, truly, it must be worthy of our boys and girls.

I had no hand in the development of New Westminster, but I was to a very small extent responsible for awakening the people of Vancouver to a sense of their Beaches.

These beach areas as sand strips were at one time covered with rock . . . solidly covered . . . with boulders as large as a good sized room. By much persuasion and pioneering work, I managed to get the Council to permit me to clear an area 300 feet, along in front of Marine Drive. When people saw my derricks, scows, etc. out on the area speculation was rife as to what I was doing. When they realized its import, they surely "went to town" on Beach Development. Consequently, there is to-day perhaps 15 miles of beaches on Vancouver's water front, some having properly ringed pools which provide swimming when the tide is out.

And so, I am holding a brief for your Kiddies while out here, that they too may have facilities erected for their everlasting benefit and welfare.

In writing this article for the people of your city and district, through the medium of your paper, I am but submitting myself to impulses created whilst living in your community. Also I am letting the mystic chords of memory have full sway in a compelling desire to dream dreams. These dreams to be become reality, for in your city I have faith, and I feel positviely that there will be many more adherents to my belief, after a closer study of the facts set forth in this letter.

In their perpetuity of thought and consideration, they can come to but one conclusion, that the establishments of these works is vitally necessary for the proper well being and development of their child population. Therefore I know they will submit every effort toward the fulfillment of the dreams I dreamed, sitting on the coping of your Hunter street bridge last summer.

The expenditure of some $300,000, on the building of an arena and subsidiaries, may seem at first thought a bit fantastic. On the contrary, I assure you there is nothing more practical, for handling this modern, complex age.

Perhaps it might seem fantastic to your citizens in Peterborough, who have been so utterly divorced from the provision of facilities for children and sports. However, I could quote at least a hundred authorities to prove my point; namely, that a balanced degree of mental and physical growth are necessary for a child's well being. Also that through the medium of sports, the "will to win" supercedes all else, instilling within those taking part the desirable traits of sportsmanship and leadership.

I believe that Toronto is setting aside some $10,000,000 for improvements along this line and similar consideration is being given to this subject in other centres.

Why should Peterborough lag behind?

Arena Would Pay

As an economic achievement, I state without fear of contradiction, that from the opening date of a properly constructed arena, it will be a paying proposition. This opinion based upon the studies and research I have made here, on the coast and of other Western centres.

There is another factor of which you will gain experience later on, but which cannot be counted on for the present. That is the matter of public donations. In this connection, may I call to your attention to Jackson Park and Nicholls Oval —both donated as splendid gifts to the city. Once your scheme is started, donations will be forthcoming. One service club will perhaps give equipment for a whole playground and another may give a pool. Women's organizations will provide many attributes. Mrs. Ceperley gave $50,000 for the building of Stanley Park playground. You will find many "Mrs. Ceperley's" in your city, just as in time past we found them here.

During my ten months' stay in Peterborough I spent much of my time with your children, so know your kiddies well.

By my researching here, by my past experiences of raising funds, of financing and building beaches, summer resorts and dredging, and in the general planning and laying out of just such works as I am suggesting for Peterborough, I have gained a lot of very useful knowledge and experience.

If it is felt that I could be of assistance to an elected or chosen body for about the first six months in working up the necessary details which would allow a start to be made on the project, I would gladly offer my services for such a purpose, and return to Peterborough, even though I sacrifice my present progress and desires out here. In all humility of such purpose, I submit this letter.

"The joy of life lies in accomplishment" and if by the publication of this article, and its accompanying gallery of pictures, which may be seen in the Examiner's window, I shall have to some small extent aroused your citizenry to the necessity of extending themselves in an effort to, and for, greater services, both to the present rising generation to follow; then shall I, by my own humble effort, have created a service than which there can be no greater."

Should Take Steps

BEAMSVILLLE, May 18—(CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, told a party rally here last night that as far as he knows neither the Federal or Provincial government is making any particular preparation for the future "despite the fact three-quarters of a million men will be demobilized and 1,000,000 industrial workers out of work when the war orders stop."

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 19

AN AUSPICIOUS day for forging ahead, with all resources at command, in attaining cherished goals, whether they be financial, professional, business expansion or in all social, public, romantic and personal aspirations. In the latter there will be increased popularity and prestige, helpful to the achievement of promotion, enhanced social aims, public esteem and standing, with probably much festivity in celebration. But in all maintain balance and common sense and meet antagonisms or opposition with good grace and sound judgment, lest impulses or emotions carry on to excess and good fortune awaits.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for the fulfilment and gratification of their highest hopes and wishes, whether they be in finance, business, professions, or particularly in the expanded popularity and power in the realm of social, domestic and romantic prestige, with much by way of celebrating this fair fortune. There may be definite assaults from disagreeable or antagonistic persons, but compromise with such by using good sense and calm judgment. Emotional or impulsive reactions may prove detrimental and unprofitable. The accent on festivities may concern romantic engagements or marriages.

A child born on this day may have great ambition, with the efficiency and sound qualities to attain them, against some opposition. It should be generous, kindly and enjoy happy, social and romantic relations.

HOW TO WIN BOYS, GET DATES

Girls Shouldn't Make-up in Public; Don't Look Too Expensive; Don't Pose.

GIRLS, if you desire to be popular with boys:

Don't do your making-up in public. Little as you may think it, men are the idealistic and romantic sex and they like to think that your beauty is your own and that you didn't buy it at the drug store. It gives them the shock of their lives to see you apply a fresh coat of calcimine to your face and touch up the paint on your lips.

If you will recall, you never saw a man shave himself at a dinner party, or comb his hair into his soup. I heard an old man of the world once say that his idea of an alluring woman was one whose husband never found out whether her lovely teeth were her own or not. Your good looks are your trade secret. Keep it a secret.

DON'T pose. Don't pretend to be what you are not. Don't put on an act, because you never can get away with it. Somewhere your phoney accent, or your lies about what you and darling Gwendolyn Millionbucks did when you were in Paris together will break down and make you a figure of fun, instead of the haughty socialite you are affecting to be. Be yourself. There is no other one quality that men admire so much in girls as sincerity.

Fine Clothes Not Come-on For Men

DON'T overdress. Of course, fine feathers do make fine birds, and the feminine heart just naturally craves mink coats and silks and satins and $75 hats, and you can't help knowing what a wow you would be in that little number with the astronomical price tag on it. But reflect that fine clothes are not a come-on for the average man. They are a warning to keep off the grass.

For most of the young men who twenty years from now will be able to give their wives matched pearl necklaces, couldn't buy them a string of glass beads now, and so they step high, wide and handsome around the girls who look too expensive for their pocketboks. When a man compliments your dress, never say: "What, this little rag! Why, I picked it up at a bargain sale for only $200." Instead say: "So glad you like it. I made it myself."

DON'T be a boy chaser. Look willing, but not anxious. The proper attitude to take towards men is the take-'em-or-leave-'em one. Make the boy friend feel that you admire him; that you enjoy his society, and that you like to step out with him, but that there are others and that you wouldn't pine away and die if he dropped out of the picture.

That will keep him guessing and wondering why you haven't fallen for him, and he will come around to find out why. And, above all, don't pet in public. Whenever you see a girl holding a boy's hand as they walk the streets, or with her arms around him while he is driving a car, you will always see an expression of "damn" on his face. For he knows he looks like a sucker and he feels like one.

And, finally, daughters, DON'T hit a boy's pocketbook too hard DON'T talk about yourself. Keep the spotlight focused on him and you will never want for dates.

VON Work May Be Extended To Surrounding Districts

A committee, composed of C. H. Elliott, Alderman R. M. Glover, Mrs. G. R. Marshall and Alderman James Dutton, was named to give consideration to the matter of extending the V.O.N. service to surrounding districts, and to give a report to the Board before anything definite was done in this connection. This committee was appointed at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Wednesday afternoon.

The discussion as to the extension of V.O.N. service to the fringe of the city, resulted in the naming of a committee, since the members felt that the townships benefitting by this widening of V.O.N. field should contribute, in some way, to the maintenance of the Order. The feeling was that as soon as the service was established, and the people recognized the value of V.O.N. work, the Order would be continued, and even increased, in those districts. The need for a convalescent home in Peterborough was also discussed, but the scarcity of nurses was mentioned as one of the main obstacles.

100 More Patients

In her superintendent's report for April, Miss Mary Ross reported a growing interest in V.O.N. service, and a corresponding increase in the number of cases visited. She mentioned the continuance of the educational visit, but said that calls to patients requiring nursing care were showing an increase. "In many of these sick rooms," she said, "the daily visit of the nurse, fresh from the contacts of normal life, must have a refreshing influence on the mental health and morale of the patient. 'I am so glad to see you,' has a familiar ring to our nurses when they open the sick room door."

Seventy new patients were cared for in April, bringing the total to date to 396, exactly 100 more than the same period in 1943. A total of 500 visits have been made; three deliveries and two operations were attended; and five night calls were answered. The staff held three conferences, on the value of records, on nursing procedures, and on teaching content of the prenatal visit. The graduating class of Nicholls Hospital was given a demonstration of the set-up for home confinement.

Miss Ross also quoted from a talk given by Dr. R. G. Vivian at the V.O.N. conference, when he stated that the educational value of the 700,000 visits made by V.O.N. for all Canada should not be underestimated. He said that bedside nursing was an essential part of health services, and that organizations such as the V.O.N. could educate people to this end, and create public opinion, so that they would demand more complete service. He said that no community need be without the services of the V.O.N., since it can obtain a subsidy from the Ontario Government, to establish and maintain a service. However, the scarcity of nurses stood in the way of any large expansion of the Order at the present time.

Miss Lillian Hurley, the Board's representative to the convention of the V.O.N., gave a complete account of the proceedings, and brief outlines of talks given by various speakers.

Alderman James Dutton presided, and, in connection with V.O.N. annual meeting, mentioned the honors give to Peterborough for the excellent radio programs recently presented, and the photograph which won first prize in a competition. Miss Lois Smith, a student nurse who has completed a Public Health course and is getting training in field work, was introduced to the Board. She will be in Peterborough for a short time.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Fashion's formula this season is easy to follow. Lines are straight and simple. Fabrics are beautiful, that is the reason you will be so delighted when you see them. In them you have lovely designs, exquisite colors, for the full season.

A sun-time dress of chambray, sequin sprinkled bows for brilliance, low cut for tan, in all the fresh colors of aqua, pink, lilac and pool blue. A jacket dress that is very flattering in red, yellow or white. Smart white collar and cuffs, and the white half hat or the trim white ruched sailor, both very smart for the summer dress styles. Another new fabric, "Feathered-Printed Pingrain." A print that lends Victorian elegance to today's sophisticated styles. A print lovely enough to put under glass. A dress in this new material was made up in gray ground, with feathers printed on in white. The style was very plain, so as to show the very striking material off to the best advantage, with square draped neck line. With this was worn white hat, gloves and shoes.

A hat with an unusual flair for charm, coupled with simplicity and good taste is the wide brimmed lattice weave straw. The shape has a hint of the bonnet flattery in the soft curve of the brim, and the gentle crease at either side gives the romantic back-drop effect, its only trimming being grosgrain ribbon in a contrasting shade. This style is very simple but most becoming.

Your hats will surely show this summer, for they are large and very much trimmed, and you will want them to show. Your new hat should be the show piece of your silhouette, a show piece of flowers, ribbons, feathers, veiling. The non-committal era of hats is over. A new hat era has begun. I saw a beautiful hat the other day. It was made of white lisse straw, with a high front trimming of black wings and black face veil. Another was a sailor of black straw, medium high crown, and was densely ruched with soft black tulle. Then the garden plot sailor, medium width brim, and flat crown, of purple straw, with a trimming of velvet violets and sweetpeas. This would make such a smart hat for the woman of more mature years. For the summer millinery white will be very popular but it will be trimmed with bright colors, so as to fit in with the bright colored print dresses. The hats will be very simple, not over-trimmed in any way, but bright colors, will certainly be in the lead. Many large hats are plain on top with a band of bright flowers on the hair.

The purse you will carry this summer will be large and it will also be in the bright colors that are shown in the flowered print dress you are wearing. You will like the summer styles, watch for them.

Trinity Club Present Plays

Two playlets, "Doctor Come Quick" and "Mrs. Murphy Isn't In" were presented by members of Trinity Club at their regular meet on Tuesday evening. The cast directed and took charge of the productions themselves. In "Doctor, Come Quick," Mrs. William Donaldson played the farmer; Miss Elva Elliott was the doctor; and William Donaldson was the nurse.

In "Mrs. Murphy Isn't In," Richard Clayton was Mrs. Clancy; Harvey Shier played Mrs. Murphy; and Miss Madelyn McWilliams was Mrs. Murphy's daughter. The comic possibilities of these one-act skits were all used to great advantage by the players, and an amusing evening resulted.

The devotional was in charge of Mrs. Richard Clayton, assisted by Mrs. H. Gray, Miss Madelyn McWilliams, and Mr. Clayton. Mr. Shier was in charge of games. Miss Leona Edwards supervised the serving of refreshments.

RHUBARB COLORING

Judges Entertained

His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke entertained at a tea in the County Council chambers Wednesday afternoon in honor of three judges of District No. 6, and their wives: Judge J. A. C. German and Mrs. German, of Northumberland and Durham; Judge J. A. McGibbon and Mrs. McGibbon, of Victoria and Haliburton, and Judge D. B. Coleman and Mrs. Coleman, of Ontario. His Worship Mayor James Hamilton, the Warden, Isaac Anderson, and O. A. Langley, K.C., were present also.

The guests of honor and Judge and Mrs. Smoke received the lawyers of the city and their wives. Tea was poured at a table centred with a basket filled with vari-colored roses and sweet peas, by Mrs. F. D. Kerr and Mrs. Arthur Stevenson. Miss Ethel Mills, Miss Mabel Moore, Mrs. Adam Hawley and Mrs. Walter Stevenson and Mrs. Edgar Spurrway assisted.

Later His Honor and Mrs. Smoke entertained the visiting judges and their wives at their home, 566 Gilmour Street.

St. Jerome's Scene Of Pretty Wedding

WARKWORTH, May 18.—(ENS).—A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Jerome's church this week, when Teressa Orilla, youngest daughter of Mrs. Gorman and the late William Gorman, Percy township was united in marriage to Arthur Leo Lamey, youngest son of Mrs. Lamey and the late James Lamey, Percy township. Rev. J. B. Ferguson officiated. He was assisted by Rev. J. J. Garvey, Hastings.

Miss Carrie Gallagher played the wedding music and the soloist was Mrs. Elmo Ingram.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, John Gorman, wore a two-piece turquoise blue crepe street-length dress with navy accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses and she carried a white prayer book.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Gorman, cousin of the bride, wore a grey crepe street-length dress with dusty rose accessories and a corsage of rose carnations and carried a pearl rosary.

The best man was Mr. James Lamey, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Patrick Butler and Mr. Felix O'Rielly. Following the ceremony the wedding party motored to Campbellford, where the wedding breakfast was served at "Woodlawn Inn."

Mrs. Gorman, mother of the bride, received, wearing a navy sheer dress with black accessories and corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Lamey, mother of the groom, assisted. She wore a black sheer dress with black accessories and a corsage of roses.

Later the bride and groom left by motor for a trip to Toronto and Windsor. For travelling the bride wore a white Alpine suit with navy accessories. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm near Hastings.

The groom's gift to the bride was a purse, to the bridesmaid a nurse's set and to the best man, a leather billfold.

Employees Hold Social Evening

Competition was keen as ardent team members cheered their mates and exhorted them to greater effort and higher scores, at Duffus' Bowling Academy Wednesday evening, when the staff of the Peterborough Examiner enjoyed a pleasant get-together for an evening of bowling.

After joining in teams for a few games, the group was entertained by the management at the Y.M.C.A., with Miss Audrey Oliver in charge of arrangements. Refreshments were served, a sing-song enjoyed, and prizes were distributed to the teams with the highest and lowest scores. Bruce Butler's team was high and William Garner's team supported the bottom of the scoring bracket. John Lorne received the prize as the most promising bowler. G. Wilson Craw made the presentations.

Fred Scates led in the sing-song after quantities of refreshments had been consumed. Miss Jean Stenton, H. L. Garner and Harry Theobald took their turn at the piano for accompaniment. In addition, Mr. Garner convulsed his audience with his interpretation of the sounds which resulted when a cross-eyed girl, reading music upside down, attempted to play a solo. Miss Jean Stenton and Miss Mildred Holden sang a duet, "The End of a Perfect Day."

It was decided to organize a bowling league for the fall, and a representative from each department was named to a committee to be in charge of arrangements. This committee is also to begin plans for a staff picnic this summer. A vote of thanks was moved to the management and to Miss Audrey Oliver for her work in the arranging of the evening, and the appreciation of those present was expressed in a round of applause.

Rita Giardino Wed At Sacred Heart

Sacred Heart Church, decorated with spring flowers, was the setting for the recent wedding of Rita Giardino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Giardino, 502 Parnell street, to Tpr. J. Austin Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Belleville. Rev. Fr. F. M. Grant officiated. Mrs. J. Armstrong was at the organ, and Mr. Ned. Bartley sang Ave Maria," and several other hymns during the nuptial mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace with lace inserts. The bodice was buttoned from neck to waistline with tiny self-covered buttons, and had a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of white illusion net was caught to her head with a sweetheart halo, and she carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses.

She was attended by Mrs. Louis Giardino, as matron of honor. She was gowned in pink sheer, with lace inserts, and three-quarter length sleeves. Her heart-shaped hat was of pink lace, and she carried a bouquet of Supreme roses.

Mr. Louis Giardino was best man, and the ushers were Mr. John DeNoble and Mr. James Lucien.

At the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received, in a gown of black Magic-hour crepe, black and white accessories, and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. For travelling, the bride wore a black and white tailored suit, black accessories, and a corsage of roses. On their return, the young couple will live in Peterborough.

Cub Auxiliary Elects Officers

Mrs. J. Miller was leceted president of the St. Luke's Scout and Cub Auxiliary, at the annual election of officers, Wednesday evening in the Parish Hall. Rev. A. J. Arthur presided for the election, which resulted as follows: Past-president, Mrs. W. King; President, Mrs. J. Miller; vice-presidents, Mrs. R. Harvey and Mrs. F. Wardell; secretary, Mrs. A. McIlvena; treasurer, Mrs. E. Ferguson; Dorcas convener, Mrs. H. Choate.

Letters of acknowledgement were read from the Corvette Committee and the British Minesweepers, for the ditty bags, and the eight afghans sent by the Auxiliary to these war groups. Reports of the year's work were given by group conveners and $25 was voted to the building fund of St. Luke's.

It was announced a church parade of scouts and cubs would be called for May 21, and all scout and cub mothers were asked to attend. Rev. Arthur said he would have a special message for the Auxiliary, and would tell a story of the first Scout mother. Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Laing, Mrs. C. Hamilton and Mrs. R. Harvey. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 24, at the home of Mrs. H. Choate, 711 Armour Road.

In appreciation of the work Mrs. W. King had done in her two years as president, Mrs. A. McIlvena, on behalf of the Auxiliary, presented her with a bouquet of tulips.

Of Interest to Women

If They Can't Have Cake Let Them Eat Bread

BY MARY MOORE

A lightly sweetened tea bread seems to be the answer to the assorted needs of some of our readers.

The low sugar ration is a poser for dessert lovers.

One family (there are probably hundreds) must have a sweet bite at the end of the meal—not merely fruit.

Another requires a snack at night with cocoa, —no crackers and cheese thank you.

Next comes a request for something that keeps better than cake.

The only necessity when you used these baking powder breads is a very sharp knife,—slices must be thin and straight.

Most of the breads I am giving you today are better after they are twenty-four hours old.

Honey Nut Bread

One egg, 2/3 cup honey, 1 cup milk, 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup finely chopped nuts (peanuts and cashews being about all that are available at a reasonable price are good) 1 tablespoon melted butter. Beat egg well and blend with honey and milk. Sift dry ingredients and add with the nuts to the first mixture. Pour into buttered loaf pan and leave to stand 1 hour. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr, for 1¼ hours.

Orange and Cherry Bread

Grated rind 2 oranges, 3 to 8 tablespoons chopped candied cherries, 5 tablespoons butter, ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups each flour and graham flour, 1¼ cups milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Sift all the dry ingredients together and flour the cherries with them then grate into them the orange rind. Add the egg and milk and beat until smooth. Pour into 2 small buttered loaf pans which have been lined with buttered paper. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes or a little longer, if one pan is large and one small, small pan will come out in 45 minutes, large pan will take 1 hour.

Banana Tea Bread

One and three-quarter cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon soda, 1¼ teaspoons cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 cup mashed bananas. Sift flour, soda, cream of tartar, and salt together 3 times. Rub shortening to a creamy consistency with the back of a spoon. Stir in the sugar, a few tablespoons at a time, and continue beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with banana, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Pour into a well greased loaf pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. This makes a loaf of 3½ x 8½ x 3. Delicious when 2 days old, sliced thin and served with Baumert cheese and tea.

Raisin Bread

Three and one-half cups flour, 4½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup or less of sugar, 1 egg beaten, 1 tablespoon fat, 1¼ cups milk, 1 cup chopped raisins. Sift dry ingredients, reserving a little flour. Add milk, egg and melted fat, beating. Sift flour over raisins and stir into mix. Place in paperlined and buttered pan and let stand 20 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees Fahr. for ¾ to 1 hour. Dates or figs may be substituted for raisins.

QUESTION: You published a recipe on your page a week or two ago for oatmeal cookies which had a package of pudding powder in them. Could you please send me this recipe.—Mrs. M. L. Van, H.

Pudding Powder Cookies (Oatmeal Cookies).

ANSWER: Three-quarters cup good quality shortening (chicken fat is delicious when you happen to have it), two tablespoons brown sugar, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup of rolled oats, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 chocolate pudding powder, 1 tablespoon cocoa. Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda, salt, pudding powder and cocoa. Cream the shortening with the sugar, then add the well-beaten egg, and rolled oats, and stir very well. Sift in dry ingredients, mixing until of consistency that will form balls when rolled in floured palms. Place on a baking sheet, and flatten slighly with a floured fork. Do not be tempted to add vanilla — these cookies have good flavor. Caramel and butterscotch puddings may be used in place of chocolate.

QUESTION: Last year you printed some ways of serving asparagus, and I think there was a recipe for asparagus omelette. Would you mind repeating the way to make it. I have asparagus in my garden and I don't want to waste one stalk of it, but don't want the family to tire of it being served one way only I always read your column and try to improve my cooking by it.—"Sunny."

ANSWER: I am glad to have a request for this recipe— I might have forgotten how much it would be used this spring.

Asparagus Cheese Omelette.

Six eggs, 6 tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup cooked asparagus (1-inch lengths), ½ cup grated cheese. Beat eggs, milk and seasonings together to combine well. Pour into hot frying pan in which 1½ tablespoons butter have been melted. Add the asparagus and allow mixture to cook slowly, lifting up the cooked part with a spatula and allowing the uncooked part to run under. When nearly done, sprinkle with grated cheese and allow the omelette to brown slightly. Fold and serve on large platter. Garnish with watercress or parsley or with wedges of tomato.

QUESTION: I want a recipe for simple shortbread orange-flavored I don't use much butter, so if there is butter needed I can use most of my ration. I make cookies for a patient in the San, so would like something that looks nice. She likes anything orange-flavored. Hoping this is not asking too much. —M. Smith.

ANSWER: I think the following is an excellent cookie and answers all your requirements;

Orange Shortbread.

One cup butter, 1-3 cup fruit sugar, 2 cups flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon lemon rind. Cream butter well, and add sugar and cream well together. Work the flour, salt, orange and lemon rinds into creamed mixture. Knead into smooth shape. Form into roll and chill 2 hours or overnight Slice thick or thin, and bake at 350 degrees Fahr. 10 or 15 minutes.

IN MEMORIAM

SYMONDS—In loving memory of Robert Symonds who passed away, May 19th, 1941.

"We knew you fought so hard in vain,
On Earth with loved ones to remain,
God loved you too and thought it best,
To take you Home with Him to rest.

—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McCarroll and Family.

CHESTERTON—In loving memory of Mrs. E. Chesterton who passed away, May 18, 1943.

We do not forget her, we love her too dearly
For her memory to fad from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

—Ever remembered by Mother, sister and three brothers.

CHESTERTON—In loving memory of Dear Mother, Mrs. Ethel Chesterton, of Port Hope, who passed away one year ago to-day.

—Sadly missed by Daughter and four Sons.

THOMAS McINROY

MARMORA, May 18—(ENS)—The death occurred in Toronto General Hospital this week of Thomas McInroy of Oshawa, formerly of Marmora. Mr. McInroy, who was in the employ of Fittings Limited, was helping to instal a motor when he fell on a cement floor, causing a fracture of the skull. He regained consciousness for half an hour, and was removed to Oshawa General Hospital, and was taken later to Toronto General Hospital, where he passed away.

The late Mr. McInroy was born in Marmora, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McInroy and was 46 years of age. Most of his life was spent here. For several year he was employed by the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited. His wife, formerly Jennie Robinson, predeceased him a few years ago. He is survived by four daughters and two sons, Private Marjorie McInroy, C.W.A.C., Kingston; Hattie, London, Ont.; Audrey, Marmora; Dorothy, Detroit; Eric, Deloro; Kenneth, Marmora. He is also survived by four brothers and five sisters, Charles, Deloro; Donald, Marmora; Gerald, Peterborough; Jack, Marmora; Mrs. H. O. Loveless, Deloro; Mrs. W. Kolak, Detroit; Mrs. A. Burridge, Marmora; Mrs. C. R. Quinn, Deloro, and Mrs. N. Woodcock, Belleville.

The funeral left the home of his brother, John, Marmora, at 2:30 p.m. this afternoon to St. Paul's Anglican Church where service was conducted by Rev. E. M. Cadigan of St. Andrew's United Church. Interment took place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Junk Yard Is Said Nuisance To Residents Of River Road Area

BY GRAHAM WHITING

Brought before the City Council, the County Council and the Council of the Township of Douro, the matter of the junk yard, a burning issue to the householders of the residential area along the River Road, still remains unsolved; and the people who live in that neighborhood and who have been active in pressing for some remedying of the situation are discouraged at the lack of results which has characterized their every effort to bring about some improvement.

Located on what is known as "Peterborough's Scenic Drive", which extends from the intersection of Park Hill and Armour Hill roads, in the direction of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club, the junk yard under question lies on the east, or Douro, side of the road. It is a typical junk yard, strewed with odds and ends, with rusted boilers and heaps of old tin cans, and its most objectionable feature, according to the residents who live around it, is that no high, decent fence hides it from the public eye. In fact, it is not screened off at all and its considerable frontage on the River Road cannot fail to attract the comment of anyone who ventures by. To the people of the neighborhood, it is an ever-present eyesore.

That is not all, these people will tell you. The presence of the yard detracts from the value of their own properties and depreciates the price anyone of them who might some day wish to sell could get for his land and his house or cottage. It also makes them loathe to invest, as they would otherwise be eager to do, in further improvements or attempts at beautifying their grounds. And it naturally discourages prospective dwellers who have considered buying lots and building houses.

Said Infested With Rats

A further matter of protest has begun to gather increasing weight in recent months as residents of the area have come to the conclusion that the junk yard, itself infested with rats, is the breeding place of these animals, who have manifested themselves in their impudent way in more than one of the surrounding houses. As the summer goes on, this nuisance is expected to assume more alarming proportions.

To talk with Gordon Agnew, proprietor of the Auburn Inn which abuts on the south side of the yard, is to get the impression that every means which could be used to get some decisive action from the responsible authorities who alone can take legal measures has been tried, and on each occasion without avail. One of these most active in this matter, he frankly admits that he has run out of ideas for bringing about some correction of the situation and feels that all that can be done now is "to wait and see."

"We have been working on this off and on for four years, ever since the Moldavers first established themselves here," Mr. Agnew informed the Examiner. "We got up a petition in the beginning to try to stop the business before it was well started, and a by-law was actually passed at a township council meeting. But nothing ever came of it. The by-law was never approved by the Municipal Board and I figure the matter must simply have been dropped by the council."

Passed The Buck.

More recently, Mr. Agnew explained, a joint meeting of Douro and City residents on both sides of the road had been held; and as a result of this conference, the question was discussed at some length by Douro householders with their reeve, J. H. Mahoney, while city residents got up a petition and presented it to the City Council. "What happened?" said Mr. Agnew. "The city passed the buck to the county, the county passed it on to the township and there it lies and nothing has been done.

"It seems to me they could make a law somehow that would force the proprietors of such places to tidy them up and keep them clean. After all, this is not the only junk yard in the district, and whatever the outcome here the matter is bound to crop up again elsewhere and call for settlement."

"No one is trying to ruin their business," Mr. Agnew declared. "We simply feel that the Moldavers should consider others besides themselves. All of us would be satisfied with a decent, painted fence. The River Road is called a scenic drive and this is the first thing motorists strike as they come along here."

Promises No Kept

Stating that the owners of the yard had promised more than once to clean up their premises and erect a suitable fence, Mr. Agnew added that nothing had ever come of these promises and the township council, to which they were made, had not yet seen fit to enforce their fulfilment. He said there was absolute unanimity among householders of the area in feeling that decisive action was owing to them, and that all had signed the various petitions. "We are ready to do it again for that matter," he concluded.

The growing plague of rats which is laid by residents to the presence of the junk yard in their vicinity was one of the subjects of comment referred to by Mrs. E. Montgomery of Spenclay's Lane, whose home, off the main road, looks at the back of the property. She mentioned one or two of her neighbours whose homes they had invaded, and remarked on the health problem presented by them. "The only thing I see we might do the way things stand at present is to wait until the heat of summer and then call in the M. O. H." she said.

The property belonged to the Moldavers, having been bought by them, Mrs. Montgomery stated; and for this reason it would not be possible to shut down the business. Reeve Mahoney had consulted with County Solicitor and had returned with the legal opinion that Douro Council could only go so far as ordering a general tidying up, that it could not deny the Moldavers use of the premises for the conduct of their junk business. This in spite of the fact, Mrs. Montgomery added, that a by-law dating back to 1937 said that there should be no junk yard in Douro.

Declared A Fire Hazard

Certain propositions under discussion in Douro Council at the present time promised some faint hope of bringing about the improvement that was desired, Mrs. Montgomery stated. These were a fire protection by-law and a residential restrictions by-law. Under the first it might be possible to have the Yard declared a fire hazard, which would compel the owners to clean it up; or its existence might be declared incompatible with the type of community the householders were attempting to establish.

"We feel we have done our part," said Mrs. Montgomery, who has been one of those chiefly instrumental in seeking some solution to the difficulty confronting the residents of the River Road. She felt it quite likely that the erection of a suitable fence to surround the property—including the cost of lumber, posts and labor—might approximate $500.

A two-room structure designed as an office for a lumber business that never materialized is part of the holdings along the road; and this vacated building the owners have recently offered for rent or sale to the further annoyance of the neighborhood. It is not supplied with water or other facilities.

You have to get over to Leahy's Lane, several hundred yards west of the River Road and some distance behind the rear of the junk yard before the feeling in regard to this business being carried on in their midst assumes a less determined complexion. There, as it was expressed by Mrs. Bert. Heard, "We don't feel so strongly, we don't care enough to make the Moldavers move." She felt this was the general consensus of her neighbors, mentioning Walter Northcott and Art Pritchard by name.

But along the River Road itself and particularly among those people who are greeted with some view of the junk yard whenever they step out of their houses or look out of a window, sentiment seems to be unanimous that some solution must be found. "The women," said Mrs. Charles Batchelor, 151 River Road, "have been working on it faithfully and continually for more than a year; and the men have also helped in what time they could spare in organizing to stop this business."

Worms Start Invasion

Glendora, Calif., May 18 (AP)

GLENDORA'S postoffice staff probably doesn't care if it never goes fishing. The force was knee-deep in worms yesterday—1,200 fat, succulent wrigglers destined for a hardware store's bait stock. The worms slithered over the floor when a parcel post handler upended a mail sack. The worms had to be picked up one by one and counted. 50 to each of the 24 pair cartons which had burst when the mail pouch was dumped.

SALLY'S SALLIES

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SUIT LENGTHS SOUGHT

A SUIT overcall of one more than necessary to overcall the opponent is used by many players to indicate the likelihood of a two-suiter, possibly a formidable one-suiter, and to imply a one-time force on the partner, just as an informative or takeout double would. In responding, the partner should consider the length of his suits rather than their strength. The bid, as would a double, says in effect: "I'll furnish the high cards and you supply the suit length."

North: ♠ 8 6 5 4 2 ♥ K 9 8 5 3 ♦ None ♣ K 9 4

West: ♠ 10 9 7 ♥ Q 10 7 6 2 ♦ 9 4 3 ♣ Q 8

East: ♠ Q ♥ A J 4 ♦ K J 10 8 6 5 3 ♣ 7 3

South: ♠ A K J 3 ♥ None ♦ A Q 7 ♣ A J 10 6 5 2

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

	East	South	West	North
1.	1 ♦	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥
	Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
2.	1 ♦	3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠
	Pass	5 ♠	Pass	6 ♠

Notice what a difference North's choice of suits made after hearing his partner's jump in clubs. Those were two of the bidding sequences at tables in a duplicate game. Some of the other South players used a double of the 1-Diamond bid to indicate their strength, and in each of those cases North answered with spades, so that hearts could be shown later without embarrassment, if necessary to show them.

Practically any experienced player would know that the spade suit is the correct response to a double, rather than hearts. It is equally the correct bid when South makes the kind of jump which he did here, just one level higher than enough to overcall the opponents' bid. If that kind of jump is being used as a sure one-time force, the answers to it should be just the same as to a double, except when the partner raises the bid used by the jumper.

It surely made a great difference here. When South knew his partner had enough spades for responding with them to his club jump, he was almost ready for a slam, which he invited. North accepted the invitation because of his diamond blank and his two kings. But where the hearts were bid in response, there was hardly any sound ground to go higher than game. Of course the slam was made, in fact a grand slam.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A 7 6 5 2 ♥ A K 7 4 ♦ Q ♣ A Q 7

West: ♠ K J 10 8 4 ♥ None ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ J 10 9 8 2

East: ♠ 3 ♥ Q J 8 2 ♦ 9 8 6 4 ♣ K 5 4 3

South: ♠ Q 9 ♥ 10 9 6 5 3 ♦ A K J 10 2 ♣ 6

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

West having opened this deal with a psychic 1-Spade, South winding up in 6-Hearts, East doubling and West making the bad lead of the spade K, what psychological play can South try against East?

Seven Training Airmen Dead And Others Missing

HALIFAX, May 18 (CP)—Seven fliers were listed as known dead last night, four days after three training planes had failed to return to Charlottetown on a night exercise, and search continued for other victims or survivors over a wide area of the Eastern seaboard.

Bodies of four of the men were found adrift off the coast of Newfoundland on a liferaft today, a day after two survivors had disclosed the deaths of three others in a crash in the woods of Gaspe Peninsula.

From three to five men were still missing—the exact number has not been disclosed by the R.C.A.F.—and there appeared scant hope that they still lived.

The fliers were aboard three planes that were caught by bad weather on a Saturday night flight from the R.C.A.F.'s Air Navigational School at Charlottetown.

Yesterday two of them reached the Gaspe village of Barachois and reported their twin-engine Anson trainer had crashed eight miles from there, killing three men. The surivors were identified by the Eastern Air Command here last night as LAC. Thomas Wilson of Liverpool, Eng., and LAC. William Ellis of Edinburgh.

The two survivors were quoted by the Eastern Air Command as saying their plane was demolished as it came down among tree tops and smashed into a cliff. The "Gibson Girl" SOS transmitter was broken in the crackup, and Wilson and Ellis had to walk out to civilization, taking 2½ days.

They were in hospital at Gaspe Town today.

The raft with four dead airmen aboard was found off Marche's Point, in St. George's Bay, on the Gulf of St. Lawrence side of Newfoundland and about 200 miles west of the scene of the first crash.

An aircraft detection observer found the bodies, which later were definitely identified as those of four of the missing fliers. A naval craft was reported on its way to take them aboard.

Meanwhile there was no trace of the third missing plane. The R.C.A.F. was searching the Gulf and sections of the three Maritime Provinces for its whereabouts.

Apart from the known survivors, the R.C.A.F. has not disclosed the names of any of those involved, nor has the Eastern Air Command here been able to announce definitely the number of those aboard the three planes. At Saint John, N.B., today the parents of Cpl. Carl Edgar Logan, 23, wireless operator, said they had been advised he was among those missing.

Germicidal Lamps Reduce Absences

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 18 — (AP) — The use of Germicidal lamps in school rooms is credited with reducing pupil absences because of illness 61.2 per cent in 16 weeks in an experiment in two elementary schools.

Lewis B. Wyckoff, chairman of a committee sponsoring the experiment, said yesterday the lamps make use of ultra violet rays and are designed to kill airborne bacteria. Despite the fact the experiment continued through an influenza epidemic so severe that school closing was considered, Wyckoff said, two rooms "protected" by the lamps reported absences due to illness during the epidemic 55.4 and 56.1 per cent lower than those in unprotected rooms.

Giraud Trained French Troops

NAPLES, May 18 — (CP-Reuters) — French Colonial Corps, trained and organized by Gen. Henri Giraud, former French Army Commander-in-Chief, made the sensational drive across the Ausente Valley to smash wide open the southern end of the Gustav Line, it was disclosed today.

Identification of the French units as Moroccan Goums, Algerian Riflemen and Senegalese Infantry, all officered by Frenchmen and under the command of Gen. Alphonse Juin, now is permitted by the censor.

Insistence on identification hitherto as, simply, "French troops" was the result of a directive from French Army Command, which is under the direction of the Free French Defence Committee, headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Gen Giraud recently was ousted as Army Commander.

Invasion Fleet Moved April 30

STOCKHOLM, May 18—(CP-Reuters).—The Zurich correspondent of the German-controlled Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau claimed today that a British, American and Norwegian invasion fleet left harbors between Edinburgh and Aberdeen the night of April 30 to launch an invasion of Norway but that the ships were recalled when a few miles out at sea.

The correspondent, who claimed to cite Norwegian circles in London, said small detachments received the recall order too late and landed at Vadso on Varanger Fjord on Norway's northeastern tip.

About 450,000 men, a large part of whom were Norwegians, were on board, said the correspondent, and a few days before embarkation all letters to and from them were stopped. The main attack was to have come at Narvik area. Glider troops were to have been used against the German lines.

The invasion was called off, the correspondent continued, because British and American authorities could not agree who was to control the Norwegian-Swedish borders.

Observers here view the reports sceptically but point out that leave was cancelled for Swedish soldiers April 30 and the army was told to stand by.

There was no Allied comment on the Zurich report but it was recalled Prime Minister Churchill warned recently of possible false alarms before the real invasion attempt was made.

Bible Society Elects Officers For 1944

BONARLAW, May 18—(ENS)—The Springbrook-Bonarlaw branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society held a re-organization meeting in Springbrook United church this week and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Rev. J. R. Holden; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. Mumby. It was also decided to ask each church in the territory covered to appoint a representative from their membership and collectors to canvass for donations.

The meeting was opened by Rev. J. R. Holden, assisted by Rev. A. B. Caldwell. Mr. Holden and J. F. Baker contributed a vocal duet, "In the Garden." Mrs. Lorne Johnston acted as organist.

Mr. Holden turned the meeting over to Rev. F. B. Allnutt, B.D., D.Th., district secretary of the Bible Society, who gave an entertaining and instructive talk and showed four splendid moving picture films showing the work of missionaries of the Christian church in the heart of Africa. One film gave pictures of different wild animals in Africa in their native haunts and fighting each other.

Patrons See Double

Woodstock, May 18 (CP)

PATRONS in the beverage room of a hotel here reached for another drink quickly today when a three-foot snake slithered to the side door, stopped and stared. Everybody sat—still. Finally a soldier strode toward the visitor and stepped on its head. It died on the roadway outside.
